That State Road.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN:—I notice that your esteemed contemporary, the May's Landing Record, is insisting that the proposed State road, from the Camden County line to Atlantic City, should take its May's Landing.

It is undoubtedly the intention of the Board of Chosen Freeholders to improve all the main highways running through Atlantic County, under the provision of the present very liberal State law.

The Record's statement that the May's Landing route can be improved at little cost is an excellent reason why that section can wait, perhaps for another year.

The Absecon Road between Hammonton and Da Costa is well nigh impassible, and while it is the direct route, driving parties and wheelmen bound for Atlantic City are invariably directed through Burlington County, via New Gretna and the Chestnut Neck bridge. While we are fighting for precedence, our share of the state appropriation is being paid to our sister counties.

We trust Brother Shaner will, in his editorial columns, and by his vote as a member of the Board of Chosen Freeholders, help to start the movement for good roads in Atlantic County, already too long delayed.

JOHN C. ANDERSON.

MR. EDITOR:—I, for one, would urge the building of waterworks for our fair town at once. Let us economize elsewhere. For instance, we have good roads in nearly every direction; then, as you suggest, drop the appropriations for roads. Let us be content with the present location of Firemen's Hall,—not buy an expensive lot for it. I would even go into the School, and have those who want to learn foreign languages pay for it themselves, not saddle the expense on the town. The American (or English) language is the one to be taught in our schools; and I question the lawful right of taxing for the teaching of German, which I understand is taught in the Central School. Whether lawful or not, it certainly is not fair to tax payers. Let the affairs of the town be handled in a business like way; and for the protection of the homes and business of Hammonton, let us have waterworks; and let the plant be a good one. A TAX PAYER.
JANUARY 27th, 1896.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN:—The Building Committee of the County Asylum for the Insane will formally turn the new building over to the Board of Chosen Freeholders at an adjourned meeting to be held at that institution on Thursday next, Feb. 6th. Citizens of the County wishing to inspect the building will be accorded a welcome.
JOHN C. ANDERSON,
Clerk of Board.

GREASE

It costs a billion a year to preserve peace in the world and they are not at all sure of it then.

The fact that Utah has 6,000 more men than women is a conclusive argument why no woman should have more than one wife in that Territory.

We learn from the Monterey (Cal.) Express that that town had a narrow escape from wholesale destruction the other day. It was John King's peanut roaster caught fire yesterday morning, but the damage was slight. The fire ladders must have fought like Trojans.

In this country the deaths from lightning average 200 a year, and the loss of property from the same cause is $1,500,000 a year. The chance of being killed by lightning during the season is about one in 180,000, but this does not greatly lessen the sense of danger when a storm cloud looms up and forked flashes play around the neighborhood.

There is only one way to deal effectively with the tramp, and that is to set him to work. The jail has no terrors for him. It is, on the contrary, but a hotel in which he is sure of better food and lodging than he gets elsewhere, with the single drawback that he cannot leave when he wishes. The only system that is successful in repressing the kind of vagrancy that develops in the professional tramp is the workhouse system. If this is properly managed, it serves both as a punishment and a corrective for tramps and a place of refuge for the needy and honest unfortunates who are unable to find employment.

There is often great loss of property, and sometimes of life, in the severe electrical storms that rage at certain times of the year in Russia. To protect the houses of the province, which are frequently struck by lightning, the Russian Government has recommended that the peasants be encouraged to plant white poplar trees around their dwellings, to serve both as a punishment and a corrective for tramps and a place of refuge for the needy and honest unfortunates who are unable to find employment.

Dr. Hermann Ahlwardt, who has come to this country after a prolonged career as a slanderer of the Jews in Germany, should be informed at once that American citizens are not to be misled by the scold who gets out of the country the better his life will be satisfied. Ahlwardt's past career has been made notorious by his vicious and malignant attacks on the Jews in Germany. He supports his attacks by "arguments" which fool no one. They are the arguments of blind, irrational medieval prejudice. The fact that he has been allowed to continue his race persecution in Germany so long is no reason why he should expect to do so here. The efforts to which he has set himself are distasteful to the American people without regard to race, sect or party. They belong to the worst practices of the benighted middle ages. There is no room for them or for Ahlwardt or with his vicious prejudice.

