

GRAND JURY WILL MAKE PRESENTMENT

MORE ELECTION BILLS SAYS RUMOR. Indictments Expected on Charges of Illegal Liquor Sales Which Were Investigated—Inquest's Labors About Completed.

When Justice Samuel Kalisch sits here Thursday next, the regular January Grand Jury, which has about completed its labors according to the statements of members and which was adjourned last week to meet at the call of the Foreman, Ex-Judge Allen B. Endicott, will likely make its final presentment to the Court. The Jury has been in service at frequent intervals since early in January and has considered several hundred charges.

LIBERAL SUNDAY BILL DEFEATED

Atlantic City Hotelmen Disappointed Over Failure To Secure New Law. Only two votes were cast Tuesday for the liberal Sunday sales bill in the Senate, which Atlantic City hotel keepers and business men hoped would become a law. Protestors lined up against it from all parts of the State, however, and many business men personally favored the bill were obliged by the will of their constituents to vote against it.

When the measure came up Senator Edge said that Atlantic City proposed under the measure to do legally what it and other cities had done illegally in the past—sell liquor on Sundays in hotels, but under proper regulations. Instead of opening the floodgates, he said, the measure was one of regulation, closing them in all decency and no longer keeping hotelkeepers busy dodging grand juries and allowing the blind trade to flourish. He read letters from companies who proposed building large hotels at the coast resort if they were assured that they could sell liquor on Sundays. "While I appreciate that coffee-baked business of selling liquor on Sundays should not weigh against morals," said Senator Edge, "I feel that this measure is a decent one, a regulating one, a clean-cut one, which will no longer make sneaks of those who in the past illegally sold the liquor on Sundays."

SHORT HOURS FOR WOMEN.

Senator Edge Believes Employers Will Soon Realize Its Advantages. The Assembly concurred with the Senate in passing the Edge bill to limit the hours of women's work in factories, stores, bakeries, restaurants and laundries to 10 hours a day and six days a week. The bill was amended in the Senate to exempt stores for six days before Christmas and to exempt janitors for a period of not more than three weeks during their rush season.

Limits Speed Over Bridges.

By the provisions of a new law it will be unlawful for any person to drive any kind of vehicle, whether propelled by its own power or drawn by horses over any of the public road bridges of this State, or over any toll bridges or any bridges that are part of any turnpike road, which bridge may be considered a public road, from or over the apex of which may be used iron, or concrete, at a faster rate than five miles an hour, when the authorities in charge of such bridge shall have placed upon it a notice limiting the pace to five miles an hour. Any person or persons violating the law will be liable to a penalty of $10 with costs, which penalty may be sued for and recovered with costs by any person in any court of competent jurisdiction.

Arbor Day.

Arbor Day will occur this year on Friday, April 12, in accordance with the School Law. The section reads as follows: "For the purpose of encouraging the planting of shade and forest trees, the second Friday in April of each year is hereby designated as a day for the general observance of such purpose, and to be known as Arbor Day. On said day appropriate exercises shall be introduced in all the schools of the State. It shall be the duty of the several county and city superintendents to prepare a program of exercises for that day in all the schools under their respective jurisdictions."

May Remove Rail Birds.

Non-resident hunters may take red and rail birds to the number of fifty out of the State under a new law, which says: "Any person licensed under the provisions of this act may in any one day, remove from the State red birds and rail birds to a number not exceeding fifty of each species, other birds to a number not exceeding fifteen, and rabbits to a number not exceeding ten; no removal shall be made except the birds or rabbits be exposed to open view."

Will Manage Young's Ocean Pier.

Former Sheriff L. L. Johnson will assume the duties of manager of Young's famous old Ocean Pier on April 1. The pier, together with Young's Hotel directly opposite, was recently purchased by a syndicate at a cost, it is stated, of one million dollars. Many improvements are to be made to the structure and new and varied attractions are to be added. Mr. Johnson has many warm friends throughout the county who wish him success in his new position.

