DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF HAMMONTON AND MAKING MONEY.

VOL II. - NO. 23.

HAMMONTON, N. J., SATURDAY, JUNE 21, 1873

$2.00 PER YEAR

In a letter from Washington, too late for our last paper, one or two topics are good enough for any time, and which express our sentiments so exactly in regard to finding fault with the President, that we transfer them to our columns:—

DETERMINED TO FIND FAULT.

It will be remembered that during the time of the disturbances in Louisiana, when the citizens of that State were shooting each other down at eight, the opposition press raised a great clamor against the administration of President Grant for his imbecility and lack of nerve in not putting an end to that disgraceful state of affairs. They charged that his inactivity was unpardonably criminal, and insisted that he should be held responsible for the blood that was shed in those riots. They prayed about his indifference to the fearful loss of life and property, and to endure hardships and privations of every description.

Presently the time arrived when it became possible for the President to act. As soon as the State authorities called on him for assistance, he waited not a minute, but sent forth his proclamation to the insurgents, the men who had been committing the deeds of blood, commanding them to disperse and retire peacefully to their homes. The ink was so roily dry on his paper when the disturbances were at an end. His command, as the lawful executive of the great Republic, had the same effect as the bayonets of ten thousand soldiers would have had. Then we had peace in unhappy Louisiana.

But were these fault-finders then satisfied? By no means. Now they grumble as sullenly as ever. Then they found fault with the administration because nothing was done. Now they complain because something has been done. They would now try to make us believe there has been no insurrection in Louisiana, that Grant has usurped a power that does not belong to his office. They cry out "tyranny," and talk about the "oppression of a free people," and all that pitiful stuff. One cannot read the comments of these opposition papers of six or eight weeks ago and those of to-day without feeling that the fretted and fretful commentators have made up their minds that they won't be satisfied under any circumstances. We have seen many a spoiled boy in jest that kind of temper, but something it is difficult to think it becoming in a full-grown man, especially the editor of a public paper.

Hydrophobia.

The following extracts touching hydrophobia, are from the British Medical Journal:

It is understood the madness of dogs has a period which is premonitory and harmless. If these periods were generally known, the dogs could be put out of the way before they become dangerous.

A short time, sometimes two days after madness has seized a dog, it creates symptoms in the animal which it is indispensable to recognize.

1. There is agitation and restlessness, and the dog utters himself continually in his kennel. If he be at liberty, he goes and comes, and seems to be seeking something which he remains motionless, as if waiting; then starts, bites the air as if he would catch a fly, and dashes himself, howling and barking, against the wall. The voice of his master dissipates these hallucinations: the dog obeys, but slowly, with despatch, and as if with regret.

2. He does not try to bite; he is gentle, even affectionate, and he eats and drinks, but gnaws the filter, the ends of curtains, the padding of cushions, the coverlets of the beds, the carpets, etc.

3. By the movement of his paws about the sides of his open mouth, one might think he was trying to free his throat of a bone.

4. His voice undergoes such a change that it is impossible not to be struck by it.

5. The dog begins to fight with other dogs; this is a decided characterist sign, if the dog be generally peaceful.

The three symptoms last mentioned indicate an advanced period of disease, and that the dog may become dangerous at any moment, if immediate measures are not taken. It is best to chain him up at once, or better still, kill him.

The Boston Medical and Surgical Journal suggests that his advice may be inserted at least once a year in the public papers. It would also seem particularly desirable and practicable that those rules should be printed on the back of notices and receipts for dog taxes. These excellent measures ought to be generally adopted.

In the Spanish Cortes, on Wednesday, the Minister of Finance presented a bill granting the Government special powers for the collection of taxes, and providing for economical reform in all departments of the administration.

Our Washington Letter.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 15, 1873.

The lively stable keepers are going a thriving business. This being a city of magnificent distances, having great attractions, a person is compelled to engage a carriage to half enjoy them. On the outskirts of the city are the Insane Asylum, the County Poor House and Work House, the Deaf and Dumb Asylum, Howard University, Soldiers' Home, City and Government Cemeteries, and the Forts. Across the Potomac there are several forts where there were stationed, during the war, thousands of soldiers, each fort commanding a good view of both the country around and the city of Washington. To visit these points of interest, one requires at least two days, and those within the city take at least two days more. Is it to be wondered that a traveler, who has not traveled much around the city, once said that Washington was made up of hotels, boarding houses, and hacks?

