BOARD OF TRADE.

Tuesday night's was the most interesting meeting of the Board we ever attended. It had been announced that Captain John M. Murphy, the aluminum man, would be present and make a business proposition, hence the attendance was very large.

Captain Murphy was present, and made an entertaining address, giving something of the history of aluminum, an account of his long struggle to extract the metal from the ore (clay), his phenomenal success by the use of a secret chemical preparation, and his endeavors to organize a company to carry on the business on a large scale.
In all these he has been successful,— produces a metal 99.95 per cent pure, has an incorporated company capitalized at $3,000,000, and has purchased a tract of land near DaCosta, all in Hammonton. Ground will be broken for the plant within thirty days.

The capital stock is all taken—none for sale at any price.

Capt. Murphy produced evidence that this is the most gigantic business proposition ever made in this section of the country. The clay is taken from their own beds, 440 acres in extent, the vein being at least sixty feet deep. The finished product is in constant demand, the supply entirely too small, and the profits very large.

The only concession asked by the company is that if the Town ever grants exemption from taxes, the same favor should be extended to this company; also, that the roads leading to their plant be kept in good condition.
In return, a large number of men will be employed, houses built, general trade increased, and the entire community be benefitted.

Numerous samples of the metal were exhibited; also manufactured articles of utility.

As we all know, a state law prohibits any exemption from taxes, but a suggestion was made that the amount paid be set aside as a special fund, for a time, to improve the roads.

Of course, we commend the Captain for his perseverance and congratulate him upon the outcome, and wish his company all the success that he now anticipates.

The above business occupied most of the time, and but little else was done.
One new member was received, a bill or two paid, a resolution adopted to denounce an already dead issue.

Light mixed goods is considered the most stylish this season. We have many different colors and styles. You can choose. Coats are cut with side and centre vents. Our guarantee goes with every suit.

To convince of the high quality of our Clothing, we would respectfully request your personal visit.

Men's Business Suits at $5, $5.50, $6.50 and $7.50. Some have wondered how we can afford to sell such fine reliable goods at the prices; but our reason is this: We have placed our order months ahead, with the best makers of clothing; thus getting the first and best assortment of patterns; and being satisfied with a small margin of profit, we can safely say that we sell better for less money.

Suits for Boys, 8 to 16 years, at $2.25, $2.75, $2.95 and $5.
We offer a fine selected stock in many different patterns, all double breasted coats, some side vents, some in back.

QUEER STORIES

Eight thousand carrier pigeons are kept in use in the German army.

There are twenty-seven royal families in Europe, two-thirds of which are of German origin.

Tea is very cheap in China; in one province of the empire good tea is sold at three cents a pound.

A hive of five thousand bees should produce fifty pounds of honey every year, and multiply itself in five years.

Forty years ago Japan had only counting vessels. Now it has several steamship companies, the largest of which runs sixty-three vessels.

Only one-third of the world's population use bread as a daily article of food. Fully one-half of the people of the world subsist chiefly on rice.

A new fad in the use of accents is noted in Russia. To give the human body an agreeable odor, any desirable essence is injected into the nostrils.

A prisoner accused in an English court of burglary, convicted to the gallows, was suddenly released when he was placed on trial. It began: "I hope and trust these few lines will find you quite well." He got three years' penal servitude.

A church at Yverdon, Switzerland, England, was suddenly hit by a hail of stones, which did not do much damage to the organ.

BLAMES IT ALL TO KANSAS

Texan Editor's Dream Broken by a Cold Wave from the North.

Fort Worth, Tex., Jan. 10.—The Fort Worth Telegram, in its issue of today, contains a very interesting article.

It wasn't a spring day, for there was a lingering feeling of frost, but there was a challenge of spring in the smell of the air. You could almost hear the sap starting in the peach trees and the mother rose bush seemed to be trying to proclaim the morning bud.

The housewife went out and looked at the sweet peas and imaged a song under her breath. The farmer's man examined his seed corn and whistled a tune.

The small boy tarried by the window of the sporting goods store and examined the fishing tackle.

The weather vane had predicted rain and the rain-saturated, mud-bespattered people who are early in bed went to sleep, crossing their fingers that the rain would hold.