The suicide of Mr. Peter McGeeoch, the great Milwaukee speculator, was undoubtedly a result of what is so often and so politely referred to as "the high pressure of American business." Mr. McGeeoch had lived under this pressure for years before collapsing. He was long one of the most envied of Western "financiers." His operations on the Chicago Board of Trade were on a magnificent scale. When he lost half a million in wheat public admiration for his "nerve" was not misplaced, as he showed when, after subsequently losing three millions in attempting a corner in hard, he again attacked the market and won the fortune which "put him almost out of armour as a produce operator." This was his status when he blew out his brains. Admitted by thousands, considered by his competitors a marvel of business capacity, envied by those who were unable to imitate him, he "laid down on his contracts" and retired from business in a way which can surprise no one who has seen the high pressure of the speculative realities. Essentially the life he had been leading was that of a gambler. His operations had no more to do with real business than if he had been dealing far or playing three-card monte. He produced nothing, distributed nothing. All his operations were "in restraint of trade"—that is to say, they hindered the exchange of products by which human feet and necks are clothed. Every dollar of his winnings was the result of a mere bet on the success or failure of attempts to suspend the natural laws of trade. His tremendous nervous failure was the high pressure of business claimed one more victim.

An enterprising Yankee book agent is making a barrel of money in Alabama. He soon came to appreciate the enthusiasm of the negro in matters of religion. He found that in all the illustrated Bibles the pictures of the angels were in white, and he conceived the idea of having a Bible made for the colored race, filled to overflowing with negro angels. The books cost him about $1.10, but he placed the first large shipment at $8.00 each, payable $2.00 cash, the balance in monthly payments. He is selling the Bibles as fast as he can get them delivered.

Sir George Newnes, a London magazine publisher who has made a million pounds by legitimate business, has announced his intention to build a yacht which will challenge the New Yorkers for the America's cup. He was formerly a Liberal member of Parliament and a man of distinction. But the friends of Lord Dunsley have not been slow to take the same building practice by which Charles D. Rose, the London banker, was driven from the field. The Yachting World, the organ of the aristocratic yachtsmen, has announced that Newnes' yacht is "entirely unknown in yachting circles," but expresses the belief that "he has more sense than to make the challenge." He will be subjected to severe discipline and will be here in a few weeks. The English yachtsmen do not mean that another race shall be sailed for the cup.

The general public of the United States knows little of the value or general use of the passport in foreign countries. A passport is a guarantee by the Government of the United States that the person bearing it is who he claims to be, and is entitled to the consideration of the officers of the Government he is visiting. So long as people are traveling through Europe, their movements may be unquestioned; but if they give an appearance of intending to sojourn at a place, they are frequently forced to give an account of themselves and their object in staying. This is particularly the case in Germany. Passports are certainly necessary for the Turkish dominions, including Egypt and Palestine, and should be carried by a Turkish consular officer before entering within the limits of Turkish jurisdiction.

The effect of European clothing upon Japanese women is quite remarkable, for whenever it is adopted modern manners and customs usually result. The educated Japanese say that when a native woman adopts modern dress she insists upon the same treatment and courtesies that her sisters in Europe receive. It is curious to note that when a woman is dressed in the Japanese costume, her husband always precedes her when entering a room or in walking the streets, and treats her as a Japanese woman generally treat their wives—that is, like servants. But when the same woman puts on modern dress, the conditions are reversed. Her husband pays her the same deference that European and American husbands accord their wives. The latter has her an equal. Therefore, dress reform has had a powerful influence in the advancement of Japanese women.

Now comes the announcement that gold has been found in Argentina. The news, which came from Mendoza, in the province of that name some 300 miles from the Andes mountains, is said to be very rich. Assays of ore indicate an average of 100 ounces of gold per ton. The discovery is fortunate for Argentina, which has been suffering from a financial storm with which the year of 1898 was comparable only because of the number of people who were made of the richest of the earth. Undoubtedly it will be found that the discovery is not so important an account of the gold as on account of the resources which, in consequence, will be brought to notice and developed. As the agricultural products of California have proved to be many times as valuable as its gold product, so, no doubt, will the other products of Mendoza prove to be far more valuable than its gold.

