The D. A. R. of Hammonton honored the anniversary of Washington's birth with a Colonial Tea Party, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Rider. The members were habited in the Martha Washington style of kerchief and cap, and presented a very quaint and pleasing appearance. They opened the entertainment by singing patriotic songs and reading their beautiful ritual service. Miss Della Hill, Vice-Regent, presided with dignity and ability. Though the occasion was in honor of the chief rebel against King George III, the Kings were out in force—three generations of them. Mrs. A. J. King presided at the table and poured the tea, while Chas. S. King and wife and their son Arthur C. King and wife were interested and active members of the party. Mrs. King III made her debut to the people of Hammonton as a pianist and vocalist, rendering several selections in an exquisite manner. The graphophone also played its part well. Host and hostess did the honors of the evening in their usual inimitable way.

East Sunday, a party of Italians living on Main Road bought a case of beer and shared the contents. A dispute arose in regard to payment for the stuff, culminating in a savage fight, during which one man was severely punished, and a woman who was caught in the fracas required medical aid. The principal aggressor was required by Justice Garton to furnish bonds for his appearance at Court. Later, his bondsman evidently backed out, and Mr. Myers took him to Mays' Landing on Friday morning.

Maj. Macaulay's tenement house is being rehingled.

It's sound sense that we tell you.
Your work costs less dollars and is best every time you use L. & M. Paint.
You do more painting with one gallon of L. & M. than with two gallons of other paints, and the L. & M. Zinc hardens the L. & M. White Lead and makes the L. & M. Paint wear like iron.
4 gallons L. & M. mixed with 3 gallons Linseed Oil will paint a moderate sized house.
L. & M. costs only $1.20 per gallon.
A. F. Terrell, Riverhead, N. Y., writes, "10 years ago painted with L. & M. Only now requires repainting." Sold by Harry Melb. Little.

Would you rather have your Spring Suit made to order?

If so, we are entitled to your order.

Why? Here are a few facts that are worth consideration:

- 1st. Every custom-made suit is made by an experienced tailor, who devoted over fifteen years in making suits.
- 2nd. The trimmings that go into the suits must be just so, as we all know that good trimmings have a whole lot to do with the looks and wear of suits.
- 3rd. After considering the work, the quality, and the fit of our custom-made suits, you will find our prices a great deal less than you used to pay for custom-made suits.
- 4th. If the garment is not made as requested, or does not fit, we will not ask you to take it.
- 5th. Clothing that is bought of us will be pressed and cleaned free of charge.

What is left from our Winter Stock has to go. Prices are marked to hurry its departure.

It will pay you to get into the habit of visiting

REMINISCENCES—No. VII.

To Mrs. Hannah Trafford belongs the honor of founding the first Sunday School in the new Hammonton.

Some time in the year 1858, realizing the necessity of moral and religious influences for the children of the growing settlement, Mrs. Trafford called together a few residents and organized a Sunday School, holding the first few sessions in the school house that then stood a few yards back from the site of the present Lake school. This building was afterwards bought by William L. Galbraith, and moved to his "Maine" Road property, now the home of D. Campanella.

Mrs. Trafford was the first Superintendent, while Miss Matilda Landis (daughter of founder Landis) and Miss Matilda Walker (daughter of Judge W.), local agent of Landis & Byrnes) were the first teachers.

Like the mighty oaks that spring from little acorns, small was the beginning of this now prosperous school.
There were just seven present at the first session,—John and Lucy Trafford, three Roller children, who lived with their parents in a log house near the corner of Central and Hammonton Avenues, and—Hughey and—Mary Seagrove, children of Matthew S., the first purchaser of real estate in the new town, and for whom the little street opposite Central, at the Lake, was named.

As the low foot-hills and valleys intertwined mountain and plain, so prosperity and reverse encouraged and hampered the little band on the road to the lofty heights of success which it now seems to have attained.
The fight against failure and defeat was a series of long hard battles.
Meetings were held for six weeks or more in the school house, then from house to house,—for some time in the Jonah Wootton house, at Valley and Bellevue Avenues. Then meetings were held in the shanty that served Elvins & Sons as store and dwelling and afterward gave way to the spacious hall in the second story of Mr.
Elvins' present store. It was here that the school, heretofore undenominational, was recognized as a Methodist school, and a regular pastor was installed,—a young man by the name of Kirkbride.

Having gained in numbers, strength and financial resources, steps were now taken toward the building of a church, and the homely but commodious old church was erected, services being held in a tent near by while it was building. The foundation having been laid, the raising of the frame was commenced under direction of Capt.
Sommerby and Hall. One of the thirty six foot corner posts had been raised, and young Met Hall was sent to the top with a guy rope. Met, then a doughty lad in knickerbockers, soon shinned heavenward, and successfully accomplished the task, though his boyish arms could little more than span the timber.

The first minister to occupy the pulpit in the new church was the Rev.
A. R. Jones, who held the charge but a short time. By a singular coincidence, it was Rev. J. A. Jones, whose untiring labors wrought the completion of the house some thirteen years later. The latter, though no more than the former, was one of the old time preachers, and was wont, now and then, to emphasize his remarks by loudly stamping his foot. One evening, in an impassioned prayer, he was saying, "I pray the Lord"— and bringing his foot violently down into empty air, tumbled headlong to the floor; but with his ever ready wit quickly rose and continued, "to make this pulpit wider." And, indeed, most pulpits might bear broadening without ill effect.

Mr. Jones was full of mischief, too.
He loved to chop wood, and one day, after splitting the day's supply, Mrs.
C. E. Roberts, with whom he boarded, detected him just in time to prevent his chopping down one of her clothes line posts. Even ministerial hands seem not to be exempt from the mischief which Satan finds ever ready for the idle.

The old church was demolished, and the new one built in 1890, and the school has now an efficient Superintendent in Mr. W. R. Tilton, with a dozen or more teachers, and an attendance of 150 or more.

REMIS.

Mr. Milsted and daughter, Mrs.
Beyett, spent last Tuesday at Atlantic City, with Mr. Penrose and Miss Almena Milsted, at the Windsor.

Dr. Burt walked home from an early morning call, Friday. His mare, weary of waiting, left without orders, and in turning into the doctor's driveway struck the curb. Result, a scared animal and a decapitated buggy. The mare circumnavigated the house, then rushed down town, but was caught.

Mr. Samuel R. Farrow and Miss Betsey Eliza Elliott (Lizzie) were married on Tuesday evening, Feb. 20, 1906, by Rev. W. W. Williams, at the Baptist parsonage. The newly wedded are well-known and highly esteemed Hammontonians, and our best wishes are tendered for their happiness and prosperity. They will reside on Main Road, in their recently purchased home.
