not far distant when we shall require something more up-to-date. Paid your taxes yet?

Yes, we'll acknowledge it, something happened on Tuesday. As rapidly as the newly-paved streets are cleared of the hay vouldn't it look neater if abutting property owners would take and sweep their fronts free of stray humps of bay, sticks and dirt, before freezing weather comes on? Over a hundred voters were up against it, when they wished to vote at the second precinct, Tuesday, on finding that they were not registered. Evidently, the clerks had failed to copy their names onto the official register. As a consequence, many of them had to go to May's Landing and appear before the judge who issued them permits. Later, Town Clerk Seely was duputized to issue certificates to those who had voted at the primary. Even so, many who had not voted at the primary were not able to appear at the county seat, and so lost their vote. Tho' the error was, doubtless, unintentional, it was, to say the least, serious and extremely aggravating.

An epidemic of rate has settled in Hammonton four legged one

Road Inspector Link McIntyre and the Republican came in for censure, Wednesday, at the hands of Contractor Stanb, for terming their re-inforcing material as "chicken wire." The fact is, the only difference between that and what is used by our poultrymen is the absence of the close mesh at the bottom, to prevent small chickens from getting through. But we are not done yet. The wire used was a galvanized. round wire, weighing 31 pounds per one hundred square feet. The contract called for a flat wire, five-eighths of an inch in diameter, and Mrs. Helena Walther, wife of John Walther, died on Friday after to weigh approximately 120 lbs. to the hundred square feet. This noon, November 3rd, after an illnoon, November 3rd, after an ill-ness of over three years, aged 75 change was made without the knowledge or consent of Town Council or years. Mrs. Walther, with her its inspector. If the contractor was unableto procure the grade specifihusband, came here forty-three ed, why did he not so inform the Town? If he wished to save money, years ago, and have been, with will the Town benefit several hundred dollars by that change? Is it not their three daughters and seven sons, among the most highly esteemed residents. Mr. and Mrs. Without a without a will a round, smooth wire "bind" as without a Walther had just recently passed firmly as a flat, rough wire? If so, why do they 'hack' all from tods their fifty years of married life in re-inforcing pillars, floors, etc?

Funeral service was held at Haines-No, the Inspector, Editors, and Messrs White and Brownlee, ar port, in the Lutheran Church, on not alone in claiming that the Town should get all it pays for. Prior Tuesday, November 7th, and interment made in the cemetery at that to the charge being made public, property owners along the streets im proved, were thising merrihel over it.

There were other bidders on the road. Is it not possible that another contractor would have reduced his figure if he had intended of Louis J Brush, brother of Mrs. using the so-called poultry wire?

Only a door between her and her drink-crazed husband; only a thin panel of wood separating her from her dearest possession-and every moment the fiend in the man was tri umphing. What was she to do? What could she do? What was to be the end? "Bought and paid for," was the cruel boast he hurled at her. Yes, all but her self-respect had been bought and paid for," and that could never be bought. See what it all led to in this mighty whirl of motion.
