DR. JOHN BULL'S Smith's Tonic Syrup FOR THE CURE OF FEVER and AGUE Or CHILLS and FEVER, AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of shorter long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern countries bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of BULL'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient.

BULL'S SARSAPARILLA is the old and reliable remedy for impurities of the Blood and Scrofulous affections—the King of Blood Purifiers.

DR. JOHN BULL'S VEGETABLE WORM DESTROYER is prepared in the form of candy drops, attractive to the sight and pleasant to the taste.

TUTT'S PILLS

TORMID BOWELS, DISORDERED LIVER, and MALARIA.

From these sources arise three-fourths of the diseases of the human race. These symptoms indicate their existence: Loss of Appetite, Bowels costive, Sick Headache, fullness after eating, aversion to exertion of body or mind, Eructation of food, Irritability of temper, Loavishness, A feeling of having neglected some duty, Dizziness, Flushing at the Heart, Dots before the eyes, highly colored Urine, CONSTIPATION, and demand the use of a remedy that acts directly on the Liver. As all our medicines TUTT'S PILLS have no equal. Their action on the Kidneys and Skin is so prompt removing all impurities through the pores—scavengers of the system, producing appetite, sound digestion, regular stools, a clear skin and a vigorous body. TUTT'S PILLS cause no nausea or griping nor interfere with daily work and are a perfect ANTIDOTE TO MALARIA.

IT FEELS LIKE A NEW MAN. I have had Dyspepsia, with Constipation, two years, and have tried ten different kinds of pills, and TUTT'S are the first that do me any good. ### "The Nivison Home."

When Miss S. S. Nivison, then a pre-possessing young lady, in a comfortable home; her parents willing and anxious to do for her welfare whatever seemed for the best; when this lady decided to enter a medical college, it was after fully considering the subject in all its phases. She knew the popular—though unjust—prejudice then existing against women entering the learned professions; and though not particularly brave-hearted she began her studies with a determination to master all that could be taught her, with a sincere desire to benefit her own sex, whom she saw suffering from the cradle to the grave because of insufficient knowledge of themselves. After graduating at the Women's Medical College, of Philadelphia, Miss Nivison spent a year or more at home, but giving frequent lectures to ladies, in various places. This, however, did not satisfy her, and she soon leased a property at Dryden, N. Y., which she has since bought and improved, and still occupies, where ladies are received as patients, guests, and pupils, where many sufferers have been relieved, cured, and taught to know themselves, returning to their homes prepared to resume more intelligently their duties as wives and mothers. The "Sanitarium" at Hammonton was an outgrowth of the Dryden Springs "Home," and our readers know of the many who have been treated and taught here during the winter months of each year. This work commends itself to all who reflect upon it. Is it not important that the mothers of this nation should not only be healthy and happy, but also know how to properly care for themselves and their offspring?

But these years of experience have convinced Miss Nivison that the prime cause of much of human suffering and unhappiness must be sought farther back; and her thoughtful attention has for a number of years been directed to the care (or want of care) bestowed upon the little ones—the infants—especially those who through poverty or crime were left to the mercy of public charity. It has been demonstrated that from such sources come many of the paupers and criminals whose support is drawn from the public, in poor houses, jails, and penitentiaries. To do her part in giving these little waifs correct care and training has been the desire of the Doctor's heart for several years; and in a few cases she has accomplished this by quietly rescuing the unfortunate. The demands upon her time have been so great, however, that no course but a complete withdrawal from practice seemed to be open for her, if her desired work should ever be begun. This has now been practically done, and the "Nivison Home" is opened, and a number of infants are now in comfortable quarters there.

The first plan considered was an incorporated institution, but after a consultation with eminent men in the legal profession this was abandoned, and Miss Nivison has transferred the title of her property here (consisting of eighty-three acres of available land, with handsome buildings worth thousands of dollars) "in trust" to Messrs. A. S. Barnes, S. V. White, and B. F. Blair, three eminent and wealthy gentlemen of New York City, who are acting as Trustees for the Home. Further organization was accomplished by selecting as Treasurer, Mr. Austin Corbin, 115 Broadway, N. Y.; Secretary, Rev. L. K. Lewis, Hammonton; Corresponding Secretaries, Rev. G. R. Underhill, No. 1, East 20th St., H. S. Wyckoop, 159 West 21st St., New York City.