Special Circuit Court Session.

Judge C. L. Cole will hold a special session of Circuit Court Tuesday next at which a special jury, which has been summoned, will serve. It is a legal battle between two rival theatrical companies, Wesley & Brown, of Atlantic City, and Constance & East, of New York, over possession of the Savoy Theatre, and promises to be interesting.

Second National Declares Dividend.

Directors of the Second National Bank of Atlantic City Thursday morning declared a semi-annual dividend of eight per cent, and at the same time added $5,000 to the prosperous bank's surplus fund. A further balance added to the undivided profits increases that account to beyond $50,000.

WANT NORMAL SCHOOL HERE.

May's Landing Has Many Advantages For Such An Institution. Recent legislation makes possible the establishment of a Normal School in South Jersey and several municipalities are getting in line to offer locations. Pleasantville and Hammonton, among others, having taken definite steps to secure the proposed institution. The "Town Of Natural Opportunities" will not be asleep, however, and the Board of Trade believes it can offer greater inducements for locating the school here than any other place in South Jersey.

Among the attractions set forth are quiet and healthfulness, hourly train service with Philadelphia and Atlantic City and good connections with all parts of South Jersey, pure artesian water, excellent fire protection, Lake Lenape and the Great Egg Harbor River with boating, bathing, fishing, skating and other recreations, opportunities for nature study and agriculture and many other natural advantages, some but not all of which can be obtained by other towns mentioned in connection with the school.

Early action will likely be taken by the Board of Trade, acting in conjunction with the Township Committee, business men and residents at large.

An appropriation of $20,000 has been made for the school by the Legislature.

MAKING GOOD AS SHERIFF.

SHERIFF ROBERT H. INGERSOLL.

When the Republicans of Atlantic County nominated the Hon. Robert H. Ingersoll for sheriff, they believed they selected a man who was well qualified for such a responsible position, and the manner in which he has conducted the office reflects great credit not only on him, but on their judgment as well. He made good as a lawyer, made good as a judge of the District Court and he is making good as sheriff.

Majane, who conducted a hotel at North Carolina and Baltic Avenues, was convicted in Criminal Court and released under bail pending sentence. Shortly afterward he disappeared from Atlantic City and has not been heard from since.

The charge against Majane consisted of the purchase of cigars and other supplies from a young man who robbed several stores. The thief confessed and incriminated Majane.

Auto Reciprocity Wins.

Automobile reciprocity in New Jersey was made possible Wednesday by a reconsideration, in the Senate, where it was previously defeated, of the bill granting privileges to visiting motorists that Jersey drivers can secure in their States. The engine started to move, the tracks being down grade. At this time the engineer tried to make a stop by drilling of one car to the new switch. Prickett was on the car and at the point of the switch the two South-bound engines collided with the North-bound car. SENATE GOES OVER VETO

Repasses Tunnel Bill After Governor Sent It Back and Measure Is Again In House—Affects Welfare of South Jersey.

South Jersey's popular protest for a tunnel under the Delaware River from Camden to Philadelphia, which would have been a great boon to this part of the State, was given setback Monday when Governor Wilson vetoed the bill extending franchise limits, which was passed by both houses of the Legislature and would have insured the entire completion of the tunnel. This denies the project of a tunnel built by private enterprise as the limit is only twenty years, and means that if it is built it will have to be done by the railroad under the perpetual franchise act.

The bill was repassed by the Senate over the Governor's veto and will be brought over to the House's veto and sent to the House for action.

Governor Wilson accompanied his veto with long statement, the essential features of which were the following:

"The situation in the Southern portion of New Jersey is particularly unfortunate. The conveyance of produce from the farms is seriously hampered and retarded by the lack of trolley lines and other facilities of inter-communication. It is a situation which ought to be relieved at once. There is pressing necessity that favorable terms of investment should be made possible in order that a tunnel may be constructed. Such means of communication has become necessary, but is out of the question, in view of the influence cast of the enterprise, so long as only a twenty-year franchise can be granted. But any measure adopted should be suited for permanent use, rather than wear the character of temporary accommodation. No fixed period for such franchises can be set, for the reason that the features of this bill will be regarded as that it entirely disregards the safeguard of the present law, which consists in the necessity of a referendum to the people in case of all long-term franchises."

