TUTT'S EXPECTORANT

Is composed of Herbal and Mucilaginous products, which permeate the substance of the Lungs, expectorate the acid matter that collects in the Bronchial Tubes, and forms a soothing coating, which relieves the irritation that causes the cough. It cleanses the lungs of all impurities, strengthens them when enfeebled by disease, invigorates the circulation of the blood, and braces the nervous system. Slight colds often end in consumption. It is dangerous to neglect them. Apply the remedy promptly. A test of twenty years warrants the assertion that no remedy has ever been found that is as prompt in its effects as TUTT'S EXPECTORANT. A single dose raises the phlegm, subdues inflammation, and its use specially cures the most obstinate cough. A pleasant cordial, children take it readily. For Croup it is invaluable and should be in every family. In 25c. and $1 Bottles.

TUTT'S PILLS

ACT DIRECTLY ON THE LIVER. Cures Chills and Fever, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Bilious Colic, Constipation, Rheumatism, Piles, Palpitation of the Heart, Dizziness, Torpid Liver, and Female Irregularities. If you do not "feel very well," a single pill stimulates the stomach, restores the appetite, imparts vigor to the system.

A NOTED DIVINE SAYS:
Dr. Tutt:—Dear Sir: For ten years I have been a martyr to Dyspepsia, Constipation and Piles. Last spring your pills were recommended to me; I used them (but with little faith). I am now a well man, have good appetite, digestion perfect, regular stools, piles gone, and I have gained forty pounds solid flesh. They are worth their weight in gold.

MR. EDITOR:—Under the auspices of the ladies' aid society of the Progressive Spiritualist's Association of Hammonton, Mr. M. Parkhurst, on the occurrence of his fiftieth birthday, Thursday, Jan. 27th, 1887, received an astonishing but very pleasant surprise partly from his neighbors and friends, who began arriving about two o'clock P. M., making thirty ladies and gentlemen who, as they came poured a continuous stream of congratulations upon him and his most amiable lady, on the happy occasion of their visit. After spending the afternoon most agreeably, the ladies at seven o'clock spread the tables with a bounteous repast which they had brought with them, until there was no room for more. A more inviting feast has seldom been seen on such an occasion. There was a great profusion of the most excellent biscuits, butter, pies, fruit, tea and coffee, and cakes, cakes, &c. Among them the birthday cake presented by Mrs. Darling, was the central figure of the table. After all had satisfied their appetites in this direction, excellent singing caused a flow of soul that made the evening hilarious, to which some of the dear ones gone before, being present, gave the assembled company great pleasure by words of cheer and encouragement, to which on being called upon, the president of the association (our host) responded in a short but eloquent address, closing by thanking his guests for their kindness and good will, bidding them good speed on the journey of life. At half-past nine, all adjourned for home, feeling that it was good to have been there. ONE WHO WAS PRESENT.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT.

Happiness grows about the fireside, and is not to be picked up in strangers' gardens.

The moment a man is satisfied with himself everybody else is dissatisfied with him.

We are often more agreeable through our faults than we are through our good qualities.

Whatever is, is right, if only men are steadily bent to make it so by fulfilling its design.

All men think well of themselves, but some of them have a queer way of manifesting it.

Evil ministers of good things are like torches—a light to others, a waste to themselves only.

Abstain from wrath. Let a man keep in subjection in his speech, his arm and his appetite.

Whoever will not in his turn serve those who serve him will go under, and as in the small so in the great.

I am that which has been, that is, which will be; and no one has yet lifted the veil which covers me.

Who is the great man? He who is stronger in the exercising of patience, he who patiently endures injury.

Bread is the staff of life and liquor the slits—the former sustaining a man, the latter elevating him for a fall.

An opportunity is like a pin in the sleeping; you catch sight of it just as it flies away from you and gets buried again.

Believe, and if thy faith be right, that insight which gradually transmutes faith into knowledge will be the reward of the belief.

The power of persistence, of enduring defeat, and of gaining victory by defeat, is one of the forces which never loses its charm.

Allegiance to a church secures unity, but it sacrifices liberty. Allegiance to a creed secures independence, but it sacrifices unity.

We should round every day of stirring action with an evening of thought. We are taught nothing by experience unless we muse upon it.

What we say in secret is known to him who made our interior nature, and it is present with us, although we are alone.

If it is a small sacrifice to discontinue the use of wine, do it for the sake of others; if it is a great sacrifice, do it for yourself.

The way to conquer men is by their passions; catch but the ruling faculty of their hearts and all their boasted virtues shrink before you.

Nothing does so fool a man as extreme reasons. They do make them fools which otherwise are not, and show them to be fools that are not.

