The Legion pulled off one of the most enjoyable minstrels last Friday and Saturday over given in Hammonton. Their make-up was excellent and their jokes most timely. Especially enjoyable and deserving of commendation was their singing of popular songs of the day. Masonic Temple was filled both evenings.

The Grammar Grades of Nesco School received the prize from Inspector Dr. J. C. Bitter, for the cleanest school room in their township last year. The class sent the Inspector a note of thanks signed by each one of the pupils. There is a lively contest among the schools of Mullica Township as the Inspector has offered another prize for the ensuing year.

Basket Ball News.

The local basket ball quintet, after losing to Bridgeton, last Saturday night, score 26 to 15, came through with a substantial win on Wednesday, against the Egg Harbor Reserves, 19 to 18.

The home lads have been playing at great odds, several being on the injured list. J. Daminger was unable to play on Saturday, and on Wednesday, Sheaf and Montgomery were unable to join the ranks. Several subs were tried, but the boys were badly missed.

Tonight, the Seashore Lads, representing the Atlantic City Post Office, will invade the local court. The locals will start with the original five.

Board of Health Notice.

During the week, two cases of chicken pox, four of measles, and one of scarlet fever, have been reported.

People with children should be very careful about visiting where there is sickness.

Notice to Automobilists

Fire at Elwood.

Robert Smith's handsome home, on the Pleasant Mills Road, Elwood was destroyed by fire early Tuesday morning. Companies from Hammonton, Elwood, Amatol and Egg Harbor responded, and rendered all assistance possible, but, owing to lack of water supply, could not save the residence.

With it went many expensive collections of art, of medals won, and the furnishings.

The fire is supposed to have been caused by a defective fuse.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Smith sympathize with them in their great loss.

A resolution was passed, reimbursing J. W. Röhler for amount of exemption on tax paid.

Storm doors were ordered on front of hall.

Sewer extension commissioners were appointed, as follows: Messrs H. O. Packard, C. K. Nelson and James Ruberton.

Sewerage committee reported that materials were on the grounds, and that work at disposal plant would be started soon.

Preston Crowell, formerly an esteemed instructor in Hammonton schools, died on Wednesday, Nov. 15th, at his home in Harrisburg, Pa., aged 54 years. From here, Preston, as his friends called him, went to Fairmount, W. Va., and about fifteen years ago he went to Harrisburg, where he became interested in civic affairs, serving as president of the Rotary Club, doing much for the wayward lads of that city. His death was due to complications arising from a fractured leg, received last winter, and another injury the week before his death. The writer was one of his pupils, and remembered him as one of the most thorough and painstaking teachers. He is survived by his wife, a son and daughter; a sister, Miss Sarah, and four brothers; Dr. Godfrey M., John H., Winslow and Chester M. Crowell.

Am-Plus Rugged Plates Mark the Greatest Advance in Battery Making.

Storage Battery

The name Am-plus on the battery of a car is the Company's signed and sealed obligation that the battery must render a starting and lighting service worthy of the world's best.

It is the achievement of the Am-plus rugged plate the Am-plus people were the first to reach the goal which so many manufacturers have pointed out for years.

Our battery is superior to another only to the extent that the plates in that battery are better than those in the other battery.

Some plates are made durable by hardening them, but in so doing the porosity is reduced. This decreases the efficiency. Others are made extremely porous, but they are soft, spongy and soon go to pieces.

While the Am-plus Rugged Plates have all the durable features of the hardest plate made and the absorbing qualities of the softest, they have the faults of neither.

Am-plus rugged plates are as different from ordinary plates as gold is from gilt.

They explain their dependable reserve power in biting zero weather, and their great non-bucking strength that resists overheating in the hottest summer.

All Am-plus skill, science, research, factory control, everything that makes up the great Am-plus system combine to make the Am-plus battery what it is—the best for starting and lighting.

Back of every Am-plus battery is a specific guarantee plus a policy that says that the car owner must be pleased.

Am-plus batteries with Am-plus rugged plates cost no more. Buy an Am-plus and eliminate battery bother and expense.

Buy from an Am-plus dealer and be assured of the best battery service obtainable.

See battery trouble see an Am-plus dealer. You get factory service on your battery at reduced rates.

Am-Plus means 100 per cent. Assembled and Distributed by P. H. Lucas, Storage Battery Eng. O.S.M.

Each Am-plus storage battery water at wholesale prices. Distilled and bottled in Hammonton. Unexcelled for facial, medicinal and storage battery uses.

