ELVINS & ROBERTS HAMMONTON, N. J.

We want to just mention a few additions to stock this week, although we feel we are stealing time from other details of the business in order to do so; for, to tell you the truth, notwithstanding others are complaining of hard times, our business for the few weeks past has rather crowded us to keep ahead of it. We don't complain, but ask your indulgence should our usual promptness in delivery of orders seem to be wanting.

Instantaneous Tapioca is a recent addition to our grocery stock. We think it ahead of any other preparation of its kind now in the market. One teacupful makes a pudding for ten persons. Requires no soaking, ready for serving in fifteen minutes. One pound package, 10 c.

Anderson's Fruit Jams is another new thing. These goods only need to be tried to be appreciated; are made from the best fruit and preserved "pound for pound" as the ladies say,—that is, one pound of fruits to one pound of sugar. Put up in one pound tin cans. The price is not the least interesting part, viz: 15c. per pound. Your choice of fruit. Try it.

Beck's Wheat Flakes.

We have the agency for these most excellent goods in this vicinity. Too much cannot be said in praise of them as a breakfast dish, or as a simple nourishing food for invalids or infants. We venture to say it is superior to any thing of its kind ever offered to our trade. To introduce it more thoroughly and quickly, we will, for a limited time, furnish samples on application, which we hope you will avail yourself of. Get a sample package, give it a trial. If you don't like it, 'twill not cost you much. Full size package (2 lbs.), at 12 c.

Don't forget that we are headquarters for finest Butter. We hold the price same as last week,—28c.

A bargain in Starch. Six pounds of first quality starch, put up in a stout wooden box with a sliding cover, for 40 c., which means 6 2/3 c. per pound. Regular price, 8 cents.

The Raisin market continues to decline. We offer 3-crown Loose Muscatels at 6 c. per pound; five pounds for 25 cents. Nothing wrong about the goods,—clean, new, bright fruit.

Sun-dried Apples are very cheap at our price,—8 c. per pound. These are also very desirable goods, there being very little difference in cooking qualities from evaporated, for which we are compelled to ask 12 1/2 to 14 c. per pound.

Just a word about Wheelbarrows. We handle two kinds of Garden barrows. Our "T.R." brand we consider the best for all purposes, being made of the best materials throughout,—heavy, stout, large wheel, broad tread, which is a great advantage on soft ground.

Our No. 3 Barrow is lighter, a trifle smaller in every way, but a good serviceable vehicle.

We quote T. B. at $3.25.

No. 3 at $3.00.

We also handle a full line of "Gold Medal" Plows, which we offer at popular prices. Repairs for these plows constantly in stock.

Chicago Gluten Meal is considered the best article known as a feed for cows. As a milk producer it has no equal, inducing a greater flow and better quality than any other feed yet discovered. We keep it constantly in stock, in bags of 150 pounds each, and quote at $1.40 per hundred.

Pratt's Horse and Cattle Food is just the thing to feed at this season. If your horse or cow does not eat well, try a 12 1/2 pound package of Pratt's Food. You'll be surprised at the change that will be wrought in a few days. In bags, 12 1/2 pounds each, at 65 cents.

Pratt's Poultry Food we also handle, and at the present extremely low price of Eggs it becomes necessary to produce more eggs to realize the same amount of money from the fowls. The Poultry Food will do it.

6-pound packages, 60 cents.

2 1/2-pound packages, 25 cents.

Speaker Crisp appears to be the only Democrat in the House who can be trusted by the other Democrats to sit in the Speaker's chair. That doesn't speak very high for the other two hundred-odd Democrats in the House.

Free rations, not principle, is the bond which holds Coxe's army together. Free grub has also probably prevented the arrest of a goodly portion of the army. They have had no occasion to pillage.

The administration is doing a lot of advance advertising about what it is going to do to prevent seal poaching this season. According to Canadian advices the poachers are preparing for an unusually busy season.

Northwestern Christian Advocate gives expression to the following: "He who omits his vote should be penalized as is he who fails to pay his taxes. Such citizens should be deprived of citizenship in the interest of good government."

In 1892 New York City paid for its school bill $4,000,000; for amusement bill, $7,000,000, and for its drink bill $60,000,000.

Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes still retains many of the characteristics of youth, and he is mentally as bright as he was ten years ago. He is silver-haired and keen-eyed, and laughs and chats with animation, while his conversational powers are as brilliant as ever.

Howard S. Long, of Springfield, O., is a happy bridegroom after a courtship of only fifteen minutes. While in Urbana he saw Miss Lydia Brown for the first time. It was a case of love at first sight, and fifteen minutes after the introduction she had said "yes," and half an hour later they were married.

It is proposed to erect a statue to the memory of the late General Judson Kilpatrick, and that it is to surmount the Soldiers' Monument which is soon to be erected in Newton.

Having received the electoral franchise the Colorado women are to be commended for having gone to the polls Tuesday and voted. The men who have had the right to vote for years, but who never cast a ballot, might follow their example without injury to themselves or the country.

A FORTY MILE RIDE.—E. R. Sweetnam, of Fairfax Station, Virginia, says: "A party came forty miles to my store for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and bought a dozen bottles. The Remedy is a great favorite in this vicinity, and has performed some wonderful cures here." It is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup, and whooping cough, and is a favorite wherever known. For sale by A. W. Cochran, druggist.

F.—Psa. 133:1-3. Unity among brethren.

S.—1 John 2:1-11. Brotherly love.

S.—1 John 4:12-21. Love made perfect.

LESSON ANALYSIS. I. JACOB AND HIS FAMILY.

L. His Home: Jacob dwelt in the land of Canaan (1).

I will give unto thy seed all the land of Canaan (Gen. 17:8).

Thy nativity is of the land of the Canaanite (Ezek. 16:3).

A sojourner in the land of Promise (with Isaac and Jacob (Heb. 11:9)).

II. His Descendants: These are the generations of Jacob (2).

His two wives, and his eleven children (Gen. 32:22).

We be twelve brethren, sons of our father (Gen. 42:32).

All that came out of the loins of Jacob were seventy souls (Exod. 1:5).

III. JOSEPH AND HIS DREAMS: I. The Dreamer: Joseph dreamed a dream, and he told it (6).

Hear, I pray you, this dream which I have dreamed (Gen. 37:17).

Behold, this dreamer cometh (Gen. 37:19).

Joseph remembered the dreams which he dreamed (Gen. 42:19).

II. Dream of the Sheaves: My sheaf arose: your sheaves made obeisance (7).

Joseph's brethren bowed down themselves to him (Gen. 42:6).

They bowed down themselves to him to the earth (Gen. 43:26).

They fell before him on the ground (Gen. 44:14).

III. Dream of the Heavenly Bodies: The sun, moon, and eleven stars made obeisance to me (9).

Their father said: Go again, buy us a little food (Gen. 43:2).

Arise, go again unto the man (Gen. 43:14).

Joseph's son is yet alive: I will go and see him (Gen. 45:25).

IV. SELFISHNESS AND ITS FRUITS: I. Tale-bearing: Joseph brought the evil report of them unto their father (2).

Thou shalt not go up and down as a talebearer (Lev. 19:16).

Where there is no whisperer, contention ceaseth (Prov. 26:20).

Let every man be swift to hear, slow to speak (Isa. 1:19).

II. Favoritism: Israel loved Joseph more than all his children (3).

He alone is left of his mother, and his father loveth him (Gen. 44:20).

Ye fathers, provoke not your children to wrath (Eph. 6:4).

Doing nothing by partiality (1 Tim. 6:21).

III. Envy: Their father loved him: and they hated him (4).

Esau hated Jacob because of the blessing (Gen. 27:41).

Who is able to stand before jealousy? (Prov. 27:4).

Doth the spirit which he made long unto envying (Isa. 4:5).

IV. Evil Speaking: They could not speak peaceably unto him (4).

Men shall say all manner of evil against you falsely (Matt. 5:11).

Speak evil of no man (Tit. 3:2).

Speak not one against another, brethren (Jas. 4:11).

V. Hatred: They hated him yet the more (8).

They hate me with cruel hatred (Psa. 25:19).

Hatred stirreth up strifes (Prov. 10:12).

The works of the flesh are...strife, jealousies, wraths (Gal. 5:19, 20).

VI. Backbitings: Shall I and thy mother indeed come to bow down (10).

An haughty spirit before a fall (Prov. 16:18).