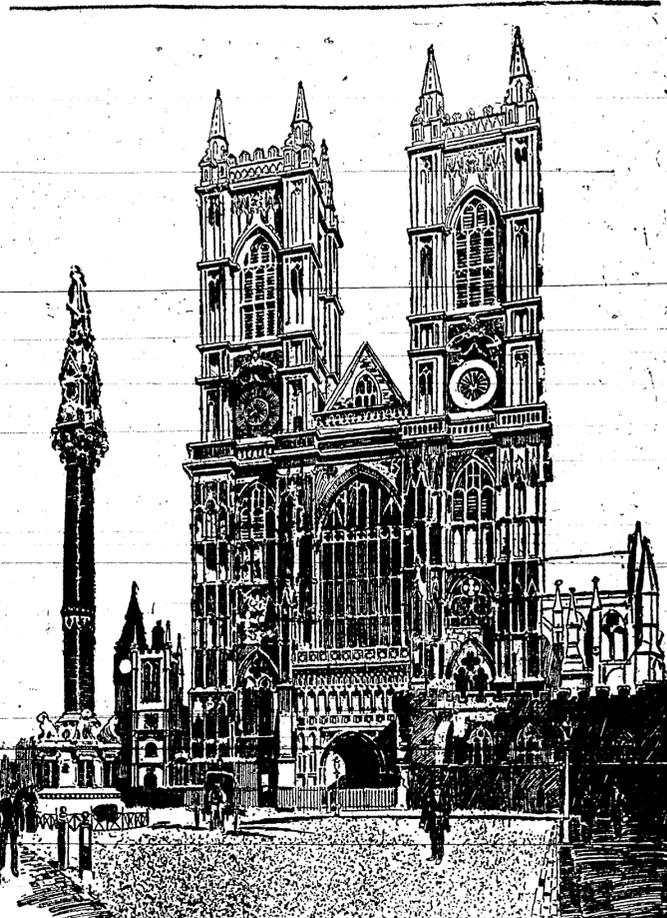

Reports from Spanish sources claim an addition of 23,000 troops to the force in Cuba which has not yet succeeded in putting down or seriously checking the insurrection. If all their claims are true they have now more troops in Cuba than were engaged on either side in some of the most important operations in the late war in this country. There is material for a lot of real fighting in Cuba. Why is there so little of it?

All depends, (interested in science) Can one get a shock from a telephone? Top Spindles (dent on ethics)—That depends, dear young lady, on who is talking at the other end.—Harper's Bazar.

The Resk Hour Post. Ethel—Well, I must be going. Stanley—Don't hurry; papa is just as mad now as he will be if you hang on another hour.—New York World.

Uncomplimentary. She—Why is it American women are so much more attractive to foreigners with titles than English women are? He—Because they have more dollars and less sense.—Detroit Free Press.

WESTMINSTER ABBEY—AN HISTORIC PILE OF CHURCH ARCHITECTURE.

WESTMINSTER ABBEY, that unique and historic pile of church architecture, which has challenged the admiration and excited the wonder of scholars, ecclesiastics and secular, for centuries, was built by Selbert, in the form of a chapel, in the seventh century. It was erected in honor of St. Peter on a slightly elevated spot rising from the marshy ground bordering the Thames. A church of greater proportions was erected on the spot by King Edward about the year 980. That structure being partly demolished by the Danes, Edward the Confessor founded within the precincts of his palace an abbey and church in the Norman style, which was completed in 1065, and of which there now only remains the pyramidal tower and part of the west front.

French Battle Ship.

France has launched a new 11,000-ton first-class battle ship, the Charlemagne, and will fit her with 14,000 horsepower engines, assuring a speed of eighteen knots.

Where the Trouble Began.

Cholly Lighthead—Bah Jore! Miss Emerson, I believe I could make you love me if I had a mind to.

A Good Eye for Color.

The Sin-Eater. Among curious customs and superstitions noticed in a recent article in Blackwood on the "Legends and Folk-Lore of North Wales," there is one of the singularity of which is heightened by the fact that it is a superstition of the North and South Wales and the Border. At a funeral a bereaved wife by such services has handed over to him a loaf of bread, a maple bowl full of beer or milk, and a sponges, in consideration of which he takes upon himself all the sins of the defunct, and frees him or her from walking after death. The scape-goat is currently called a "Sin-eater."

Better Late than Never.

Parent (at the breakfast table)—Will you, where is the morning paper? Willie—I let Freddie Jenkins take it. He said that he would fetch it back to-morrow.—Exchange.

Not Vain.

Even the laziest of tramps makes an effort to secure a substantial breakfast, which is generally the only regular meal he has during the day. If he is fairly lucky it consists of coffee, a slice of meat, some potatoes, and "punk an' plaster," as he calls bread and butter. Coffee, more than anything else, is what every man of his kind wants early in the morning. The coffee he gets is "pork-out" beggar is not much, if any better, than his food. In summer he seldom has more than a shirt, a pair of trousers, a coat, some old shoes, and a battered hat. Even in winter he wears little more, especially if he goes South. If he can procure nothing more suitable he will don a garment which belongs to a woman's wardrobe. In fact, he glories wearing anything that will cover him. The only dress he does not fancy is the one to which he has earned a right—the famous "zebra" of the penitentiary.

