FOOD FOR THOUGHT

FRUIT OF THE SEA.

A lowering passion often leads to... Stupidity is to the mind what... It takes a smart man to conceal from others what he don't know.

Very Many Deep-sea Fish are Palatable. Fish and the fruit of the sea never tastes so good, raw or cooked, as when fresh caught from the depths of the sea.

the other kind will cause nausea and, perhaps, a very bad illness. The remarks about gulls are applicable also to lobsters which are never good unless they are very fresh.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON. (Luk 6: 27-32. Memory verses 27-31.) Christ's Law of Love. LESSON TEXT: 'Love your enemies...'

That was the son of your Father... Therefore, shall be perfect, as your Father is perfect... 'Your reward shall be great.'

REV. DR. TALMAGE. The Brooklyn Divine's Sunday Sermon. Subject: 'Angels.' 'And the angel did wondrously...'

Men and women of all complexions... 'I have more force than heredity in the construction of that subtle, something we call character...'

For Mothers. 'Strange,' remarked a prominent merchant not long since, 'no one seems to have thought of publishing a magazine for mothers in the interests of children...'

Dr. J. W. Good, professor of clinical surgery, Manitoba Medical College, and physician to the Winnipeg General Hospital, says: 'To the question an diet consisting of meat and water...'

SATURDAY, APRIL 5, 1900.

BY GOD'S DOLE.

The starless night, the shrouding night,
Is pulled from me before,
And God I thank, that in his light
The wings of love I wear.
Where sorrow weeps and bloomless days
Can come to me no more.
For sombre ways and barren days,
For Love untroubled,
Unconcerned with the world's ending days,
That meet the mask of pride,
My feet had led to where the dead
In make the earth by side.
I said that, Jesus died in vain;
That death was the eternal
Of sleep that knew not joy or pain,
Nor any thought that burns;
That bloomless ways, or joyous days
To let me rest return.
But all my pride lies the beside—
A crushed and hidden thing—
And I, who as the Lord denied,
Bring my poor offering.
As I have said that, God's dole
In ways of peace may sing.
W. H. HOFFMAN.
HAMMONTON, N. J., March 31, 1900.

The Ladies' Home Journal is said to have the largest circulation of any magazine in the world, and we are not surprised, for it is most complete in all respects. We give an extract from an editorial in the April number:

While it is perhaps more especially to those upon whose heads rests the glorious crown of womanhood that we appeal in our literature, we do not want to forget the smallest member of your home. For the little tots yet in the early sunrise of their lives, we want to furnish their lullabies which in memory they will carry through their lives. In the molding of their characters, in the unfolding of their lives, in the development of their souls, we ask a share by the counsel we shall gather from every part of this country for the guidance and help of the mother. To the child in whose mind reason has begun away, we want to be part educator. We want to join in their cheerful laugh, their triumphant mirth, and be at their side when their faces are wreathed in childish glee or wet with tears. To the growing sons and daughters of your family, we ask a place as counsellor. We want the girls of our land to excel in every quality of mind and heart that is useful, refined and enabling. We want them to be gentle, and kind, and affectionate. We want the boys to be inspired with the courage that comes of a pure mind and a steady will. We want them to grow up men in every sense of the word, fit companions for true womanhood.

LOCAL MISCELLANY.

G. A. B. Post meeting to-night. Annual land sale for taxes, next Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Dodd and family have rented the Chevalier house. Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Holt have returned to Hammonton.

The demand for houses to rent is increasing. A good sign. Miss Mamie Wood is home from the State Normal school.

Frank Simons is at home, from Cleveland, Ohio, on a visit. Newton C. Holdridge is spending his Easter vacation at home.

George A. Farnham has rented Mrs. Gould's residence, on Cherry St. Workingmen's Loan and Building Association meeting, next Monday evening.

Mr. Marryatt and family, from Rutherford, N. J., reached Hammonton on Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Taylor, of Philadelphia, spent Sunday with friends in Hammonton.

The Spiritualist society celebrated their forty second anniversary, Monday evening, in their hall. Mrs. W. T. Davidson and little daughter, of Atlantic City, have been visiting Mrs. Rutherford.

A. S. Gay spent nearly a week in various parts of Virginia, returning on Wednesday. More lumber? Mr. Elmer Stevens and family expect to return, next Wednesday, to their old home, Stevensville, Pa.

Lukens, Hammonton Baseball Club's pitcher last season, is said to be pitching for the Athletics, Philadelphia, on trial. The annual school examinations will begin on Wednesday, April 19th, to continue five days, stopping Friday, Arbor Day.