The haughtiness of man should be bowed down (Isa. 2:17).

Let him that is proud be humbled: he that is high shall be brought low (1 Cor. 13:12).

More than all his children he loved him (Gen. 44:20).

Special love: (1) The father's love for Joseph; (2) The mother's love for Joseph; (3) The brothers' love for Joseph.

A Machine for Checking Money.

Useful machine has been constructed for recording and checking money.

The device consists of a stamp which bears on its face an impression of the words received, name and date. The figures are placed on three sheets, on the shaft of which are several series of wheels, so arranged that any combination of figures shown out of the stamp are also shown inside.

The same figures are thus printed on the reverse side of the stamp as are printed on the reverse side of the stamp.

Each time the stamp is used the record of the handle carries forward the record papers so as to present a fresh surface for the next printing, and by a simple arrangement inside the stamp no receipt can be given without the record paper being moved.

It is therefore impossible to give a receipt without recording the figures inside the stamp.

The stamp can be adjusted and a receipt given in one-third the time occupied in writing a receipt, with the further advantage that the apparatus cannot make mistakes.—Chicago News Record.

Smart Conjuror.

A corporal and two privates, having in their custody a deserter, were resting themselves at a country tavern not long ago.

The deserter amused his guardians with several entertaining sleight-of-hand tricks, but being encumbered with handcuffs, he could not display his skill to advantage, and requested his captives to liberate him, which he exhibited a trick which he described.

This being agreed to, he proceeded to tie the hands of the three soldiers and his own together with a handkerchief, and he was to loose the four with one motion simultaneously.

The magic knots were tied, but they all remained firm except the one which held the deserter. This came asunder with a snap, when he hopped up the shaft and dazed through the window, leaving his keepers raging at each other like ill-coupled hounds. The deserter has not been seen since.—Yankee Blade.

They Needed No Pressing.

Cholly—There was one thing in favor of the boiler-plate trousers the old knicker wore.

What was that? Cholly—If they once got a crease in them it would stay.—Truth.

In the Museum.

The adoption of a particular flower as a national crest or tribal coat-of-arms had its origin in the legendary past, and after time has surrounded the early incident with a halo of poetry and miracle.

The violet of Greece, the pansy of Spain, the magnolia of Saxony and the larkspur of Wales became representative through romantic or "supernatural" suggestion and even some of the better known floral emblems of nations are credited to a similarly poetic source.

The rose of England, we are told, was accepted as her popular and political symbol because a rose once appeared miraculously on King Arthur's Round Table where he sat feasting with his knights.

An angel appeared, it is said, to an aged hermit in Gaul, bearing an azure shield with three embazoned golden lilies upon it. The hermit presented the shield to Queen Clothilde, her husband, King Clovis, bore it to battle and victory, and made the fleur-de-lis the national blossom of France.

Scotland's thistle is accounted for by a tradition more probably historic. The story is that one time during the old northern wars the invading Danes "stole a march" upon the Scots, and would have surprised an unmassed army, but a Danish soldier set his bare foot on a thistle, and his shriek of pain alarmed the threatened camp, and after a short but fierce battle the enemy were driven away.

Our American nation has no romantic floral legend, and so her botany has furnished her no "crest." The debt of her early settlers to Indian corn has made that plant interestingly historic, and its usefulness has endeared it to the people. The golden-rod has been widely voted for as our national flower because it is democratic, and almost universal in the land.

There is a story (Miss L. F. Kimball) in "Notes and Queries" makes a strong appeal for the apple tree as the typical American plant. It is as characteristic of our country as the fig-tree was of ancient Palestine. The word "apple" in literature almost as generic as "fruit," names a product that nowhere reaches such perfection as in the United States.

The apple-blossom is a modification of the English rose—is, in fact, itself a wild rose.

When America is older, and the merits of all her floral candidates have been fully discussed, or some event has connected one of them more closely with her sentimental and patriotic life, no doubt a national flower will be adopted, and divide with the stars and stripes the honors of popular enthusiasm and song.

There's a story going around,
of a fellow out west who, every time he goes on a spree insists on paying a year's subscription to his town paper.
He has already paid to 1937. We have been unable to ascertain what brand of liquor he drinks.

