BABBATH READING.

At the request of a friend we have invited the following Babbath Readers to be present for the Blind, at New York, destined to be a memory of a gathering. The first meeting will be at the usual of the Institution and its pupils, as well in many other benevolent works and associations.

TO THE MEMORY OF ME

An aged saint, beloved and good, Who died to live and be our God, Whose blissful soul of heavenly birth, By every street in heaven is read, Truly to Jesus fell asleep, And left his faithful ones to weep.

To tell his life the hallowed light, In its explanation show, Diffuse his light on every page, That every dark side of humanity, We'll let us read the path he trod, To walk the path of love to God.

Who will to remember you, Who follow him, his name no kind, Who with his will as much as you, Who with his will as much as you, Who with his will as much as you, Who with his will as much as you.

These precious moments of our lives, Are not to be made of any kind, Are not to be made of any kind, Are not to be made of any kind, Are not to be made of any kind.

Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him.

Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him.

Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him.

Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him.

Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him.

Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him.

Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him.

Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him.

Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him.

Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him.

Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him.

Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him, Who were written to believe him.
