HAMMONTON, N. J. SATURDAY, JANUARY 27, 1923

No. 2

Groundhog day, next Friday.
Hammonton Loan Association
meets next Thursday evening.

Blue Anchor Grange is to have a Farmers' Institute and oyster supper on Friday, February 13th.

The Dudley house has been rented to one of the State Constabulary, who will move in with his family today.

Mrs. Walter Horn, formerly of Hammonton, now of Williamstown, was buried in Hammonton on Monday last.

Three of our older residents have been quite ill.—Messrs. James P.
Patten, Henry J. Monfort, and George Elvius.

Town Council passed the budget ordinance second, reading, at their meeting Wednesday morning. It can be seen on another column.

The Ladies of St. Mark's Guild will hold a supper in the Parish House, on Wednesday, February 7th, from 6 to 8. Tickets, 50 cts.

Next Sunday is known as "Young People's Day" and there will be appropriate services both morning and evening in the Presbyterian Church.

The Past Matrons of the Eastern Star will have a card party, in Masonic Temple, Tuesday evening, at 8 o'clock. The price, 55 cents, includes refreshments.

There will be a Nutrition class demonstration of a steam-pressure cooker, at Mrs. Chas. Fitting's Tuesday, January 20th. Meet, at Mrs. C. Cunningham's at 9:45 a.m.
Secty.

We wish to thank the many friends who manifested sympathy to us during our sorrow, the loss of our husband and father, Joseph Campiglia. Mrs. Mary Campiglia
Frank Campiglia.

The annual meeting of the Hammonton-Branford, A. R. C., for the election of officers, will be held on Saturday afternoon, January 27th, 1923, at 4:30, at the residence of the secretary, 431 Bellevue Avenue.

Don't forget to patronize the cake sale, to be given by the Parent-Teacher Association, in the Vocational School room on South Second St., on Saturday afternoon.
The proceeds are to be used for the milk fund.

Daniel B. Reed, one of Hammonton's well-known old residents, died on Thursday, January 25th, at Pontiac, Mich., having just moved out there. Funeral service will be held this morning, at Pontiac.
Mrs. Reed, it is said, is quite ill.

Dr. Harry A. Stont, brother of Mrs. A. J. Rider, died suddenly at his home in Wenonah, on Sunday.
He was Secretary of the N. J. State Board of Medical Examiners. His death was a shock to the community in which he lived and to many in other communities.

Dr. J. A. Waas gave a most interesting and instructive talk on the "Care of the teeth," before the members of the Parent-Teacher Association and their friends, on Tuesday evening, in the High School. A film from Colgate & Co. also proved most helpful in conjunction with Dr. Waas' talk. The banner was awarded to 8-1, that grade having most parents present and 6-1 came second. The Kindergarten and 7-1 tied for third place.

Dr. Godfrey M. Crowell, the oldest physician in Hammonton, and one of the most able in South Jersey, died on Friday morning, January 26th, of Bright's disease, after an illness of one week. A wife, son and two daughters, a sister and three brothers, survive him, and sympathy is extended to them by the host of friends who had learned to love the man for his genial nature as well as his skill as a surgeon. The Dr. came here about fifty years ago, and has practiced his profession about forty years. He was Medical Inspector of the Schools, and a member of the Masonic Lodge and will be missed by everybody. Funeral service will be held on Monday, at 2 p.m., at his late residence.

Notice to Firemen.

Notice is hereby given that the annual meeting of The Active Firemen's Death Benefit Fund Association will be held in the house of Fire Company No. 1, Bellevue Ave., on Tuesday, February 6th, 1923,

Reports of officers and any other business that it may be deemed proper to bring before this organization, will be in order.

Also at the same place, and subsequent to 8 p.m., there will be held a meeting of the Hammonton Fire Department.

The question of the relations of this Department and its members to the New Jersey State Firemen's Association, and the Atlantic County Firemen's Association, will be taken up and disposed of.

No more important business has ever come before the firemen than that to be heard at these meetings.
(Signed)

HENRY M. PHILLIPS,
Pres. & Chief.
J. C. BITLER,
V. Pres. & Asst. Chief.

To the Editor of The Republican:
Dear Sir—It seems a tragedy that a town the size of Hammonton cannot support a "Lyceum Course."
The concerts of December 19th, and January 19th, were worth the cost of the course. The program of the last named contained the very best classical music and well rendered too. How many things of less value and not worth while at all we waste our money upon. Here is something of real worth and of educational and inspirational value. A few people of means and musical taste could assure another Lyceum course for next year. And there is no danger of anyone injuring their reputation as a lover of good music or injuring their "ear" by their support and attendance.

Hammonton needs a Lyceum course and needs such a course badly. All that is necessary is that three hundred people who are well able to purchase tickets do so, instead of a meagre one hundred and sixty. No one is aware of this communication, Mr. Editor, until it is received by you; so I am not putting any one's iron in the fire for them. I thank you for the space you have allowed me and I do hope that next winter will see another Lyceum Course in Ham-monton.

Yours for a better Hammonton, Charles O. Mudge.

TALK OF THE TOWN.

Do not miss "The Talk of The Town," the play to be given in Masonic Hall on Thursday and Friday, February 1st, and 2nd, for the benefit of the Lyceum Course deficit, also serving as the fifth number of the Lyceum Course.

