The Men We Like to See.

"Good morning, Sir, Mr. Editor, how is the folks to-day? I owe for next year's paper; I thought I'd come in and pay. And Jones is going to take it, and this is his money here; I shut down on lendin' it to him, and then coaxed him to try it a year. And here's a few little items, that happened last week in our town. I thought they'd look good in the paper, and so I just jotted 'em down. And here is a basket of pears my wife picked expressly for you. And a small bunch of flowers from Jennie, she thought the must send something too. You're dea'n the politics bully, as all of our family agree:—Just keep your old goose-quill a flypin'; and give 'em a good one for me; And now you are chuck full of business, and I want to takin' your time. I have things of my own so I must tend to good day, sir, I believe I will climb." "God bless that old farmer!" we muttered; "he's a regular jolly old trump!" And 'tis thus in our noble profession, and thus it will ever be still. There are some who appreciate its labor, and some who perhaps never will. But in the great time that is coming, when Gabriel's trumpet shall sound, and they who have labored and rested shall come from the quivering ground—And they who have striven and suffered to teach and ennoble the race. Shall march at the front of the column, each one in his God-given place—As they pass through the gates of the City, with proud and victorious tread, The Editor, Printer and the "Devil" will travel not far from the head.

The following letter, received some days ago, from a native Jerseyman, who, it seems, has had no advantages for education than that he has received from the newspapers he has been able to get hold of, and, as he has told us, "all I have learned, all the knowledge I have gained, spelling, reading, and writing, I have obtained from newspapers. In writing, I first copied printed letters. In the last few years I have read much. I have taken a number of papers, and among them Harper's Weekly, which I consider the best educator of all the papers I have been able to get hold of." It is a pity many more men, not only here but everywhere, could not feel the necessity as well as have the desire for knowledge that this untutored "coal burner" had, and improve the opportunity, which they all might, and thus expel the ignorance that so extensively exists. Coming from such a source, we most cheerfully give it place, with the promise of more perhaps in the future. The heading, "Charcoal Sketches" we have selected ourselves, as a very suitable and appropriate one, to which we have added "Second Series," as a distinction—as they are truly such—but not that they do, will, or can equal the original "Charcoal Sketches" of Neal, published some years ago:—

Charcoal Sketches—2d Series.

Headquarters of South Jersey Coal Burners, near Penny Pot Swamp, Atlantic County, N. J., Nov. 17, 1873.

Mr. Editor:—I am not a black, nor a red (read) man, but as white, usually, when not among the coal-burners, as ordinary men, and when I say white, I mean white of skin and white in mind. I say this as a sort of preface or introduction. I am not learned, nor very much book read, neither could I expect to be under the circumstances, and I don't know either whether I have much common or uncommon sense, but one thing I do know, I have a thinker that will keep a thinkin', right along, whether I want or not. I have been a thinkin' that I would let some of my thoughts loose, and see what 'ud come of it. So I took my pencil, (I haint got no pen,) and pintered it kinder sharp-like, and placed it onter paper, and to my great astonishment (joyful) it slipped right along so easy like, and spelt words so natural like that I tho't I was ter onet on the high road to fame and glory. Now this is all the apology I have to make for introduc'in my "smoothly phiz among better folk."

So much for a start. Now, Mr. Editor, tho' I live, and have lived all my life in the bush, and am a born and bred South Jersey wood chopper and charcoal burner, and have never travelled further west than our famed Quaker City, nor east further than Tom's River, nor north further than Cape May, I have tho't I was quite a traveller, and I wondered as I trudged along over Jersey sand, and thro' Jersey pines and scrub oaks that America was so large, till I read more, and reading took the conceit out of me. After I got to reading considerable, many years ago, I came across a number of Harper's Weekly, and I was to onct increased that I must take it, and I did. I sent for it, and have had it ever since. It was my intellectual salvation. It was the great lever that raised me from the ignorance of a "coal burner" into the "marvelous light," as the preachers say, of knowledge and intelligence. I made it my educator. With what I had learned of letters, I was not long, with my natural desire to learn, in learnin' to read. Then, when I got Harper's Weekly, with the aid of the picture, I made rapid progress.

