WHY GEORGE ADE WILL VOTE FOR CHARLES HUGHES

Famous Writer Has Many Reasons And They Are All Good Ones.

George Ade, the famous author and one-time Progressive, gives his reasons for supporting Charles Evans Hughes, as follows:

"This year I am going to vote for Charles Evans Hughes as against Woodrow Wilson for a good many reasons. Four years ago I was a Progressive. It is true that my enthusiasm for some of the plank in the Progressive platform, was so moderate that I had no trouble in controlling it. I was not scared to death by the proposals made in the platform, as some of our Republican friends seemed to be. I like my traveling companions and the scenery, but a man cannot continue a journey which offers no terminus.

PROTECTION ONLY WAY TO PREVENT CALAMITY

END OF WAR PROSPERITY WILL BRING ON BIG CRISIS

The position of American labor and industry at the close of the European war is a question which should receive serious attention. The thoughtful consideration will materially affect the result of the balloting on November 7. No one needs to be told that existing conditions of world production and world consumption are unsymmetrical and altogether exceptional. Nothing like this has ever before been known. How they have affected American prosperity in the enormous increase of American business is well known, and the great credit to be ascribed to it is due solely to business created by the war, and it follows necessarily that this abnormal prosperity must largely disappear when the war ends.

LIVELY FIGHTS ON LEGISLATURE

Assembly and Senatorial Contests in State

REPUBLICANS EXPECT GAINS

They Say That the Situation in the Various Counties is Working Out Favorably to Their Candidates—Will Ferret Out Alleged Democratic Frauds in Hudson.

Newark, Oct. 23.—Senatorial contests are under way in eight of the twenty-one New Jersey counties. Atlantic, Ocean, Morris and Mercer now have Republican representation in the Upper House. Bergen, Cumberland and Hudson are represented by Democrats and Essex is without a Senator, owing to the resignation of Austin Colgate when he was making his primary fight for the gubernatorial nomination.

As the Legislature is now made up, there are thirteen Republican Senators and eight Democrats. At Republican State Headquarters here today Newton A. K. Hughes, chairman of the Republican State Committee, said that in the next Legislature the Republicans would positively hold their own in the Upper House and in all probability would gain one and perhaps two in addition to what they now have.

Prospects Look Bright. Atlantic, Mercer, Morris and Ocean are regarded as certain in the Republican column. It is also confidently predicted that Cumberland will come back with a Republican in place of a Democratic Senator, and there are great hopes of electing a Republican in Bergen, although conditions there are generally regarded as somewhat problematical.

The situation in Essex is regarded with distrust by certain Republicans in the light of the fact that a man of somewhat radical tendencies, Edmund R. Osborne, won out at the primary over the candidate of the county committee, Assemblyman W. Clive Crosby. Osborne, however, has been officially endorsed by the committee, along with the other party candidates, and those who are in the best position to judge of the situation predict that he will be carried through with the rousing vote Essex is sure to give for the Republican ticket this fall.

Of course the Republicans are not deluding themselves with any false hopes for Hudson, the banner county of the Democracy, although the situation in the Democratic party there is such that they would not be surprised to see almost anything happen. It is becoming increasingly evident that Hudson this year is a greater source of worry to the Democrats than to the Republicans.

The Contests For Assembly. There is also a lively fight in every county over the election for Assembly. In the Lower House the Republicans now have forty and the Democrats twenty. The Republicans expect to hold the present majority and it is probably to increase. They say that in the various counties their tickets are especially strong while their opponents cannot validly make the same assertion and have not the vim in their campaign the Republicans are showing everywhere.

The Republican State leaders and county chairmen are predicting stickers for their Assembly tickets in Atlantic, Burlington, Camden, Cape May, Cumberland, Essex, Gloucester, Mercer, Morris, Ocean, Passaic, Salem, Somerset and Union, with Bergen doubtful and a hope in Monmouth and Middlesex. This would leave to the Democrats their rockribbed strongholds of Hudson, Hunterdon, Sussex and Warren in the only counties in which the are just entitled to positive claims.

Have Proof of Fraud. "When the final registration of voters is completed next Tuesday, there will be something doing of more than ordinary interest in Hudson County," said Mr. Hughes. "As I have said before we have abundant knowledge of heavy padding of the registration lists in certain districts and we propose to get after those who are responsible for it. Copies of all the Hudson County lists to date are in our possession and we are taking our own means to check up every name. The same course will be followed with the names added to the work. We shall be ready to take before the court all the evidence we obtain of illegal registration and even, if necessary, we may find it to be involved in illegal practices. We don't intend to wait until the eleventh hour to do this but will act immediately upon obtaining the evidence. The State committee recently made the necessary appropriation for the work and our men have been busy, reports to the contrary notwithstanding.

Republican Progress in Hudson. "The situation in Hudson County is decidedly encouraging to the Republicans. A plan has been worked out by which the best efforts of the men who were at loggerheads before the primaries are being exerted for the benefit of the whole ticket. The forces of the Democracy are split in a variety of ways and will be unable to re-unite in any kind of workable and effective shape. All this talk of a 30,000 Democratic plurality is humbug. If the Democrats really believe that they are going to get anything like the vote they are predicting they are going to receive a very disagreeable surprise. Whatever the vote may be, we shall do everything in our power to make it legitimate. Given that condition, we shall be willing to take our chances.

