Our Washington Letter.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 27, 1880.

Christmas passed here, to all outward appearances, very quietly. But indoors it was a day long to be remembered. The inclemency of the weather enhanced the comforts of home, so that those having warm cozy firesides, and will laden tables were loth to leave them and face the snow and rain outside. Church services were well attended, as also were the many Church Christmas trees in the evening. Socially, the holidays of 1880 will be long remembered here for their gaiety.

In the political world there are but few events worth chronicling. Secretary Sherman is as confident as ever of his election to the Senate. He is in receipt of many letters from prominent Ohio Republicans predicting his election in the most confident language. The withdrawal of Gov. Foster has ceased to be the subject of comment. It is now expected that for his kindness in stepping out of the path of his more powerful rival, Foster will be again the gubernatorial candidate in Ohio.

There is a rumor here in army circles that there is a growing coolness between Generals Grant and Sherman. A warm friendship has always existed between these two gentlemen. Speaking of Gen. Grant reminds me of several anecdotes concerning him that were told to Mr. Archibald Forbes, the English War Correspondent—when in this city last week. Of course, Mr. Forbes being a military gentleman, had poured into him all the army gossip since the civil war. Two of the stories are worth repeating. One is that immediately after the surrender of the Confederate forces, and before the French evacuation of Mexico, war seemed inevitable with our French neighbors. Phil Sheridan was, at this time, concentrating a large force upon the Rio Grande, and everything pointed to a foreign war. General Grant then put himself in communication with General Robert E. Lee, offering him a command in the expeditionary force. Lee was to raise his own corps from the recently surrendered confederates. Grant supposed that such action between himself and General Lee would cement the broken bonds of the Union.

The other story is that after Grant became President, our relations with Spain being very much unsettled, war was thought probable. President Grant, at the height of these troubles sent for General Meade, offering him the position of chief of staff under General Phil Sheridan whom he intended to send to Spain with an expeditionary force of 60,000 men. General Meade after some delay accepted the position. The Presidential intention was to make a feint upon Cuba, but to land the main force at Corrunna, Spain, march upon and occupy the Spanish Capital, and therein dictate terms of peace. Mr. Forbes gave as his opinion that the Spanish expedition was highly practicable. Corrunna once safely reached, there would be easy.

Public attention is being drawn more than ever to the payment of the bonds coming due next July. I find there is a growing antipathy to the present bill—the Wood funding bill. The fact that serious contraction of the circulating medium, and consequent distress in business would immediately follow any attempt to force a three per cent. bond upon the market, is forcing itself with alarming prominence into the minds of Congressmen. It is proposed as an endowment to National Banks to buy and deposit these bonds in security for their circulation that the tax upon it be abolished for all amount secured by these 3 per cent. bonds.

Private letters received in this city indicate that Eugene Hale is pretty certain of his election to succeed Senator Hamlin in the Senate.

MAXWELL.

A NEW YEAR'S WISH.

If I could find the Little Year,
The Happy Year, the glad New Year—
If I could find him setting forth
To seek the ancient track—
I'd bring him here, the Little Year,
Like a piddler with his pack.

And all of golden brightness,
And nothing dull or black,
And all that heart could fancy,
And all that life could lack,
Should be your share of the piddler's ware,
When he untid his pack.

The best from out his treasure
A smile of yours would coax,
And then we'd speed him on his way
At midnight's falling strokes,
And bid him hurry round the world,
And serve the other folks!

A passenger train on the Southern Vineland Railroad was snowbound in a drift near Bordentown for sixteen hours. While efforts were being made to dig the train out, the passengers, nineteen in number, were provided with food by the Railroad Company. At a late hour of the night the passengers were carried out of the drift on a locomotive, the train being abandoned.

LONG BRANCH, Dec. 28th.—Railroad travel has been resumed on the different roads, but the inland towns not visited by railroads are in a state of siege, as only a few of the turnpikes have been broken. The estimated damage to property along the shore is from $125,000 to $150,000. The sea is still very high and has carried away some of the jetties at the Highlands which protected the railroad from being washed out. The report that forty of the iron girders and ten of the iron tubular columns of the ocean pier had been carried away is pronounced untrue by the engineer of the Pier Company.