I was a natural-born Democrat, and what Jerseyman wa'n't, that 'us borned down here among the Jersey pines and white sands. It is enough to make any body a Democrat, borned or unborned, I mean such as Curry, and them. I read Harper's Weekly till it 'een a most come to be my bible and prayer book, and I dun' know but it would, hadn't it been for my wife, who had been out to the Yankee settlement to hear a new Methodist preacher, and heard him saying something about idol-worship. Said she to me one Sunday, soon after, "Samuel, kinder solemn-like. Says I, "What," hardly knowin' what I said, I was so absorbed over one of Thomas Nast's pictures, representing the ruins of Tammany. (I didn't know hardly what that meant, but supposed it a nickname for some of the Democrats up there in the city of New York, which I begin to think from what Nast has said in his pictures, ought to have a new Christin, with his Majesty the Devil for godfather.) Says she, "Samuel, the preacher said the other day, that it was wicked to worship idols." That bro't me to my senses like, and I asked what she meant. She said I had "been lookin' at them there pictures till I had forgot all about my coal pits, and she really believed the biggest one down by the swamp had fell in and spilt." I told her "I didn't care a Continental if 'twas, for I'd got a new idea, and felt as if I had been born again, and felt so good I didn't care if they's all burnt up."

I was goin' on to say more by way of explanation of the new light that had just burst in on my mind, but I was stopped short by a sudden explosive and expressive course of reasoning that uneducated females, and educated, too, I have heard sometimes adopt, and I as suddenly concluded that discretion was the better part of valor, and I retreated in good order to the coal pits, with a good deal of food for tho't—my wife's peculiar powers of reasonin' and them pictures of Nast. But I saw things in a new light. Them pictures of Nast, had knocked all the notions of modern Democracy I ever had out of me, and I was a new born, tho' full-fledged Republican, and I tried to persuade myself that I had always been one. I have voted the Republican ticket ever since. Still I can't see any particular change, and so have concluded that all good Democrats are good Republicans, and dun' know it, the word Democrat has such a charm, especially for foreigners, they can't let it go. But if they will study Nast, Kelley, and the rest of that class of men—pictures and teachings I mean—as I have, with a logical, reasonin' democratic wife to help them, as I had, they will soon lose their notions of Democracy, as I have,

Yours, for progress,
SAMUEL COALMAN.

P. S. It is with many mingiv'n that I send this for your insertion, Mr. Editor, but knowin' that tryin' is the only way to success, I make the venture.

TORPEDOES IN WAR.—It is now fairly settled that as an effective means of defence and offence in war, torpedoes must be regarded as occupying a high position. At the close of our late war, the numerous forms of torpedoes which had been hastily devised and tried had not created a very decided impression in their favor, among naval officers and engineers. The experimental results, it is true, showed that they were capable of causing serious mischief to naval structures, under peculiar or favorable circumstances; but the practical difficulties in the way of their construction and management were far from being surmounted.

Marine torpedoes, as arranged and exploded by Southern inventors during the war, were uncertain and ineffective to a very large degree. They were liable to harm friends as well as enemies, and it was difficult to explode them with certainty at the right moment.

As soon as the war closed, the United States Government gave the subject of marine torpedoes prompt attention. A station for thorough experimental work was established at Newport, R. I., and during the past six years an extended series of experiments has been conducted under the supervision of the best chemists, engineers, and electricians that the country affords. Of course, the only practicable method of igniting explosive compounds, at long distances seaward, from fortifications, must be by the use of electricity in some of its various forms of employment. All possible methods by which concussion, or the fulminates, could be used to cause explosion were early proved to be unreliable or impracticable, and were abandoned. It was found also, that the difficulties in the way of the employment of electricity were unexpectedly great. The spark from currents of high tension would not do; battery currents were uncertain when used to heat fine platinum wires, or those of the other imperfect conducting metals. A charge of powder, duilin, or nitro-glycerine, five or ten miles away, under water, could not be exploded with certainty, after lying weeks or months in position, by any form of apparatus which had been devised or suggested by those in the employ of the government. At this point, a gentleman of this city, eminent for his practical knowledge of electrical science, was consulted, and it is through his ingenuity and skill that all difficulties have been overcome. Mr. Moses G. Farmer constructed apparatus, using magneto-electricity, which is so perfect and certain that any naval officer who fails to explode a magazine upon the first trial, even under the most unfavorable circumstances, is liable to be tried by court-martial for incompetency. The apparatus is very compact, being contained in a stout box, not more than fifteen inches in diameter. The electrical currents are produced by turning a crank connected upon the outside with an axle, on which revolve a series of electro-magnets of peculiar construction. Two or three revolutions are sufficient to heat a platinum wire to redness, a distance of several feet in length, is fused by it in a dozen turns. But the striking peculiarity of this machine consists in a device by which the current can be sent through the charge without exploding it; and an electrometer or deflecting needle is attached, so as to show to the operator that the connection is complete, before the charge is exploded. The perfection, accuracy, and success of this device are remarkable, and place our government in advance of other nations in effective torpedo management. A large number of these machines are now supplied to the naval department of the service, and doubtless their use will add greatly to the defensive means of fortifications, whether in harbors, on the coast, or on the inland frontiers of the country.—Journal of Chemistry.

