MAY'S LANDING, N. J., SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1908.

With this issue the "May's Landing Record" appears as an entire home production under a new title. The same conservative policy that has placed the stamina of reliability on the news columns of the journal during the thirty-one years of its existence will be continued in the new edition, and its editorial columns will be guided by liberality and for the best interests of all the people of the County. It has been and will continue to be the aim of the publisher and owner to present news that is authentic, strong in tone and clean in moral fibre. The publication will furnish a complete report of the transactions of the various County offices and a full record of the judicial proceedings of the County Courts. "The Record" is the official newspaper of Atlantic County, and as such is filed in the office of the County Clerk as a journal for reference. News of interest from the various municipalities of the County furnished by reliable correspondents will make the journal, as its name implies, an "Atlantic County Record."—Ed.

The forest reservation question is becoming more acute with each succeeding year. The State of New Jersey, realizing the need of legislation, has reserved large tracts of forest land throughout the State, and it is the good fortune of May's Landing to be situated in the immediate vicinity of one of these tracts, whose influence will be felt more by succeeding generations than this. There is a "Balance of Nature," which, destroyed by the depredations of civilization, retaliates in divers ways. Every school boy, thanks to the modern education along this line, knows that the rainfall and general health of a country depends largely upon the forestry found within its borders. The decrease in forests are followed also by a decrease in the number of wild animals and birds, and nature must readjust herself to meet the changed conditions.

Plainfield's shade tree commission took drastic measures recently to prevent the demolition of shade trees along the avenues of the city. Linemen with written permits of property owners to cut trees fronting on their property were arrested by the chief of the road department and fined by the authorities. The step was perhaps irregular, but the end justified the means. The preservation of the shade trees of any community should be an obligation on the part of the property owners.

May's Landing is especially to be congratulated on her magnificent oak and maple trees, and their preservation should be well guarded.

The municipal advance of May's Landing has been marked not so much by rapidity as permanency. Improvements have come after years of waiting. Other towns have been built in a week, and are flourishing for a brief period have disappeared. The history of May's Landing extends over a century. One by one advantages have been secured, new attractions offered, until to-day no town in South Jersey compares with her as an inland resort or industrial center. The climate is proverbial. Attractiveness and healthfulness are the summer visitor and industrial establishments to the permanent resident. Increased railroad facilities, a National bank, flourishing churches, fire protection, a splendid system of public schools and other advantages are improvements so obvious as to need no comment. In the near future a new boulevard to Downtown will be completed, adding one more to a system of public roads acknowledged to be the finest in the State. An energetic and intelligent Board of Freeholders is making efforts to secure further industrial enterprises. May's Landing stands to-day on a firm and permanent basis, facing the future with brighter prospects than ever before.

It can be expected by those who have attained to any degree of success, whether in private venture or public life. To any given pursuit it is to invite comment on the part of those who have been surpassed in the race for supremacy. The public is especially liable to criticism, and it is one of the blessings of institutions that this is so, for it is a constant monitor of the man who is circumspect in his public work. Honest and intelligent criticism, not prompted by the feeling of personal malice or political animosity, is, and should be, welcomed by every public official; but criticism that is effective must be just.

The vicissitudes of the weather often subject the weather bureau officials to criticism, oftentimes unjust and made by those who lack accurate knowledge of that institution. It is true that mistakes are made, mistakes due to variations of the wind and temperature which are unforeseen. The bureau is, in spite of occasional discrepancies, an admirable and most useful institution. Branch bureaus are established in almost every city in the United States, and severe storms are generally foretold with accuracy. It is the local storm that baffles the weatherman. These storms form rapidly, cover a comparatively small area, and are usually within the district of but one branch weather station. The course of the severe storms is noted by those stations which they pass and their general direction and velocity are determined with accuracy. Millions of dollars are spent annually by the Government to encourage and perfect a science that is yet in its infancy, which has already accomplished much. The weatherman is to be praised and encouraged, and his occasional inaccuracies should be laid solely to the crude state of a science as yet fully undeveloped.

"The Record" will be mailed to any address in the United States, postage prepaid, for $1.25 per annum in advance.

MAD DOG RAN AMUCK.

CANINE WITH RABIES BIT MANY DOGS.

Maddened Animal Was at Large for Several Hours and Viciously Attacked Valued Hounds—Its Ownership Unknown.

A large Scotch Collie dog last Saturday evening appeared suddenly on the streets of May's Landing, suffering from rabies. During the evening and early Sunday morning several valued dogs were bitten. They were afterward killed by their owners. The dog was found and killed Sunday morning by Constable Joseph Leach. Among those whose dogs were bitten were: M. Harbert, Joseph Gebert, Arthur Adams, Samuel Taylor, Edgar Dawson, Bruno Goetz, George Kraemer, Daniel Herbert, Chester Ford, George Watson and Henry Stowe.

