MAY'S LANDING, N. J., SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1910.

WHOLE NUMBER 1734.

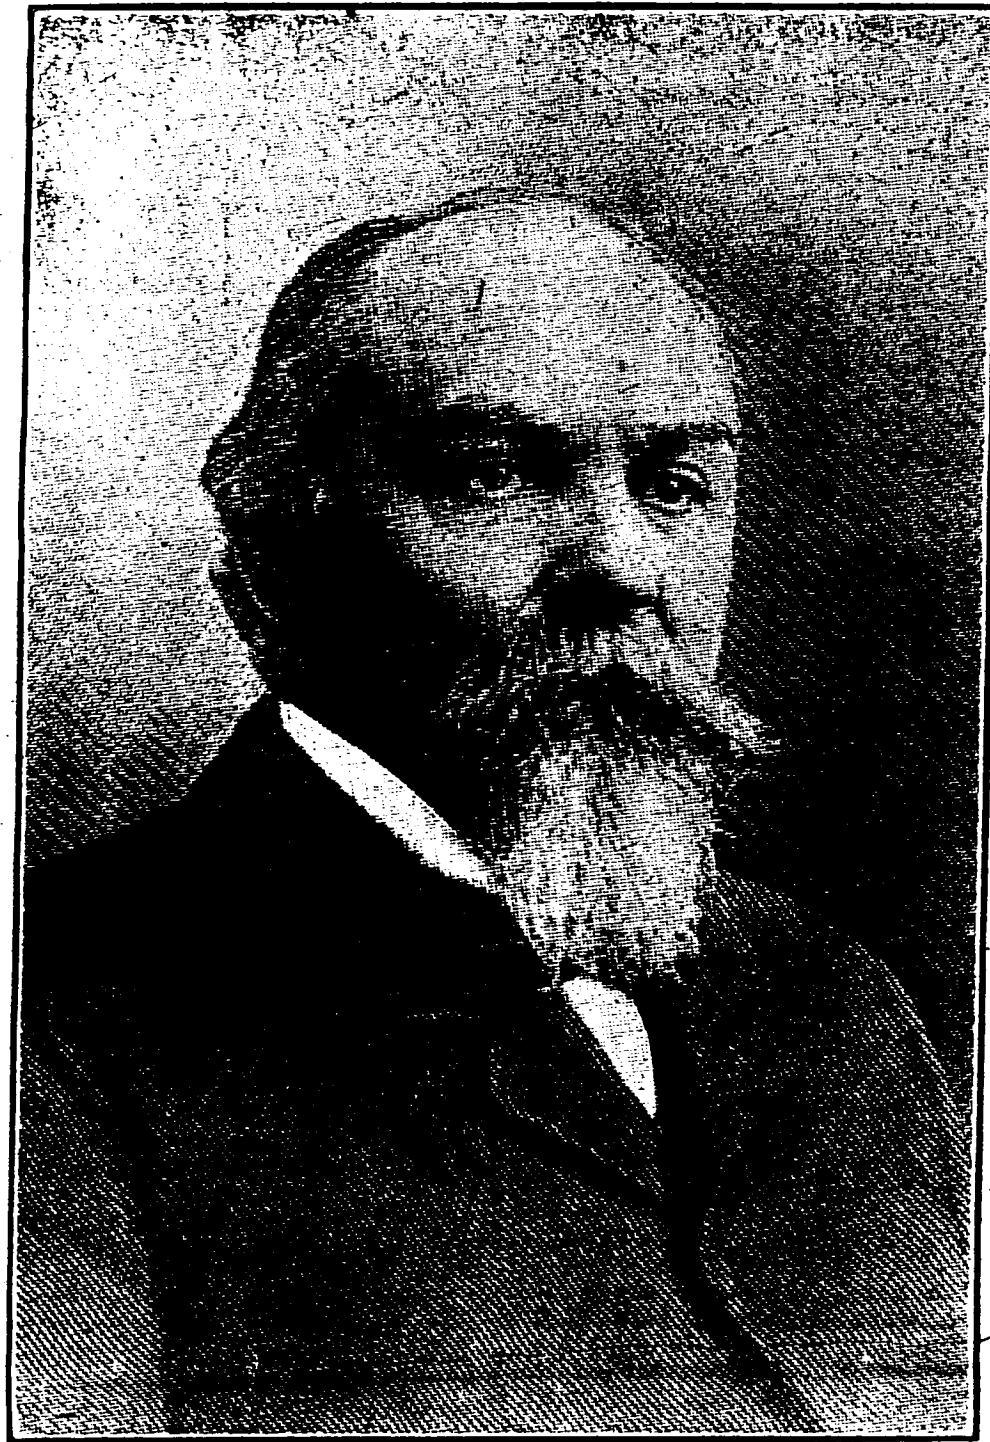

LABOR RECORD OF CONGRESSMAN GARDNER THE CONSISTENT FRIEND OF WORKING MEN

GRAND OLD MAN OF ATLANTIC WILL BE RETURNED TO WASHINGTON AS REPRESENTATIVE OF SECOND CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.

