THE POSTAL SERVICE.

Extracts of General Statement from the Annual Report of the Postmaster-General.
 In his annual report, the post master-general says the department for railway mail service made its deepest year of last season, was not at all unusual. A reduction of expenses would have necessitated the transfer of one of the mail service on a number of important ways, but the public needs would not admit of this. Consequently he preferred to run in debt and trust to Congress to pay the bills. In his opinion a stoppage of the postal or service would cause a shock to the general postal system from which it would not soon recover. The postmaster general then said that he intended to ask the President to send a equal to the expenditure on a free system of economy would be necessary for its administration. Many of my predecessors have urged the establishment of a certain rate of postage or exaction from the mails of such master as did not pay the expense of transmission, in order to make the department self-sustaining. Time and again it has been shown 1878, 1845, That matter of the second and third classes does not pay the way which the first class, and Congress has been largely in error in the rules of passage there on. The question has been considered time and again by the appropriate committee and discussed by both branches of Congress, and the results have shown that it was not expected that the department should be self-sustaining, but that the revenues in its revenues should be used to appropriations from the general treasury. The franking privilege has been restricted to the members and chief officers of Congress, so as to allow them to send free almost everything they want, they were also allowed to transmit through the mails free, except letters, some upon some of books, documents, seeds, shrubs and the like are placed in our mails free of charge to this score. Now I most respectfully and earnestly suggest that it would be better policy to reduce the deficiencies of the revenues of the department by curtailing or absolutely abolishing the list of free mailer and by increasing the rate of postage on merchandise, than by appropriating sums inadequate to its efficient, prompt and safe transmission of the mails. I respectfully suggest that the undersigned general recommends that

...suitable provision be made by law for the delivery to addresses in this country, free of customs duty, of all newspapers and other articles of printed matter received in the mails from foreign countries, when dispatched in accordance with the conditions prescribed by the International Postal Union.

Gov. John P. Hays, of Arizona, says that the fact that the Mormons are still in the state is a serious matter.

A farmer's horse, named "Katie," was found dead in a field. The owner, Mr. Hays, was very much distressed.

Mrs. Diana Hays, who made a name in Mount, Ohio, by a false report that she was a fortune teller, is now in a state of mind.

A drunkard in Sacramento, named by a local newspaper, was found dead in a field. The owner, Mr. Hays, was very much distressed.

Twice already had the marriage of a young doctor and a rich belle of Mount, Ohio, been broken off.

On the Colorado lake, about a mile or so north of Golden, Cal., there lives an Indian named "Katie."

No fruit is planted in the plum tree. The plum is a very beautiful tree, but it is not a fruit tree.

The time and effort spent on various literary productions have differed with the time and effort spent on various literary productions.

There are many more, half as many more, than there are in the world. The world is a very large place.

One of the most beautiful of the world is the world of the future. The world of the future is a very large place.

Artemus Ward vs. the Fat Contributor. As "Artemus Ward" is a writer in the "Fat Contributor," the "Fat Contributor" is a writer in the "Artemus Ward."

FOR THE FAIR SEX. The most stylish walking boots have been made in the "Fat Contributor."

The hair is usually worn high with the present style of the "Fat Contributor."

Square trains are considered a trifle more elegant than the fat train.

A pink satin dress ornamented with a pattern velvet leaves is elegant.

With garnet, turquoise-blue is more generally used than any other color.

Garnet beads, corals and ornamental jewelry are used on the "Fat Contributor."

The Machine is a favorite shape for a "Fat Contributor."

Flashes of every variety are found among the dress, cloak and hat trimmings.

White, pearl-gray and cream felt bonnets are the most dressy headgear of the season.

I have recently heard of two very extravagant purchases that were made by a "Fat Contributor."

One article was the costliest braid or "switch" of hair that ever was made in Paris.

O. P.; The History of the Township of

New Jersey, from 1609 to 1777, &c.

This History is a truthful and impartial narrative of the Origin, Rise and Progress of the State which was well known to its Noble Founder. A citizen of Trenton, and having lived free in the State for many years, the author has had the opportunity of seeing the most valuable documents of the State, and has been enabled to give a full and complete account of the history of the State, and of the progress of its

Fire Insurance Company.

BRIDGETON, N. J.

Conducted on strictly mutual principles, offering a perfectly safe insurance for just what it may cost to pay losses and expenses. The proportion of loss to be borne by insured being very small, and expenses much less than usual

in the insured. The cost being about ten cents on the hundred dollars per year to the insured

on ordinary risks, and from fifteen to twenty-five cents per year on hazardous properties, which is less than one third of the rates charged by stock companies, as such risk is the other two thirds taken by stock companies less being a profit

accruing to stockholders, or consumed in expenses of the companies.

The guarantee fund of premium notes being now Three Millions of Dollars.

If an assessment had to be made of five per cent, say, twice within the ten years for which the policy is issued, it would yet be cheaper to the members than any other insurance offered

And this large amount of money is saved to the members and kept at home. No assessment having ever been made, being now more than thirty years, that saving would amount to