"We have good reason to believe we shall poll a bigger Republican vote than ever before in Hudson, and if the Democrats get through with a margin of more than 10,000 they may consider themselves lucky, as things look now. This statement is based upon a knowledge of conditions as they actually exist."

HOW THE TARIFF BUILDS HOMES

Business Man Furnishes Concrete Illustration.

PROTECTION GREAT ISSUE

Many Well-Informed Political Observers Believe It Will Be the Deciding Factor in the Election—The Tariff as the Sheet Anchor of Industrial Prosperity.

In the opinion of many well informed political observers the tariff will be the deciding factor in the national election of 1918. It is held by Republicans that the only way the country can safeguard its prosperity and make it permanent is to enact a protective tariff law which will serve as a bulwark against the rush of the cheap products of foreign labor after the war.

Recently the Republican State Committee through its chairman, Newton A. K. Hughes, requested a number of practical business men to submit statements regarding the effect of the Democratic low tariff as compared with a protective tariff, with one or more specific instances to give the subject a more concrete character. One reply which was received is particularly interesting and instructive and falls naturally into newspaper editorial form:

The sheet anchor of American industrial prosperity is tariff protection. But for the protective tariff we would have had no great industries to protect. Nearly all of the great industries in New Jersey belong to this class. Tariff protection converted this State from an agricultural one to an industrial and was the potential cause for the upbuilding of New Jersey cities.

Among these industries the Clark Thread and sock, the Newark and Kenon on the Passaic River, may be taken for an example.

Prior to the Morrill tariff at the outbreak of the Civil War all cotton threads were imported from Scotland. At that time the now solidly built-up Eighth Ward of Newark was almost entirely undeveloped, with dirt roads, farms and barns.

The Morrill tariff brought the thread company from Paisley, Scotland, to establish a plant, and a site was selected on the Passaic, in the Eighth Ward, where land was bought cheap. The company brought English machinery and operatives to run the plant.

Today the Clark plant is an immense one. It employs about six thousand hands on both sides of the river and pays a large portion of the taxes, besides contributing in wages many thousands of dollars weekly to Newark merchants and others.

Built Up Residential District. But the almost immediate effect of the plant was to build up the large Eighth Ward, now solidly covered by residences, many of them handsome, and full of retail business places, all contributing toward the support of local government.

The plant had also another important effect. It drew into the neighborhood of machinery by American manufacturers and the imported machinery was eventually replaced by American-made machinery which also had tariff protection from European cheaper labor.

When James G. Blaine visited Newark in the Protectorate era in 1884 he was told about the wonderful growth of the Clark Thread industry and its more wonderful effects upon the development of Newark. Mr. Blaine took the time to visit the plant and view the Eighth Ward, and in his subsequent campaign addresses used the plant as a great object lesson.

This is one and only one illustration of the vast benefits of tariff protection to our country. Without it the City of Newark would today have no more importance on the map than a small and unprogressive town, and all of that vast manufacturing center would be in the same inferior class. New Jersey would have no such distinction as she now has as a great manufacturing State.

Protection Made Them Prosperous. Look where we will in this State, we see great industries that were established and have grown to magnitudes under Republican tariff protection. Take the immense silk industry of Paterson, the pottery industry at Trenton, the glass industry in South Jersey, the brass and other industries at Newark, the machinery industry, the sewing machine industry as the most prominent of New Jersey's tariff protection industries that owe their growth and prosperity entirely to the protective tariff.

And who can question the truth of the statement that the protective tariff is the sheet anchor of American industries? Who can doubt that, speaking for New Jersey alone, the removal of this anchor by Democratic legislation and a Democratic President will upon after the war just such disaster as it has brought before, but such disaster as it has started to bring when its effects were arrested temporarily by the war. For unless the Underwood tariff is repealed in time we are practically as sure of industrial and business disaster as that the sun rises tomorrow. It will be a State and national calamity.

"I don't care, if I am elected president, what becomes of my personal political fortunes. I propose that we shall have no more, if I can stop it, of these 'kiss me and I'll kiss you' propositions in Congress," said Chicago.

COL. ROOSEVELT APPEALS FOR THE ELECTION OF MR. HUGHES

I appeal to my fellow citizens that they shall elect Mr. Hughes and repute him Mr. Wilson because only by so doing can they save America from that ruin of self-interest and cowardice which we owe to Mr. Wilson's substitution of adroit elocution for straightforward action.

MANANA. Manana, which is Mexican for "waterfall waiting," is the Democratic keynote in the campaign. The Wilson drive is to begin "tomorrow" after Sept. 1, but no definite engagements have been made.

WILSON STRIKES WHEN THE IRON IS COLD

President Wilson refused to speak in independence hall on the one hundred and twenty-eighth anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence in that hall, and he refused because inasmuch as over one hundred of our men, women and children had just been murdered on the high seas he regarded it as the very moment when he would not care to arouse the sentiment of patriotism.

PROTECTION GREAT ISSUE

Many Well-Informed Political Observers Believe It Will Be the Deciding Factor in the Election—The Tariff as the Sheet Anchor of Industrial Prosperity.

In the opinion of many well informed political observers the tariff will be the deciding factor in the national election of 1918. It is held by Republicans that the only way the country can safeguard its prosperity and make it permanent is to enact a protective tariff law which will serve as a bulwark against the rush of the cheap products of foreign labor after the war.