The Vessel Owners and Captains' Association of Philadelphia, we understand, are about putting into operation a system of rewards for the captains and seamen of vessels who do meritorious acts in saving life at sea or rendering assistance to shipwrecked crews. A "medal of merit" is to be established by the association, to be conferred in such cases where the assistance is rendered by or to any vessel belonging to the association or any of its branches or belonging to or bound to or from that port. This is a commendable recognition of the high merit of acts of humanity at sea, which are sometimes rendered at great peril, and it will at the same time provide for that port a method of recognition of acts of heroism which deserve more than a passing notice.

How a Woman Avoids Crowding.

—Speaking of that woman who complained of ill-usage at the Evangelical Alliance, a lady writes to the Observer:—"A womanly woman never gets jammed, crowded, or pushed. I am neither young nor pretty, but I never stand, nor am I shut out. Do you know why? Simply because I never push. If I do get in a crowd, and am pushed before a man, I beg pardon, and simply step back and give him my place. Do you suppose he lets me? Never. On the contrary he will help me forward, and I thank him, and then he helps me more. No man but will help a quiet lady; but don't they one and all like to be rude to a masculine woman? I firmly believe they all do, and for it we have only to thank the woman's rights movement.

Prospectus for 1874—7th Year.

THE ALDINE.

An Illustrated Monthly Journal, universally admitted to be the Handsomest Periodical in the World. A Representative and Champion of American Taste.

Not for Sale in Book or News Stores

THE ALDINE, while issued with all the regularity, has none of the temporary or timely interest characteristic of ordinary periodicals. It is an elegant miscellany of pure, light and graceful literature; and a collection of pictures—the rarest specimens of artistic skill, in black and white. Although each succeeding number affords a fresh pleasure to its friends, the real value and beauty of the Aldine will be most appreciated after it has been bound up at the close of the year. While other publications may claim superior cheapness, as compared with rivals of a similar class, the Aldine is a unique and original conception—alone and unapproached—absolutely without competition in price or character. The possessor of a complete volume cannot duplicate the quantity of fine paper and engravings in any other shape or number of volumes for ten times its cost; and then there are the chromos, besides.

ART DEPARTMENT—1874.

The illustrations of the Aldine have won a world wide reputation, and in the art centres of Europe it is an admitted fact that its woodcuts are examples of the highest perfection ever attained. The common prejudice in favor of "steel plates," is rapidly yielding to a more educated and discriminating taste, which recognizes the advantages of superior artistic quality with greater facility of production. The woodcuts of the Aldine possess all the delicacy and elaborate finish of the most costly steel plate, while they afford a better rendering of the artist's original. To fully realize the wonderful work which the Aldine is doing for the cause of art culture in America, it is only necessary to consider the cost to the people of any other decent representations of the productions of great painters. In addition to designs by the members of the National Academy and other noted American artists, the Aldine will reproduce examples of the best foreign masters, selected with a view to the highest artistic success and greatest general interest. Thus the subscriber to the Aldine will, at a trifling cost, enjoy in his own home the pleasures and refining influences of true art.

The quarterly tinted plates for 1874 will be by Thos. Moran and J. D. Woodward. The Christmas issue for 1874 will contain special designs appropriate to the season, by our best artists, and will surpass in attractions any of its predecessors.

Premium for 1874.