Father of Eight Hour Bill, Supported Child Labor, Employers' Liability, Railroad Service and Other Measures for Benefit of Whole People—Worked for Establishment of Rural Free Delivery and Postal Savings Bank—Stands For Parcels Post and Other Progressive Legislation.

With the campaign within three days of its close, the result of the balloting next Tuesday is plainly evident. The Hon. Vivian M. Lewis will be elected Governor. Hon. John J. Gardner for Congress, Col. Walter E. Edge for the State Senate, Isaac Bacharach for Assembly and Samuel W. Moore for Coroner, all with substantial majorities. The campaign has been a remarkable one in many respects. It is the first time in the history of Atlantic County that the opposition to the Republican candidates has been based on abuse, vilification

of the Postal Savings Bank Bill, made the draft of the Bill that passed and was given a pen used in signing it as a recognition. Labor supported this bill. Gardner's Eight Hour Bill was of necessity an invention as well as a draft. Nobody before had ever suggested the method of effecting the result through the medium of the Contract, hence the single truth in the so-called Republic circular is the statement "Mr. John J. Gardner is the father of the Eight Hour Bill." Gardner tion and misrepresentation, rather than any sensible appeal to the people. The other failure of the Democrats in making any material impression in Atlantic County was demonstrated by the enthusiastic reception accorded the Republican candidates in every voting district of the mainland in Atlantic County. Congressman Gardner will receive strong support from this his home County, as the people are interested, apart from partisan considerations, in having a Representative from their own County. "Uncle John" has been the subject of much abuse and mud-slinging throughout the campaign but the silly attacks have fallen far short of their intention and he will receive strong support from all parts of the district. The unanimous nomination of "Old Hiram" at the Cape May convention evidenced the will of the people and presaged certain victory at the polls.

In a circular letter that has been widely distributed during this campaign, comparing the records of Hon. John J. Gardner, who represents the Second Congressional District in Congress, and Mr. William Riddle, who is a candidate against Mr. Gardner, and is running on the Labor ticket, there is this statement: "William Riddle, elected Senator in 1892 and turned back by his own party because of the race track bill."

Incidentally, the authorship of that circular has not been made public. The person or persons who wrote it and had it published were too much ashamed of their work and fearful of libel suits to come out in the open with a declaration of their identity.

LABOR RECORD OF JOHN J. GARDNER. He reported from the Committee on Labor the Eight Hour Bill three different times, and passed it through the House twice. He reported and passed an Anti-Contract Labor bill extending the laws of the United States to Hawaii. The bill was being filed with contract Japanese labor. He reported a bill to authorize the President to appoint commissioners to settle strikes. He reported bills to exclude convicted convicts from Government contracts. He drew and introduced these bills. He reported the bill for the investigation of and report upon woman and child labor throughout the United States, passed it and the investigation has been made, to the great benefit of labor. He reported bills to prevent the transportation of prison-made goods from one State to another. He drew these bills. He drew and reported and passed the bill which created the Industrial Commission, which worked three years in the cause of labor. Mr. Gardner was Vice-President of this commission. He reported the bill to adjust differences between railroads and their employees. This bill was supported by the allied Railroad employees including Mr. Clark, then the head of the Brotherhood of Conductors and now a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission. It was opposed by some others, among labor men who are opposed to arbitration by force of law and failed of passage. He reported a bill to prevent the competition of enlisted musicians with civilian musicians. The bill was rescinded from loss by him. He secured circulation in the mails at one cent per pound rate of Trade Union Journals. He worked three years in the Industrial Commission to lay the foundation for intelligent labor legislation. The report of this commission is a world-wide authority. A recent writer says: "Gardner's draft of Eight Hour Bills have been passed in California, Kansas, Oklahoma and other Western States." On these bills Gardner has worked steadily in the cause of labor for many years. Gardner

WITH THE STATE EDITORS. Current Comment On Progress of Political Campaign.

PROSPERITY FOSTERED. A concrete illustration of the general prosperity of the Nation under Republican principles may be found right here in Atlantic County. The last few years, under a Republican administration, have been marvellous in building progress. The last few years, under a Republican administration, have been marvellous in building progress. The last few years, under a Republican administration, have been marvellous in building progress.

Our city has prospered. The people have prospered. The business man has prospered. The hotels have prospered. The business man has prospered. The hotels have prospered. The business man has prospered.

REPUBLICAN PARTY RECORD. In the annual election of 1908 the Republican party has kept faith with the people. When it came into power the State's fair name had been beset by the Democratic "old gang" some of whom are behind Dr. Wilson today. The Republican party led the fight that kept out that stain by the popular adoption of the anti-gambling amendment to the Constitution.

A depleted School Fund was restored and augmented by millions of dollars of increased taxation from the railroads. New schools were built; more extensive and better provisions made for the sick and the insane, the deaf and the epileptic, the homeless and the criminal. Millions have been spent in building and maintaining good roads. An interior waterway is being opened. The counties have been relieved of some of their burdens.

Much has been done in the way of ballot reform. A strong corrupt practice act has been put on the statute book, but as Governor Stokes said in his message to the Legislature, no statute of this character, however drastic its provisions, will enforce itself. New schools have been built, more extensive and better provisions made for the sick and the insane, the deaf and the epileptic, the homeless and the criminal.

