The child that enters life comes not with knowledge or intent;
So those who enter death must go as little children sent.
Nothing is known, but I believe that God is overhead;
And as life is to the living, so death is to the dead.
MARY MAPES DODGE.

And as the new-born mortal receives such tender care,
So he who trusts in Jesus is welcomed oyer there.
And as the loving mother bestows the first warm kiss,
So are greeted the redeemed in a better world than this.

PISO'S CURE FOR CONSUMPTION

The Republican.

(Entered as second-class matter.)
SATURDAY, MARCH 28, 1891.

The Mirror of last week contains a communication in reply to a paragraph published in the REPUBLICAN last January. Like every other free-trade article that has come to our notice, this is a mass of theories, not borne out by experience.

As examples of the real results of the new tariff bill we will mention that the May's Landing mill has just put in thirty-two new power looms—making 420 in that establishment—and all busy. Take this paragraph from Bradstreet's of Feb. 21st:

Since the first of the year it has been reported that a woolen mill has been projected at Rosedale, Kan.; the Commercial Club of Albuquerque, N. M., is negotiating with woolen manufacturers to induce them to locate there; the new Minnesota Woolen Mills are being equipped as rapidly as possible; there is a probability that a woolen mill will be built at Bolton, Tex.; at Mansfield, Tex., the ground has been purchased for a mill and work on its construction is to begin soon; at San Antonio a company is said to be organizing for wool manufacturing; at Greenville, Tenn., the establishment of a woolen plant is receiving serious attention; and woolen mills are to be erected at Christown, W. Va., and Jacksonville, Fla.

If the Mirror's writer will be equally prompt this time, he may be able to notice these facts about the Fourth of July next.

The New Jersey Legislature adjourned last Friday. The session lasted nominally two weeks; but, counting by days, the Senate, at least, was in session not over eighteen days. During that time there was an immense amount of work done. But such work! Saints and angels deliver us from another ten weeks of such a conglomeration of heterogeneous enactments as the next pamphlet law-book will reveal!

Many of these new laws were introduced and passed without printing—rushed through with a shout—many members not knowing their own exact position on their previous acts. There is no copy of these bills in existence except the one prepared for introduction, and not one-half of the members would know the difference if the engrossing clerks should materially change their form and provisions. One who was there has informed us that the running expenses of our state were increased, by this Legislature, at least one hundred thousand dollars per year. Can it be true? No one knows, unless it be the one who signs the bills; and he will never tell. Well, says our Democratic neighbor, what are you going to do about it? Sure enough! It is a problem for future consideration,—to be answered in November next. If a majority of the voters in the state are satisfied we shall be compelled to submit, if not.

Every industry in a nation is interwoven with each other industry. All industries are interdependent. It is a maxim of political economy that every man's income is derived in part from the income of every other man in the community. An injury to one industry, therefore, is an injury to all. That which lessens the prosperity of one lessens in a greater or lesser degree the prosperity of all. Hence, no man has a moral right to bring into this country, in competition with the products of home industry, any article that is or can be manufactured here with no more effort than is required to manufacture it elsewhere. This is the fundamental principle on which a Protective Tariff is based.

If the Legislature had held out two weeks longer a bill would most likely have been passed discharging all criminals in the State Prison of Republican faith, if any are there; as there is no room in any state institution at Trenton for Republicans.

Nature never pretends. Time stands close to eternity. Faith without works is dead.

He who does nothing is very near doing nothing. Religion and money will overcome the devil.

Tolerance is the only real test of civilization. A man never forgives those who catch him in a lie.

Most people seek the deep slumber of a decided opinion. The man who gets there doesn't have to go around telling it.

The only way to make a man do right is to make him want to. It's a y made of scraps. Lies are made from bits of cloth.

The man of genius may be a guide, but the man of talents will be a leader. Pride can come nearer making a fool than a wise man.

Next to the virtues, the fun in this world is what we least can spare. Great hearts alone understand how much glory there is in being good.