Mr. Editor:—

I see that some of the papers in the northern part of the State are advocating the name of Hon. Cortlandt Parker, and others of lesser light, for United States Senator. Now, Mr. Editor, have we not men in our more southern sections fully qualified to fill that position, once at least in fifty years? We should have our rights and claims respected, as we always give Republican majorities. Would it not be well for our Senator and member from this County to consider this matter, and urge the election of some good man to represent us from South Jersey? Such a man as Gen. Robeson would do honor and please the greater portion—if not all the Republicans of this section of the State. He is a man of great ability, and has a large influence, and is just the man we should be proud to have represent us. Some suggest the name of Gen. Sewell. He is undoubtedly a good man; but Robeson has a national training superior to Sewell or any man in South or West Jersey. Yours truly, S. V. A. Hammonton, N. J., Dec. 28th, 1880.

It's coming, boys, it's almost here;
It's coming, girls, the grand new year!
A year to be glad in, not to be led in;
A year to live in, to gain and give in;
A year for trying, and not for sighing;
A year for striving, and hearty striving;
A bright new year, Oh! hold it dear,
For God who sendeth, He only leadeth.

FLOUR.

We have constantly in stock a fine assortment of flours ranging from $6 to $9 per bbl. and of five different grades.

Our 1st and Best is a fancy article of superior quality, very white and fine, and not excelled except by pastries. We believe it is the highest grade kept in the town from the fact that we have considerable call for it from parties not regular customers and after once trying it they are satisfied with nothing else. It is especially intended for those that are more particular as to quality than price.

Our 2d Quality is in 4 owt. cloth sacks, and is a "new process" flour. Something new with us but pronounced very fine by those that have tried it. Makes very sweet bread and retains its moisture longer than when made of other flours. Makes also about half as much more bread than other flours do from the same quantity. One party tells us that they got three loaves where they usually get but two. $1.00 per sack.

Our 3d Quality, $7.50 per Barrel, is a standard brand that we have sold for years and can recommend every time. It stands next to fancy brands and cannot be beaten outside of them, at least that has been our experience, and we are continually trying new brands that we may have the best.

Our 4th Quality, $6.50 per Barrel, is a very good flour; sweet but not so light as others.

Our 5th, for $6.00, is of Red Wheat, but very excellent, made by Jersey Mills

HAMMONTON, ATLANTIC CO., N. J.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 1, 1881.

Happy New Year to you, reader!

We wish it were possible to pay public officials for the time served each week instead of now, by the year. Congressmen would get about $1,600 a year instead of $5,000, and Senators would get $2,000 instead of $6,000. Our State and county officers would be "docked" in about the same proportion. This is the kind of civil service reform we would like to have established for county, State and national affairs.—Shore Press.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue recommends the abolition of all revenue stamps and taxation except that upon the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors and tobacco. It says that this revenue from these alone will pay the current expenses of our government and a good share of the public debt each year. What a commentary upon the habits of the people of our country!

Some of our readers are wondering why we do not come out more strongly in favor of one of the prominent candidates for United States Senator; and have even urged us to do so. "The fact is, we see no real necessity for doing so. Were the question to be submitted to the people, it would be advisable to present the claims of each candidate, and bring into prominence our favorite man; but our Senator and Representative elect are the only ones directly interested—have the only votes to be cast by this county. The latter knows our sentiments, and we are in accord. When the time arrives, he will vote right. There is a satisfaction in knowing that New Jersey will be worthily represented, in case either Mr. Robeson or Mr. Sewell is elected. We know Mr. Robeson well—his course has been watched by all who are interested in the politics of the State, and Republicans say "Well done." Mr. Sewell, too, though possibly less prominent in politics, has done what he could for the party; and his having been twice chosen President of the State Senate speaks strongly the sentiment of the members of our Legislature. Probably members of the Republican Executive Committee of this county could, if they choose, tell us something of the practical Republicanism of Gen. Sewell. We have no sympathy with those who are trying to advance the interests of their favorite by "throwing mud" at another. Let the best man win, and Republicans cry "Amen!"