Wm. J. Arltz, Jr., received his degree, Wednesday night, at the Hahnemann Medical College Commencement, Philadelphia. Mr. Wm. Johnston and family, of Philadelphia, have rented, and now occupy, Vine Cottage, Central Avenue and Grape Street.

Mrs. E. Keene returned several weeks ago from an extended visit in New England, but we had not met her until last Sunday. One Hammonton family observed "All Fools' Day." At breakfast their boiled eggs were found to be a delusion—nothing but shells.

The last church bell will ring at 7:30 on Sunday evenings. The Baptists have voted to continue the old hour for services—seven o'clock. C. S. Newcomb has received the first shipment of maple sugar and syrup from Cortland County, New York, and placed them on sale in the stores. We have sampled both, and unhesitatingly commend them.

Chas. E. Roberts' horse made a flying trip down the Avenue, Thursday morning, hitched to a postcarder implement used for marking out blackberry cases, the sight and sound of which seemed to terrify him. A young lad, whose name we shall not publish for the present, has been engaged for some time backing and cutting down shade trees. The fine is $10 per tree, with imprisonment, if the case is pushed.

There will be no preaching in the Universalist Church to-morrow. The Sunday School will meet at twelve o'clock, as usual. Mr. Meigs attends the dedication service of a new church in Reading, Penna.

Sneak thieves are getting in fine work rather too frequently for comfort. One man has lost from his wagon three whips, a package of books, and a pair of shoes. These fellows will get hold of something that is loaded, if they don't quit the business.

Mr. Parvin, the iron wagon manufacturer, has moved to Hammonton, bringing his machinery and tools. He has bought land on Washington Street, and will at once erect a building and push business. Welcome, Mr. Parvin; may you live long among us, and continue to prosper.

Mrs. Dodd and family have rented the Chevalier house. Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Holt have returned to Hammonton.

The demand for houses to rent is increasing. A good sign. Miss Mamie Wood is home from the State Normal school.

Frank Simons is at home, from Cleveland, Ohio, on a visit. Newton C. Holdridge is spending his Easter vacation at home.

George A. Farnham has rented Mrs. Gould's residence, on Cherry St. Workingmen's Loan and Building Association meeting, next Monday evening.

Mr. Marryatt and family, from Rutherford, N. J., reached Hammonton on Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Taylor, of Philadelphia, spent Sunday with friends in Hammonton.

The Spiritualist society celebrated their forty second anniversary, Monday evening, in their hall. Mrs. W. T. Davidson and little daughter, of Atlantic City, have been visiting Mrs. Rutherford.

A. S. Gay spent nearly a week in various parts of Virginia, returning on Wednesday. More lumber? Mr. Elmer Stevens and family expect to return, next Wednesday, to their old home, Stevensville, Pa.

Lukens, Hammonton Baseball Club's pitcher last season, is said to be pitching for the Athletics, Philadelphia, on trial. The annual school examinations will begin on Wednesday, April 19th, to continue five days, stopping Friday, Arbor Day.

Wm. J. Arltz, Jr., received his degree, Wednesday night, at the Hahnemann Medical College Commencement, Philadelphia. Mr. Wm. Johnston and family, of Philadelphia, have rented, and now occupy, Vine Cottage, Central Avenue and Grape Street.

Mrs. E. Keene returned several weeks ago from an extended visit in New England, but we had not met her until last Sunday. One Hammonton family observed "All Fools' Day." At breakfast their boiled eggs were found to be a delusion—nothing but shells.

The last church bell will ring at 7:30 on Sunday evenings. The Baptists have voted to continue the old hour for services—seven o'clock. C. S. Newcomb has received the first shipment of maple sugar and syrup from Cortland County, New York, and placed them on sale in the stores. We have sampled both, and unhesitatingly commend them.

Chas. E. Roberts' horse made a flying trip down the Avenue, Thursday morning, hitched to a postcarder implement used for marking out blackberry cases, the sight and sound of which seemed to terrify him. A young lad, whose name we shall not publish for the present, has been engaged for some time backing and cutting down shade trees. The fine is $10 per tree, with imprisonment, if the case is pushed.

There will be no preaching in the Universalist Church to-morrow. The Sunday School will meet at twelve o'clock, as usual. Mr. Meigs attends the dedication service of a new church in Reading, Penna.

Sneak thieves are getting in fine work rather too frequently for comfort. One man has lost from his wagon three whips, a package of books, and a pair of shoes. These fellows will get hold of something that is loaded, if they don't quit the business.

Mr. Parvin, the iron wagon manufacturer, has moved to Hammonton, bringing his machinery and tools. He has bought land on Washington Street, and will at once erect a building and push business. Welcome, Mr. Parvin; may you live long among us, and continue to prosper.