Every subscriber to the Aldine for the year 1874 will receive a pair of chromos. The original pictures were painted in oil for the publishers of the Aldine, by Thomas Moran, whose great Colorado picture was purchased by Congress for ten thousand dollars. The subjects were chosen to represent "The East" and "The West." One was a view in the White Mountains, New Hampshire; the other gives the cliffs of Green River, Wyoming Territory. The difference in the nature of the scenes themselves is a pleasing contrast, and affords a good display of the artist's scope and coloring. The chromos are each worked from thirty distinct plates, and are in size (12x16) and appearance exact fac-similes of the originals. The presentation of a worthy example of America's greatest landscape painter to the subscribers of the Aldine was a bold but a peculiarly happy idea, and its successful realization is attested by the following testimonial, over the signature of Mr. Moran himself.

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 26th, 1873.

Messrs. James Sutton & Co.—Gentlemen:

I am delighted with the proofs in colors of your chromos. They are wonderfully successful representations by mechanical process of the original paintings.

Very respectfully,
THOS. MORAN.

These chromos are in every sense American. They are by an original American process, with material of American manufacture, from designs of American scenery by an American painter, and presented to subscribers to the first successful American Art Journal. If no better because of all this, they will certainly possess an interest no foreign production can inspire, and neither are they any the worse if by reason of peculiar facilities of production they cost the publishers only a trifle, while equal in every respect to other chromos that are sold singly for double the subscription price of the Aldine. Persons of taste will prize these pictures for themselves—not for the price they did or did not cost, and will appreciate the enterprise that renders their production possible.

If any subscriber should indicate a preference for a figure subject, the publishers will send "Thoughts of Home," a new and beautiful chromo, 14x20 inches, representing a little Italian exile whose speaking eyes betray the longings of his heart.

TERMS.

$5 per annum, in advance, with all Chromos free. For 50 cents extra, the chromos will be sent, mounted, varnished, and prepaid by mail.

The ALDINE will, hereafter, be obtainable only by subscription. There will be no reduced or club rate; cash for subscriptions must be sent to the publishers direct, or handed to the local canvasser, without responsibility to the publishers, except in cases where the certificate is given, bearing the fac-simile signature of James Sutton & Co.

The Sunday edition per annum..... 2

The Semi-Weekly Times.

The Semi-Weekly Times contains a very careful epitome of our foreign and home correspondence; an interesting selection of current literature from the best foreign and domestic magazines; a choice variety of agricultural matter and the very latest news up to the hour of going to press. Terms—$3 per annum. Club rates—Two copies, one year, $5; Ten copies, one year, $25, and one extra copy free. New names may be added to clubs at any time during the year at club rates.

The Weekly Times.

The Weekly Times is undoubtedly the best paper for the farmer, for the mechanic, and for all who live in localities which are served only by weekly mails. It contains, in addition to editorial comments on current topics, an excellent condensation of the news of the week; the most important events, both home and foreign, are reviewed at length, and a large quantity of matter is given especially interesting to the farmer and mechanic. Its market reports are the fullest and most accurate in the country. Terms—$2 per annum.

Club rates of the Weekly—all to one Post Office address—Five copies per annum, $7.50; Ten copies per annum, $12.50; Twenty copies per annum, $22; Thirty copies per annum, $30, and one extra copy to each club. For every club of fifty, one copy of the Semi-Weekly Times to the get-together of the club.

When the names of subscribers are required to be written upon each paper of the club at one Post Office address, ten cents for each copy additional to the above rates.

The Semi-Weekly and Weekly mailed for one year to clergyman at the lowest rates.

These prices are invariable. Remit in drafts on New York or Post Office Money orders, if possible, and where neither of these can be procured send the money in a registered letter.

TERMS—cash in advance.

THE SUN.

WEEKLY, SEMI-WEEKLY, AND DAILY.

THE WEEKLY SUN is too widely known to require any extended recommendation; but the reasons which have already given it fifty thousand subscribers, and which will, we hope, give it many thousands more, are briefly as follows:

It is a first-rate newspaper. All the news of the day will be found in it, condensed when unimportant, at full length when of moment, and always presented in a clear, intelligible and interesting manner.

It is a first-rate family paper, full of entertaining and instructive reading of every kind, but containing nothing that can offend the most delicate and scrupulous taste.

It is a first-rate story paper. The best tales and romances of current literature are carefully selected and legibly printed in its pages.

It is a first-rate agricultural paper. The most fresh and instructive articles on agricultural topics regularly appear in this department.

It is an independent political paper, belonging to no party and wearing no collar. It fights for principle and for the election of the best men to office. It especially devotes its energies to the exposure of the great corruptions that now weaken and disgrace our country, and threaten to undermine republican institutions altogether. It has no fear of knives, and asks no favors from their supporters.