The Senatorial Contest.
Who will fill the place of Mr. Randolph in the United States Senate, no one now knows. The contest is evidently between Hon. W. J. Sewell and Hon. G. M. Robeson. Both are staunch Republicans, either would make a good Senator. The former has for two years been president of the New Jersey Senate, the latter is doing good work in Congress. The friends of these most prominent candidates have a peculiar curiosity to know which will be victor. Perhaps the present indications warrant the expectation that Gen. Sewell will be elected; if so, the position will be admirably filled.
Mr. W. J. Sewell is a gentleman of high type. He is a large well-built man with a mind as fine as his physique, and a heart as large as his mind. He is well balanced, practical, logical and energetic. He knows just what to do and does it. To the Republican party he is ever true. Against tremendous influences—which would capitalize many public men—he has stood firmly upon Republican principles. He is a hero. Not only upon a sporting steed prancing upon crimson fields, but in business life, in the halls of Legislature—everywhere, Gen. Sewell is a hero. The friends of the Temperance cause will long remember a scene in the Senate last winter. The "Local option bill" was presented. Of course, the liquor traffic was against it. Every man knew that to vote for the passage of that bill would be to strike a blow against the rum-power, and the whiskey element would probably retaliate at the polls. Nevertheless, while some were wondering what to do, and others were afraid to do what they desired, the courageous president said:—"Gentlemen I believe this to be right, and therefore I wish to register my vote for it."

Such men, who are capable of judging what is right, and have the honesty and courage to do it, ought to receive the confidence and support of the people.

Editorial Selections.

Congress adjourned over the holidays. The only thing that they accomplished during the two weeks was to pass two appropriation bills, collect their salaries, pardon General Weaver and Congressman Sparks for insulting them, and confirm Judge Wood, of Georgia.

A few days since Governor Ludlow was waited upon by a committee to ascertain his wishes as to the ceremonies for his inauguration. He expresses himself as being opposed to any military display or expensive ceremonies, but preferred that he should go quietly to the Senate Chamber and take the oath of office.

There appears to be something in the reports that Senator Blaine has been offered a cabinet position by General Garfield, and is holding the matter under advisement. Mr. Blaine is not so perfectly at home in the Senate as he was in the House. He and General Garfield are warm friends, and Mr. Blaine would be an exceedingly popular member of the cabinet—no matter what position he might take in it. Of course, if he enters at all, he will be given one of the leading departments, and will not lose in prominence or influence before the nation. Should he choose to accept it, he will be very cordially welcomed to a cabinet position. As his term as senator expires in 1883, he would lose nothing in taking a seat in the cabinet. He is a shrewd, far-seeing man, in general sympathy with Garfield in politics, and a warm friend personally. He will, if he accepts, be a power in the new administration.—News.

The prospect of the passage of a refunding bill by the present Congress is not so bright as could be wished. The Greenbackers and considerable numbers of others are opposed to refunding at all. They think the Government should allow the present bonds to run subject to call, and pay them off as rapidly as possible. There is an element of soundness in their position which gives it strength not easily overcome. With our present annual surplus a large portion of the debt can be best disposed of by keeping it within reach and gradually paying it off. The purchases of its bonds in the open market by the Government increases their premium and is anything but economical. A large portion of the bonds, however, must be refunded at low interest and at a long time. If the present Congress is not able to agree upon a measure, the next Congress in extra session will be called to wrestle with the matter, as it must have immediate attention.

A SUM FOR THE BOYS AND GIRLS.
Henry upon being asked how many boys were in his Sunday-school class, replied:—"If you multiply the number of Jacob's sons by the number of times the Israelites compassed Jericho, and add to the product the number of measures of barley which Boaz gave Ruth; divide this by the number of Haman's sons; subtract the number of each kind of clean beasts that went into the ark; multiply by the number of men that went to seek Elijah; add the number of the Israelites who were slain at the time he stood before Pharaoh; add the number of stones in David's bag when he killed Goliath; subtract the number of furlongs that Methy was distant from Jerusalem; divide by the number of anchors cast out at the time of Paul's shipwreck; subtract the number of people saved in the ark; and the remainder will be the number of boys in the class. How many were there?"