Reference to the statute books will show a great number of highly beneficial laws enacted since the Republicans have been in control of the State House. And in all these years the State has never been robbed or scandalized, as occurred under the Democratic regime.

A steady growth in population; a remarkable increase in wealth, and a place in the estimation of the world as a State of honesty, efficiency and practical worth of Republican rule in New Jersey. Is it not, in the eyes of every citizen, a reason to vote for a change? Dr. Wilson would have the voters shut their eyes and do so, but how can they forget what the Democracy stands for in this State?—Atlantic Post-Telegram

LEAGUERS WILL PARADE

Members of Hamilton Township Republican Organisation One Hundred Strong Go To Atlantic City To-night.

Members of the Hamilton Township Republican League, one hundred strong, will go to Atlantic City this evening to join in the big parade and grand Republican demonstration to be given in honor of Vivian M. Lewis, candidate for Governor, and the other Republican candidates. They will leave the Upper Station at 8:21 and return on the train leaving Atlantic City 11:00 p. m. Arrangements have been made for the transportation of all members of the League. The League will assemble at their headquarters at Liberty Hall at 5:45 o'clock, sharp, and march to the station in a body, headed by the Captain Cornet Band, which will also participate in the parade at Atlantic City. Handing out of the League will be worn by the members of the League. Old Glory, "The Flag that Represents Republican Principles," will be carried in the parade, and other banners.

On reaching the Atlantic City terminal, the League will march to the general headquarters at the Bartlett Building annex, where it will be assigned a place in the parade. It will afterward attend the big rally on the Steel Pier where the Hon. Vivian M. Lewis will speak.

The route of the parade will be as follows: Starting from the Seaside Hotel, Pennsylvania Avenue and the beach, at 7:30 o'clock, march South on Pennsylvania Avenue to Pacific Avenue up Pacific to Congress Street, North to Connecticut to Atlantic, down Atlantic to Mississippi, countermarch up Atlantic to Virginia, South on Virginia to the Steel Pier.

WILL CHANGE DEER LAW.

Republican Candidates Advocate Hunting With Dogs.

The use of dogs in hunting deer in New Jersey is generally advocated by the Republican candidates for the Legislature who have pledged themselves to introduce a bill to that effect. Col. Walter E. Edge, candidate for the Senate, who framed such a bill last Winter, but which failed to pass, was only prevented from becoming a law by the Governor's veto, has placed himself on record at meetings throughout the County as follows: "If elected, I will introduce a bill in the Senate regarding the hunting of deer with dogs, which I believe is the only humane way to hunt this game. I will also endeavor to bring about other changes in the game laws advocated by sportsmen." Isaac Bacharach, candidate for Assembly, has also declared in favor of such measures. The introduction of the bill by the Atlantic County representatives will mean its enactment into a law, as the Legislature will be strongly Republican.

Entertained Hallowe'en Guests. Miss Ellen E. Baker, daughter of James P. and Mrs. E. H. Baker, entertained a large number of friends Hallowe'en at the Union Hotel, the "gathering of spoons" proving one of the most enjoyable ever held here. Disguised in quaint and curious garb, the guests arrived on the stroke of eight, and for an hour every body was engaged in a three-pronged battle. There were many surprises when the masks were taken off and then the real fun of the evening began. Refreshments were served in the dining room, which was beautifully decorated with festoons of blue and gold. A fortune telling party was also given, and the evening closed with a social hour. Among the guests were: Misses Marie Johnson, Rebecca Bourgeois, Marjorie C. Shaner, Anna Corson, Dellora Davis, Beattie, Margaret and Adella Abbott, Helen E. Somers, Helen S. English, Abbie W. Johnson, Anna M. S. Rieley, Jessie Edw. and Abbott, John E. Izard, Albert, Melvin and Wilmer Abbott, Burton A. Gaekill, Eldon Walker, Conover Leedon, Joseph Davis, Morris Scholl, Charles D. Makespeare, Charles T. Abbott, Joseph C. Taylor, Mrs. E. H. Baker, John S. Newcomb, Percy Lashley and Ira T. B. Smith; Mrs. W. W. Jackson, Mrs. A. Bourgeois and Mrs. James Baker.

Played Draw With Vineland. May Landing Football Association and the Vineland High School Association played a draw last Saturday at Pastime Park, neither side scoring. Three times May's Landing had a chance to put the pig-skin in the goal, but failed. The Pleasantville team was the victor in a three-pronged battle, admission 15 cents. The line-up last Saturday was as follows:

JOHN J. GARDNER PRAISED.

Son of Veteran Speaks of His War Record and Aid Given Comrades.