The miller wished she were a man, so she could say what she wished. Only the shoe man chuckled and wished he had a bigger stock of shoes.

The school children were glad and hoped for a snow to keep them at home. The all-nighter knew better. He had got home in the wee small hours with a clear moon and bright stars lighting his wobbly way.

When the folks waked up it was a little cloudy and the day seemed drowsy. Breakfast was eaten and the biscuits were soggy, the coffee was druggish and the milk was sour. It was all slush and bad words getting to the ears.

Then the miracle. The sun climbed over the fog bank in the east and it was resolved into sweet vapors. The washwoman hung out the clothes, the rooster crowed and the dog chased his tail. The man who turned the hose on the front steps better. He had got home in the wee small hours with a clear moon and bright stars lighting his wobbly way.

HOW TO EAT CORRECTLY.

Blanche Fletcher, Dishes for Perfect Feeding of the Human Body.

Blanche Fletcher, in the "World's Work" magazine, gives advice on eating.

It is a common mistake to think that eating is a matter of instinct.

1. Eat only in response to an actual appetite, which will be satisfied with plain bread and butter.

2. Chew all solid food until it is liquid and practically avails itself.

3. Sip and taste all liquids that have taste, such as soup and lemonade. Water has no taste and can be swallowed immediately.

4. Never take food while angry or worried, and only when calm. Waiting for the mood in connection with the appetite is a speedy cure for both anger and worry.

5. Remember and practice these four rules and your teeth and health will be fine.

Equally significant of the growth of Fletcherism are the efforts made by the proprietor of a chain of fifty dairy restaurants in New York City.

It consists of the distribution of a nicely printed folder among the customers, containing a "dette code." It includes instructions on "How to Eat" and "How to Drink."

Some of them are: "Eat slowly and masticate thoroughly." "Never permit yourself to eat a meal in a condition of nervous worry." "Eat what you need of benefit." "Do not eat anything that disagrees with you." "Consulting on the last rule the folder says:

"The following out of this rule will require self-control, but some time in your life you must definitely decide whether you are to be master over your body or be its slave, and it is better to make the decision at once, and after you have practiced correct habits of eating for a short time it will be surprising how soon your true appetite for things that are wholesome and good will assert itself, and you will instinctively turn to the right foods."

Here then is a quick-lunch restaurant advising its patrons to use slow-lunch methods.

When the folks waked up it was a little cloudy and the day seemed drowsy. Breakfast was eaten and the biscuits were soggy, the coffee was druggish and the milk was sour. It was all slush and bad words getting to the ears.

Then the miracle. The sun climbed over the fog bank in the east and it was resolved into sweet vapors. The washwoman hung out the clothes, the rooster crowed and the dog chased his tail. The man who turned the hose on the front steps better. He had got home in the wee small hours with a clear moon and bright stars lighting his wobbly way.

QUEER BLESSING OF BEASTS.

Curious Custom that is Observed at the Little Boy's Club, recorded in the Kansas City Times.

On Jan. 17 every person of San Antonio, Mexico, brings a favorite beast to be blessed in the square before the parish church, says a writer in the New York Tribune.

The streets are narrow, and the patient file of horses and burros wended their way toward the blessing. Last January 17 witnessed this curious spectacle.

Dogs, of course, were more numerous. One dear little dirty, three-legged cur, dingy, white, and yellow, with precocious eyes, was held in a baby's arms. The prettiest creature were the turkeys. There is a peculiar affinity between a peon and a turkey. The Aztec name is always used, although the Spanish "pavo" is easier to say than "guajolote." This combination of the turkey and the peon, when pronounced by the knowing, sounds exactly like the turkey's English name, "gobbler, gobbler, gobbler."

While waiting for the padre I saw half a dozen men and women squatting, their arms thrown over their heads, and their faces toward the church. There were also many turkeys, and a pair of peacocks. Also, sheep, more black than white, for black sheep are the fashion in Mexico, added to the list of offerings.