Borrowing trouble is the easiest way of getting that which does not belong to you. The extreme sense of perfection in some men is the greatest obstacle to their success.

Sulphur and brimstone are on the free list, so is salvation. Now take your choice. Much as a man admires the truth, he prefers to have it told about some other fellow.

Turn your back on borrowed trouble, and you will be better prepared to face the real. The men who hold up trains for robbery should themselves be held up for example.

The successful man can never forget how he made money but his children can. Tramps never have to inquire their way. With them all roads lead to road.

We must first often consider, not what the wise think, but what the foolish will say. The reward of one duty done is the power to fulfill another.

The fear of being called a coward makes lots of cowards act like brave men. This astonishing how soon the whole conscience begins to rave if a single stitch is dropped.

The sudden death of a friend of his own age has a greater effect on a man than 1000 sermons. The world is getting on towards 6 o'clock in the morning, instead of 6 o'clock in the evening.

There is one thing a woman can never do—she can't make a man tell where he has been. Ideas are like beads; men have them never till they're grown up—and women scarcely ever.

When a man gives to us good as his word, what can you expect. The rich man cannot enter the kingdom of heaven and the poor man does not seem to be at all anxious to.

He who has not an enemy on earth cannot show a friend that will stick to him through thick and thin. There never was a man so worthless that his wife did not think other women were trying to steal him.

Happiness is not only the choicest possession, but the cheapest; it costs nothing, if you only think so. How many people there are who only go into society for the purpose of telling over their aches and pains.

You can pick out a dozen people in every community who would demoralize heaven in less than a week. Just as soon as a man's head gets above the level of mediocrity, a crowd of high-kickers begin reaching for it.

When you find two men in the same business who claim to be friends, you have two more hypocrites. There probably never was a man so good that he did not hope in his heart that his successor would be a failure.

Sévon Thrifty Elephants and How They Quenched Their Thirst.

One day a circus and menagerie train halted at the railway station on its way through a town. Of course there was great curiosity among the railroad men to inspect this queer special train; and among others the engineer and the fireman of one of the locomotives in the yard left their posts for a short time to see the different menagerie cars.

The train halted and water was ready to move their locomotive, they noticed that the cover of the water-tank was open. Further, they luckily discovered that the tank was nearly empty—although it had been full to the brim when they left it.

Such an extraordinary thing had never happened before! No wonder there was great surprise on all sides; curiosity knew no bounds. All when the men had left it; in fact, some of the "hands" had seen it filled, neither was there a leak in it, and yet, the tank was empty. The question was, where had the water gone?

Sévon thrifty elephants, shut up all day and all night in a car that gave them hardly room to move; their warm bodies fairly touching one another, a paltry allowance of water to quench their thirst, and to be left standing on the hot railroad track, the sun's rays pouring down upon the roof of the car, and with only such air as could come through the small open windows!

When the water was all gone, when the men had left it, in fact, some of the "hands" had seen it filled, neither was there a leak in it, and yet, the tank was empty. The question was, where had the water gone?

Such an extraordinary thing had never happened before! No wonder there was great surprise on all sides; curiosity knew no bounds. All when the men had left it; in fact, some of the "hands" had seen it filled, neither was there a leak in it, and yet, the tank was empty.

A Poet's Venerable Aged.

"I saw and talked with Tenyson recently," writes an English friend to me. "It was at the annual flower show at Hazlemere, Surrey, and the poet had been prevailed upon to allow his seclusion for the botanical display. It was his first public appearance since his illness, and I had not seen him for six months. That the poet-lane is rapidly ageing I saw at a glance, and this became more impressed upon me during our brief conversation.

He was very long the Tenyson of a year ago; talk meek and distant to him, and references to persons very close to him in friendship, which formerly enlisted his interest, seemed to meet with but little response. In his walk he shuffled heavily, and the cane that he once carried as a companion to idly swing in moments of thought had become almost a staff. He told me his health was good, but his general appearance scarcely verified his statement. The strong aroma of a pipe, carelessly jammed into one of his coat pockets, was about the only thing that suggested to me the Tenyson of old.

