OUR GOD. The Lord has led us on our way. The faithful, unchangeable Friend. Who lives in us and is with us.

Trifles-A Word to Married People. The ringing of the door-bell had a pleasant sound to us, especially in my wife's ears. Like an unspoken word, it was a friendly note to us and our wife with pleasurable content to see who or what was coming.

The doctor smiled, and, pointing to my wife, began climbing over a high lattice, and loaded with purple fruit, he said: "This wine needs properly and soon, and I purged and properly cared for, it is a sure remedy for indigestion, headache, and...

Coming and Going. Sunday and sundry came and go alternately, and without influence checked the account of life. The first coming of the child into the household is the first...

HOPLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS. THESE Bitters have performed more Cures than any other in the market. We do not aim to excite the appetite...

NOTICE OF THE Nomination of Commissioners to be chosen at the next election to be held by the County of Atlantic, N. J. on the 21st day of April next.

I have stipulated the deep volume of nature: I have listened to her teachings in the beauty of Springing, in the bloom of Summer and the glory of Autumn, and the bright sunlight, and in the hush of twilight, and this one question has arisen in my mind: Who hath not a Mission?

But the next morning everything again went wrong. Alice could no longer accompany me, and I could not go so early as I wished; and consequently I was left at home, and Alice returned my note, supposing as it appeared to me she had not been so unobtainable.

What about their going? When they go I believe that the door of the Father's house has opened, and they are ready to come. We weep, but it is not weeping for their going, but for what we are weeping for, because they are made of the clay, but because we are outside and the door is shut.

NOTICE OF THE Nomination of Commissioners to be chosen at the next election to be held by the County of Atlantic, N. J. on the 21st day of April next.

I returned to the city of the stream, as looked from the icy chains of Winter in murmured with unceasing flow, passing now and then, and bending the silver waters, then glancing in the glad sunlight. As I watched and listened, the distant objects were, I was, it gave life to beautiful flowers. Graceful alders drooped over the water. Amid the tall poplars, white catkins, and long, slender willows, I saw the glory of the winter.

Had I not a Mission? I have stipulated the deep volume of nature: I have listened to her teachings in the beauty of Springing, in the bloom of Summer and the glory of Autumn, and the bright sunlight, and in the hush of twilight, and this one question has arisen in my mind: Who hath not a Mission?

When we first parted, I was in a great hurry, and I had no time to say more than "I am glad to see you, and I shall be glad to see you again."

When they go I believe that the door of the Father's house has opened, and they are ready to come. We weep, but it is not weeping for their going, but for what we are weeping for, because they are made of the clay, but because we are outside and the door is shut.
