

SABBATHS READING.

OUR MOTHER'S GRAVE.

Oh earth, once only had you seen the dead,
Let us be laid in earth as you are dead.

Bring flowers and water upon the low mound,
The flowers and water that you can afford.

'Tis no more than the angel of death borest high,
And thou, my mother, thou wert the first to see.

Once upon a time, Frederick, King of Prussia,
Surrendered to Old Fritz, took a ride,

You must be well off, old man," said the farmer,
"Does this axe belong to you which you use to cut down the trees?"

"Eight groshen" ("about twenty cents," said the farmer),
"Is this not much," replied the King.

"How is it that I give for the axe?" asked the King,
"Is it not mine?" replied the farmer.

"The King, apparently well pleased with the answer, said:
"Bravely spoken, old man. Now I will also give you something to pay. Have you ever seen me before?"

"Yes," said the farmer,
"Is less than five minutes, you shall see my times, and carry in your pocket the 'Bismarck'."

"This is a mystery which I cannot understand," said the farmer,
"Then I will solve it for you. I had two old parents at home who kept me when I was young and needed help. I kept them, that is my duty toward which I try to give every day. The children of grocers which I had early I paid for my children, that they may receive a Christian instruction. This will come handy to me and my wife and children. With the last two grocers I must be contented to keep. This is what I give for the axe."

"The King, apparently well pleased with the answer, said:

SABBATH READING.

A Beautiful Narrative. We think we have no more...

I witnessed, a short time ago, in one of our higher Courts...

"I do not mean that," said the Judge, who saw her mistake...

"No, sir," I was never in Court before," was the answer.

"Do you ever read the Bible?" "Do you know what the Bible is?"

"Well, your lordship upon this Bible, I mean to what I say..."

"Anything else?" asked the Judge. "I shall not go to Heaven..."

"The child took the Bible, and turning rapidly to the chapter containing the commandment..."
