THIRTY-FIFTH YEAR—NO. 48. MAY'S LANDING, N. J., SATURDAY, AUGUST 17, 1912. WHOLE NUMBER 1827.

CANDIDATES ENDORSED BY COUNTY LEAGUE

GREAT ENTHUSIASM AT G. O. P. MEETING.

Confidence In Success of Ticket Shown From All Districts—Field Day September 14 At Egg Harbor City.

Anyone with a doubt of the enthusiasm and pull-together spirit of the regular Republican Party in Atlantic County would have had it dispersed to the four winds Thursday evening at the meeting of the Young Men's Republican League, when two hundred leading Republicans from every part of the city and county met in the Bartlett Building Annex, Atlantic City, to endorse candidates for the forthcoming election. Confidence in the continued support of the Grand Old Party and its principles by the voters of Atlantic County and its success this year as heretofore was expressed on every side and the election of every candidate on the Republican ticket in the County was freely predicted.

The League went on record unanimously in endorsement of the following candidates:

For President, William Howard Taft.
For Vice Pres., James Schoolcraft Sherman.
For Congress, John J. Gardner.
For Surrogate, Emanuel C. Shaner.
For Members of the Assembly, Emerson L. Richards and Joseph W. Salus.

The annual outing, or "field day," of the League will be held this year at Egg Harbor City, on Saturday, September 14. A special train will be run from Atlantic City to take the members to the scene of the festivities, which will stop at Cologne, Absecon, and Pleasantville to take members from those municipalities. There will be field sports, baseball and a dinner on the program and the committee in charge expects to have one of the best times ever for members and friends.

Theodore Kunkelly, of Absecon, announced that he will entertain the League members at a hot corn, oyster and tomato supper at the regular meeting of the organization on the third Thursday in September.

New Mosquito Fighter.

Dr. T. J. Headlee, of the State Entomologist Department at the Kansas Agricultural College, has accepted the call to become State Entomologist of New Jersey, to succeed the late Dr. John B. Smith. Dr. Headlee will really fill four positions. He will be Professor of Entomology at Rutgers College, New Brunswick; Entomologist of the Agricultural College Experiment Station, Entomologist of the State Experiment Station and State Entomologist under the State Board of Agriculture. Besides teaching in the college, he will carry on investigations concerning insects with particular reference to preventing the invasion of insects dangerous to farms and orchards, will supervise nursery inspection under the law to prohibit the importation of diseased trees, will have general supervision under the new law for bee inspection to prevent the spread of contagious diseases among bees and will continue the work begun by Dr. Smith for the extermination of mosquitoes.

State Tax Boards Organize.

Sixty members of the various county tax boards of New Jersey met Thursday in Trenton and formed a state organization, electing officers as follows: William Carman, Middlesex County, president; William K. Dreyereux, Monmouth County, vice president; William Dill, Passaic County, secretary; Andrew R. Kenny, Somerset County, treasurer. In an address explaining the objects of the organization, Carman said that an end much to be sought was the elimination of all politics in matters relating to the work of the county boards of taxation. He pointed out that as the boards were non-partisan under the law, their work should also be non-partisan. The president mentioned the many agitations which have been made in New Jersey to do away with the county boards of taxation and the grounds that they are useless and expensive. He added that he thought that the day of this feeling was passed and that now the people have realized the worth of the boards.

Mr. Curtis Hazelton, Sr. for many years employed as engineer at the Messrs. Woods' cotton mill, was taken to the Methodist Episcopal Hospital Tuesday morning last and a serious operation was performed soon after his arrival at the institution. The Rev. John W. Lynch and his son, Curtis Hazelton, Jr. accompanied the stricken man to the hospital. BAITZEL AFTER MAJANE.

Convicted Of Receiving Stolen Goods He Left County.

County Detective William H. Baitzell left Thursday for Seattle, Washington, to get Frank Majane, alleged bail jumper and return him to the jurisdiction of this County. Baitzell will go to Sea Girt direct and get the signature of Governor Wilson to the extradition papers for Majane and will then proceed to the Pacific Coast.

Despite the fact that Majane is supposed to be wanted for alleged election offenses, the request for extradition does not mention crimes of this description. They are based upon Majane's conviction on a charge of receiving stolen goods, which grew from a petty magistrate's case.

Majane was convicted of having purchased a quantity of goods which had been stolen, or rather gotten under false pretenses from local merchants by a lad named Walker. In his confession Walker named Majane as the man who had purchased cigars and other articles from him, and it was testimony that the former saloon manager was convicted.

Following his conviction and while awaiting sentence he vanished, and justice has never been meted out on the charge and conviction.

START FUND FOR CHANNEL

Atlantic City Commissioners and Chosen Freeholders In Conference Agree to Raise $50,000 To Expedite Harbor Dredging.

Atlantic City is to receive the credit for starting the first actual movement in getting a deeper channel to the sea and with this is to come a further plan of building an inside harbor. Next week an ordinance is to be introduced in the Commission providing for an issue of $50,000 bonds for the dredging of the Inlet channel, as the result of a conference Thursday between the Commissioners and a committee of the Board of Freeholders. While it is proposed to issue $50,000 worth of harbor improvement bonds at least $15,000 is to be spent at the actual starting of the work within the next month or two, or as soon as the bonds can be sold, and contracts advertised for.

At the conference, Thursday were Mayor Riddle, Commissioners Beyer, Thompson and Bartlett, and Messrs. Doughty, Willitts, Osgood and Worthington of the Freeholders' Committee; Dr. Emery Marvel and former Senator E. A. Wilson, representing the Business League interests.