The people are demanding of the Board of Health to take precautionary steps immediately to meet that most dreaded disease, the cholera. Washington, like other large cities, on account of a long and cold winter and backward spring, have not this year been as thoroughly cleansed as usual. Alleys, until quite recently, have been in a most filthy condition.

Only eight cases of the small pox reported during the week, and these are confined to the poorer classes. It is a remarkable fact that, with the hundreds affected at a time with this disease here, there has not been a case reported from any of the hotels and first-class boarding houses.

There still remain in the city a great many young ladies, and older ones, of the three hundred examined for $900 positions in the Treasury Department. There will be only twelve appointed out of the three hundred. Every kind of influence is being brought to bear upon the Secretary by the friends of the fair competitors. The Secretary has caused to be written to some forty of those who passed the best examination, letters, inquiring as to their claims for positions, outside their scholastic attainments, with a view, it is supposed, to carry into practice his ideal system. None who did not pass above 84 (standard 100) are counted among the best first thirty.

There is very little money being disbursed by the Government this month outside of that for clerical hire, in consequence of it being the last month of the fiscal year, and the appropriations being nearly exhausted. Several of the Departments are compelled to red their force on the first of July. Mr. Clapp, Superintendent of the Government printing office, has been compelled to furlough nearly half his force for want of money to pay them, notwithstanding the office is overworked with work which should be done immediately.

The Sunday Chronicle contains two columns of abuse against the Daily Chronicle and its proprietors, especially Mr. Harlan, whom it denounces as a fraud of the first water. The Daily Chronicle has for several months issued a Sunday edition, which greatly affects the interest of Forney's Sunday Chronicle. This makes D. C. Forney mad, for, as he claims, there was a pledge when J. W. Forney sold out the Daily Chronicle from the publishers, that the Sunday Chronicle should receive also the influence of the Daily in furthering its business interests. It is not at all improbable that the present difficulty may result in a lawsuit.

Senator Sumner still remains in Washington, and will continue to remain until the extreme hot weather drives him to his home in Massachusetts. His health is better now than it has been in six months before. He has been troubled a great deal with pain in the head, but now it has nearly left, and his appetite is very greatly improved. He takes daily outdoor exercises, reads and writes a great deal, and receives but few visitors.

Mr. Clarence B. Young, of the Smithsonian Institute, (son of Dr. Young, Chief of the Bureau of Statistics,) left New York on Saturday, the 14th, in the "Villo du Havre," en route to the Exposition at Vienna. He will visit London and the principal places of interest in Belgium, France, and Germany, making considerable stay in Vienna, and returning through Northern Italy, Switzerland and France, visiting the various agencies of the Institution.

Hon. John A. Bingham is in town. He looks more cheerful than ever, and appears to get fat over his appointment to Japan. Mr. Bingham is willing to accept it as a first-class mission. There was much opposition to Mr. B.'s appointment, and it was a surprise to every one except his most intimate friends.

The reports of the examination of the Polar crew at our Navy Yard is not yet given to the public. It is given out in a semi-official way, from Secretary Robeson, that when it is published the public will find it very agreeable reading, though not developing anything remarkably new.

The award of the Geneva tribunal in the case of the celebrated Alabama claim, amounting to $12,000,000, will not be transferred bodily in specie to the U. S. Treasury at Washington, according to the letter of the treaty; but it will be paid in United States bonds purchased in London. This relieves the anxiety of the Bank of England, which has lately raised its rate of discount to resist the heavy drafts upon its stock of gold made by the payment of the French war indemnity. The only necessary to pay this award, it is calculated, would be equal to a cubic block three and a half feet in dimensions each way. Instead of transporting this amount to be transported to England in payment of the heavy balance of trade against us, the proposed arrangement is to merely deduct the amount from the usual outflow of specie from the country.

The Governor of Texas has seen proper to not in accordance with the request of the Secretary of the Interior, for the pardon of Sautanta and Big Tree, the chiefs of the Kiowa and Comanches, who were confined by the position of that State. This interposition of the authorities here was based upon information received from responsible and intelligent army officers stationed upon the frontier, to the effect that such action would probably prevent a war of extermination between the Government and their tribes. The Indians had little appreciation of the distribution of authority between National and State officers, and held the General Government responsible for the acts of Texas. Gov. Davis shows excellent sense in allowing public interests to overbear the clamor of the people of his State.