Palmsistry.

Palmsistry is scientifically explained by the fact that some of our most sensitive nerves have their seat in the palm of the hand, and as each time we are conscious of a sensation there is a vibration of the nerve conveying that particular sensation to its center, the continual setting in motion of any particular nerve produces a very marked depression in its own particular path, these depressions being nothing more or less than the familiar lines in the hand. A fair reading of the past might be made from this, but such a theory has nothing to do with the palmist's constituents the palmist's population, namely, his prophecies concerning the future. That the outline of the hand counts for much, here is not the smallest doubt. It is an excellent guide to those seeking a means of livelihood, or choosing professions for their children.

It is often a good not to practice what you preach.

It is often a good not to practice what you preach. It is often a good not to practice what you preach. It is often a good not to practice what you preach.

GIVING COUNSEL.

Donning down by the fireplace. A wistful look in your soft gray eyes, your nose set firm and a puckered face, "What shall you answer, will I advise?" "What shall you answer me? Why, not let him steal a kiss—his his due—and give him your hand and let him go. He is only a man among other men."

IN ANTERIOR TIME.

Phil Evers once deemed fit to make an apology for the extreme juvenility of his appearance. "Youth," he said, "is an accident that happens to most of us."

He addressed this remark to some men who had survived the accident. They were doctors in upper Saburbia and knew nothing of the uncertainty of life; strangers without their gates to whom youth was an unknown state of being.

Between the warped infancy of these little strangers and their manhood there is no intervening country; no golden dreamland, wherein it is permitted to everyone to be irresponsible no time of distance.

He would not listen. "What're you buyin'?" he inquired impatiently. "Gittin' a grumpy head."

It is often a good not to practice what you preach. It is often a good not to practice what you preach. It is often a good not to practice what you preach.

ECONOMY IN PALACE CARS.

Secrets that Will Interest Those Who Travel on Railroads. The train from Nashville was near Chicago, and in the smoking compartment of the deeper Galena four passengers—a doctor, a drummer, a merchant, and a newspaper man—were enjoying a smoke.

TOPICALITIES.

A woman in Pittsburg, Pa., sold her husband the other day to a former sweetheart for $30 in cash, a pair of diamond earrings, a diamond ring and a diamond pin.

It seems to be a striking compliment to fertile eloquence, or some other peculiar power of persuasion, that among the conversions made by a revivalist at Tekonah, Mich., recently, were two deaf and dumb persons, a man and his wife.

Something of new record was established by thieves in Adams County, Wash., last week. They stole a big barn belonging to the county auditor, pulling it on wagons during the night, loading it on wagons, and hauling it to parts as yet unknown.

A number of converts walked over the shore ice, scrunched through the sea ice, and waded out into the bay, set at Orono Island, Me., to be baptized a few days ago. Even in the middle of summer the sea in that region is so cold that few people bathe in it.

Cigar-makers in San Francisco are going to establish a strike shop. When a strike is ordered in any factory in the city the workmen will be put at work in the strike shop, at regular wages, instead of remaining idle and in receipt of the strike allowances from the union.

OLD-FASHIONED CAKE WALKS.

A Never-Failing Amusement in the Days of Slavery. Away back in the sullen days of Dixie land, when cotton was king and slavery the colossal sin of the new world, cake walks occupied a peculiar place in the relations between master and slave.

The President of the Cleveland Liquor Dealers' Association is said to have stigmatized the Ohio Legislature as "a lot of old jays who cannot be bought." This is the highest compliment that has been bestowed upon a State Legislature within our recollection. How about Jersey?

Dr. Alan M. Curtis, a colored man, has been appointed a member of the Medical Board of Chicago's County Hospital. The colored representative is yet a young man, being scarcely 30 years old, but is one of the most skillful surgeons among the colored doctors. He has performed a number of operations which have attracted wide attention to his skill as a surgeon. He is a native of Raleigh, N. C., where he received his earlier education. Later he attended the Lincoln University, at Lincoln, Pa., from which institution he graduated with high honors in the class of '88.

To be always intending to lead a new life but never find time to set about it, is as if a man should put off eating and drinking from one day to another till he is starved to death.

