DECORATION.

I stood beside each mounded grave
Where slept the bravest of the brave,
And sought a spot where I could place
My flowers above a hero's face.

Within a calm, secluded spot,
Where passing steps disturbed her not,
I placed the simple buds I had,
O'er her who bore a soldier's lad.

TAX THE LAND.

HAMMONTON, N. J., May 25th, 1892.

MR. EDITOR:—It is not generally known, but it is a fact, that our grand little state is still the victim of old colonial days,—British laws. Yes, Jersey is in great measure (mis)governed by said old-fogy British customs.

One of our worst laws pertains to the way the millions of acres of wild land in southern New Jersey escapes just taxation, by being assessed merely $1.50 per acre. These "laws" were placed on the statute book by the same kind of element that obtains to-day throughout little Britain, viz: the land owners, who wormed themselves into our law-making bodies for the purpose.

I was told, the other day, while in an adjoining town, that the famous Wharton estate embraces fully 200,000 acres, taking up a big slice of southern Jersey, extending almost from Camden to the sea. And Mr. Wharton is but one of many.

Yes, I believe in taxing the land, and not the improvements. As it is, the industrious and thrifty pay nearly all the taxes, while our imitation aristocracy hold on to their lands for a rise through the enterprise of their betters.

I would advocate a radical change, and at once. Let us support no man for political position who will not agitate this matter and work for the desired change.

WM. RUTHERFORD.

MR. EDITOR:—The entertainment of magic and mystery given by Zecro (Mr. O. M. Thomson), at Union Hall, on the evening of May 14, was, in spite of the rainy weather, a success. Those who witnessed his wonderful sleight of hand, pronounced him the equal, if not the superior of Mr. Kellar. He held the undivided attention of the audience for over two hours; his numerous tricks being greeted with enthusiastic applause. It is to be hoped that in the near future we shall have the pleasure of seeing him again.

On Thursday next, June 2nd, the "High Water Mark" Monument will be dedicated on the field of Gettysburg. This monument marks the highest point within the Union lines reached by Pickett's troops in the memorable charge of July 3d, 1863. The monument has been erected under the auspices of the Battlefield Memorial Association. The dedicatory ceremonies will be highly interesting, consisting of speeches, poems, music, and military exercises. A large number of veterans, both officers and privates, will be gathered on the historic field and the occasion will be a most memorable one. For the benefit of those desiring to attend, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will, on June 2d, sell excursion tickets from all principal stations on the lines to Gettysburg at a single fare for the round trip. Return coupons will be valid for use until June 4th, inclusive.

The New Jersey State Democratic Convention met at Trenton, on Wednesday, and elected delegates to the National Convention at Chicago. The platform instructs its delegates to vote for Cleveland as long as his name is before the convention; reaffirms the fidelity of the New Jersey Democrats to the principles of the party and indorses Governor Abbott's administration.

President Harrison issued a proclamation announcing a reciprocal trade agreement with Austro-Hungary, by which American products and manufactures will be admitted upon the same terms with those of Germany and other favored European nations.

The People's Bank, of Sea Isle City, closed its doors. It is stated that the suspension was made on account of a lack of business and it is believed all deposits will be paid in full.

More Than Satisfied.

68 CHEEVER PL., BROOKLYN, N. Y., June 18, '90.
For over twelve years my son has been afflicted with epilepsy; he would have one every two weeks until about six months ago, then even two a week. We took him to a number of first-class physicians and we tried everything and any number of remedies without deriving any encouragement in his case, and had commenced to despair of ever being able to cure him at all when we heard of Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic and concluded to give it a trial. The result has more than satisfied us! It is more than three months since he commenced to take this Nerve Tonic and he has never been sick since. Please accept our most sincere thanks, for we feel that you have not only cured him of a great affliction but have saved his life as well, as we do not think he would have lived long in the condition he was in before he commenced taking your reliable remedy.

LESSON ANALYSIS.

I. THE VALUE OF WISDOM.

1. Recalling Facts:

This is the dream (35).

Nebuchadnezzar dreamed dreams (Dan. 2: 1).

His spirit is troubled to know the dream (Dan. 2: 3).

Then was the secret revealed unto Daniel (Dan. 2: 19).

2. Interpreting Mysteries:

We will tell the interpretation thereof (36).

Daniel had understanding in all visions and dreams (Dan. 1: 17).

He revealed the deep and secret things (Dan. 2: 22).

And if I... know all mysteries and all knowledge (1 Cor. 13: 2).

3. Disclosing the Future:

God hath made known to the king what shall come to pass (45).

The Lord has spoken it: it shall come to pass (Ezek. 34: 13).