It appears from a statement of the Treasury Department to Senator Casper, a member of the Transportation Committee, that the interest paid by the Government to the Pacific Railroad, up to June 1, 1873, and which has not been refunded by the company, amounts to $14,323,507 72. By July 1, if no further payment be made, the total amount will be $16,262,213 08. The object of the litigation ordered by Congress in regard to these companies is to vacate their claims to the public lands, and also to vacate the prior mortgage bonds as limited by fraud, and bring their road-bed and rolling stock directly within the power of the Government claims. It looks like a deliberate swindle on the part of these corporations, thus ignoring their obligations entirely. Corporations have no souls, but they are heavily freighted with malignant passions.

Demagogues are in a democracy, what courtiers are in a monarchy; both classes of flatterers fatten on the gullibility of their respective sovereigns.

Marriage is the foundation of society; and when the foundation is not solid, the superstructure must be shaky.

1st. The ROLLERS, of large size and best quality of White Rubber, are all secured to the shafts in the most permanent manner by the Mouton Process, making the best roller in the World.

2d. The PATENT METAL JOURNAL CASINGS prevent any wear upon the journals. [The wooden journals in which the iron shafts of other machines, run soon wear, and the efficiency of the Wringer is thereby greatly reduced.]

3d. The DOUBLE SPIRAL COUS used on this wringer give the utmost ease and steadiness in working, while the double stop prevent them from bottoming or being thrown out of gear. We furnish either single or double geared Providence as desired.

4th. The ADJUSTABLE CURVED CLAMP readily adjusts this machine to tubs of any size or thickness, making a perfect fastening. No wooden pegs or rubber straps on this Clamp.

5th. SIMPLICITY, STRENGTH and BEAUTY are combined in this machine, with all the requisites of a great class wringer.

Democratic Logic. How logical some of our Democratic journals are when speaking of General Grant. No matter what he does, it goes a growl from some self-appointed Democratic guardian of Grant and the nation. If he takes a drive, after business hours, and wanders a good home, he is a sportsman. If he walks, he is undignified. If he goes to the Capitol, he goes to lobby, and get through some special bill he wants passed. If he takes a walk in any line, no matter what, that is not in accordance with the actions of leading Democrats and Democratic papers, he is no statesman. If he is a political gambler, he has no idea of justice or truth. If he takes a trip through the country, as a wise executive should, to mingle with the people, and learn its needs, and their feelings, and sentiments and conditions, then he is neglecting his duty and seeking his own ease and comfort, and advantage for the disadvantage of the country and government. Because he smokes, he is immoral, and a sensualist. If he takes the side of justice and right in his decisions, no matter though he is perceived by some to be partial, because he is a Democrat, then he is a party man, a persecutor, and working for political capital, and the same is the case if he appoints a worthy Republican to position. Because he goes to Long Branch for a few weeks recreation, his absence from Washington means suspension of business, and the transfer of the functions of government to subordinates, and the motives for his movements are, his utter incapacity for the duties of his place. These growls from disappointed place-seekers and leading Democrats, who look with anxious longings at the public pay, and can't get a taste, are copied and reprinted by every petty organ and underling from one end of the country to the other, and by some who know as little about our government and the President's duties as a pig knows about a parlor. Yet they make good mouth-pieces and echoes, and are made use of to repeat misrepresentations and falsifications. Because other Presidents filled the office at a time when there was not the facility of getting to and from Washington that now exists, and hence could not leave to go any distance without absorbing too much time, or could not trust their subordinates, such as Swartwout, Floyd, Jeff. Davis, and others of like ilk, as Grant can his, why their way of staying at the White House must be made a precedent which Grant must follow. Such is the logic of some of these wonderful growers, who can see no good in Grant, or anybody else, except he be one of their own stripe. No man who knows the history of Grant's administration, not knows that he has not neglected any duty. When there is business at the capital needing his attention he goes there, and at any time a few hours' ride will bring him there. Much of his business can be attended to at Long Branch as well as in Washington, and nothing is left undone by him that is needed to be done, and he is not at such a short distance as to enable him to reach the capital in a few hours, if needed at Cabinet meetings, much quicker than Jackson could possibly accomplish the journey from the Rip Rap. It is manifestly the spirit of grumbling and fault-finding, better becoming ill-tempered children, than full-grown men.