It reports the fashions for the ladies and the markets for the men, especially the cattle markets, to which it pays particular attention.

Finally, it is the cheapest paper published. One dollar a year will secure it for any subscriber. It is not necessary to get up a club in order to have the Weekly Sun at this rate. Any one who sends a single dollar will get the paper for a year.

We have no travelling agents.

THE WEEKLY SUN.—Eight pages, fifty-six columns. Only $1 00 a year. No discounts from this rate.

THE SEMI-WEEKLY SUN.—Same size as the Daily Sun. $2 00 a year. A discount of 20 per cent. to clubs of ten or over.

THE DAILY SUN.—A large, four-page newspaper of twenty-eight columns. Daily circulation over 120,000. All the news for two cents. Subscription price 50 cents a month, or $6 00 a year. To clubs of ten or over, a discount of 20 per cent.

THE ITEM

H. M. BOWLES, M. D., Editor & Prop'r
SATURDAY, DECEMBER 13, 1913.

HAMMONTON, ATLANTIC CO. N. J.

REPORT OF THE FIFTH ANNUAL INSTITUTE OF ATLANTIC COUNTY TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Monday, Dec. 12, 1913.
The Atlantic County Teachers' Association met, according to resolution of last session, at the Public School House of Atlantic City, and were called to order at 11 A. M. by County Superintendent G. B. Wright.

In the absence of the Secretary, C. G. Kingman was chosen Secretary pro tem.

The names were then registered, and the number present was 24. The attending members were then provided for, and adjourned till 2 P. M.

In the afternoon, the registered members were all present, and after opening, the minutes of last session were read and approved.

The Treasurer being absent, no financial report was read. The following were then elected for the ensuing year:

President, Ex-Officio—Rev. G. B. Wright.
Vice-President—G. J. Adams.

Secretary—J. B. Rogers.
Assistant Secretary—Emma C. Collins.

Treasurer—E. F. English.

The following committees were chosen by the Institute:

On Resolutions—E. J. Adams, W. H. Bridgeway, C. G. Kingman, Emma Collins, Lizzie Clark.

On Revision—J. Y. Rogers, C. G. Kingman, S. E. Morse, Carrie Adams, Mrs. G. B. Wright.

The subject of reading was then taken up, but Mr. A. J. Filtcraft, who was assigned this exercise, being absent, the matter took the shape of general discussion by the Institute, and Miss Jennie Armstrong practically demonstrated the subject of choice selection. A number of remarks were made by the Chairman, and the Institute then adjourned to meet in the evening at 7 o'clock, at M. E. Church.

The evening session was well attended in spite of the unpleasant weather. Prayer was offered by Rev. J. Hutchinson, followed by excellent music from the choir, under the leadership of Joseph Wooten, Jr., the accomplished musical director of the Institute. An address of welcome was given by Mr. C. G. Kingman, and followed by eloquent and hospitable remarks by Dr. T. K. Reed, S. R. Morse and Wiley.

A few closing remarks were made by the Superintendent, Rev. G. B. Wright, followed by a choice anthem by the choir. Adjourned to 8 P. M. Tuesday.

Tuesday, Dec. 23.—Morning Session.—The Institute was opened in usual form. Names of recently arrived teachers and members were registered, and the Superintendent made some sensible and practical remarks touching the attendance of institutes and read a telegram from the State Superintendent Appar, sustaining his decision that "Teachers may leave their schools in opposition to the wishes of Trustees, and be sustained thereby, provided they conform to the laws." Mr. S. H. D. Hoffman's subject, Algebra, was omitted on account of his absence. Mr. Wright being called out, S. R. Morse, Atlantic City Superintendent taking the chair, Physiology was taken up by Mr. Wiley, who sensibly urged the necessity of a knowledge of the subject by teachers, and he was seconded by Kingman, Sullivan and Rogers.

Mr. J. B. Wilson presented his method of teaching Geography to beginners, giving many valuable suggestions. Miss Annie Adams demonstrated her method of putting together letters to form words, and the subject was ably discussed by Wiley, Wright, Morse, Sullivan, Rogers, Whitmore, and others. Adjourned to 2 P. M.

Afternoon Session.—After organizing, 24 members being present, and music by the choir, Book-keeping was taken up and lucidly illustrated on the blackboard. Discussion followed, C. G. Kingman took up History and Civil Government, and the subject was ably discussed by him and others. Adjourned to meet in the evening at 7 o'clock, at M. E. Church.