He shall declare unto you the things that are to come (John 16: 13).

I will show thee the things which must come to pass (Rev. 4: 1).

4. The Source of Wisdom.

Nebuchadnezzar fell upon his face, and worshipped (46).

5. Gratitude for Instruction:

Pharaoh said, "...Can we find such a one as this?" (Gen. 41: 38).

Then the king made Daniel great (Dan. 2: 48).

The clothed Daniel with purple (Dan. 5: 29).

6. Its Source Recognized:

Of a truth your God is... a revealer of secrets (47).

Pharaoh said, "...God hath showed thee all this" (Gen. 41: 39).

Thy commandments make us wiser (Psa. 119: 38).

If any of you lacketh wisdom, let him ask of God (Jam. 1: 5).

7. THE REWARDS OF WISDOM.

Exaltation:

The king made Daniel... to be chief governor (48).

Solomon's wisdom excelled the wisdom of all (1 Kings 4: 30).

The wise shall inherit glory (Prov. 3: 5).

A man shall be commended according to his wisdom (Prov. 12: 8).

8. Influence:

Daniel requested of the king, and he appointed (49).

Pharaoh spoke unto Joseph, saying, "...Egypt is before thee" (Gen. 47: 5).

Ask what I shall do for thee, before I be taken (2 Kings 2: 9).

What is thy petition, queen Esther? (Esther 7: 2).

Verse 36:—"We will tell the interpretation thereof before the king." (1) The king's perplexity; (2) The prophet's confidence; (3) Foretelling; (4) Power; (5) Release.

Verse 44:—"A kingdom which shall never be destroyed." A kingdom (1) Founded by Jehovah; (2) Superseding earthly powers; (3) Enduring forever.

Verse 45:—"A stone was cut out of the mountain without hands." (1) The mountain; (2) The stone; (3) The victory.

Verse 47:—"Of a truth, your God is the God of gods." (1) A truth, your God is the God of gods; (2) A clear confession; (3) A high tribute.

Verse 48:—"Then the king made Daniel great." (1) Daniel's great service; (2) The king's wise generosity.

Verse 49:—"Daniel was in the gate of the king." (1) A man of power; (2) A place of honor.

LESSON BIBLE READING.

DREAMS.

Sometimes instructive (Num. 12: 3; Job 33: 14-16).

Sometimes illusive (Job 20: 8; Isa. 29: 8).

Often perplexing (Gen. 40: 50; 41: 8; Dan. 4: 19).

Trusted by the ancients (Judg. 7: 13-15).

Claimed by false teachers (Jer. 23: 25-28; 29: 8).

Interpreted under God (Gen. 40: 8; 41: 16; Dan. 2: 27-30; 7: 16).

LESSON SURROUNDINGS.

INTERESTING EVENTS.—After Daniel

brought to King Nebuchadnezzar, and received as wise men, their wisdom was put to a severe test. Probably nothing gave them occasion to court

Nebuchadnezzar's dream, a dream

which greatly startled him and yet could not be retained in memory. He therefore called for the magicians probably astrologers and persons of such kind that they could tell him what had happened. They answered with reverence that, if he would tell the dream, they would interpret it. The king then threatened them with destruction if they refused to tell him the dream, and promised great reward if they would show him the vision and the interpretation thereof. They answered as before; but the king still in-isted. For a third answer, the Chaldeans were impudently telling obeying the king, since only the gods could do what he required. Becoming furious, the king issued a decree to destroy all the wise men of Babylon. When this decree was about to be executed,

Daniel implored Arioch, the captain of the king's guard, as to the reason for it, and succeeded in obtaining a brief delay, so that he might give the interpretation. Arioch then told him the king's dream, and he asked his companions to pray for him, that the secret might be revealed.

That night it was made known to Daniel in a vision. Daniel made known

Arioch the king's dream, and he

MIGHTY GALE IN THE BAY OF BISCAY.

Tossing Amid Mountains and Valleys of Clouds and Treacherous Waters.

"Those who have never been in a real 'blow' on the ocean cannot form

a conception of the power of the wind and sea," said a gentleman who has traveled extensively. "I have been in many an ordinary gale, but in only one that would rank as a first-class

"blow." I never want to get into another.

"The ship that I was in then was an old merchant steamer of about 1,

200 tons, and was as unpleasant a craft in heavy weather as a man can imagine. To begin with she was leaking all over her high stanchions,

and even in comparatively calm weather

they were continually parting and causing delay and danger; in a gale,

when to be blown to mean Dan

James' locker in short order, they did not add to one's feeling of security.

