Refers to Two Kings.

EDITOR S. J. R.—A good story is told of the King of England and Sir Christopher Wren. The King asked several scientific men why it was that a fish, placed in a vessel that was already full of water, would not cause it to run over. Various reasons were offered, but Sir Christopher ventured to ask, "Is your Majesty sure it is a fact?" "Aye, there's the rub!" said the king.

Now, when another King offers a theory for the excessive rains of the past summer, it would be interesting to know whether there actually was an excessive rain-fall, all over the world. I happen to know that when so much rain fell in this and in some other sections, very little fell in others; and that, although there was a great deal of wet and cloudy weather in the Eastern and Middle States, in mid-summer, the actual precipitation was small.

His theory, being applicable to the world as a whole, unless it was more than local in its action, would hardly be any advance over what we have long known,—that when a warm current of air, filled to its limit with moisture, meets a cold current from the opposite direction, its capacity for moisture is reduced, and rain is the certain result.

NOT AN OLD FOXY.

Withdrawal as Candidate.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN.—At the desire of members of my family (owing to the condition of my health), I take this method of announcing that I am not a candidate for the office of Councilman. Not having been elected, but simply nominated, there is ample time for another to be selected in my place.

Having completed three years as Justice, to fill the unexpired term of Mr. C. M. Jordan, as well as serving about twelve or fourteen years on the School Board (which I resigned on account of holding an important position in the city, and because I had done my share of work in that direction), I can show a good record for length of service. Added to this is a year and a half in Council (a position I resigned because of a lack of support in my efforts), and three years as Justice (two more years to serve), which position I now hold,—making a total service of over twenty years.

The above refutes the claim by some that I do not complete my terms. If elected to Council, it will force me to hold two offices, which may be contrasted with the declinations of a large number of citizens who cannot be induced to be candidates, or to hold any office at all.

P. H. JACOBS.

Business Announcement.

I take this method to notify my many patrons and the general public, that I have retired from the shoe business, having sold my entire interest in the same to Mr. H. J. Monfort, who will carry on the business at the old stand, under the management of my late assistant, Howard R. Monfort. Thanking you for your patronage during my many years in the business, and recommending to you the new firm, I am

Yours respectfully,
JOHN MURDOCH.

A broken rail was discovered in the south-bound track, near the Pottery round-house, Sunday afternoon. The section men were called out, and soon replaced the broken rail. Consequently might have been serious had the accidental discovery not been made during a dull time of day.

Republican County Convention at 11 o'clock to-day, in Egg Harbor. Hon. Thos. O. Elvins will no doubt be renominated for the assembly, as he ought to be. He has proven an able representative, true to his convictions, useful to his constituents, and should be continued in the position.

Squad raising pays, judging from the 28 per cent dividend declared by the In-Costa, govern on the most half-year's business. They are now going into it on an even larger scale. E. W. Strickland is running the work, assisted by a steam saw. To give an idea of the size of the contract, fifteen carloads of lumber are required to erect the building, which will be about three thousand feet long. We are glad that Hammoncton men have the job.

The gravel road from Hammoncton to Aton, six and four-tenths miles, is assured, provided State Road Commissioner Hutchinson approves the late action of our County Freeholders. There were several bids, two being by Hammonctonians. Henry Menley, for $41,000; L. M. Parkhurst, for $40,043 (Settled gravely—$38,024 (Campanella gravel). Sutton & Co., of Atlantic City, bid $37,000. The contract was awarded to C. W. Mathis & Co., of Tuckerton, for $30,507.85. The work will be commenced at once.

The Gazette, Lima, Ohio, of last Saturday, says, in mentioning a very pleasant social given by the missionary society of the Main St. Presbyterian Church, at the manse, "The ladies presented the trustees with a goodly sum of several hundred dollars, while the men of the church succeeded in completely surprising the pastor, Rev. H. Marshall Thurston, with a very fine up-to-date wheel, in appreciation of his good work among them."

There have been many changes of residences, lately. Among the latest are—William A. Hood's new house is occupied by Mrs. Green and family; Mrs. Annie Foster and family moved into the house this week; this made room for Mr. Hendricks; then Geo. W. Dodd and family moved into that house, leaving vacant the Maple St. property which S. T. Twomey recently bought and will occupy.

Last Saturday was the twentieth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis S. Newcomb. A family reunion was considered the most appropriate manner of celebration. A brother William Newcomb, a sister, Mrs. Adams, their son, Dr. Samuel G. Newcomb, and their daughters, Miss Minnie Newcomb and Mrs. A. G. Campbell, were among the visitors who participated in the festivities.