One old man passed me with a strange glint in his eyes. He left his shirt, restless glance made me shudder. What was the secret thing he carried in his bosom for a blessing? Strangely attracted, I moved toward him, but a soft albatross hiss made me see snakes and I gave him a wide berth. A small pig followed the padre as he would his way through the crowd. San Antonio Abad is always followed by a pig, and in some Italian city there is a famous painting called "The Saint and His Pig," the page in this case being the pig.

There was a good deal of talking and shouting. A man explained to me that the pig represented gluttony and to cast out that devil was the greatest miracle of all.

Town Council Meeting.

Regular meeting last Saturday even'g.
—all members present.

Highway Committee reported having secured a man to clear out the big drainage ditch.

Water Committee reported bids on well and force pump in up-town fire house. Later, contract was awarded to H. McD. Little.

Light Committee reported progress in changing arc lamps to incandescents.

License Committee reported favorably on Frank Jacobs' application for renewal of license. Granted.

Law and Order Committee stated that complaint had been made that warrants were given to special officers, instead of Constables; that Prosecuting Attorney had written that a Justice could deputize a man for the purpose only in an emergency,—as when a criminal was about to abscond. Later, the Committee was authorized to look further into the Justice question.

Property Committee reported window shades hung in Council Room.

Bills ordered paid were:

Town Purposes

C. O. Combe	40 85
	$54 30

The bill for street gas lights, $41.67, was paid. The electric light bill for two months, $300, less deductions made by the company, was $288.75; but the night watchmen and members of Council reported many other lights out, and the bill was ordered paid "after further proper reductions."

Geo. Bernshouse resigned his office as Constable, assigning age as his reason. Accepted.

N. B. Black's resignation as dog warden, accepted.

Ben. Foglietta applied for renewal of liquor license, and Antonio Battagliese asked for license to sell rum in the old Fruit Growers' Union building. Both referred.

Clerk reported renewal of Town Treasurer Davis' bond.

The D. & A. Telephone ordinance was taken up, and meeting opened for remarks by any of the many citizens present. Then ensued a remarkable debate. Speeches were made by Messrs.
Blder, Burgau, Meado, Smith, Bernshouse, and others,—some formal, some not, some wise, some otherwise. In fact, the talk became considerably personal,—inexcusably so, engendering some unpleasant feeling, and creating confusion. There was no need of this talk, for the Chairman had announced that the pending ordinance was not in accord with the new limited franchise law, and could not be passed. Later, after the talk, the ordinance was laid on the table, and Chairman stated that if the Telephone Company desired any favor, it was up to them to present an offer in accord with the new law, and embracing features adopted by Council, which would then be referred to an attorney, and considered.

Highway Committee instructed to have large signs placed on the corner at Hollywood Avenue and County Road and at Elvins' corner, warning automobile drivers to sound their horns as warning before turning those corners.

Red Men surrendered lease of Park, which was accepted.

On motion, Park set apart for Fourth of July celebration.

Proposition made to lease the Park to O. E. Fowler.

Voted to pay B. F. Henshaw four dollars per month for care of down town chemical engine,—provided the firemen do not apply for their twelve dollars per month.

Light Committee was instructed to put new gas lamp in front of firemen's building, similar to one at town hall, and to sell old one.

Historical Society granted use of hall for three monthly meetings,—they to pay janitor.

Overseer ordered to put Chow Swamp
Road in passable shape.

Voted that after this date, persons riding bicycles on sidewalks shall be fined, according to ordinance.

Ordinance creating a Town Board of Health was introduced, and passed first reading.

UNITED STATES COURT OF CLAIMS

The Publishers of Webster's International Dictionary allege that it "is, in fact, the popular Unabridged thoroughly re-edited in every detail, and vastly enriched in every part, with the purpose of adapting it to meet the larger and severer requirements of another generation."

We are of the opinion that this allegation most clearly and accurately describes the work that has been accomplished and the result that has been reached. The Dictionary, as it now stands, has been thoroughly reedited in every detail, has been corrected in every part, and is admirably adapted to meet the larger and severer requirements of a generation which demands more of popular philological knowledge than any generation that the world has ever contained.

It is perhaps needless to add that we refer to the dictionary in our judicial work as of the highest authority in accuracy of definition, and that in the future in the past it will be the source of constant reference.