A pet cat belonging to Mrs. D. F. Vaughn was attacked and killed by the maddened animal early in the evening. Not satisfied with merely snapping at his victims, the dog renewed his attacks again and again. Several people during the evening attempted to dispatch him with their revolvers but failed, and he ran at large through the night hours until Constable Leach was notified in the early morning and started in pursuit. The ownership of the dog has not been established.

STATE PRESS COMMENT.

Pleasantville is comparatively and fortunately free of destructive fires. But there is little use firing with the dangerous element. Cracked glass may answer for the grime that is fed to poultry, but it is a dangerous article to use—punctures, and bad ones, may result. Splendid food for fire is heaped on many back lots in the form of boxes, barrels and rubbish, and the conditions have existed for months. A man is privileged to maintain many things on his property that are dangerous to himself only, but there is a limit. This is reached when he prejudices the safety of his neighbor's property.

The Board of Trade has been severely criticised, as a "meddling body," because the members thought back let cleaning an evidence of civic pride, and the crusade was halted. It is the duty of some one to peek into corners where fire danger lurks, and that some one should be a member of members of the local fire company.—Pleasantville Weekly Press.

Monmouth County, in which are several resorts, has adopted a plan requiring prisoners in the county jail to break stone. They have stone roads in Monmouth County, some of the best in the State, and the repairs are constant and expensive. Keeping prisoners in idleness was also expensive. The Freeholders have decided that if prisoners crushed stone for use on the roads, it would save the county money, and at the same time it would tend to lessen the jail expense by breaking in the prisoners. The jail expense does not fancy. They prefer the idle life which has heretofore been provided for them by an indigent administration. What could not the same rule be adopted in Atlantic County? Atlantic City is in need of car loads of broken stone, and the county could find a good market for all the prisoners could crack into suitable sizes. The county roads, especially at the approaches to bridges, would be broken stone at points on the county roads, and the cost of repairs would be less. It would reduce the inflow of tramps and it would be a certain class who would be benefited.

Whiter months than the summer months, when it is outside of its warm interior and wholesome meals. A trial of the plan, perhaps, would convince the Board of Freeholders that it would be both a source of revenue and a saving. The State works prisoners and there is no reason why the county should not derive from the county the same support at the expense of the taxpayers.—Atlantic Review.

The efforts of a certain contingent of citizens to bring about a change in the observance of the excise law in Atlantic City does not meet with that public approval that the sponsors hoped for. We have plenty of other things that these same gentlemen could turn their attention to and which would prove more popular with the masses and the more a broad spirit advise them to act accordingly.

There is such a thing as "killing the goose that laid the golden egg." Atlantic City has grown fat, healthy and prosperous, not upon a Puritanical interpretation of the laws, but upon the broad spirit of life and let live. These men who would introduce Puritanical ways into the resort do not respect the honest, hard-working, moderate payer, nor the shrewd broad minded citizen. They represent a class of folks who can only see things their way, cannot be broad minded and sensible of the manner in which their property was brought around the place ever prospered under Puritanical laws, especially a summer resort and if you want to take money out of your own pocket book, why continue the present unpleasant and unprofitable effects at Puritanism.—Atlantic City Press.

Just how the removal of tariff duties—as the democrats are now shouting again—would benefit the workers in the country we do not know, and we cannot understand.

The statement has been made that owing to the temporary depression in business relief would come by doing away with the custom duties. As there are some manufacturing plants running on short time, and others idle, it would not help those who work to have the foreign-made goods dumped here to underbid what is being made here.

The cut would be in the wrong way. As it is now, the exports are tremendous, and to increase them with the result that less work would be necessary here would not be a blessing.

In truth, it would be better to restrict the incoming foreign-made goods in order to make more work at home. The American people have to look after their own interests first and interests of others last. The removal of or the reduction in the tariff rates would benefit the workers of this country one while, but it might benefit those with fixed incomes.

Of what avail would it be for the average man who depends upon his wages for a living to know that he could buy foreign-made goods cheaper if he was not given a chance to make wages by producing goods at home.—State Gazette.

Remarking upon the systematic violation of the law which prohibits fishing through the ice in our lakes and streams, the "New York Evening Star" ventures the hope that things will be different under the present commission. There is certainly room for improvement in this and other respects. There is also room for improvement in the method of safeguarding our coast fisheries. The taking of menhaden should be better regulated, as should also the pound-net fishing. The Legislature can, it will, restore the old-time attractiveness of hand-line fishing along our coast and thus benefit the seashore resorts and lower the market price of fish at one and the same time.—East Jersey Press.

ST. VINCENT CHURCH.

CATHOLICS HOLD SERVICE IN NEW EDIFICE.