The prospectus of the "Nivison Home" is before us. It contains the plan of organization and work, in brief; calls attention to the fact that in this free, life-giving atmosphere, the rearing of children will be attended with much less risk than in the large cities; and invites persons of means to contribute to the success of this noble charity. We see encouraging letters of approval from Rt. Rev. F. D. Huntington, Bishop of Central New York; from Bishop Harris, of Michigan; Bishop

Scarborough, of New Jersey; ex-Governor Cornell, of New York; Judge Boardman, of Ithaca; and from the Rector of Grace Church, N. Y.; and from Rectors in Ithaca, Costland, Brooklyn, Newark, Chicago, and elsewhere; and from ladies and ministers of other denominations, and professional men of various localities. A prominent lady of Philadelphia, in a private letter, writes as follows:

About your grand scheme for helping the waifs and strays of large cities, I am with you in this with all my heart. Years ago, I asked myself "Assuming that the Creator who demands our reverence, is a being of love and mercy, how shall we best serve Him?" My heart promptly answered "By doing the good we can for those who most need our help."

To the further question "Who are they who stand most in need of aid from their fellow-creatures?" I am impressed that the sick, the ignorant, the criminal are those who should demand the broadest charity and most tender care from their fellows. And I further find that the Creator requires that all our energies and intelligences shall be given to the elimination of oppression, crime and disease from among the children of men. Where shall we intelligently begin this mighty work?

The little children, even the offspring of sensuality, ignorance, and profligacy, afford the fulcrum upon which the lever of regeneration must be placed, and that, as the hope of the world rests with the little ones, we must take care that these grow up into happiness and goodness by implanting in healthy seeds that shall grow into "trees whose leaves shall be for the healing of the nations."

We spent a couple of hours, early this week, in the "Nivison Home," and were given every facility possible for observation. It would be hard to conceive of any place more adapted for the purpose intended. The new cottage, especially, intended for the babes—every convenience that experience has forethought could desire. The little ones already there looked happy—though the needed warmth, care, and good food had been provided. A sweet girl-baby, only two weeks old, attracted our special attention—sleeping the deep sleep of innocence. Another—a boy of two months, lay near drawing from a bottle the nourishment he required, his bright eyes looked about him with evident satisfaction. The oldest child there is but two years old—the intention being to admit of the very young; and we thought had different the lives of these immortal would be, if trained under such auspices from what they would probably have been if allowed to grow up in the atmosphere of moral pollution which surrounds so many children of their class in the great cities.

That Miss Nivison may succeed in this her chosen work; that a sufficient endowment may be obtained to make the home permanent, and its growth rapid; and that its founder may find her own soul blessed by Him who said "Inasmuch as ye did it unto the least of these * * * ye did it unto me," is our sincere desire.

There are said to be 211 newspapers at present in this State, a gain of twenty over last year.

The Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company has had notices placed in all the depots, forbidding admission to the baggage rooms of any persons not regularly employed there. This is a blow at the young men who have been in the habit of lounging in these places.

Two lighthouses are being constructed for the United States Government at the Phoenix Iron Works in Trenton. They are manufactured of iron, and each piece is placed in position in the yards of the works until the complete lighthouse is erected. The pieces are marked and when the structure is taken down it is to be removed to its location on the coast and erected. The work is of the most particular kind, and the greatest exactness as to fitting has to be exercised.

A diver who has examined the wrecked steamer City of Columbus, reports that she is probably broken in two, and that it would be useless to attempt to raise the vessel.

How? By getting one bottle of BROWN IRON BITTERS, and taking it regularly according to directions.

Mansfield, Ohio, Nov. 26, 1881. Gentlemen:—I have suffered with pain in my side and back, and great soreness of my breast, with shooting pains all through my body, attended with great weakness, depression of spirits, and loss of appetite. I have taken several different medicines, and was treated by prominent physicians for my liver, kidneys, and spleen, but I got no relief. I thought I would try Brown's Iron Bitters; I have now taken one bottle and a half and am about well—pain in side and back all gone—soreness all out of my breast, and I have a good appetite, and am gaining in strength and flesh. 'No, young man, it doesn't hurt you a bit to sow your wild oats. Go ahead, and sow all you wish. But the gathering in of the wheat will make you howl. And you have to gather it, too. If you don't it gathers you in, and one is a great deal worse than the other.'

The story comes from Paris that a lady, who visited four churches in one day, missed her umbrella on returning home. She immediately revisited all four churches, and found her umbrella in the last one. When the umbrella was handed to her she thankfully said to the sexton: 'The people at this church are much more honest than those at the others.'

At a recent private ball in New York a new figure was introduced at the close of the german. The dancers were har-nessed by silken ribbons in groups of three abreast—on one side three ladies driven by a man, and on the other three men driven by a lady—and thus to polka music they danced from one end of the large ball room to the other.