Alaska has enormous coal deposits.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

By virtue of a writ of fieri facias to me directed, issued out of the New Jersey Court of Chancery, will be sold at public vendue, on Saturday, Feb. 1, 1896, at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, at the hotel of Louis Kuehnle, corner Atlantic and South Carolina Avenues, Atlantic City, Atlantic County, New Jersey, all that tract or lot of land and premises situate in the township of Mullica, in the County of Atlantic and State of New Jersey, bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a stone corner at the intersection of the Absecon Road and the road leading from the Elwood Station on the Camden and Atlantic Railroad to Pleasant Mills, and running thence [1] along the middle of the said Pleasant Mills Road south sixty-one degrees and thirty minutes west thirteen chains to a stake; thence [2] south forty-two degrees and twenty minutes east ten chains and seventy links to a stake; thence [3] south forty-seven degrees and thirty-five minutes west six chains and ninety-two links to a stake; thence [4] north forty-two degrees and twenty minutes east twenty-three chains and twenty-four links to a stake; thence [5] north fifty-seven degrees and fifty-five minutes east eight chains and ninety links; thence [6] north twenty minutes east eight chains and ninety links; thence [7] north fifty-seven degrees and fifty-five minutes east seven chains and fifty-four links; thence [8] north twenty-eight degrees west twelve chains and eighty-one links; thence [9] north twenty minutes east eighteen chains and seventy-five links to a corner in Pleasant Mills Road; thence [10] south fifty-three degrees and fifteen minutes west along the said road eighteen chains and seventy-five links to the place of beginning, containing eighty-four acres and seventy-five hundredths of an acre, more or less.

Excepting out of said bounds a tract of land beginning at a point at the intersection of Broadway or the Absecon Road and Union Avenue or the road leading from Elwood Station on the Camden and Atlantic Railroad to Pleasant Mills, and runs thence [1] along the middle of said Union Avenue or Pleasant Mills Road south sixty-one degrees and thirty minutes west one hundred and twenty-five feet to a stake; thence [2] southwardly and parallel with Broadway or the Absecon Road seven hundred and seventy feet, more or less, to the intersection with course seven in the description of said farm; thence [3] north fifty-seven degrees and fifty-five minutes east five hundred and fifty feet to a stake; thence [4] following the original description north twenty-eight degrees west twelve chains and eighty-one links; thence [5] north twenty minutes east eighteen chains and seventy-five links to a corner in Union Avenue or Pleasant Mills Road; thence [6] south fifty-three degrees and fifteen minutes west along the said avenue or road eighteen chains and seventy-five links to the place of beginning, containing thirty-three acres, more or less.

The above described premises being the same which Warren W. Cooper by indenture dated the twenty-sixth day of February, eighteen hundred and eighty-five, granted and conveyed unto Jacob N. Wunder and Jennie K. Wunder in fee, and recorded in the Clerk's Office of Atlantic County, at May's Landing, in Dead Book 104, folio 103, &c.

Seized as the property of Jacob N. Wunder, and taken in execution at the suit of George G. Felton, and to be sold by SMITH E. JOHNSON, Sheriff.

Dated December 28, 1895. E. A. ARMSTRONG, collector. Pr. fee, $13 24

The Name of The Next President of the United States

WILL BE ANNOUNCED IN THE NEW YORK WEEKLY TRIBUNE Of Nov. 4th, 1896.

Public interest will steadily increase, and the question how the men whose votes turned the scale at the last election are satisfied with the results under the administration they elected, will make the campaign the most intensely exciting in the history of the United States.

THE NEW YORK WEEKLY TRIBUNE, the leading Republican family newspaper of the United States, will publish all the political news of the day, interesting to every American citizen regardless of party affiliations. Also, general news in attractive form, foreign correspondence covering the news of the world, an agricultural department second to none in the country, market reports which are recognized authority, fascinating short stories, complete in each number, the cream of the humorous papers, foreign and domestic, with their best comic pictures, fashion plates and elaborate descriptions of woman's attire, with a varied and attractive department of household interest. The New York Weekly Tribune is an ideal family paper, with circulation larger than that of any other weekly publication in the country issued from the office of a daily. Large changes are being made in its details, tending to give it greater life and variety, and especially more interest to the women and young people of the household.

A special contract enables us to offer this splendid journal and the South Jersey Republican—both One Year for $1.25.—cash in advance.

The regular price of the two papers is $2. Subscriptions may begin any time. Sample copies can be had at this office. Address all orders to the REPUBLICAN, Hammonton.