THE PRESIDENT'S ECONOMY RECORD

Taft Insists That Government Be Run on Sound Business Basis.

HIS PROGRESSIVE POLICY.

His Personal Efforts to Reduce Cost of Efficient Service Bring Results—Business Methods Applied—Economy and Efficiency Commission Fought by Democrats.

President Taft more than any of his predecessors in the White House has given strict attention to placing the government upon a business basis as regards its receipts and expenditures. Economy and efficiency became one of the cardinal policies of his administration as soon as he entered upon the presidency, and it was well for the country that this was so, for his administration inherited a deficit in the treasury of $28,000,000, which has now been transformed into a surplus of $30,000,000. The average citizen and taxpayer will be interested in this fact, because the problem which confronted the president at the outset, although upon a gigantic scale, was similar to that of the ordinary shopkeeper or business man, farmer or wage earner or even housewife who is called upon to make "both ends meet" either in business or in the home.

By the law of the secretary of the treasury is called upon every year to submit to congress in December the "estimates" of governmental expenditures for the next fiscal year, beginning the following July 1. As congress has to provide the money to run the government, the money has to be appropriated for specifically purposes before it can be expended, and if this were not done before the beginning of the fiscal year the machinery of government would stop unless emergency provision could be made.

How Estimates Are Made. The estimates are prepared by the executive departments of which each member of the cabinet is a head. The cabinet officers get the estimates in their respective departments from their chiefs of bureaus and then combine them as the "estimates" for the department. The estimates from all departments are then sent to the secretary of the treasury to be submitted to congress, and they then become the estimates for the cost of running the entire government during the next fiscal year. Upon these figures congress makes the greater part of its appropriations, amounting to more than $1,000,000,000 annually.

Gray Leaved Plants. Next to green, gray is the most restful and most satisfactory color to be had in foliage. We now have so many hardy plants with gray foliage that we can choose one for each month of bloom and color of flower. Among them are the silvery willow, gold dust, the white and purple rockrose, the woody leaved chinkweed, many hardy plants, Siberian day lily, Fisher's horned poppy, lavender cotton, wound wort and woolly thyme. Some of these are decidedly silvery. Others incline to a blue cast, which is most pronounced in the globe thistles and sea hollies. Such colors are so unusual in gardens. Country Life in America.

What President Taft Did. As soon as President Taft took office his system ceased. At the outset President Taft impressed upon his cabinet officials the absolute necessity of economy and efficiency in their departments. He admonished them that not a dollar beyond what was necessary to run the government efficiently in their departments, including a fair margin for progress, which is a part of efficiency in the program of President Taft, should be asked of congress. The effect was immediate. Every department begun work at once to investigate its own expenditures and to devise ways and means of curtailing extravagance. The result was that congress received the lowest estimates it had seen in years. This was followed by a reduction in appropriations to correspond, always allowing for the natural growth of the government's activities, which represented a net saving to the taxpayers of the country. President Taft was not, however, satisfied that all had been done that could be done. He realized that the departments of the government, like individuals, are naturally prone to be proud of their own achievements and by reason of their familiarity with their own endeavors often insisted that their work was more important than the work of the other departments, relatively speaking. In order to correct that evil he asked congress to give him $100,000 for a commission of disinterested experts to investigate and report on the business of the government, with a view to further economy and efficiency. Thus came into being the commission of that name.