The following rather curious piece of composition was recently placed upon the blackboard at a teachers' institute in Vermont and a prize of Webster's Dictionary offered to any person who could read it and pronounce every word correctly. The book was not carried off, however, as twelve was the lowest number of mistakes in pronunciation made:—"A scrupulous son of Balaam, who suffered from bronchitis, having exhausted his finances, in order to make good the deficit, resolved to ally himself to a comely, lenient and docile young lady of the Malay or Caucasian race. He accordingly purchased a callop and coral necklace of a chameleon hue, and securing a suite of rooms at a principal hotel, he engaged the head waiter as his adjutor. He then dispatched a letter of the most unexceptional calligraphy extant, inviting the young lady to a marriage. She revolted at the idea, refused to consider herself sacrificed to his desire, on receiving which he procured a carbine and a bowie knife, said that he would not now forgo letters hymeneal with the queen, went to an isolated spot, severed his jugular vein and discharged the contents of his carbine into his abdomen. The debris were removed by the coroner." The mistakes in pronunciation were made on the following words: Sanctitious, Balaam, bronchitis, exhausted, finances, deflact, comely, lenient, docile, Malay, callop, chameleon, suit, conjutor, calligraphy, matinee, sacrificially, carbine, hymeneal, isolated, jugular, and debris.

Augustus had a New Year's card, Revolved and gaudy, And every where Augustus went He swapped it off for ready.
Augustus gave his cards around Until he used his stock up, And wote, a madder, wiser man, Next morning, in the look-up.

HAPPY NEW YEAR!

How can you make it happy? The answer is, "keep out of debt." That is what we are going to try to do this year. In order to do so we must sell our goods FOR CASH, so that we will be able to pay our bills when they become due.

By so doing we will be able to sell our goods cheaper, because besides getting the usual discount, we can always do a little better than if we let our bills run two three, or four months; and then another thing we will not have to make our cash customers pay for our losses by bad debts, because we will not have any.

Our protective system is a relic of medieval times.—Detroit News.—So is the use of gold as a medium of exchange, but one is necessary to retain the other. Without our protective system we would soon have all our money, and we would have their bills for goods delivered and not paid for.

HAPPY NEW YEAR!

How can you make it happy? The answer is, "keep out of debt." That is what we are going to try to do this year. In order to do so we must sell our goods FOR CASH, so that we will be able to pay our bills when they become due.

By so doing we will be able to sell our goods cheaper, because besides getting the usual discount, we can always do a little better than if we let our bills run two three, or four months; and then another thing we will not have to make our cash customers pay for our losses by bad debts, because we will not have any.

AMERICAN, JANUARY 1, 1881.

NEW YORK, JANUARY 1, 1881.

Happy New Year to you, reader!

Council met on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Jones, wife of Rev. J. A. Jones, is visiting her parents in Camden.

A daughter of Edward Darling reached Hammononton yesterday morning.

Rev. Thomas H. Gordon was married on Thursday last, and is expected here to-day.

The Progressive Spiritualists hold meetings in Union Hall every Sunday morning, at 10:30.

Wm. Baker is dividing cloven of the lock boxes in the lower post-office—making twenty-two of them.

This having all the Christmas celebrations on the same evening was bad for the boys. They couldn't "double up."

Many a drunkard took his first glass of wine during a New Year's call on the woman who afterward became his neglected wife.

A had beginning for the New Year—mercury at 29 below zero, and railroads so blocked as to delay our paper more than twenty-four hours.

The number of sleighs, jumpers and "bobs" increases daily—the style varying as rapidly as the numbers increase. "Every man his own mechanic," is the rule.

The next Teachers' Association of Atlantic county will be held in Egg Harbor City, Saturday, Jan. 8th, 1881.

The five-cent store looked about as bare as Christmas turkey on Christmas night; but it is refurnished now, ready for another grand charge.

Church meeting at the Baptist church, this afternoon, at two o'clock. The Clerk requests us to urge all members to be present, as business of unusual importance is to be transacted.

Francis Sanders, well known in Hammononton—lately in the employ of Mr. Bernhouse—was married on Thursday last, to Miss Rachel Conroy, of Gibbstown. Accept congratulations.

