REPUBLICAN TICKET.

For President:

WILLIAM H. TAFT,

Of Ohio.

For Vice-President:

JAMES S. SHERMAN,

Of New York.

A term in jail has few terrors for most petty criminals, but a heavy fine usually leaves an impression not easily forgotten. There seems to be a general tendency among County Courts recently to impose fines where the offense warrants such a course rather than to sentence for short terms. The former repletes the County treasury, while the latter obliges taxpayers to support the criminal in an indolent life for terms of one to six months. Where the culprit happens to be a laborer with no immediate means of paying a fine, he is placed in charge of a probation officer and allowed to pay in monthly installments. Under such circumstances it is tolerable certain that he will feel his punishment keenly before the fine is paid. There is need of a change in the general County jail system, under which criminals are now maintained in enforced idleness at the public expense, which will probably come about in the course of a few years. Suggestions have been made of systems whereby the inmates of penal institutions are enabled to support themselves, and in view of the heavy expense now incurred in maintaining the County jail such a change is advisable. The system of fines is good as far as it goes, and is a commendable departure from the ordinary mode of punishment under certain circumstances.

With the best equipment and most thorough course of study in the history of the Township, the public schools will enter the coming term prepared to give the youth of the community a thorough common school education, with opportunities of a high school course for those who are so fortunate as to be able to attend. In these days of commercial strife the boys and girls who enter the poorly equipped mentally stand slight chance of success, and every opportunity for higher education should be eagerly sought by parents and pupils. The establishment of a night school will enable those who by force of circumstances have been forced to leave school at an early age to complete their education. It will require patient coercion to place this new department on a satisfactory basis, and every parent and public spirited resident can assist by recommending their young friends to enroll. Self improvement offers little in itself to the young man who has spent the day at hard labor, but those who have gone through the mill know that it pays. Education is the foundation stone of republican government, and it is the education of the people, not of individuals, that governs national progress and prosperity.

Atlantic City frankly acknowledges the non-enforcement of an unpopular law that is being trampled under foot in practically every municipality in the State. The resort is not in a state of anarchy. Its citizens are as law-abiding a people as can be found on other questions, for no municipality is wholly without blame in this respect; but they protest against the observance of a law that is obnoxious to them. Atlantic City is not above the law. The saloon keepers will eventually be obliged to observe the law as it stands until public sentiment enforces new legislation. The Queen resort, however, is not alone in its partial disregard of the present statute. Its publicity has made the city the focal point of a general movement throughout the State to enforce the provisions of the Bishop law, but that does not infer that the municipality is one whit worse than others who have been less frank in confessing to non-enforcement of the statute. It is to be regretted that the agitation occurred during the busy season, but those who are best acquainted with conditions in Atlantic City do not fear the outcome.

For more than fifty years the Republican party has been the consistent friend of the American negro. It gave him freedom and the right of franchise. It wrote into the constitutional law the declarations that proclaim his civil and political rights; and it believes that his progress in educational and industrial pursuits has earned the respect of the nation. As a result the negro is to-day the staunch friend of the Republicans, and his loyalty will be demonstrated at the polls next November.

The County farmer has about harvested his crop and will be ready shortly to pick his candidates. Under the new primary law, picking promises to be good, and those who fail to go to the polls on September 22 will have only themselves to blame if the candidates selected fail to "line-up" to their satisfaction.

Township affairs are in a creditable condition. Good roads are maintained. The waterworks system is to be improved. The public schools are in better shape than ever before and finances are well looked after. On the whole, the chronic knocker has little to talk about at present.

"Shall the people rule?" is declared by the Democratic platform and candidate to be the overshadowing issue now under discussion," says Vice Presidential Candidate Sherman. "It is no issue. Surely the people shall rule, surely the people have ruled; surely the people do rule. No party rules. The party, commissioned by the people, is simply the instrument to execute the people's will, and from that party which does not obey their expressed will, or which lacks the wisdom to lead successfully, the people will withdraw their commission. For half a century, with but two exceptions, the people have commissioned the Republican party to administer the national government; commissioned it because its declared principles appealed to their best judgment; commissioned it because the common sense of the American people scented danger in Democratic policies. Ours always has been, always must be, a government of the people. That party will, after March 4 next, execute old laws and enact new ones as in November it is commissioned by the people to do. That commission will be from an untrammelled American electorate. Shame on the party which, shame on the candidate who insults the American people by suggestion or declaration that a majority of its electorate is venal. The American voter, with rare exception, in casting his ballot is guided by his best judgment, by his desire to conserve his own and the public weal."

The condition of the United States is such at this time as to render a change of policy perilous to its welfare. Economic conditions and social problems demand a continuance of sane, stable, conservative government. The radicalism of Bryan and his followers is too dangerous to trifle with. Actuated by the one desire to attain the executive chair, Bryan is making every possible appeal to the people to place him there. He is selling his birthright for a mess of pottage, and has about run his race. One vital, dominating fact confronts the Democratic party, which no oratory, no eloquence, no rhetoric can obscure: Bryan's candidacy means Taft's election.

Fire bugs seem to be at large in Minotola. Within the year the town hall and livery stable have been destroyed by fires of incendiary origin, while attempts have been made to fire the factory store and other buildings. It is a pity the miscreant cannot be caught and punished before life is further endangered and property rendered unsafe by allowing him to remain at large.