A COINCIDENCE

By MOLLIE MATHER

Billy, aged fifteen, dug her elbow into the pillow and sat looking up at the young woman in trim white dress. "Angry?" said Billy, "you are a real nurse, are you?"

The young woman passed in, wearing a white apron. "Dear," she asked, "have I failed in my care of you?"

"Failed," roared the girl, "why, you have done for me all that a good mother could do for an only child."

"You have just been a little brick, I know that. And if you don't mind, I'll tell you what I think of you."

"There were men of course," the little nurse began. "I had my college companions; later, the ones that one meets socially. But I remained for me to meet the rest of my life."

"And rich?" put in Billy. The nurse shook her head.

"That was my father's objection to him. He had no money but that which he was striving for in his new profession. Mrs. Sanderson in my aunt, and she was an excellent nurse."

"I'm glad to hear that," said Billy. "I'm glad to hear that," said Billy. "I'm glad to hear that," said Billy.

"To Make It Easier for Miss Phillips. I was just passing your house and thought I'd look in on you."

"You are a very nice girl," said Billy. "I'm glad to hear that," said Billy.

"When the Chaplain Was Ump. The colored troops were playing baseball. The chaplain was umpire. The pitcher threw a high one and the chaplain yelled:

"Ole strike!"

"The better thereupon turned to him and remarked:

"Mr. Chaplain, you're doing a very nice job of umpiring. You've got your eye on the ball."

"If they cannot not see the bottom, what do you think?"

A woman had annoyed many people who were waiting in line for tickets on a Saturday afternoon at a railway station. The woman came up at the other side of the window, and though she had been told to get in line, she had put down her money for two tickets and had obtained them at once.

"Just like a woman," murmured one of the men in line. But the woman turned to the man she had just joined and burst forth audibly:

"I don't think it's fair, Jim. You make me feel bored tired of trying to beat the line because you say men never do such things. And women get the abuse. But I bet that every woman who does that has a man some where in the crowd who has insisted that she hurry."

SIGNS FOR REAL SUCCOTASH Oldtimer Deplores Fact That the Dairy Cows to Have Done Out of Fashion.

When I was a boy I was very fond of succotash, and down in New England years ago we were told that it was made as the Indians made it, just the beans and corn boiled together, and maybe it wasn't good.

In traveling around the country at various hours I often ask for succotash especially at this season of the year when the beans and corn are just right, but what offerings are placed before me under the name of succotash!

In many parts of the country lima beans are used in making succotash, but I don't think the Indians knew anything about lima beans.

Succotash, Johnny-cake, huckleberry turnover, fried green peas, and other things are served up to me when I ask for succotash.

Chef Had Plenty But He Could Hardly Eat

Even an expert chef for an up-to-date restaurant, with everything heart could wish in the cutting line and the skill to prepare it in the most appetizing manner, finds life miserable and work a burden with his appetite gone and his health all broken up on account of stomach trouble.

According to his own statement, such had been the case for two years with William Lackey, 605 North Wells St., Chicago, Ill., chef at a popular North Clark St. restaurant, who says he recently found relief by taking Tanlac.

Mr. Lackey now boasts of a "wonderful appetite and a stomach that digests such things as ham and eggs, corned beef and cabbage, and rich pastries, foods that would have almost put me out of commission before I took Tanlac."

"Before I ran across this medicine," said he, "I was having to lay off from my work for a week at a time just on account of the numerous bills I suffered from indigestion. But when I tell you I have been eating, drinking, eating and digesting anything, and am on the job every day feeling like you may know how I appreciate Tanlac."

That should hold him. He (exactly)—Where is my cap? Has anyone seen my cap? Who—The Missus (coolly)—It's hanging there on the gas jet. He (still more excitedly)—Of course, on the gas jet! Could anyone think of a more idiotic place to put it? The Missus (very lively)—Yes; your head, perhaps.

Hymn

For Summer's bloom and Autumn's blight, For budding wheat and blasted meath, For health and sickness, Lord of light, And Lord of darkness, hear our prayer!

We trace to Thee our joys and woes— To Thee of crosses still the cause— We thank Thee that Thy hand has led us— We bless Thee that Thy love with-draws.

We bring an offering to Thy throne; We come to Thee with no complaint; We promise Thy will is done, And that is sacred to the saint.

Here, on this blest Thanksgiving Night, We raise to Thee our grateful voices; For what Thou dost, Lord, is right; And, thus believing, we rejoice.

"Bitter-Sweet," by J. G. Holland.