Miss Cora Faunos, organist in the Presbyterian church, was the recipient of a number of handsome presents, Christmas day, as an appreciation of the excellent service she has rendered in that capacity.

That Christmas best of Jackson's tasted as it looked; and we know whereof we speak. Plenty of meat—left there, for on Christmas day we saw at least two four-horse teams of pork unloaded, for packing.

It would interest you to see the list of delinquent taxpayers as presented to the council the other day—providing your name is not among them. But there are still a few days of grace, and you can pay up without cost or interest added.

Council met on Saturday last, and adjourned to Tuesday, Dec. 28th.

At the adjourned meeting, the President and five members were present.

In response to a petition received, the Overseer of the Poor was instructed to grant Mr. Higginson fifty cents additional per week for six months, if he thinks it necessary.

D. L. Potter presented his bill for taxes paid (showing him on land claimed by Mr. Wharton) on motion, Highway Committee was reprimanded for not attending to the petition of L. R. Anthony, which was referred to the Overseer of Poor instructed to furnish a Mr. Miller with necessary articles until he is able to be moved.

The collector presented a list of delinquent taxpayers, as required by law.

Overseer instructed to grant a loan to E. Keen, if necessary. Adjourned.

The full corps of officers of the Hammononton Library Association has been chosen, as follows:

Library Committee—W. H. Barrett, (ex-officio) Orville E. Hoyt, B. Crawley, Edward Howland, Mrs. Howland.

Make a special note of the Library Committee's request that any one of them such as books you can spare from your collection. We shall keep a list of such books, with the donor's name, that credit may be given to whom it is due. The secretary will be pleased to receive your name and membership fee, at any time. Make this a success.

Very truly yours,
Geo. Elvins.

Yes; and since the above was written, Mrs. Elvins has received her commission—more than one of our readers having seen it. The appointment dates December 29th, although it was decided some time previous that Mrs. Elvins should have the position. This is settled the question which agitated so many for a time past.

A MAGNIFICENT NEWSPAPER.

This complimentary designation has been fittingly applied to the Philadelphia Weekly Press under its present able management. With a greatly strengthened editorial staff, a large corps of trained special correspondents and distinguished occasional contributors, and an unsurpassed mechanical equipment, it may fairly claim to have distanced all rivals in its enlarged field of usefulness. In editorial discussion it aims to be courteous as well as fearless and independent; in the collection of news its enterprise is great; in the family department its making of interest in the home circle is slighted; in fiction its standard is high, and the best stories of foreign authors appear exclusively in its columns by arrangement with the publishers; there is something in its pages to interest all classes. We commend the Philadelphia Weekly Press to the attention of all who are making up their lists of newspapers and periodicals for the new year. It is a neatly printed newspaper of eight pages, and is offered to clubs on particularly attractive terms. Send to the Press, Philadelphia, for a sample copy.

Mr. Mahone, the new Senator from Virginia, was a poor Irish boy educated on a free scholarship at a military institute. He began his career by carrying a surveyor's chain on a railroad.

As near as can be estimated at the present time, it is thought that the Treasury Department that the public debt statement for the month of December, which will be issued on Monday the 3d proximo, will show a reduction about the same as the statement for November, which was $3,600,000. During this month about $4,000,000 have been paid out on account of pensions.

The war upon the Chinese has broken out in Brooklyn, where the Board of Aldermen, by the votes of 13 Democrats to 12 Republicans, have passed an ordinance which provides that licenses shall be granted to no persons other than citizens of the United States. If this ordinance is enforced the Mayor must refuse licenses to Chinamen for laundries or other kinds of business, and to all foreigners who have not lived in this country at least five years and have not obtained citizenship papers.

Colonel Albert Orday is doing a great work for the country in the compilation of a general index of the journals of Congress for the first twenty years of its history. It is a synoptical subject index of all public business transacted by Congress in those years, with references to the debates, documents and statutes connected therewith. The magnitude of the work may be realized in view of Colonel Orday's statement that these records are contained in about 2,000 volumes of documents from journals and debates. Few men have the ability or the patience for such a task.