Evening Session.—Mr. Wright addressed the Institute, and it appears that the Cuban authorities refuse to give up the Virginias. The news comes from unofficial sources, yet it is so like the general conduct of the Cuban-Spanish, that it is almost universally credited here as the truth, that Captain General Cervera has tendered his resignation to Madrid, and refused to obey the orders of Castelar regarding maneuvers to the United States. The reason for this refusal is that to attempt compliance would excite a fearful commotion throughout the island which would be sure to result in catastrophe. The Havana papers breathe nothing but defiance and war on the United States, and the leading merchants are reported to have already made arrangements for arming several fast steamers as cruisers. The authorities are reported to be willing to surrender the Virginias to a neutral power until the question of her right to bear the American flag is adjudicated, but they will not submit to a direct delivery to the United States Government. Bombastic mutterings are flourished, and threats of war fill the air of Havana, and tend to hurry Cuba to her fate. We can afford to wait and see, while the proper Departments propare for the worst, what the end may be.

Speaker Blaine, after many alterations, has announced the House Committee.

New England has seven Chairmanships, the Middle States ten, the West nineteen, and the South eight. Mr. Myrland is Chairman of Banking and Currency, Mr. Sawyer of War of Pacific Railroads, Mr. Townsend of Public Lands, and Mr. Hawley of Illinois, who the important committee on Claims, while the new committee on War Claims went to Mr. W. Lawrence of Ohio; Mr. Wheeler, of New York, is at the head of Commerce; Mr. Averitt that of Indian Affairs; Mr. Myer, of Pa., Private Land Claims; Mr. Poland gets General Butler's place on revision of laws, while the latter goes to the head of Judiciary Committee. These are the principal changes in the House, and in the Senate no important changes were made.

It is positively stated that Secretary Fish together with the leading Senators have announced that it will be impossible to recognize any further offers of diplomatic regarding Cuban matters with Spain. War is therefore the only consequence of a refusal to abide by the protocol. At the same time the Cabinet are understood not to blame the present Spanish government which has shown a friendly disposition. Should the Virginias and her surviving captives not be duly surrendered, in consequence of Cuban disobedience to the orders of Spain, we must do the best we can to bring Cuba to her senses, if perchance she has any.

Rev. Byron Sunderland, of the 4th Street Presbyterian Church, will be again the Chaplain of the Senate, the Rev. Dr. Newman having resigned.

The New York Tribune refuses to retract the slander published by its Washington correspondent against Senator Carpenter, known as the Long Branch scandal, though irrefragable evidence of its falsehood has been published.

Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe was in the House gallery yesterday, taking a view of the New Congress.

The House Committee on Elections are already taking testimony in the 9th Indiana contest of Shanks vs. Neff. They are also considering the two contests in West Virginia. Here there is no dispute as to the facts, the question being simply that of the validity of the elections on a construction of the law. Hon. J. J. Davis and J. Marshall Higgins were elected in 1872 at the only general election held, and the code of this State containing the only requirements for electing Congressmen, fixed the time at the general election. Messrs. Wilson and Martin, who were voted for in only a part of their Districts at a special election, claim to be elected. The new constitution had provided for the general election in August, and the last named were elected in October. How they can expect to secure their seats under the law is, perhaps, one of those things that "no other fellow can find out."

Wm. Barnes, an employe of the Baltimore and Potomac Railroad, while occupying cars on Maryland Avenue, was run over and injured, so that he died yesterday.

Mrs. Kelly, who was shot by Samuel Argo, a colored boy, because, when requested by the boy's mother, who declined to pay to him 20 cents due for cutting wood, is slowly recovering, but is not yet out of danger. The boy strayed off to Harper's Ferry, at which place he was arrested. He alleges that he did not know the pistol was loaded, and that Mrs. Kelly assaulted him with a poker. He is in jail, waiting action of the Grand Jury.

One hundred and ninety ladies have been dismissed from the Treasury Department since last Saturday and it is expected that many more will have to go on the 15th of the present month. This is an unexpected slaughter of the innocents, and will occasion much distress. Others will be found to take their places, no doubt.

The special committee of the House on the salary question met yesterday, but could not agree upon a bill until the numerous bills on the question are printed, from which they propose to make up a bill which the entire committee can agree upon.