STOVES

Be Sure to See our line of Parlor, Wood, and Kitchen Ranges, and Oil Heaters
before purchasing elsewhere!

We handle the famous "Gem Dock"
Ash Lines!

THE BIT OF COLD WEATHER we've had this week renders the subject of stoves quite a pertinent subject. Few people realize what a complete line of stoves we carry; and likewise, few are aware that they buy here to as good or better advantage, as regards price, as in Philadelphia; besides, by buying here you save freight and cartage.

Parlor Stoves at all prices, $6 up.
Kitchen Ranges, $12.25, $14.50, $19, etc.

Sheet Iron Wood Stoves, $1.75 up.
Oil Heaters, from $2.75 to $5.

The "Gem Dockash" is recognized everywhere by dealers
as one of the best built, most durable, best working, and best looking stoves for the money. Even the $12.25 style is generously trimmed with nickel. The $10 style has an attached reservoir; and all are furnished with duplex grates—the best grates made. These are made by the Scranton Stove works, and are guaranteed by us.

We also carry a cheaper line of Kitchen Ranges, but recommend particularly the "Gem Dockash" brand.

And while we're talking about stoves, we might mention that we have a stock a full line of Stove Mats, Stove Pipes, and Elbows,—all Stoves.

Popular Science

The electric target of a Canadian of 500, Lieutenant Colonel G. A. Peters, is being tested by English riflemen. The target itself is a 200-foot plate of chrome steel, and the impact of the bullet on this drives back one or more of a set of steel hammers, thus closing an electric circuit, by which the exact spot hit is recorded on an indicator plate at the firing point. The system insures accuracy, gives much time and needs no attendant.

Sulphur is being tried in Germany as a wood preservative. It is applied in molten form and as it hardens it seals the pores. At moderate temperatures it is unaffected by water, weak or strong acids, or alkalis. A disadvantage is that the sulphur melts at 115 degrees F., and this makes the treated wood unfit for places exposed to considerable heat. The best wood for use with this process is poplar, the trials of oak and pine having been much less satisfactory.

A large steamship has recently been constructed on the Tyne having no mast at all. Instead of masts the vessel is furnished with four large pillars placed on each side of the ship, fore and aft, which serve as derricks posts. The two forward pillars are connected by a bridge, 50 feet above the water level, and the two aft pillars are connected by a similar bridge. The vessel is 485 feet long and 64 feet broad, and is to be used in the far East to carry bulky cargo. Accommodations are, however, provided for 350 emigrants. Another vessel of the same type is building.

J. B. Thorncroft, an English authority on engineering, in reviewing recent attempts to adapt the internal combustion engine to marine use, says that this adaptation may now be regarded as an accomplished fact. Trials made at between Hamburg and Kiel with a motor of 70 horse-power showed that the gas-propelled boat consumed 330 pounds of anthracite, as against 1,820 pounds of steam coal consumed by a steamboat of the same tonnage, and making the same speed.

Many precious stones are influenced by the action of the rays emanating from radium. A scientist exposed a colorless diamond from Borneo to these rays. The stone was colored a light yellow after eight days and a decided yellow after another eight days. On heating the diamond to 250 degrees Fahrenheit (482 degrees Fahrenheit), the yellow color was dissipated, but it could not be entirely got rid of even at a red heat. A colorless Brazilian diamond showed no coloration. A piece of behavior was shown by a pale blue sapphirine from Ceylon. After two hours' exposure to radium bromide it showed a coloration, green at first, then light yellow and after a few more hours red-yellow. After a fortnight it was a dark yellow, approaching chestnut. The color could be got rid of by heating, but the light yellow color always returned on cooling.

A DYING GIRL'S VISION.

The description of her father was revealed. An unusually interesting instance of "second sight" is reported from Australia. Laura Maudslayi, a young woman, on her deathbed, described the spot where her body lay, the fact of her father's death not being known to anybody at the time. The man in question was Isaac Maudslayi, 55 years old, who lived in Stevenson street, Accrington. His daughter, 25 years old, had been waiting away with consumption for months.