These things I related to the young only when they are related in detail, with simplicity and truth. By and by they will want history of another kind, which will relate few stories, pass lightly over most wars, and dwell only upon events which affected the lot of the people permanently. Boys and girls want to know what has happened when he was captured, and how thick the ropes were with which Farragut tied himself to the rigging. Such facts are the vehicle through which more important truths find lodgment in the young mind.

After all, our boys and girls are already very patriotic. What they now need is to be taught the duties we all owe to our country, so as to keep it pure and good—Youth's Companion.

Medical men are interested over a report of an unusually large fee received by a prominent nervous specialist, says the Philadelphia Times. The story goes that H. B. Plankinton, who is one of Phil Armour's partners and a resident in Milwaukee, recently took sick and wanted the Philadelphia physician to diagnose his case. His family, therefore, wrote to the doctor, asking him to come to Milwaukee to treat the pork-packer.

They received rather a curt reply in the negative, but nothing daunted, they wrote again, saying that money would be paid for the cure, and only come. The specialist hated to leave home, so by way of discouraging them he wrote to the family of the pork-packer, telling them that they would have to pay him at least $10,000 before he would consent to make the trip to the Brewery City. Much to his surprise he got a telegram telling him to come on. It is hardly necessary to say that he went, and equally unnecessary to add that he got the $10,000.

A Russian paper no es the termination recently of a lawsuit begun in 1899 or 20 years ago. The litigation was over a forty-acre tract of uncultivated land, has been handed down through numberless generations, and curiously enough has been finally settled by peaceful arbitration. This protracted litigation, as well as the satisfactory manner of its termination, reminds of the celebrated case described by Habelais, in which Pantagruel acted as umpire. This classic lawsuit had lasted many years between two French nobles.

An innumerable law papers had been prepared on both sides, and all the courts had been gone through, with the result of utter befogging and mystifying the claims of both parties. The umpire above mentioned being appealed to agreed to decide the matter provided that all the papers and documents should first be burned up, and the claimants then should plead their own cause personally before him. As, owing to the lapse of time, he had both forgotten altogether what was the origin of the controversy, their respective arguments were made up of blind and incoherent repetitions of such of the legal jargon as they could recollect from reading the documents drawn up by their lawyers.

Therefore, Pantagruel gave his decision in language equally intelligible to the pleaders' statements. Both parties were fully content with the incomprehensible sentence he passed, neither of them seeing anything in it to make him think he had lost his cause. When this satire of Habelais was published, somewhere about 1554, the Russian lawsuit had already been progressing over fifty years.—American Analyst.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON.

SUNDAY, MARCH 18. FIRST QUARTERLY REVIEW HOME READINGS.

TITLES AND GOLDEN TEXTS. GOLDEN TEXT FOR THE QUARTER: Godliness is profitable unto all things. 1 Tim. 4: 8.

II. IDOLATRY IN ISRAEL. Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image.—Exod. 20: 4.

III. GOD'S CARE OF ELIJAH. They that seek the Lord shall not want any good thing.—Psa. 34: 10.

IV. ELIJAH AND THE PROPHETS OF BAAK. How long halt ye between two opinions? If the Lord be God, follow him.—1 Kings 18: 21.

V. ELIJAH AT HOREB. Fear not, for I am with thee, and will bless thee.—Gen. 26: 24.

VI. AHAH'S COVETOUSNESS. Take heed, and beware of covetousness.—Luke 12: 15.

VII. ELIJAH TAKEN TO HEAVEN. And Enoch walked with God; and he was not, for God took him.—Gen. 5: 24.

VIII. ELIJAH'S SUCCESSOR. Not by might, nor by power, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord of hosts.—Zech. 4: 6.