Congressman John J. Gardner's interest in the old soldiers of the country, and the esteem in which he holds by the veterans, is well expressed in the following: "Probably no organization or body of men are more closely allied to one another in these United States than the members of the Grand Army of the Republic—his will it should always be thus, and no doubt it will. No braver men ever lived than those found in the ranks of the Grand Army. They are an honor to their God, to their home and their country. As we pause for a moment, look back and remember when these men left their smaller friends and families and marched to the front to face shot and shell for their country's cause, it demonstrated that they were men of loyalty and full of valor. The same spirit that actuated our forefathers in the Revolutionary struggle was exemplified by the boys in blue in the Civil War—that to die in defense of their country's cause. Truly, it was noble, and we must be proud to have such men as our members of the League. Old Glory, "The Flag that Represents Republican Principles," will be carried in the parade, and other banners.

"Today as we pass the old soldiers upon the avenues we are reminded that they will not be with us much longer. The grey hairs, bent forms, maimed and tottering steps, ever ready to fall, are the signs of a life well lived. We think of the hardships these brave men endured and the sacrifices made for their country's welfare in those troubled days, we cannot but love and cherish the memory of the departed hero, but for the education of all voters, the writer gives the war record of Mr. Gardner as follows: "In August 1861, at the age of 18 years, he enlisted in Company G, Sixth New Jersey Regiment, and served in many battles with this renowned regiment and was severely wounded at Chancellorsville. This wound was from a Confederate shell. He fought in the Seven Days' Battle under McClellan, a week of carnage which soaked the terrible fields with the blood of so many sons of Jersey. Upon the expiration of his term with the Sixth New Jersey, Mr. Gardner reenlisted in the corps of veterans which Hancock was recruiting to assault Petersburg. This enlistment was in Company F, Ninth Regiment of the United States Volunteers. He was together four years on the firing line and his wounds remind him to this day of the most fearful four years in the life of his Nation. Immediately after the disbanding of the corps he was placed in charge of a company of all voters, the writer gives the war record of Mr. Gardner as follows: "In August 1861, at the age of 18 years, he enlisted in Company G, Sixth New Jersey Regiment, and served in many battles with this renowned regiment and was severely wounded at Chancellorsville. This wound was from a Confederate shell. He fought in the Seven Days' Battle under McClellan, a week of carnage which soaked the terrible fields with the blood of so many sons of Jersey. Upon the expiration of his term with the Sixth New Jersey, Mr. Gardner reenlisted in the corps of veterans which Hancock was recruiting to assault Petersburg. This enlistment was in Company F, Ninth Regiment of the United States Volunteers. He was together four years on the firing line and his wounds remind him to this day of the most fearful four years in the life of his Nation. Immediately after the disbanding of the corps he was placed in charge of a company of all voters, the writer gives the war record of Mr. Gardner as follows: "In August 1861, at the age of 18 years, he enlisted in Company G, Sixth New Jersey Regiment, and served in many battles with this renowned regiment and was severely wounded at Chancellorsville. This wound was from a Confederate shell. He fought in the Seven Days' Battle under McClellan, a week of carnage which soaked the terrible fields with the blood of so many sons of Jersey. FOR CONGRESS, HON. JOHN J. GARDNER, of Atlantic County.

FOR SENATOR, WALTER E. EDGE, of Atlantic City.

FOR ASSEMBLY, ISAAC HACHARAUCH, of Atlantic City.

FOR CONSUMER, SAMUEL W. MOORE, of Atlantic City.

TOWNSHIP TICKET

For Chosen Freeholder (2 years) JOHN S. HISLEY.

For Township Clerk (3 years) THOMPSON G. HOOVER.

For Member of Township Committee (3 years) HARRISON WILSON.

For Justices of the Peace (5 years) ANDREW GILLESPIE, ROY E. BEACH.

For Constable (3 years) SCOTT CHAMBERS, PETER WIGLESWORTH.

For Supervisor of Highways ANSEL B. CROWELL, JOHN ABBOTT.

For Poundkeepers LORENZ LEIDING, CHRISTIAN SCHUMPF.

For Overseer of Poor DAVID SHAFER.

Keep in mind the "change" from 1892 to 1896.

It is the duty of every Republican voter to his party and to himself to go to the polls Tuesday and vote the STRAIGHT REPUBLICAN TICKET. No one who says he is going to do otherwise can give a single reason why, except that he wants a "change" and he cannot for the life of him say why he wants that.

The gentlemen who dominated the Democratic convention secured the adoption of a platform which fairly glitters with its promises of reform. Through the newspapers, which they control, and from the stump, these bosses of the Democratic party have been pointing their pens and raising their voices to Heaven in holy promise of reform, if the people of the State will only give their accredited party another trial. The situation is one which brings forcibly to mind to old rhyme: "When the Devil was sick, The Devil a devil was; But when the Devil was well, The Devil a devil was he."

The nominee of the Democratic party has won distinction as an educator, but his life work has been distinctly along educational and literary lines. His training as a scholar and teacher does not necessarily fit him at all for the duties of the governorship. The Governor of New Jersey should know the people of the State. That knowledge is not gained from books, but by an intimate association with the people themselves for a period of years, such as Vivian M. Lewis, the Republican candidate for Governor, has enjoyed. Vote for Lewis Tuesday next.