MONUMENT TO MENKLEY

Mr. Menkley, a writer of modern "fame" called on a journalist at his residence and proposed that he write some bright, bitter, epigrammatic paragraphs attacking the editor of the Florence Item there is a citizen of the fair suburb of Florence who is being imposed upon and deceived and unconsciously being deceived. Having been deceived under false promises, it appears that this man was brought by the wife of his bosom to wipe the dishes, and when he had answered this unimpeachable request in suitable form, the person woman brought out the Holy Scriptures to show him that the wiping of dishes is a man's proper vocation. She cited him to II Kings, 21:13, wherein the Lord, speaking by his servants the prophets, says: "And I will stretch over Jerusalem the line of Samaria and the plumb line of the house of Ahab; and I will wipe Jerusalem as a man wipes a dish, wiping it and turning it upside down."

We do not suppose that this is a new recipe for a man's vocation, or any violent measures for a man who wipes dishes and still lives, although it is a rather good one. It is a good one. A man who wipes a dish or two and turns it upside down, under the shade of his own fig tree in the shade of the evening, is in better business than he who goes to the tavern where he turns several dishes upside down and wipes his mustache and plays the piano.

But, at the same time, let us keep the records straight. The verse quoted from the second book of Kings said nothing about a man, in the original, it said "I will wipe Jerusalem as a man wipes a dish, and I will turn it upside down." The translators put in the word "man" where the Hebrew had none. They could just as well have said "woman," and the only reason why they didn't, probably, was that they wanted to signify doing a good job of it.

We don't really care whether Mr. Menkley keeps on wiping dishes or not, but with the middle-class disposition common to humanity we should like to inform him that he is being humiliated. Omaha World-Herald.

Death of Man Who Was Twice Governor of Michigan. Aaron T. Bliss, twice Governor of Michigan, died recently at Saginaw, of which city he was the most distinguished resident. Aaron T. Bliss was born in Smithfield, Massachusetts, County, New York, May 22, 1837, and spent his boyhood on a farm there. At 17 he left home and was employed in a store in a neighboring village. At the breaking out of the Civil War he was one of the first to enlist in the Tenth New York Heavy Artillery and after he had rendered material assistance in recruiting the regiment to its full strength he was present in the battle of Vicksburg. Within a year his bravery in action had gained for him the commission as captain. At Ream's Station, in Virginia, he was captured and became a State Senator in Michigan. He was confined eight months. While in prison the presidential election of 1864 was held. A black bean meant a vote for Lincoln, but the prisoners were assured that if they could catch a vote it would mean longer imprisonment for them and perhaps a grave on the hillside. Nevertheless Bliss voted the black bean. After making his escape he wandered for eight days before reaching the Union lines at Savannah and he was nearly starved.

In 1865 Captain Bliss located in Saginaw, Mich., and started a lumber business in a small way. It grew until he became the owner of extensive timber lands, of steel mines, of a bank, mercantile establishment and several farms. He was enormously wealthy. He was elected to local office in Saginaw, then became a State Senator in Michigan, and in 1890 was elected Governor of Michigan by the largest majority ever given a candidate there and was re-elected in 1902.

THE BABY DOCTOR

Sucking the Thumb.—As a preventive put a piece of adhesive plaster, such as surgical use, a little less than one-half inch wide, above the first joint, or between the two joints of the child's thumb. Paste the end securely, but be careful not to interfere with circulation.

Origin of Spotted Fever.—Recent experiments prove that the deadly spotted fever of the Rocky mountains is caused by the infection of ticks acting much like that which sets up spenic fever in the bovine race. This confirms a widespread belief which has been controverted by physicians.

The Danger in Headache Powders.—Acetaminol powder is found in practically all of the patent headache powders and they should either be avoided or taken with great caution. This poison is a dangerous drug, and if the stomach is weakened to a certain extent the quantity in a headache powder may be sufficient to kill. In fact a boy died recently in Mesa County from this poison.

Rheumatism.—One of the latest remedies is that of the gardener who recommends the patient plant so well known as chickweed. The method of using it consists of filling a wide-mouthed bottle three-fourths full with water and then pouring in chickweed, the stems and leaves, and letting it stand for four days to a week, at the end of which time the tincture is to be rubbed into the affected parts in the usual way.

Whoooping Cough.—Procure a mixture of peroxide of hydrogen, water, syrup of tolu 1½ ounces and water one-half ounce. Give from ten drops to one teaspoonful according to age every hour for two or three doses, then every two hours for six or eight, getting farther between doses as the patient improves. This is a newer and better formula than that of any of the old-fashioned cough syrups, the action of which is entirely upon morphia or opium as a palliative.