Some years ago Governor Robinson, of Massachusetts, was asked by a per-sonal friend who did not get on at all of his post of private secretaryship. He is reported to have replied: 'I think too much of my boy to start him riding before he is a sufficient useful creature in life. Besides, I do not intend to fit out my family with officers.'

A writer says he once witnessed a display of drunkenness among three hundred pigs, which had been given a barrel of spoiled corn with a quart of their swill. They rolled over each other and grunted affectionately in tones that were distinctly expressive of wear-ing good fellowship all around. But the fact that they threw up their hats and hurrah for the 'old ticker,' and yell 'the Republican party must go!' shows that they had not lost all sense of decency.

Some amusing instances of blundering on the part of the Turkish censorship are reported from Constantinople. When it is feared that some secret scandal may be made public by the press, a full account of the scandal is written out and communicated to the newspaper editors, who are, at the same time requested not to say anything about it. As they cannot be prevented from sending the proscribed news abroad, it ends by becoming known all over Europe; and this is not what happened in the case of a soldier's marriage, which was on guard at the Sultan's Palace. Full particulars were given to the papers, together with a caution not to mention them. The news is now tele-graphed all over Europe, where, but for the officiousness of the censorship, it would scarcely have excited attention.

There is an amusing story of Miss Louisa M. Alcott in circulation just now. It declares that the popular au-thor one day walked into a bookeller's shop and asked for something entertain-ing to read, and rather domestic and ap-proximately. Thereupon the clerk on her 'Little Women' readily recom-mended it, saying lightly that it was the last book she thought she would like to read. The clerk depicted the point with unnecessary scintillating and Miss Alcott, still despondent, held the point again, this obstinate youth, who was very much in love with Miss Alcott's famous story. Finally, the salesman walked off, leaving Miss Alcott turning over the pile of books resolutely, and consulted the proprietor about 'that w man up there, who didn't know what she wanted.' The employer enlighten-ed the young man could not face the idea of meeting the lady again, and slipped out by the rear door. All of which may be true and may not.

The Reply to the Letter.

The Letter.

MR. JOHN WANAMAKER,

Dear Sir:

I shall have to furnish a house throughout in the course of a couple of months, and desire to know if I can save anything by making my purchases now at the Great Reduction Sale, and if you will store the goods for me until the house is ready.

Yours,

TOWN, Jan. 16, 1884.

MR.

Dear Sir:

In reply to your letter, you can undoubtedly save considerable in making your purchases at our present Great Reduction Sale. We avoid sensations in business, and for six years have not advertised a special sale, but having in view some plans of reorganiza-tion, we threw almost our entire stock upon the market at modified prices, to encourage doubly rapid sales. People generally are quick to perceive manifest advantages, and have promptly sized great lots of our Blankets, Household Linens, Lace, Silks, and House-furnishings.

We did not buy ten thousand dollars of "jobs" to make baits for a sale, but simply reduced and offered nearly two millions of dollars of the regular goods, such as we always expect to keep for customers who depend upon us. Several hundred thousand dollars worth have been sold, but there are great quantities being brought out of our reserve stocks daily. You should make your selections for present or near future wants without delay, and we will box up and store the goods for you till your house is in readiness.

Yours truly,

[Signed] JOHN WANAMAKER.

THE FRONT GATE. An old and crippled gate and I. And twenty years have passed Since I was swung up high and dry. Bewixt these posts so fast, And now I've grown to be a weak— Decried by man and beast— I'm scarcely strong enough to squeak. Although I'm never greased.

'Twas twenty years ago I saw. What brought you to this place?— 'Cause I had hanging round my way 'Meat every other night. He hung upon my board as dead. And she upon the wall— 'Till Susan Smith peaced his bride, And in due time another.

I groined intensely when I heard— 'Deplete I am no more!— My good brother's single word— 'The baby was a girl. And as she grew and grew and grew, I could becom my fate— For she was very fit to view, And I— I was a gate!

There in due time I ever came, 'Brokeking my man— A dapper fellow, thin by name, 'The grown-up baby woot! They swung me in the room, 'And talked of maps and stars— 'They'd married me, and live at home, Along with an old man.

My lot was happy for a year— 'No counting neither days— 'I had no thoughts, I had no fear 'Bad luck would come my way, But oh! this morning— save the mark, 'Tropic came a wild surpise; 'A shadow flitted— grim and dark— Across my sunny skies.

A doctor, with a knowing smile— 'A nurse with face serene— 'A battle in the house the while; 'Great Scott! what can it mean? My hinges seize— my tick is weak. My pickets are a pit— 'I hear that awful doctor speak— 'It is another trial!