IX. THE SHUNAMITE'S SON. The Father raiseth up the dead, and quickeneth them.—John 5: 21.

X. NAAMAN HEALED. Who forgiveth all thine iniquities; who heareth all thy diseases.—Psa. 103: 3.

XI. GEHAI PUNISHED. Be sure your sin will find you out.—Num. 32: 23.

XII. ELISHA'S DEFENDERS. Fear not, for they that be with us are more than they that be with them.—2 Kings 6: 16.

REVIEW BIBLE LIGHTS. Lesson 1.—Superintendent: And when all Israel saw that the king heard not unto them, the people answered unto the king, saying, What portion have we in David? neither have we inheritance in the son of Jesse: to your tents, O Israel; now see to thine own house, David. So Israel departed unto their tents (1 Kings 12: 16).

Scholars: The father raiseth up the dead, and quickeneth them (John 5: 21). Teachers: All that are in the tombs shall hear the voice of the Son of man, and they that hear shall live (John 5: 28, 29).

All: Some to everlasting life, and some to shame and everlasting contempt (Dan. 12: 2). Lesson 10.—Superintendent: My father, if the prophet had bid thee do some great thing, wouldst thou not have done it? how saith he, rather than when he saith to thee, Walk, and be clean? Then went he down, and dipped himself seven times in Jordan, according to the saying of the man of God; and his flesh came again like unto the flesh of a child, and he was clean (2 Kings 6: 13, 14).

Scholars: Who forgiveth all thine iniquities; who heareth all thy diseases (Psa. 103: 3). Teachers: Though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; and though they be like crimson, they shall be as wool (Isa. 1: 18).

All: Wash me, and I shall be whiter than snow (Psa. 51: 7). Lesson 11.—Superintendent: And Elisha said unto him, Whence comest thou, Gehazi? And he said, I went out to buy victuals with thee, when the man turned again from his chariot to meet thee. The leprous therefore of Naaman shall cleave unto thee, and unto thy seed for ever. And he went out from his presence a leper as white as snow (2 Kings 5: 1-7).

Scholars: Be sure your sin will find you out (Num. 32: 23). Teachers: There is nothing covered up, that shall not be revealed; and hid, that shall not be known (Luke 12: 2). All: Give us this day our daily bread (Matt. 6: 11).

Teachers: If God be for us...

All: If thy presence go not with me, carry it not up hence (Exod. 33: 15).

Lesson 6.—Superintendent: And Ahab came into his house heavy and displeased because of his word which Elisha had spoken unto him: for he said, I will not give thee the inheritance of my fathers. And he laid him down upon his bed, and he died (1 Kings 22: 40).

Scholars: Take heed, and beware of covetousness (Luke 12: 15). Teachers: Be content with such things as ye have (1 Cor. 7: 6).

All: Godliness with contentment is great gain (1 Tim. 6: 6). Lesson 7.—Superintendent: And it came to pass, as they still went on, and talked, that behold, there appeared unto them a chariot of fire, and horses which parted them both asunder; and Elijah went up by a whirlwind into heaven (2 Kings 2: 11).

Scholars: And Enoch walked with God; and he was not, for God took him (Gen. 5: 24). Teachers: Before his translation he hath had witness borne to him, that he had been well-pleasing unto God (Hob 11: 5).

All: And without faith it is impossible to be well-pleasing unto him (Hob 11: 5). Lesson 8.—Superintendent: He took up also the mantle of Elijah that fell from him; and went back, and stood by the bank of Jordan. And he took the mantle of Elijah that fell from him, and smote the water, and said, Where is the Lord? and the God of Elijah? and when he also had smitten the waters, they were divided hither and thither; and Elisha went over (2 Kings 2: 13, 14).

Teachers: Before his translation he hath had witness borne to him, that he had been well-pleasing unto God (Hob 11: 5). All: And without faith it is impossible to be well-pleasing unto him (Hob 11: 5).

