MAY'S LANDING, N. J., SATURDAY, DECEMBER 26, 1908.

Several influences have been working for the municipal advance of May's Landing during recent years, chief among which has been that of the Board of Trade, numbering among its members representative citizens and leading business men. A Board of Trade is an organization peculiarly designed to promote the interests of a community, comprising leading men of all factions, bound by ties of mutual to a large extent the furtherance of municipal progress. In these days it is impossible for a community to stand still; May's Landing must advance or retrograde. All over the State similar public bodies are lining up for general progress. It is time to get together and prepare the way for municipal advance during the coming year.

Farming interests in Atlantic County comprise when the land is blanketed with snow during the cold no small portion of its natural resources. One of weather. "Beautiful snow" is therefor a reality in the most fertile and prolific agricultural sections of fact as well as poetry. the State, large quantities of farm produce are yielded annually for home consumption and city market of supply. For years the farmers have been reaping bountiful harvests, and now from many quarters comes word that crops are failing. It does not need a phenomenal eye to discern the reason. All this time crops have been taken from the soil, year after year, without sufficient recompense to Mother Earth. Modern farming embraces the truth that must be recognized in order to maintain the fertility of the soil-compensation, in the form of proper fertilization. Rotation of crops is another important factor. Planting the same seed on the same soil for many is attributed to the poor sale of brick, thousands of port, at eastern end of Absecon Island, and by town; Engene Stevenson Paterson; Lindley consecutive seasons impoverishes the land and which are on the company's hands unsold. Members of the Board of Education cannot act as district clerks, under a recent ruling of the State by the Atlantic County Senator authorities. The decision has brought forth various bill remains to be seen; Lentz's, bill will have the support of the liquor

"The decision will affect many district clerks in the State," as there has never before been any question as to their right to act in a dual capacity; and if the principle is carried out strictly the secretaries and other employees of the State boards and commissions must either resign paying positions or give up membership on the commissions.

That the reading of the law is correct there can be no doubt, but opinions differ regarding its common sense in application to boards in rural districts, however advisable it may be in larger municipalities.

Twenty-five new members have been enrolled in the Young Men's Republican League, and officers nominated for the ensuing year. President William R. Harris, who has held that honor two years, will any of the very many subjects he will be called upon to speak; but it is be re-elected, a fitting tribute to his earnest and unselfish work on behalf of the organization. The League is a strong factor for harmony in the ranks and its influence was apparent at the recent election. With new headquarters the League will enter the New Year bigger and stronger than ever.

Comes word from Washington that Congress may create a bureau of art. In taking such a step the government would not be establishing an innovation, for nearly all the countries of Europe have similar departments, which not only supervise the aggregate 838,491,774 acres, and trustworthy records prove that the yield erection of public buildings but take measures to raise the standard of art among the people. Many cities and far sighted real estate dealers have long maintained private bureaus of a similar nature.

Farmers' unions are now numbered among leading organizations in agricultural districts. Union of the various industries and occupations has led the farmer to organize along similar lines, to protect conditions in city markets.