Cubans feel belligerent toward the United States, but the Captain General tells them that the United States will not submit to a direct delivery to the United States Government. Bombastic mutterings are flourished, and threats of war fill the air of Havana, and tend to hurry Cuba to her fate. We can afford to wait and see, while the proper Departments provide for the worst, what the end may be.

War is therefore the only consequence of a refusal to abide by the protocol. At the same time the Cabinet are understood not to blame the present Spanish government which has shown a friendly disposition. Should the Virginias and her surviving captives not be duly surrendered, in consequence of Cuban disobedience to the orders of Spain, we must do the best we can to bring Cuba to her senses, if perchance she has any.

Rev. Byron Sunderland, of the 4th Street Presbyterian Church, will be again the Chaplain of the Senate, the Rev. Dr. Newman having resigned.

The New York Tribune refuses to retract the slander published by its Washington correspondent against Senator Carpenter, known as the Long Branch scandal, though irrefragable evidence of its falsehood has been published.

Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe was in the House gallery yesterday, taking a view of the New Congress.

The House Committee on Elections are already taking testimony in the 9th Indiana contest of Shanks vs. Neff. They are also considering the two contests in West Virginia. Here there is no dispute as to the facts, the question being simply that of the validity of the elections on a construction of the law. Hon. J. J. Davis and J. Marshall Higgins were elected in 1872 at the only general election held, and the code of this State containing the only requirements for electing Congressmen, fixed the time at the general election. Messrs. Wilson and Martin, who were voted for in only a part of their Districts at a special election, claim to be elected. The new constitution had provided for the general election in August, and the last named were elected in October. How they can expect to secure their seats under the law is, perhaps, one of those things that "no other fellow can find out."

Wm. Barnes, an employe of the Baltimore and Potomac Railroad, while occupying cars on Maryland Avenue, was run over and injured, so that he died yesterday.

Mrs. Kelly, who was shot by Samuel Argo, a colored boy, because, when requested by the boy's mother, who declined to pay to him 20 cents due for cutting wood, is slowly recovering, but is not yet out of danger. The boy strayed off to Harper's Ferry, at which place he was arrested. He alleges that he did not know the pistol was loaded, and that Mrs. Kelly assaulted him with a poker. He is in jail, waiting action of the Grand Jury.

One hundred and ninety ladies have been dismissed from the Treasury Department since last Saturday and it is expected that many more will have to go on the 15th of the present month. This is an unexpected slaughter of the innocents, and will occasion much distress. Others will be found to take their places, no doubt.

The special committee of the House on the salary question met yesterday, but could not agree upon a bill until the numerous bills on the question are printed, from which they propose to make up a bill which the entire committee can agree upon.

Cubans feel belligerent toward the United States, but the Captain General tells them that the United States will not submit to a direct delivery to the United States Government. Bombastic mutterings are flourished, and threats of war fill the air of Havana, and tend to hurry Cuba to her fate. We can afford to wait and see, while the proper Departments provide for the worst, what the end may be.

Speaker Blaine, after many alterations, has announced the House Committee.

New England has seven Chairmanships, the Middle States ten, the West nineteen, and the South eight. Mr. Myrland is Chairman of Banking and Currency, Mr. Sawyer of War of Pacific Railroads, Mr. Townsend of Public Lands, and Mr. Hawley of Illinois, who the important committee on Claims, while the new committee on War Claims went to Mr. W. Lawrence of Ohio; Mr. Wheeler, of New York, is at the head of Commerce; Mr. Averitt that of Indian Affairs; Mr. Myer, of Pa., Private Land Claims; Mr. Poland gets General Butler's place on revision of laws, while the latter goes to the head of Judiciary Committee. These are the principal changes in the House, and in the Senate no important changes were made.

It is positively stated that Secretary Fish together with the leading Senators have announced that it will be impossible to recognize any further offers of diplomatic regarding Cuban matters with Spain. War is therefore the only consequence of a refusal to abide by the protocol. At the same time the Cabinet are understood not to blame the present Spanish government which has shown a friendly disposition. Should the Virginias and her surviving captives not be duly surrendered, in consequence of Cuban disobedience to the orders of Spain, we must do the best we can to bring Cuba to her senses, if perchance she has any.

rience that the awful consequences of self-abuse may be effectually removed without medicines, and without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings or cordials; pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This Lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands.