List of uncollected letters in the Hammonton Post-Office, on Saturday,
April 7th, 1894:
Mrs. M. J. Smith, J. F. L. Piere,
Mr. Hillman, Benjamin Bakle, Philipina Abbott.

Persons calling for any of the above letters will please state that it has been advertised.
GEORGE ELVINS, P. M.

In Trenton, a number of progressive and public-spirited Italian citizens have inaugurated a movement to establish a night school for adult Italians. The object is to teach Italians to speak and write the English language, and also to make them acquainted with the principles of our government, national, State and local, and their rights and duties under the same. They propose to establish a library in connection with the school. Their aim is to make better and worthier citizens of their countrymen, and to advance their social, political and material condition, so that they may take the position to which their industry, intelligence and virtue fits them.

In spite of the opposition of "Billy"
Thompson, the turf gambler, the New Jersey Legislature has passed the bill requiring that an American flag shall float over every school house in the State. It is an excellent idea, and the law is one which might be adopted in every State in the Union with profit.
We cannot have too much sentiment for the Stars and Stripes. An American child ought to be brought up to love his country and to recall the fact, whenever he sees the flag, that it is an emblem of liberty.

The administration has apparently just discovered that John Bull was trying to trick Uncle Sam in relation to patrolling Behring Sea. It's an old habit of John's.

If some people had done their thinking before voting, instead of afterwards, this country would have been to-day several billions of dollars better off. However, it is better to think afterwards than not to think at all.

Henry Watterson calls the Democrats in Congress "incapables" and "rascals"
and promises them "political damnation and death" when they go home decorated with the "white feathers" of the mercenary." Henry is giving away his opinion of his fellow Democrats in thus talking, but as a Democrat he has a right to speak his mind.

The World wants the Senate to hurry up and pass the Wilson bill. The country wants it to hurry up and kill it.

RHEUMATISM QUICKLY CURED.—Three days is a very short time in which to cure a bad case of rheumatism, but it can be done, if the proper treatment is adopted, as will be seen by the following from James Lambert, of New Brunswick, N. J.: "I was had afflicted with rheumatism in the hips and legs, when I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It cured me in three days. I am all right to-day, and would insist on every one who is afflicted with that terrible disease to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm and get well as soon as 50 cent bottles for sale
by Cochran, druggist."

BICYCLE RIDERS, ATTENTION!

Hammonton, N. J., April 7, 1894.

This week it's Carpets.
Carpets.
We've an entirely New Sample Line this Spring.
It contains a large assortment of kinds, designs and prices.
There are Velvets, Brussels, Tapestries, and Ingrains, and the prices are quite as low as the same goods in the City.
For a small additional charge
we will make and lay the carpet.

This week it's Mattings.
We have our usual Spring stock. Prices are somewhat lower than last season, by the yard,—10 c. upwards. By the full roll (40 yards), $3.75 upwards.

Still the Window Display—
Curtain Fixtures.
Correction.
In our advertisement last week, we should have quoted the new Lambrequin Lace Curtains at from 85 cents upwards instead of $1.50. It's a great curtain for the money,
—have you seen it?
Dress Goods take a hand, too.

At 25 c. a yard we've some remarkably good goods in very attractive designs and colors,—blacks, blues, greens, reds, browns. This is just one item out of a generous stock.
And the Millinery is not forgotten.

Last Sunday brought rain, but was not very cold. Monday was cold, but pleasant. Tuesday, bright and cool. Wednesday, rained all day, with thunder and lightning at night, warm.
Thursday, mostly clear, windy, not cold. Friday, cool, windy, threatening.

The Roy, Smith Baker, Boston, gives this sensible advice: "Do not neglect the newspaper: it's every man's text-book, and the great educator of the world... It is the laboring man's college.
Every young man should take one good newspaper and read it — not skim over it." This advice is good, and with good fitting glasses is easy to follow.

The beautiful and unusually brilliant display of the aurora borealis, last week Friday even'g, was witnessed by hundreds of the residents who were on the streets between eight and nine o'clock. The entire heavens from the western to the eastern horizon were covered with the brilliant rays. In the zenith the display was of a crescent shaped crown of white light. A deep red column like a raging fire sprang up in the west, while to the north and east
a curtain of white shot out at different times columns of pretty hues.

Part XII of the "Book of the