Every Republican who believes in the principles of the Grand Old Party, and every citizen who desires the continuance of prosperity, owes the Hon. John J. Gardner a vote for Congress next Tuesday. The farmer should vote for him because he has taken an active part in securing for his benefit good roads, good schools, rural free delivery, good markets for produce through general prosperity, a postal savings bank and other measures closely allied to his welfare. The mechanic should vote for him because he had done everything in his power to bring about shorter hours and higher wages, notwithstanding notorious campaign lies to the contrary; made plenty of work possible through support of protective policies and advocated every measure introduced in Congress for the real benefit of the workingman. The professional man, whose work depends on general good times, and the business man, whose trade is the result of prosperity, will vote for their own welfare in voting for his return to the seat in Congress he so ably filled. Gardner's record is an open book, not a leaf of which is marred by an untoward act; his pledges for the future have been frankly made and will be kept to the letter. Born and reared in Atlantic County, he has won a National reputation through honesty, integrity and sheer personal worth. No member of the House of Representatives, comprising the ablest men from all parts of the country, is held in greater respect or higher esteem, and no one has been more consistently associated with the firm establishment of sound National government. Every citizen of the Second Congressional District should be proud to have such a Representative at Washington and every voter ought to do his part Tuesday next towards giving him the greatest majority he has ever received. A vote for Gardner means a vote for protection of American workmen, sound, honest government and the continuance of Republican prosperity.

RINGING RESOLUTIONS. Second Congressional District Republican Platform.

We, the delegates assembled, in the Republican Congressional Convention in the Second District of the State of New Jersey, are proud of the party achievements in National and State affairs, and promise every effort for still greater accomplishments for the good of all the people.

We ask all who believe in the policies of President Taft regarding party affiliations, to unite with us in the support of a Republican Congress, to the end that the people's work, conducted so successfully under his administration, may be continued and extended until all wrongs of special privilege have been corrected, and the enactment of new laws for the protection, wise use and conservation of National resources in accord with the policies of President Roosevelt and Taft.

We commend to the consideration of the people the splendid administration of William H. Taft. We point triumphantly to the result he has already achieved in his twenty months of office and during a single legislative year has accomplished more in conformity with his party platform promises of great moment to the Nation than perhaps any previous administration in our history.

The tariff has been revised in accordance with the Republican platform, and is justifying home industries and American labor. The revision did not raise the rate of duty on a single article of common consumption. The increases made were on luxuries and articles not of ordinary use. It was intended to afford adequate protection to the industries of the Nation, and to be fair alike to consumers, laborers and producers. No tariff bill was more unjustly assailed. It has justified the expectations of its friends by turning a National saving bank system into a source of profit, reducing the average rate of all duties. Its maximum and minimum rates have operated to give us for the first time equality of opportunity with the rest of the world.

A coat of commerce has been created extending into a sound and equitable system, the vital matter of rate regulation. A tariff commission has been created for the purpose of hereafter scientifically laid by accurate data. The powers of interstate commerce commission have been extended.

The White Slave traffic has been checked by a law which will not only eradicate it. A postal savings bank system has been created for the better security of the people's savings.

We commend the action of Congress in the creation of a commission to investigate the question of employers' liability laws and workmen's compensation acts, and to make recommendations to the President and to Congress.

We believe that industrial accidents to workmen should be treated as inevitable incidents to industrial operations and the compensation therefor as part of the cost of production. We are persuaded that the experience of other countries demonstrates that this principle can be applied to our industrial condition without increasing the burdens of industry.

The Republican party through Congress and the President has shown its progressive spirit, in this connection we most earnestly commend the action of the Governor and the Legislature of New Jersey in supplementing these laws by the enactment of the Inland Waterways Act which is being accomplished on the inland waterways of our State.

This convention endorses the Governor and the Legislature of New Jersey for the liberal spirit received in the extension of good roads through the counties of the Second Congressional District.

We heartily endorse Mr. Gardner's efforts to secure the second class privilege to fraternal and labor publications; to make prison made goods subject to the laws of the State where offered for sale; to prevent the purchase of such goods for the public use and his earnest cooperation with the President in securing the establishment of Postal Savings Banks, and especially that feature, peculiarly his own, which authorizes the issue of 2-1/2 bond denominations from 20 to 100 dollars so that the national debt may be held by the people of small means.

LEWIS SURE TO BE NEXT GOVERNOR

Republican State Committee Figures His Election by 25,000 Majority.

WILSON A SKYROCKET.

Apparently Strong at Start, but Lost as Glamour Waned.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 2.—The election of Vivian M. Lewis, Republican candidate for governor of New Jersey, is confidently expected by Republicans of the state and practically admitted by the Democrats.

The nomination of Woodrow Wilson was made ten days or so prior to that of Mr. Lewis, and, as in the case of all Democratic candidates for governor since the nomination by the Republicans of John W. Griggs sixteen years ago, the 1st of October, according to Democratic claims, saw Dr. Wilson undisputedly elected by a large majority. It has become a moss-covered tradition in the Democratic party in New Jersey to elect its candidate for governor about the 1st of October. Election day tells a different tale.