Lesson 9.—Superintendent: He took up also the mantle of Elijah that fell from him; and went back, and stood by the bank of Jordan. And he took the mantle of Elijah that fell from him, and smote the water, and said, Where is the Lord? and the God of Elijah? and when he also had smitten the waters, they were divided hither and thither; and Elisha went over (2 Kings 2: 13, 14).

Scholars: The father raiseth up the dead, and quickeneth them (John 5: 21). Teachers: Be strong in the Lord, and in the strength of his mighty (Eph. 3: 10).

All: I can do all things in him that strengtheneth me (Phil. 4: 13). Lesson 9.—Superintendent: Then he returned, and walked in the house once again, and he went out, and stretched himself upon him; and the child sneezed seven times, and the child opened his eyes. And he called Gehazi, and said, Call the Shunammite. So he called her, and she came, and she was in unto him, he said, Take up thy son (2 Kings 4: 35, 36).

Nowadays all the epharites wear silk night-gowns, and they are far from expensive, for two or three dollars will buy a pair. There is no annoyance from the constant repairs that are necessary to keep the lace and muslin robes in trim. One of the newest night-dresses is of white silk, with very fine lace around the neck and wrists. The top is gathered and has three or four rows on each side; these are all fastened by feather stitch in red silk.

The collar is "sailor" shape, with a monogram on the center. The initial embroidered in silk at one corner; and the collar is a small oravat of plain white silk, leather stitched in red. The sleeves are full on the shoulder, with three rows of lace, and the cuffs are gathered from the center, and similar to those set at the wrist, under a cuff to correspond with the collar.

For gowns of the finest, sheerest lawn, the prevailing style of decoration consists of narrow lines, through which baby ribbon is threaded. Broad collars, frilled with exquisite fine laces gathered very full, turn round to the shoulders, and wide cuffs of the same fold back to the elbows, being tied with broad ribbons of the same shade as the narrow in the insertion. These gowns open the entire length beneath the lace frill, and another fall of lace covers the hem at the bottom. About the neck, broad ribbons are run through the insertion to gather the fulness slightly, without confining it to the figure, and to tie in the mountain was full of horses and chariots of fire round about Elisha (2 Kings 6: 17).

Scholars: Fear not; for they that be with us are more than they that be with them (2 Kings 6: 17). Teachers: The angels of the Lord compasseth round about them that fear him, and deliver them from all perils (Psa. 34: 7).

All: O keep my soul, and deliver me (Psa. 25: 20). Manufacturers are beginning to introduce electricity into their factories as a motive power by subdividing it into units.

A very extensive domestic industry in Russia consists of the manufacture of wooden spoons, which are made to the extent of 300,000,000 annually, mostly in the province of Novgorod.

The average pulse in infancy is one hundred and twenty a minute; in childhood, eighty; at sixty years, sixty. The pulse of females is more frequent than that of males.

The production of metal aluminum by electrolysis at a cost little above that of tin is what some French chemists are sanguine of being able to accomplish.

FASHIONS.

DAINTY ROBES-DE-NUIT.

"History relates, says the New York Sun, that Princess Mary, who was wedded in 1749, had a bridal night gown of fine muslin, which was trimmed with three rows of braid, as are the short sleeves which ornament the front of the bodice. The sleeves, at the wrist, the straight collar and the centre of the bodice and neck collar are ornamented with braided designs. Hat of gray felt with cluster of ostrich tips.

No. 925. WALKING COSTUME. Our first model illustrates a cloth costume. The straight, round skirt is pleated in the back, plain in front and ornamented across the foot with braided design. The plain, pointed bodice has a deep collar having added which is trimmed with three rows of braid, as are the short sleeves which ornament the front of the bodice. The sleeves, at the wrist, the straight collar and the centre of the bodice and neck collar are ornamented with braided designs. Hat of gray felt with cluster of ostrich tips.