A Chicago man claims to have discovered a chemical process of destroying the mosquito. It is open season for this specie of "bird" whenever you can catch 'em in Jersey, and if the gentleman will gun for the pest here he can have a free license.

STATE PRESS COMMENT.

Mayor Flisk, Chairman of the Fort-constituted Excise Commission, is less belligerent in his attitude toward Atlantic City these days than during the violation of his "Commission." He is fair and frank enough to admit that a law that is inimical to the best interests of a community, and that cannot command the respect and support of a community, cannot be enforced. He advises the people of this town to make their needs known to the Legislature and believes that, if they urge corrective legislation, it will be granted in the way of genuine Home Rule. That sounds a heap better than the wild-eyed denunciations of this people of this town as a community of lawbreakers and indisciplines that Mr. Flisk's temperature has gone back to the normal.

"Home Rule" should be the slogan of the people of Atlantic City until the power of self-government is granted them by the Legislature. The article on that subject in these columns last week has created a great deal of comment, especially among lawyers. It is recognized that Home Rule is the only remedy for the ills with which the resort is now afflicted. Many people have been deceived by the cry of Local Option, raised by such politicians as Governor Fort, and by the prohibitionists, and were led to think that the two terms were synonymous.

"On contrary, Local Option would leave the city quite as much at the mercy of Governor Fort and his prohibition allies as at the present time under the Bishop law. Home Rule, on the other hand, would place the excise question under the absolute control of each community to say, not only whether liquor shall be sold or not, but, in the event of voting for license, to regulate its sale absolutely. This would enable Atlantic City to legally permit the sale of liquor on Sunday, and at any other time of the day or night at the discretion of the voters as expressed through their representatives in Council.

"The big cities in the Northern section of the State are demanding the same privilege and they are looking to Atlantic City to take the lead and will stand by her in compelling this legislation at the hand of the Legislature next winter. This is the only remedy for the present intolerable condition in Atlantic City in regard to the Sunday question, and it is the only legislation that is just to both the advocates of prohibition and license."—Jersey Justice.

"Vice Presidential Candidate Sherman neatly counters on Mr. Bryan by meeting his paramount issue, 'shall the people rule?' with the statement that 'The overshadowing issue of the campaign really is, Shall the administration of President Roosevelt be approved?' The sophistry of the Bryan issue is apparent, but there is no getting away from the fact that Mr. Bryan's opponent is the administration's legate, pledged to carrying out consistently, but with as little disturbance to the country as possible, the policies which President Roosevelt inaugurated and in which he had Taft's aid. If the people believe these policies are right and the best for the country, they will elect Taft and Sherman. If they want to see the Roosevelt policies abandoned and the vagaries of William Jennings Bryan substituted, they will vote the Democratic ticket.

"There is really no question whether the people shall or shall not rule. They possess the power to rule and can be depended upon to exercise that power. It is the independent, unbiassed element of the electorate that decides presidential elections, and it is the voters who need no urging from Bryan to man the polls. In many ways the people have shown that they approve and endorse what President Roosevelt stands for and we believe they will express their choice by an overwhelming vote for continuance of the Roosevelt policies."—Camden Post Telegram.

"There is no great rush of candidates into the now open field of the direct primaries, which is rather singular, to say the least. If there be any men anxious to serve their fellow citizens in the Legislature, or in the county offices, and thinking of offering themselves at the primaries, they will have to be smart about it or they will be left out in the cold. The Mercer County Clerk has figured out that the last day on which petitions of candidates can be filed will be Saturday, September 5, before noon. The law provides that petitions must be filed fifteen days before the primaries, but Labor Day, September 7, starts the fifteen days and that don't count. Neither would Sunday, the 6th, so the Clerk contends that the filing must close on Saturday, the 5th, making really seventeen days before the date fixed for the primaries. It is well to keep such things in mind, if there be a purpose to take advantage of the new direct primary law, which affords every person who can get the requisite number of signatures to become a candidate. As to the real merits of the various candidates, opinions will continue to differ, but there can be no serious doubt as to their unpopularity in this State."—Wed Jersey Press.

"Some of the hysterics of the Philadelphia newspapers over Atlantic City have subsided. The journals were divided in their opinions as to whether Atlantic City was a sink of what is immoral or whether it was about the same sort of community as other cities. The resort has never posed as an example of good example for all the world, and it has claimed that it had solved the problem, confronting every city, of eliminating evils which are inherent in all communities. The city claims that it is as orderly and as well governed as any other city of its size in the nation. More cannot be claimed and reported by any rival for the position of being an example of goodness to be imitated by others. The epigram which asked some of the journals of Philadelphia, it appears, has about passed."—Atlantic City Sunday Gazette.

"The special election held in thirty-two voting districts of Newark, on Tuesday, to determine as to whether the voting machines should be retained or not, resulted in the discarding of the machines in every one of the districts by a large majority. It was a very interesting contest, small, yet there was no mistaking the attitude of the people toward the new device. Not a single district registered more than nineteen ballots favorable to the continuance of machine voting, while the majorities against it were in almost every instance more than a hundred. As to the real merits of the voting machines, opinions will continue to differ, but there can be no serious doubt as to their unpopularity in this State."—Wed Jersey Press.