This commission, among other duties, was directed to prepare the receipts and expenditures of the government on a "budget" basis, which is the system followed by practically all the leading nations of the world except the United States. Under this system it is possible for the humblest citizen to analyze the finances of the government at any time and to lay his finger upon the responsible political party in the event of extravagance or of stinginess. The system under which appropriations for the government of the United States have been made has even defied the experts in their endeavors to unravel the tangled skeins of expenditures, so that it is a fair statement to say that no citizen of this country up to the present time has ever thoroughly understood where his taxes were expended.

The President's Position. At the present time the Democratic house of representatives is endeavoring to end the usefulness of the economy and efficiency commission by cutting off its appropriations. In a recent report by congress for funds to continue the great work it has begun, which all thinking men and women will approve, President Taft pointed out that the people of the country as a whole are interested chiefly in the following governmental objects: The national defense, the protection of persons and property, the promotion of friendly relations and the protection of American interests abroad; the regulation of commerce and industry, the promotion of agriculture, fisheries, forestry and mining, the promotion of manufacturing, commerce and banking, the promotion of transportation and communication, the postal service, including postal savings banks and parcel-post, the care and utilization of the public domain, the promotion of education, art and science and recreation; the promotion of public health and the care and education of the indigent and other wards of the nation. There are many other public questions, of course, but these are the vital and comprehensive ones, and the "budget" is proposed for the purpose of giving information as to the needs of these matters. The president, in order that his policy of economy and efficiency may be continued and become one of the greatest achievements of his administration, that of placing the government on a business basis—wants congress to appropriate $250,000 more for the support of the commission now doing that work.

The economy and efficiency commission has already saved to the taxpayers of the country more than $3,000,000 annually by its suggestions and by the time it has completed its work it is believed ten times this sum can be saved annually to the taxpayers. In its annual report of railroad rates for government officials alone it has found that $12,000,000 was expended in a single year at the highest prevailing railroad rates. At least a fourth of this can be saved by the application of business methods such as President Taft has applied and has insisted shall be applied to all the departments of the government.

Deserves Another Term. Representative J. Hampton Moore, who is well known in many different sections of the country on account of his active interest in waterway improvements, in discussing the administration of President Taft has this to say: "President Taft ought to be renominated and elected because he stands for stability. He should be nominated because it has been generally conceded by Republicans since the first day he entered the office that the same treatment would be accorded him with respect to a second term that is usually accorded to Republican presidents who have done well. There is no good party excuse for not nominating him. He should be elected because, while not a political president in the sense that he has played politics to the satisfaction of all elements of his party, he has in fact been a broad gauge president, conservative in all matters of fact, the dignity of the office and the obligations assumed by him to sustain and uphold the constitution and the laws of this country."

Taft's Efforts for Peace. Honesty of intention, stability of purpose and a firm faith in the principles of the party of Lincoln, Grant and McKinley are some of the characteristics of President Taft. Familiar with the horrors of war, as well as the enormous expense that it always entails, independent of the vast expenditures required to keep a great nation upon a constant war footing, the president has persistently sought to promote a worldwide peace of nations by international agreement. Any failure of accomplishment in furthering this worthy cause cannot be charged to the president.

No Brass Band. Brass bands and megaphones have not been needed to herald the accomplishments of the administration of President Taft. All of the great achievements for which the president is directly responsible have been accomplished quietly and without the slightest semblance of noise or bluster. The voters of the country display their faith in President Taft and his policies in 1908, and they are prepared to renominate and re-elect him.

KIND WORDS. The art of saying appropriate words in a kindly way is one that never goes out of fashion and is within the reach of the humblest.—Faber.

Talk Not Cheap. "Why do you charge so much more for a hair cut than for a shave?" asked the customer. "Because I have to talk so much longer," replied the loquacious barber.—Yonkers Statesman.

A Blunder. "What on earth made you compile 'Miss Enchilota on her talking ways?'" "Why not?" "Don't you know the poor girl is a kleptomaniac?"—Haltimere American.

The Way of It. Knicker-Jones used to be a quitter. Becker—is still. He has quit quitting.