No. 926. Our second model is a reception dress of plain and figured silver-gray satin. The front of the skirt is slightly draped in the plain material and trimmed with a deep flounce of black lace pleated at intervals, the pleats headed with rosettes of lace, and longish bands of silver passementerie. The back of the skirt, slightly trained, is of the figured goods, also the short draped papiers at the sides. The pointed bodice is of the figured satin and trimmed with a draped fichu of black lace, the top is gathered at the bust in a cascade, which extends to the lower edge of the bodice. The upper edge of the fichu is edged with lace which forms a flaring collar.

No. 927. CHILD'S PARTY DRESS. Pale rose-colored, figured foulard and plain foulard combined, are employed in this costume. The pleated skirt is of figured foulard, also the fronts of the bodice. The back of the dress is of plain foulard laid in fine plait. The front of the bodice is draped over a cascade of water-ford, placed on the fitted lining, and is gathered to simulate a round yoke. Pleated, that collar and high shoulder sleeves of plain foulard. Buttons close the sleeves at the wrist. Loose half-belt, crossed in front, of plain foulard.

No. 928. FANCY APRON. This apron is composed of three bands of white China silk five inches wide, with hemstitched hems, connected by two bands of five-inch-wide Valenciennes lace, edged at the bottom with a wide lace frill to match. The top is gathered to a pointed belt of China silk folds, fastened under a lace rosette.

No. 929. RUSSIAN FROCK FOR A CHILD. Four Yards Old. This little frock can be worn by boys and girls, and is made of flannel or cashmere; it can also be made of washing materials. The trimming consists of rows of feather stitching or other fancy stitching, or of narrow braid, or bands of striped material in imitation of braid. The model is of white flannel with fancy stitching in colored silk. The skirt is straight and gathered to an embroidered waistband. The full loose bodice is opened at the waist and neck and is gathered at the right side under a band of embroidery. Straight collar of embroidery; full sleeves with wrist-bands of the same embroidery.

If people worked as hard after a marriage to keep each other as they did before the engagement to win each other, marriage would be more of a success.

Why is it that everyone has something to be ashamed of? The fact that there are no exceptions to the rule would seem to indicate that no one can be wise enough to prepare for tomorrow's evil.

The turn in the long road traveled by most men is usually the turn into the cemetery.

Good manners are the settled medium of social life, as a circle of commercial life returns as equally expected of both; and people will no more advance their civility to a bear than will they their money to a bankrupt.

Not a Silent Partner. "John," said a fond wife as she laid down the paper which she had been reading, "what is a silent partner?"

"A silent partner, my dear, is a member of a firm who takes no active part in its business. The active partner gets the share of the work and gets his share of the profits."

"I see. By the way, isn't marriage a partnership?"

"It undoubtedly is."

"And you are the active partner and I the silent one. You carry on the business for the concern. Where is my share of the profits?"

"Ah! my dear, you are not the silent partner. You talk too much for that."—Boston Courier.

Modern Superstitions About Gems. Possession of numerous large diamonds invites the owner against inciteful wands.

Victim of Confidence.

"As I stood one delicious Spring day on the steps of the Court House at Fargo, Dakota, near North Dakota, a haggard and bay-seedy young man halted up the walk, and pausing in front of me, said:

"Say, mister, I've got $500."

"Yes," I replied, curly, and hardly half in a tone of query.

"Better seek out some of the poor people in the black alleys over yonder," I sneered. "Plenty of places in which to put an over-plus of money. They can spend your $50 for you a sight better than you can."

"Er, huh $50?"

"Yes, or half $50."

"But er hey for money to home on er part er it?"

"Ah?"

"Yaas. Think I'd er better give all er it away?"

"No; not under the circumstances."

"Man said ter me this 'm'lin' that er I'd give 'im $100, 'eed fine me er perdition at $200 er week, sellin' books. 'Think I oughter take er position?"

"Harly."

"Nother man wanted me ter take er ticket er er lot? Sure thing, $500 for $5; but I wanted advice."

"I think you need it badly."

"Couldn't you put me out er a job?"

"No."