It must be said in all fairness that quite a number of Republicans welcomed at first with enthusiasm the nomination of Wilson and thought they might vote for him. He was president of a great university, a man of clean character, and in his speeches and writings had set forth many ideals of citizenship. These Republicans were influenced by a vague and indefinable spirit of unrest and had some sort of indelible notion that "there ought to be a change." For a week or two Dr. Wilson's utterances on the stump added to the confidence of these Republicans, but gradually it became apparent that the learned theorist was talking himself out of all possibility of election. As university president and professor he had committed himself to many impossible ideals of government, as Democratic candidate for governor of New Jersey he contradicted himself on almost every point and showed that he was more than willing to descend to the lowest depths of expediency as a mere politician. Then, when the voters of the state had had time to think, they began asking themselves if this man was sincere. Who brought about his nomination? Was he being used as a cloak of respectability to conceal the discredited old Democratic game of New Jersey represented by Jim Smith, Bob Davis, George Harvey, Billy Thompson and other men of that ilk? Could it be possible that this man's nomination, dictated by this gang, as was evident to the people of the state by the newspapers in their reports of the Democratic state convention, would result in giving to the state a governor free from the contaminating influences of the men who once prostituted the government of their state to their own base uses?

Moreover, the voters began to ask themselves should a theorist like Wilson, a man of abstract ideas, a man who had never manifested any interest in the government of the state, a man who had even so lightly appraised his citizenship as to have failed to vote for the last four years, be entrusted with the serious and solemn duty of conducting the practical affairs of a great state like New Jersey?

Then came the nomination by the Republicans of the Hon. Vivian M. Lewis of Paterson. The contrast between Mr. Lewis and Dr. Wilson in the matter of their fitness for the office stood out in distinct outlines. Mr. Lewis, a native of New Jersey, a self-made man, experienced in politics and statesmanship, serving his state faithfully as assemblyman, leader of the house, clerk in chancery, banking and insurance commissioner, alive to the needs of the state and the necessities of the hour and with an unblemished record in all his official career. Dr. Wilson, on the other hand, a native of

WILSON GOVERNED BY HIS EGOTISM

Would Exploit Princeton University to Advance His Personal Ambition.

PROCTOR GIFT ROW.

Alumnus Tells How the Ex-President Tried to Divert Large Sum.

Newark, Nov. 1.—That the alumni of Princeton university do not take kindly to Dr. Wilson's candidacy for governor is indicated in various ways. Most of them have refused to contribute to his campaign fund, and some of these have not hesitated to tell why. A prominent lawyer of New York city, an alumnus of Princeton, who takes an unusually lively interest in the university's affairs, said yesterday:

"Referring to the statement published in the Trenton Times of Oct. 27, reading as follows: 'In the dispute over Princeton's graduation school plans, President Wilson showed that he not only had views of his own, but the ability to enforce them against the will of a majority of the trustees, and the threatened loss of the Proctor $500,000 did not deter him.' This is an absolute misstatement of fact.

"If it were true, Woodrow Wilson should be defeated for governor. The people of the state of New Jersey would not stand one minute for a governor who attempted to disregard the will of a majority.

"Woodrow Wilson did have views of his own. These views were to use Princeton university for his personal political advancement regardless of injury to the university of which he was president.

"He did not enforce his will against the majority of the board of trustees of Princeton university because he was obliged to accept the Proctor gift on exactly the same terms upon which it was first offered—the same terms upon which he originally tried to create some principle for his own personal exploitation at the expense of New Jersey's great university.

"Woodrow Wilson's duplicity is well exhibited and proved in the statement of Rev. John DeWitt, D. D., LL. D., professor of church history in the Princeton theological seminary, and a trustee of Princeton university, in his letter to the editor of the New York Evening Post, dated Princeton, March 15, 1910, wherein he says:

"My disagreement with Dr. Wilson relates solely to his Proctor's school proposal, which was submitted for the first to the proposal which, only three weeks before it was made, Dr. Wilson himself not only suggested but by argument commended to Mr. Proctor. My disagreement relates in particular to the speech made by Dr. Wilson to the trustees on the 13th of last January—a speech in which he urged the board to reject the very offer of Mr. Proctor which he himself had originated and suggested.

"Princeton, a nonpartisan institution has been used by Dr. Wilson in a most outrageous manner for his own purposes. The state of New Jersey, if he is elected governor, will also be used for his attempted further advancement to what Dr. Wilson seems to have appropriated to himself. 'The nation's great nonpartisan university for his own political advancement by the use of questionable methods in his administration as its president.

"We hear a great deal about Wilson's ignorance as to whom he is indebted for his nomination for governor on the Democratic ticket. It is a well known fact that Smith, Nugent & Co. told Wilson last spring that he could not have the nomination unless the Princeton controversy was settled. Smith, Nugent & Co. were more careful to safeguard the interests of Princeton than President Wilson had shown any inclination to do from the time Colonel George Harvey first suggested him for the presidency of the United States.

"He could not fool the majority of the Princeton alumni or the trustees of Princeton university, and he cannot fool the majority of the honest and intelligent voters of the state of New Jersey."

The reactionary sentiment in the Democratic party is the fostering of the forlorn hope of seducing stragglers from the Republican ranks. The superior schemers in this sentiment are the same men who bartered their party with race track and pool room gambling and drove the better element of their supporters to Republicanism for a correction of the rank and abuse of morality and common decency.