After rehearsals for the play began it was decided by the management of the Course upon the advice of some of the patrons to make this the February number of the course as stated on Season Tickets and make all season tickets good for a reserve seat for either evening preferred, at Hearing's store on payment of fifty cents.

The management, feeling that considering the deficit of three hundred dollars patrons would be willing to aid that much extra on the price of a season ticket, thereby making each number cost them fifty cents, the regular price for single admission.
As the talent of the companies appearing, especially in the last two numbers, has proven first class and made this method seem very just, under the circumstances.

The reserved seat cards opened on Thursday afternoon and tickets may be procured there by all others at 75 cents each, all seats reserved, or tickets may be procured from members of the cast, those in the chorus or the management. The committee wishes to thank the talent, the musicians, advertisers, teachers, Board of Education and all whose efforts make it possible to produce "The Talk of The Town."

The sixth number of the Lyceum Course is to be given on March 20th, in Masonic Hall. That number will end the course, and also after five years of service, concludes the present management.

LOS ANGELES MAN SAYS IT NEVER FAILS

"Janie is my standby," said E. W. Wallace, 20-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Wallace, 111 N. Normandy Place, Los Angeles. "I had set me on my feet more than once when I had such bad spells of stomach trouble. I thought I couldn't get well." This emphatic statement was made recently by W. C. Wallace, 21, of 111 N. Normandy Place, Los Angeles.

"An acid stomach and indigestion caused me insufferable suffering for more than four years," he said. "A doctor told me to go on a strict diet, and I would be almost doubled up in agony. Often it had to take my bed, and I would lose much sleep with every spell. I was told I had ulcers, but I never saw a doctor about them, but all my efforts to get relief failed. I kept getting worse, and figured I would have to get something to help me or I couldn't keep going much longer."

"I read in the papers where Janie was helping others with stomach trouble, so I began taking it. It never failed to straighten me out, and I gained back my lost weight, too. I am more grateful now than ever for the help she gave me. She hasn't quite married yet. Janie, doesn't make any difference. She will be soon, and I will be sooner. I find old Thomas lets another live."

"Who would be apt to have it if she didn't?"

"I'm chiefly afraid it's been destroyed, but if it ever really existed and it has not been destroyed Bill Thorne, my sister's brother, probably has it. You see, it's this way: Five years ago, when I first met her, she had a client, had a frightful row about a girl Jim wanted to marry and swore he'd

"I am absolutely convinced that there was a later will made, and if I could find it, I feel certain my client would be better off by a good many thousand dollars."

"And if you could prove somehow that there was another will, and then find it or make the person holding it give it up, you'd make a whole lot more money, wouldn't you, George?"

"You mercenary little git," laughed George.

"Come in," a voice said from inside. "Thomas sat at his desk reading some papers.

"You didn't empty my waste paper basket this morning, Noah," he said without looking up.

"Oh, I do, sir," came a second later. "I was just going to leave."

In a flash, Eloise stood purified as she saw her fiance pointing a revolver at Thomas' head.

"As chief detective, I demand that you give me that will of the late Noah, and I demand that you were reading it when we came in."

Caruthers turned the lapel of his coat and showed his button, and Thomas, seeing that he was trapped, handed over the papers without a word.

Then, even though he was torn apart by the desire to kill, he took a deep breath and read the will. Eloise was lost in admiration.

"You're simply wonderful, George," she declared over and over again. "And to think that you can still get away with $10,000. But I didn't know that you were connected with the city police."

"Neither did I," laughed George. "Those pins cost fifty cents apiece and any one can buy them. That revolver wasn't loaded, either!"

"You wonderful fraud! Your bark is certainly worse than your bite," laughed Eloise.

"But effective, you'll admit."

"Very!" declared the girl warmly, her eyes glistening with admiration.

ELECTRICITY MADE AT HOME

Ingenuous Englishman Saves Money by Using Water Which Is Generally Throwed Away.

An Englishman was struck by the fact that each morning more than half a dozen batches of water were wasted to wash the floor. He was a fisherman full of ideas, and so he set to work to get something out of the waste-pipe. The result was the construction of what he calls the generating station.

The young man fixed a small barrel under the waste-pipe, and so he set to work to get something out of the waste-pipe. The result was the construction of what he calls the generating station.

The electricity thus manufactured each morning is stored in accumulators, whence wires conduct it to various parts of the house, where a small motor drives the vacuum cleaner.

Each time the motor runs, the devilfish remains in the secluded shelter from sheer laziness, until exposed to the air. Then there is a sudden somewhat, and no one heard any more about his wanting to kill Jim but that very night, fearing he might die, he made a will cutting Jim off entirely excepting everything Jim had given him, however, two items seem to have softened his attitude, and he not only grew very fond of Jim's wife but lived in his house the last two years of his life and the day before he died, he was so weak he could not make himself understood. Now since he had become reconciled, even attached, to the young wife, it goes without saying that he wants to live but he will, that is through Jim, of course, and he believes, and I do, too, that Jim knows something about another will, but it is naturally against his interest to give it away. Jim, however, is a good boy, always a good bit of a black sheep, although no one could convince his father that he could do wrong. If you impossible—Jim was like that, therefore it was no right what ever he did.

"What do you think about it? Do you think it's honest?"

"Something there is something about it, but the things you eat and wear, and use are much greater travelers, 'O'erland' written in the Philadelphia