He pulled out a roll of $5 bills and counted them carefully.

"Never was in er city afore," he remarked. "Don know how to spend this. How'd you spend it?"

"In various ways. You might get a good suit of clothes, visit the theatre and—"

"Visit the theatre? That's what our preacher says is the doorway way to get into er city. Clothes? I hey clothes, haven't I? I'm not certain. Would you er advise me 'er how more?"

How to Get Through Money.

"We are promised," writes James Payne, in the bibliography of a young gentleman, which is said to be entitled, "How I Got Through $300,000 in Eighteen Months." This is certainly good work, but it does not bear the record. Compared with the good old times when $40,000 used to change hands in St. James Street in a single night, $20,000 a month is a slow rate of getting through money.

Man advised me to get with him and I went. Got in er room, an' he kicked, an' gonked, an' dovmed me, an' took all er my money."

"Served you right," I replied, and stepping over to the desk I told the Police Judge all about the prisoner.

Man was discharged and I loaned him enough to his home.

A Sea on Fire. The shores of the Caspian abound in naphtha springs extending for miles under the sea, the imprisoned gases of this volatile substance often escaping from fissures in its bed, and bubbling up in large volumes to the surface.

The circumstances which give rise to the practice of setting the sea on fire, which is thus described by a modern traveller:

"Hiring a steam barge we put out to sea, and, after a lengthy search, found at last a suitable spot. Our boat having moved round to windward, a sailor threw a bundle of burning fax into the sea, which, as the wind blew, lit the surrounding darkness. No fireworks, no illuminations are to be compared to the sight that presented itself to our gaze. It was as though the sea trembled convulsively, amid thousands of shooting, dancing tongues of flame of prodigious size. Now they emerged from the water, now they disappeared. At one time they seemed to melt away, at another a gust of wind divided them into bright streaks of flame, the foaming, bubbling billows making music to the scene.

"In compliance with the wishes of some of the spectators, our barge was steered toward the flames, and passed right through the midst of them, a somewhat dangerous experiment, as the barge was employed in the transport of naphtha, and was pretty well saturated with the fluid. However, we escaped without accident, and gazed for an hour longer on the unenvied spectacle of a sea on fire."

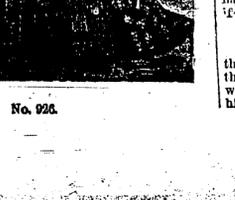

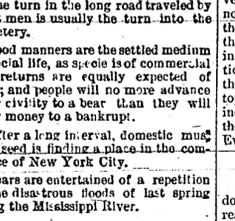

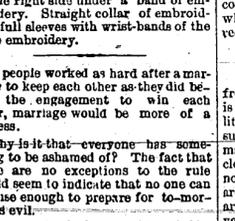

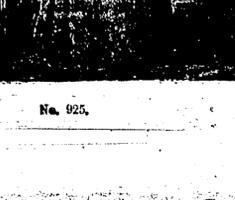

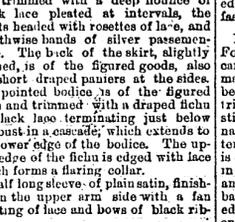

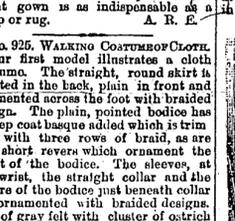

A Precocious Little Shaver. Mr. Wick, of Chelsea, is the father of a very rare infant, of which he and Chelsea can both be proud. The infant's name is Nelly. It is four years old and on Wednesday, bucked by its father, it shaved five men inside of thirty minutes, for a silver medal.

No medal was given to the girl, who even, however, deserved something. This precocious young woman did the job very neatly, with ten minutes to spare, taking about forty minutes to each man. The men were picked out of a very stubby lot.—London Calligrapher.

A Chance for Rectitude. It is a good custom that gives the barber a day of rest every week. Philadelphia is not going backward, but forward, in this particular.