A beautiful smile is to the female countenance what the sunbeam is to the landscape; it embellishes an inferior face and redeems an ugly one.

It is justice to forget all the kindness done us by those with whom we live, for a little pain, which, after all, may have been unintentional.

Alas! if the principles are not within us, the height of station and worldly grandeur will as soon add a cubic to a man's stature as to his happiness.

Memory can guard but can never rest. It brings us joys faint as is the perfume of the flowers, faded and dried, of the summer that is gone.

It doesn't need a plot and set scenes to make a play; the chance, ground and conversation is a scene, and everybody—but Shakespeare said the rest long ago.

HOW TO DRESS.

Colors Should be Made to Suit Complexions.

"What ought a black-haired woman to wear?" asked a newspaper man of an artist.

"What?" he replied, "it depends upon the type. The majority of black-haired women have black eyes and a sallow complexion. I think, on the whole, they look best in black—say black lace, with some white lace at the throat.

Now, if a black-haired woman has a pale skin and blue eyes, she can wear almost anything that is, except yellow and green. Blues and reds are particularly becoming to her, and she looks well in blue-white, which is trying to most people, and is only venturing on with absolute safety by rosy, blue-eyed, fair-haired blondes, who are known to our profession as 'cool blondes.'

"The 'cool' blonde is a privileged person. She can wear all those pure colors in which other women dare not venture, and in which no other type can equal her. She looks well in pale green, cool gray, heliotrope purple and cold blues. She ought never to wear red, brown, yellow or cream white.

"What about brown hair? Oh, there are so many brown-haired types. Sometimes one sees brown black hair, with steel gray eyes and fair skin, with a brilliant complexion. Women of that type can wear green and blues of all shades and every sort of purple. They also look well in brown and reds and frisks and grays. They should avoid old gold and all to subtle tones, such as mauve. A woman with lighter brown hair and blue or gray eyes looks well in brown or fawn color relieved by pink. Dark blue is also becoming to her.

With brown hair, warm colors of that type can wear green and blues of all shades and every sort of purple. They also look well in brown and reds and frisks and grays. PERSIAN BARBERS.

The Varied Operations Which are Carried on in Their Shops.

In Persia the barber shaves the heads of his customers, dyes their beards, pulls their teeth, cups and bleeds them when ailing, sets their broken bones, and shampoos their bodies.

Dr. Willis, an English physician, who resided in Persia for many years, being attached to the overland telegraph, was invited by Hassal, his barber, to visit his shop and see him at work.

He went, against the remonstrances of his servant who insisted that the barber would say that the English physician had called to learn him how to practice surgery and medicine.

The shop was a little square room, with one side open to the street. In the center was a tiny bed of flowers sunk in the floor, from the middle of which rose an octagonal stone column a yard high.

The capital of the column formed a receptacle for the water in which the barber dipped his hand as he shaved his customer's scalp. In Persia they do not bathe.

On the earthen platform, outside of the shop, sat a burly man, whose long beard was being dyed an orange color. It was full of yellow mud (the lienna in a paste), and bound up with cabbage-leaves to prevent too rapid evaporation.

The shop was very clean. On two recesses were displayed four vases filled with flowers, and the implements of the barber's art, scissors, razors, lancets, hand-mirrors, large pinners to extract teeth, branding-irons to cauterize the arteries in computing limbs, strong combs; but not a hair-brush, for that implement is never used by Persians.

From the barber's girdle hung a round copper water-bottle, his strap and a pouch to hold his instruments. In his bosom was a small mirror, the presentation of which to his customer is a sign that the job is finished, and that the barber waits for his pay.

Customers came to submit their heads to the barber's hands, and to have their paralyzed arms shampooed. When served, they remained to smoke and gossip.

Others called to be bled; they were taken outside so that the blood might flow into the gutter. One man, suffering from the toothache, was operated upon for fifteen or twenty minutes. After three pulls, a large piece of the tooth came out.

"Ah!" exclaimed the barber, "that's the piece in which the pain was!" A sufferer from rheumatism appeared. The barber heated a small iron, the patient lay down, and after invoking Mohammed and the saints, was burnt three times on the loins.

When the English physician, having seen all that was to be seen, reached his home, Malek upbraided him.

"Sahib! I said it! I knew it! That dog may the graves of seven generations be his! He has seen all that was to be seen, reached his home, Malek upbraided him.

John H. McCarty's brown mare Anniversary—record 2:34—died at Lexington, Ky., from pneumonia.

Conemara is now apparently all right. The reports of her sickness were exaggerated. Mr. O'Reilly says.