Handsomely Structured Modern in Architecture and Cost $10,000—Congregation Numbers Over Five Hundred.

An increase in the number of places of worship in any community is, usually, a healthy sign. It not only shows that greater interest is being manifested in the worship of God, but also that the spiritual welfare of a larger number of citizens will be sought after and safeguarded. This is more especially true of our country, where there is no established church, but where every one is guaranteed the "right to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience." Where, therefore, there is such a vast difference of opinion and where, in consequence, the "cults" are so numerous that they run into the hundreds, the necessity for many churches of different denominations, but too evident. In fact it may be said that no town, no matter what her advantages or inducements, can be regarded as a desirable place of residence for any people who do not afford her facilities to worship the Deity in keeping with his religious tenets. It follows that May's Landing has recently taken a step forward in providing for the large body of her citizens a long-felt want. The erection of the beautiful church of St. Vincent de Paul marks the beginning of a new era for our Catholic citizens.

Previous to Easter Sunday, April 13, 1908, the Methodist and Presbyterian churches were the only denominations known to May's Landing, these having administered well to the spiritual needs of the community; but on the above date the Rev. Theodore B. McCormick celebrated the first Mass that was ever attended by the Catholic

Rev. Theodore B. McCormick, Pastor. Inhabitants. Although the weather was inclement over 300 of the faithful, comprising nine different nationalities, were in attendance at the morning service. The week following Father McCormick celebrated the first Mass and took up permanent residence in May's Landing in compliance with a request of Rt. Rev. James McFall, Bishop of Trenton, that he take immediate steps towards the erection of a church. Early in June of that year he purchased the lot which is now occupied by the Water Works, but the following September he secured the present site at the corner of Cape May Avenue and Second Street as being more desirable and certainly more central and convenient.

The new completed brick church, which was designed by Architect R. Hudson Vaughn, and built by Philip E. Hannum, a skillful mechanic, and well known citizen of the old town of Weymouth. The structure may well be regarded as an object of pride for the people of this town, for it is the first church of the Catholic faith in the brick to putting in place of the leaded glass windows. Of the many artisans employed on the edifice, all were citizens of Atlantic County. On July 19th, 1907, at 3:30 P. M., the simple ceremony of breaking the ground was performed by the Pastor and the first stone was laid by Stacy Shuff on the third day of August. Indifferent progress was made until after the cornerstone was laid by the Rt. Rev. McFall, on August 24th. After many unexpected delays the church was completed for service on Christmas Day. It cost about ten thousand dollars and its Trustees are Lorenz Leilling and John C. Quinn. The Catholic population of May's Landing and suburbs over 1500 and for the first time she has the privilege of adding her voice to the Federal census, which recently estimates the Catholic population of the United States as fourteen millions.

Parker of Milwaukee says of one of Beauchamp's lectures, "The lecture on 'The Age of the Young Man' was the grandest I ever heard, and will produce an effect that can be measured only when the books are opened at the resurrection."

New Law for School Teachers.

A new law has been proposed in the Legislature which provides that public school teachers who have served for three years cannot be removed without cause, and then only after trial by the Board of Education, at which the teacher may be represented by counsel. The law was approved by the State Teachers' Association at their annual meeting in Atlantic City during December, and is intended to prevent the sudden dismissal of teachers without just cause. It further provides that no reduction of salary shall be made without similar reasons therefor.

Don't For Girls.

Don't make a dead set for every new man who arrives in town. The girl who keeps modestly in the background is the one who is usually sought out, and who receives the many little attentions and courtesies that the flirt is denied.

Don't join the army of gossips who are usually found at front gates, and who find it a pleasure to pry into affairs of their neighbors, even going so far as to tear characters to shreds. You will find more pleasure in life if you take long walks or drives and become familiar with the beauties of nature.

Don't hesitate to bestow a little kindness on the lonely woman you may meet, who possibly has the care of a sick child or who may be all herself. A bright, cheery word or gentle kiss will make her life more pleasurable and you will be happier for it yourself.

Prof. H. A. Howell, of Havana, Cuba, Recommends Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"As long ago as I can remember my mother was a faithful user and friend of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, but never in my life I realized its true value until now," writes Prof. H. A. Howell, of Howell's American School, Havana, Cuba. "On the night of February 3rd our baby was taken sick with a very severe cold, the next day was worse and the following night his condition was desperate. He could not lie down and it was necessary to have him in the arms every moment. Even then his breathing was difficult. I did not think he would live until morning. At last I thought of my mother's remedy, Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which we gave, and it afforded prompt relief, and now, three days later, he has fully recovered. Under the circumstances I would not hesitate a moment in saying that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and that only, saved the life of our dear little boy." For sale by Morse & Co.—Adv.