We close these remarks by quoting from the New York Graphic the opinion which prevails in the country generally, except with the class above referred to. The President has shown so much wisdom and foresight in our domestic affairs, so much temperance of advice and action in our foreign questions, that it will be impossible to persuade the people that he is a party man. His private character has created much sympathy that, aided by the general approval of his course, it has made him to day the most popular man in the United States.

The National Council of the Junior Order of American Mechanics, met in Wilmington, Delaware, on the 18th inst. A large number of delegates were present, nearly every State being represented, which shows that the order is progressing steadily. Among the representatives were Charles Balyer, of Newark; Mr. O. H. Scott, of Camden, and Ogden Lansing, of Trenton.

OUR BOOK TABLE. Democrat's Young America, for Boys and Girls, One Dollar per year. The July number has been received, and is fully up to the standard of excellence for our juvenile friends. Published at 338 Broadway, New York, by W. Jennings Demorest.

Useful and entertaining literature is one of the great desires of the day, for we are proverbially a reading and a thinking people. Among the quantities of publications received by us none are better than Democrat's Monthly Magazine. The July issue to hand is excellent in its line, and for a Family Magazine unsurpassed; its indications of premiums to subscribers, calculated as the time of subscribing, are a marvel of liberality. Do it and succeed. Published by W. Jennings Demorest, New York.

The colored-citizens of this State, in their recent Convention, held in New Brunswick, passed some good resolutions, in which they declared their loyalty to the Government of the United States and State, and their fealty to the Republican party, and endorsed and upheld the administration of President Grant, in so far as he protects the rights of the whole people, and maintains the principles of the National Republican party, and

Resolved, That we have unbounded confidence in the President of the United States, and owe to him a debt of gratitude for the many words expressed in his inaugural, in the voluntary commitment of himself to the restoration of Civil Rights to the colored people of this country. The resolutions embrace every important topic, in which is mentioned rights of citizens, without regard to sex or color, education, labor and industry, temperance, and National Freedman's Bank, and pledged itself to the support of the New Jersey State Republican. The one new citizen are operating with zeal and earnestness, and if they keep on the track they have laid down, they will give the superior race a hard tug. But unless human nature differs in the black, from that of the white man, they will find they have a hard road to travel, and will be just as liable to be thrown off the track as others who have preceded them in the same road. We are glad they have laid down such principles as a base of action, and shall find it to fault if they succeed.

CASH IN ADVANCE. The Corning (N. Y.) Journal gives publishers a leaf from its volume of experience, as follows: We have watched the course of those journals in the country that require payment in advance, and we have never yet known one to abandon it, where the experiment had been fairly tried. It is the only sensible mode of doing a business of the kind, where the creditors are scattered, and the several journals are small. We have not only tried the experiment in our office, but it has been shown to be a decided success. A year has elapsed, and all subscribers have come within the scope of the regulation, so that we can state that it has been demonstrated in the history of this office that a newspaper can move more thrifty on a cash basis than under the credit system.

Cholera in Alabama. The Pope has recovered. Hon. John A. Bingham has been appointed Minister to Japan. The heat in Philadelphia, yesterday, was feverishly oppressive. Ben. Butler has again announced himself a candidate for Governor of Massachusetts. The transfer of grounds in Fairmount Park to the Centennial Commission takes place on the Fourth of July. President Grant has accepted an invitation to be present. The liquor dealers in Massachusetts have organized a secret order, combining, or attempting to combine its interests with that of that portion of the working men who are opposed to legislation in the interest of capital against labor.

The Camden and Atlantic Railroad Company have purchased nearly 200 feet of additional water front adjoining their present property in Camden. It will be filled in and wharfed. This step has been rendered necessary by the rapidly increasing business of the road. Ex-Senator Pomroy, of Kansas, has, at last, come to the conclusion that his room is better than his company in the U. S. Senate, and won't try for the place again, and he has fully determined to have nothing further to do with politics, but attend to his own business.

The Secretary of the Navy does not hesitate to say, in advance of his official report, that the testimony elicited shows that Captain Hall died a natural death, and that the separation of those on the ice-boat from the Polaris was accidental. He is desirous, however, of hearing the story of Captain Baddington, and his party, that both sides of the story may be fully known.

Useful and entertaining literature is one of the great desires of the day, for we are proverbially a reading and a thinking people. Among the quantities of publications received by us none are better than Democrat's Monthly Magazine.
