In the matter of the estate of Edward Reiney, deceased

Order

Frank De Luca, Administrator of Edward Reiney, deceased, having presented to this Court, under oath, a just and true account of the personal estate and debts of said deceased, whereby it appears that the personal estate of said Edward Reiney is insufficient to pay his debts, and requested the aid of the Court in the premises. It is on this Tenth day of August, nineteen hundred and four, ordered that all persons interested in the lands, tenements and real estate of said deceased appear before this Court at May's Landing, New Jersey, on the second day of November

1904 at nine A.M. and show cause why so much of the said lands, tenements, hereditaments and real estate of the said deceased should not be sold as will be sufficient to pay his debts or the residue thereof, as the same may require.
By the Court.