Wrong Diagnosis.
A woman was upbraiding her husband on his drunken habits and saying he was ruining his health. "Don't be alarmed about me, my dear," he said. "The doctor says I'm in the pink of condition."
"You should have asked the doctor to look at your tongue and not your nose," retorted his wife.

ISAAC BACHARACH, Candidate for Member of Assembly.

WILSON THE FOE OF TRADE UNIONS.

Labor Denounced in His Address to Graduating Class at Princeton University.

Labor conditions in the United States today may be described as peaceful. Capital and labor are working in harmony save in minor instances that in a very small way reflect the order of affairs of even a decade ago.

Politics is a game of keeping the upposite party down. Bickerings within parties, whether bred on purely patriotic motives or for gaining personal power, always will be part and parcel of the game. The Republican prides himself in asserting his independence in national, state and county affairs rarely loses sight of his political principle and acts seriously, when he spreads out his party ticket on election day and reads the office and the names carefully.

Disastrous such a regulation of labor is. It is so unprofitable to the employer that in some trades it will presently not be worth while to attempt anything at all. He had better stop altogether than operate at an inevitable and invariable loss. The labor of America is rapidly becoming unprofitable under its present regulation by those who have determined to reduce it to a minimum. Our economic supremacy may be lost because the country grows more and more full of unprofitable servants.

Another instance of Dr. Wilson's incoherence was found in his work "A History of the American People," volume 5, page 185, where he says:

"The cities were filling up with foreigners of the sort the Know Nothings had feared, men who had left their homes dissatisfied, not merely with the governments they had lived under, but with society itself, and who had come to America to speak treasonous elsewhere forbidden."

This work was published before Dr. Wilson ever had any intention of being a candidate for public office and, being a carefully prepared book, was published over his own signature, which is now being circulated and doctored by Colonel George Brinton McClellan Harvey, the man most responsible for Wilson's nomination. His ravings on foreigners must certainly show Dr. Wilson's incoherence.

That Dr. Wilson's views on an intolerance of foreign born people have undergone no change since his nomination is shown most conclusively in his Atlantic City address of Oct. 13, when he said:

"What distinguished us as Americans is that upon most fundamental questions we do think alike, and therefore we enjoy in a noticeable degree each other's estimation the reputation of being men of sense, whereas foreigners seem to us to have queer notions, to have an odd attitude toward affairs and opinions."

It is reasonable to believe that these young men soon to succeed to the mastership of our industrial enterprises will carry with them to their new field of activities the hatred for trade unions that was diffused by their learned theorist, and the respect and confidence in which the men and women of labor are now held by the fathers will have been destroyed.

Does not the investor and the promoter join with the laborer in a protest against such false doctrine? Wherein will capital profit by the killing off of the present pleasant relationship that binds the worker and the employer?

"You know what the usual standard of the employee is in our day," said Professor Wilson to the students. "It is to give as little as he may for his wages. Labor is standardized by the trade unions, and this is the standard to which it is made to conform. No one is suffered to do more than the average workman can do; in some trades and handicrafts no one is suffered to do more than the least skilled of his fellows can do with the hours allotted to a day's labor, and no one may work out of hours at all or volunteer anything beyond the minimum. I need not point out how economic

FUTILE CONCEALMENT

WILSON WEIGHTED WITH BAD RECORDS

Harvey's Connection With Failure of Bank and Trust Company.

WALL STREET'S HAND. Nomination Tainted as the Gift of Representatives of Special Interests.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 2.—Woodrow Wilson is having a hard time trying to convince his auditors that he was not nominated by Wall street interests and that if elected he will not be subservient to the men who brought about his nomination. It is nevertheless a notorious fact that Dr. Wilson's nomination was brought about by the lavish expenditure of money. Dr. Wilson may be ignorant of this fact, but there is no man familiar with the doings immediately preceding the Democratic state convention at Trenton who does not know it to be the truth. Furthermore it is recalled and is a matter of public record that some of the men prominently connected with Dr. Wilson's candidacy were mentioned as being members of the two financial institutions in this state. In Monmouth county, especially some curiosity is being expressed as to the identity of the George Harvey, who is admittedly one of the Wilson sponsors, and the George B. M. Harvey whose name was associated with the failures of the First National bank and the Monmouth Trust company of Asbury Park. Two men are now serving terms in state prison for the frauds perpetrated upon these two institutions, but there is a strong impression throughout Monmouth county that Albert C. Twining, president, and David Cornell, secretary, of the Monmouth Trust company, were not alone in their guilt, although they were the only two men tried and convicted. Indeed, some people who were victims of the bank frauds go so far as to say that Twining at least was merely a tool of some powerful influence to escape the meshes of the law. Members of the grand jury for May, 1902, recall that the first indictments returned to the Monmouth county court in the bank case on May 8, 1903, included three names. These first indictments, however, were withdrawn, and the second batch of indictments were against Twining and Cornell only. Senator Smith's Record. The interest of James Smith, Jr., in the campaign needs no comment. His record in the United States senate, to which he hopes to be returned next year, is notorious throughout the state. For years he has been the representative of Wall street in the management and control of the Democratic party in this state. That he is still the dominating power in that party was demonstrated in his manipulation of the state convention for Wilson in the face of the popular demand for the nomination of one of the young Democrats who had been fighting their party's battles for years. Sizer, Wittman and Katzenbach were given no consideration by the Smith forces, and the Harigan delegates were not even permitted to cast their votes. Richard V. Lindabury, whose law office is in Newark and who presided at the Wilson mass meeting in Somerville, boasted of the fact that he was one of the men who negotiated the nomination of Wilson four years before the professor was ever thought of by the Democrats of his own state. Mr. Lindabury more than any other New Jersey attorney is known to the Wall street interests in this state. He has appeared in many court proceedings as counsel for the Harigan interests, the best known of them being the Harigan case, which ended a scrutiny of their affairs by the public. In his statement at Somerville Mr. Lindabury described the man who induced Dr. Wilson to run as "gentlemen Democrats." Evidently he knows that he had sold out to the Democratic nomination for Governor of New Jersey under James Smith, Jr., who has consented to the selection. Thus we have three of the gentlemen Democrats, whose arguments prevailed upon Dr. Wilson. That Colonel Harvey was one Dr. Wilson admitted himself when he told his artist friends at Tarrytown, Conn., that Harvey was the man who responded to him that the gentlemen Democrats were waiting for the professor in a downtown club in New York City that Sunday afternoon when the deal was practically consummated. That Harvey and Smith were the leading forces in the convention that nominated Dr. Wilson was made known to the public by the newspaper.