A 2-year-old brother to Ormonde will make his appearance this year in the Duke of Westminster's colors.

John Porter, the English trainer, sent forty-eight horses in training, including two belonging to the Prince of Wales, fifteen to the Duke of Westminster, thirteen to Lord Alington and the property of the remainder to the Earl of Portsmouth, Colonel Williams, John Grettton, Captain C. Bowling, W. Low and J. T. Mackenzie.

Foxhill's double victory in the Great Eastern Cup is still fresh in the memory, and yet calamity seems to have attended all who were mixed up with the horse. One of his jockeys broke his neck, and another broke his leg.

The English brood mare Vex was recently the victim of a singular accident. While in the stable a large elm tree fell on her box, and the mare was killed.

James McCornick's string at Brighton the other day, and it is said that W. L. Scott will continue to send some of his best to the stud.

UNDER SUSPICION.

Something very unusual to quiet Tammy had happened and Tammy was decidedly uncomfortable about it.

Of course everybody knew, as everybody knew everything, that Tammy had been a neighbor was a friend, each friend a brother; and what the village folk knew was this—the miller, old Harvey Jameson, had been robbed.

DR. JOHN BULL'S Smith's Tonic Syrup

FOR THE CURE OF FEVER and ACUE

Or CHILLS and FEVER, AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued. In smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of BULL'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient.

BULL'S SARSAPARILLA is the old and reliable remedy for impurities of the blood and venereal affections.

New York Tribune.

While the NEW YORK WEEKLY TRIBUNE is the most expensive publication of its class in the United States, nevertheless its price is now fixed at $1 a year, the semi-weekly at $2; in both cases an extra copy with a club of ten.

The campaign just closed found the country in the trough of the political waves. The Republican managers have made the best struggle they could against a state of general apathy. In a few states they have been aided by the inspiring presence of a great leader whose speeches have awakened almost the only enthusiasm anywhere shown. The result of the campaign is gratifying; its gains are an inspiration; the Democratic losses are a plain guide to popular drift. From this time forward the country will feel the lift of the advancing wave of 1888, which, if we all do our duty, will sweep out from Washington the magnanimity now in possession, the first protection, equality and patriotic government. It is now the duty of all earnest and experienced workers to bend their energies toward united and hearty work for 1888. The party is to be consolidated, cheered, and rallied. To this work the TRIBUNE pledges its zealous efforts.

The Tribune offers for 1887 several excellent premiums, including THE TRIBUNE

Book of Open Air Sports.

A work compiled by the Tribune, especially for the young men of the United States. It is a thorough statement of the present status of open-air athletic amusement in America, with suggestions to beginners, the rules of some, results of noted contests, and achievements of American champions. The book will contain about 100 illustrations. Chapters are provided on Archery, Baseball with record of wonderful playing and League and Association contests, and instruction how to curve a ball; Court Tennis, Lawn Tennis, Football, Cricket, Lacrosse, Hockey, Horsemanship, Gun Country, Hunting, Shooting, with a discussion of Sheep and Cattle and instruction how to design, build, and sail a boat; Rowing, Canoeing, Fishing, Trapping, Swimming, Hunting with hot gun and rifle, Camping out, Winter Sports, Bicycling, Amateur Photography, and a few minor sports.

Among the contributors are Wm. B. Black, Maurice Thompson, Capt. Jacob A. Auger, Cavalry Instructor at West Point, David Kirby, Thomas Clapham, Gen. Geo. W. Wingate, Prof. Geo. Goldie, Director of the New York Athletic Club; and a large number of private gentlemen throughout the country have furnished facts concerning the rules and regulations of sports of their several localities. No book of this character has ever been put into print in America. It is sufficiently elemental to be a "Boy's Own Book," and answer all the purposes of our manly youth, and yet will also meet the demands of adults. Will be ready for delivery Dec. 1st. Octavo, 500 pages. Retail price, $2.50. Terms, postage paid: with Weekly, one year, $2.50; with Semi-weekly, one year, $3.50; with Daily, $10.00. Only to be had in connection with yearly subscriptions to the TRIBUNE.

Also "Blunt's Rifle Practice," a book for every hunter and National Guardsman; a fine Waltham Watch; the low-priced Waterbury Watch; the two Unqualified Dictionaries; Wood's Medicine, Hygiene and Surgery Illustrated; and Young's Concordance of the Bible.

Sample copy, giving terms in full, sent free. Order by postal card.

There is some curiosity to know why the Knights of Labor have asked the President to veto the Interstate bill. The reason is said to be a belief that if the bill becomes a law the railroads will be operated to such an extent under Government influences that a strike will quickly run into the form of resisting the general Government.