The Freeholders do not hold another meeting until September 11, and the Freeholders' Committee, according to the views expressed by Mr. Doughty and Mr. Willits, were that the harbor project should be started immediately and that no delay, waiting on the meeting in September of the County Board should be allowed to interfere with the work.

So far as the plans of the new channel are outlined, there is to be a straight channel from the bell buoy into the inside harbor, with a channel 250 to 300 feet wide, so that vessels can take a straight course into the harbor. This is to be dredged to a depth of 6 feet at low water. When the channel is complete the Lighthouse Department, officials of the Transportation Company have been informed, will get a complete double set of buoys, so that vessels may enter the Inlet at day or night.

ANOTHER AUTO SMASHUP.

Ford Touring Car Overturned In Collision and Occupants Hurt.

Another automobile accident occurred at Egg Harbor City Wednesday morning when a Ford touring car on its way to Atlantic City, was struck by another car bound for Philadelphia and completely turned over. In the machine at the time were Mr. and Mrs. McKeema, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. J. McKeema, Jr. and their three children, of 1488 N. 53d Street, West Philadelphia. Mrs. McKeema, Jr. sustained an injured knee cap, while her entire right side was severely bruised. Her six months old daughter was thrown from her arms against the side of the machine and received a partly fractured hip and may also be hurt internally. Mrs. McKeema, Sr. had a finger broken, while her husband had his wrist cut by flying glass. Mr. J. McKeema, Jr. who was driving the car, and his two sons miraculously escaped with lacerations.

The party was on its way to spend a week at Atlantic City, where they intended to visit Mrs. McKeema's mother. After the accident, however, all thoughts of the trip were laid aside and immediate preparations were made to return to Philadelphia. All seven of the occupants were loaded into another machine and hurried to this place where they boarded a train for Philadelphia. The McKeema car was badly demolished, the entire top, radiator, lamps and part of the body being smashed. The other machine skidded into the ditch alongside the road but immediately proceeded on its way.

On their way to the seashore in an auto last Saturday, Edward Brassell, Joseph Chappatte and Reginald Sedgley, of Philadelphia, stopped at May's Landing as the guests of Mr. D. D. Hoover, who accompanied them during the remainder of their journey and spent Sunday in Atlantic City. After bathing at the pool and taking in the sights of the resort they left Sunday afternoon by way of Absecon, visiting William Generotzky at the Bob White Inn and Herman L. Warker at the American Hotel, Egg Harbor City, an old friend of the Philadelphians. At the Bob White they picked up a nondescript character who besought a "lift" to the wine city and whom the pilot of the party dubbed the Billy Goat, from the hirsute appendage adorning his chin. Mr. Hoover left the party here and they continued Sunday evening on their way to Philadelphia.

CONTRACTOR TAKES BRIDE.

Thompson-Rutherford Nuptials Quietly Celebrated at Red Bank.

A pretty wedding took place Saturday last at high noon at Red Bank, N. J., at the rectorage of Trinity Episcopal Church, when Miss Christine Thompson, daugter of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Thompson, of Yonkers, N. Y., became the bride of Mr. William G. Rutherford, of Red Bank, who is supervising the construction of the new May's Landing-Tuckahoe boulevard. The ceremony, which was quiet, was performed by the Rev. Robert McKellar, in the presence of Miss Gertrude Lawes, of Red Bank, maid of honor; Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Nevius, of Shrewsbury; Mr. Ira T. B. Smith, of this place, who acted as best man, and Donald Lawes, of Red Bank, cousin of the bride.

Immediately after the nuptial knot had been fastened the bridal party drove to Thomas' Inn on the Rumson, where they partook of a never-to-be-forgotten wedding luncheon. For some mysterious reason the "newly weds" were at once detected by the orchestra leader and no sooner had the feast begun than the subtle strains of a wedding march were wafted o'er the Rumson breezes. Then, by request of the blushing bride, "It's a Long Lane That Has No Turning" was played, followed by "Wonderful Girl" at the joyful groom's instance and "O Gee I'm Glad I'm Free" at the instigation of the maid of honor and best man. Following luncheon the party drove to the Red Bank station, where they boarded the New York express amid a shower of rice and after a pleasant evening Mr. and Mrs. Rutherford registered at the Hotel Imperial, the others returning to Red Bank.

But all that had gone before, was tame to what was in store for the happy young couple Sunday afternoon, when on their return trip they left the train at Hammonton and telephoned Mr. Harry F. Birch for an auto to meet them. Several friends, headed by Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Hillpot, availed themselves of the opportunity to bedeck the car with old shoes, disconcerting placards and racy streamers, topping off the significant decorations with a screaming masterpiece in the shape of a bona-fide baby-coach, containing a big rag doll, strapped on the tonneau of the machine. The astonished bride and groom nearly fainted away when it pulled up at Turners's Garage in Hammonton and both had to be gently assisted into the auto, which was the centre of attraction for hundreds of tourists along the county roads. They encountered one autoist with tire trouble and generously donated him a "shoe." At Egg Harbor City the party stopped for lunch at the Aurora Hotel, the best man being so hungry he started to eat the bride's bouquet, reaching home at nine o'clock in the evening and on their arrival here they enjoyed another liberal shower of rice.

For five years the bride has been a teacher in the public schools of Ocean County, meeting with marked success, and she was to have taught next term at Eatontown. During the past Summer she attended the Summer School at Cape May, where she carried off the first prize in hand work studies. Mr. Rutherford has been engaged in the engineering and contracting business for the same period of time and is at present in active charge of building two county roads, the one from this place to Tuckahoe and from Hammonton to the Camden County line. Both resided until recently in Red Bank, the groom at the home of his parents and the bride with her uncle, Mr. William H. Lawes. They will reside here until the new road is completed, and are starting wedded life with the sincerest wishes of hosts of friends for success and happiness.