Directors Borrow Money. One of the severest criticisms made by the receiver of the Monmouth Trust company was that its officers and directors were allowed to borrow money apparently at will for the exploitation of their private affairs. When the trust company closed its doors the directors were liable as makers of notes for $85,352 and as indorsers for $55,530, making their total liabilities to the institution $141,183. Harvey owed $17,500 as payer and $15,101 as indorser, a total of $32,601. With one exception he was the heaviest borrower on the board of directors.

In view of the fact that the people of the state are being asked to turn over their affairs to a governor among whose sponsors and advisers are men who have such a record, it may be pertinent to quote what Receiver John E. Lanning in his last report filed in the court of chancery said in commenting upon the actions of the directors of the Monmouth Trust company. He said in part: "I found these (Monmouth Trust company) reports were padded and were incorrect in many particulars and that the statements therein made were based upon nominal face values and were otherwise incorrect and that there had been a shrinkage of assets from 1897 down to the date when the company ceased to do business; that the loss to the company and its suspension of business were due to the neglect of its officers and directors, who had failed to discharge their duties according to the laws of this state and the bylaws of the company by making loans and accepting notes and other instruments of indebtedness without proper security."

"They purchased stocks and bonds which had no market value; they were speculating in divers ways with the company's funds. * * * From time to time the assets of the company were hypothecated to borrow money with which some of the officers and directors were speculating. * * * For several years prior to the failure of the trust company its statements made to the banking department were deceptive and false, and some of them show assets of double their actual value."

Harvey in the Convention. In his account of the preliminary work of the convention the Evening News of Newark under date of Nov. 2, 1908, said that Colonel George B. M. Harvey was conspicuous in a box in the opera house where the convention was held and that ex-Senator James Smith, Jr., of Newark sat near him. Colonel Harvey was described as exerting such a potent influence over the boss who ruled that convention that when he opposed a plank in the party platform proposed by Woodrow Wilson, the stated nominee for governor, the plank was withdrawn. Harvey was backed in his opposition by ex-Senator James Smith, Jr. The Evening News said: "Evidently the work of the subcommittee to revise the platform was not satisfactory to Colonel George B. M. Harvey, for he suggested some changes in it. The document was submitted to Senator Smith and Colonel Harvey in the former's room. With them was John R. Hardin, the temporary chairman of the convention. "They had a conference, after which Colonel Harvey changed a section in the platform. It referred to direct nominations to governor and congress was inserted at the demand of Mark A. Sullivan and Dan Fellows Clark. It was a specific declaration such as the state platform of three years ago. "Colonel Harvey substituted a general phrasing regarding primary extension, after which the platform went back to the subcommittee for its final drafting."

Not at All Shy. "And does your dolly cry 'mamma' when she is squeezed?" asked the visitor. "No, indeed," responded little Bessie. "My dolly is not so slow as that. Why, she has been in the senechore three seasons."—Chicago News.

Recognition. "At last," said the literary young man, "I have succeeded in having my poetry taken seriously." "How did you manage it?" "Put it into the love letters on which a branch of promise suit is now being based."—Washington Star.

Out of Business. Small Alma had a severe cold and, holding a flower to her mother's nose, asked, "Does it smell good, mamma?" "Yes, dear," replied her mother. "Can't you smell it?" "No, mamma," answered Alma; "my nose is deaf and dumb."—Exchange.

He Was Millin'. "You are granted a divorce," said the lawyer to a colored client, "but you'll have to give her alimony." "All right, shh," was the eager reply. "She kin have alimony of she wants him, but Lawd hef him w'en he gits her!"—Atlanta Constitution.