The Spirit of Thanksgiving

As we read of old time Thanksgiving customs, we realize that the world has been traveling fast since they came from the simple and the spiritual.

One of the customs, particularly, was quaint. After the Thanksgiving dinner, while the family was still seated around the table, each member was asked to tell for what, in the past year, he was particularly thankful.

These recitals were always revelations of character. The small children of the family mentioned some material thing, a stick or a doll, for which they were grateful.

The older children, those in their teens, were more abstract. They were thankful for the advantages of education, of family prestige, or their social position—a bit self-centered, perhaps, as is wont with youth in its teens.

But mother and father, in their maturity of years, knew that the greatest blessings of life were health and happiness, and their recitals of thankfulness always included a word of acknowledging that the family had been spared illness and poverty.

As a Nation, the American People Has Ample Cause for Rejoicing at This Period.

It is three hundred years—since Thanksgiving day was first celebrated on the American continent. The Pilgrim band, though they had lost half their number during the first winter at Plymouth, and though they were beset by hardships and by the fear of the savage neighbors, found in the survival of the little colony and the hope of a gradually ameliorating lot just cause for thanksgiving to God.

Old-Time Thanksgiving. A quaint custom of a Thanksgiving dinner back in 1770, is given in a letter of one Juliana Smith, written to her dear "Dear Cousin Betsey," found in an old diary.

This year it was Uncle Simon's turn to have the dinner at his home, but of course we all helped to do it. They help us when it is our turn, and there is always enough for us to eat.

The spirit of the day calls for just such a touch of spiritual introspection. It keeps alive that family spirit, the joy of an assembled family, the particular joy of Thanksgiving to each member, along with the joy of the old-fashioned dinner.

THE BLESSED

By Nancy Byrd Turner

November darkness to its close, The latest boads the flickering hearth.

Without, the little wistful rose, In drooping toward the barren earth.

A frost had bitten the April fruit, A blight had overtaken the summer corn.

Sharp hail had smitten to the root The golden barley, o'erbrown.

"But oh," she cried, "I love you, sweet! What shall we seek of wind or weather? So long as we can stir my heart."

Her image with glowing prayer, All long July for quenching rain; The end-eyed cattle left the shade.

To seek their cooling creek in vain; The flowers that her hands had cherished, They bowed their lovely heads and paled.

Her tears had fallen at the sight, "But ah," she breathes, "I love you, dear! It is truly matter whether we wait the year or less the year, Just so we live the year together."

Then on the hearth a faint fall, A cricket in a corner calls; His silence deepens down the night, The circle of his young arm makes.

The old clock on the mantel wakes, And cries Thanksgiving in a Youth's Companion.

Awful Possibility

If Thanksgiving Dinner Was Reversed, How Would You Like It?

As a Nation, the American People Has Ample Cause for Rejoicing at This Period.

It is three hundred years—since Thanksgiving day was first celebrated on the American continent.

The Pilgrim band, though they had lost half their number during the first winter at Plymouth, and though they were beset by hardships and by the fear of the savage neighbors, found in the survival of the little colony and the hope of a gradually ameliorating lot just cause for thanksgiving to God.

Old-Time Thanksgiving. A quaint custom of a Thanksgiving dinner back in 1770, is given in a letter of one Juliana Smith, written to her dear "Dear Cousin Betsey," found in an old diary.

This year it was Uncle Simon's turn to have the dinner at his home, but of course we all helped to do it. They help us when it is our turn, and there is always enough for us to eat.

The spirit of the day calls for just such a touch of spiritual introspection. It keeps alive that family spirit, the joy of an assembled family, the particular joy of Thanksgiving to each member, along with the joy of the old-fashioned dinner.

PHANTOM LION IS AT LAST BAGGED

For Four Years Bounty of $500 Has Been Hanging Over Montana Cattle Killer.

New York—Squalls, storms and shrikes burst in upon the peaceful meditations of Detective Tom Burke as he ambled comfortably down Grove street in Jersey City.

"Started into a nervous shiver, he was about convinced that a murderer was being committed when a strange procession boys in view at the corner.

At the head of the procession, according to Burke, ran a rat fully 15 inches long, with its beady eyes veritable balls of fire and frothing foam from its mouth.

FREEDOM FROM LAXATIVES

Discovery by Colibittis Has Raptorial Them.

File and salts give temporary relief from constipation only at the expense of permanent injury, says an eminent medical authority.

Science has found a power, better ways—means of simple and natural relief.

In perfect health a natural lubricant keeps the food waste soft and moving. But when constipation exists this natural lubricant is not sufficient.