"We passed Cape Finisterre, the northern point of Spain, one fine evening, and expected to have a pleasant run across the dreaded Bay of Biscay.

"About four bells the glass began to fall and the captain seemed anxious, but instead of being told that the Spanish port, as he would have been justified in doing, seeing that the old tub he commanded was hardly seaworthy, he held on his course.

By morning we were into the thick of one of the worst gales of the century.

"We boasted of high power, and between it and the bridge the waist of the ship was filled with water, and it was a most risky passage to wade

through it even with the help of life lines. We passengers did not make the attempt.

"For three days we lived in the poop cabin and gnawed sea biscuits

soaked in salt water, but we had little appetite, and I believe green turtle soup would hardly have tempted us. The steamer appeared to stand on end every now and then. On the second morning of the gale I crawled up the narrow companion and lashed myself where the wind would have been in an ordinary vessel. The appearance of the sea was beautiful, but terrible. The rollers were several hundred feet from crest to crest; like great mountains of cool, green water, with a lake of hissing foam along their summits.

"As one would approach the ship

she would rise slowly, mounting upward, quivering from stem to stern.

Then the broken crest of the waves would curl over her bows, burying her forecabin under tons of water.

The decks would be swept from end to end, and of course anything not able to stand up to the sea would be in the struggle. While on the top of the rollers the wind would feel like a living force and seemed to beat a man down; then the steamer began to slide down the long water slope.

In the hollow it would be a perfect calm.

"For three days and nights we lay to, under easy steam, just keeping enough way on the ship to make her steer, and dodging the seas by consummate skill in steering. The sailors worked like treads: each man

knew that should the engines break down or the steering gear fail to work, even for a few minutes, the steamer would broach to and capsize.

"At length the agony was over,

and the captain called all hands into the chart-room and treated in the good old-fashion sailor's way. Two days later we were sailing up the</

The change of train-time on the Camden & Atlantic took effect on Wednesday morning. Nearly all trains run from two to four minutes later than heretofore. An "express and mail" train reaches this station at 5:59 A. M. Otherwise, we cannot see that Hammonton is affected by the change. We understood, and hoped, that the mid-night train to Waterford would be sent this far every night.

Rev. Mr. Russell, Rector of St. Mark's Church, where the Memorial Service for Gen. D. A. Russell Post, G. A. R., is to be held to-morrow, lost an elder brother, a brave officer in a Massachusetts regiment. The first time Mr. Russell, then a young student in New York, said the burial service, was over the body of this brother, on the battle-field at Gettysburg. This is referred to in a poem to be read after the sermon, to-morrow morning.

While feeding the double circular saw in Barnhouse's mill, on Monday morning, John Austin was struck on the hip by part of a yellow-pine board which was forced back by one of the saws. Fortunately, the board had not attained its greatest momentum, and the bone was not broken. Mr. Austin was taken home and a physician called, who promised recovery in a few days. As evidence of its force, the board, after knocking the man several feet, struck and fractured the bottom rail of the front door, fifteen feet or more from the saw.

Two tramps who were stealing a ride on the front platform of a baggage car on a south bound Camden & Atlantic express train, had an unusual and unexpected treat. As most people are aware, locomotives scoop up water while running rapidly, from the track tanks near Ancora. The tramps evidently did not know this, nor that when the tank is full the surplus water pours over the end of the baggage car like a tidal wave. There was a surprise party, and when the tramps got off at Hammonton they reminded one of two half-drowned cats. Let us hope that they were the better for their bath.

Last week Wednesday, Prof. W. B. Matthews, Principal of the schools at Madison, N. J., was out riding with his wife, his father-in-law (D. C. Potter, of Pleasantville), his sister-in-law (Miss Laura Potter), and others. The horses were young and spirited, and the aged driver was unable to manage them. The carriage was finally overturned and the occupants thrown to the ground, none entirely escaping injury, but all being but slightly hurt except Mr. Potter, whose arm was broken, and Miss Laura, a sprained ankle. The carriage was completely wrecked, and Mr. Matthews yet wonders that worse results did not follow the overturn.

In these days of house cleaning a moth in the hand is worth two in the rug.

Please take particular notice of our latest combination offer,—the South Jersey Republican and the New York Weekly Tribune, both one year for $1.25 cash in advance. We have a few sample copies of the Tribune, for those who are not acquainted with it. We know of no way in which you can secure so much good reading for so little money.

A young son of Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Boogar, of Waterford, aged about fifteen years, had his leg slightly scratched, one day last week. The wound apparently healed, but a few days later became discolored. Their doctor pronounced it rheumatism and treated him accordingly. As the boy grew worse, a second physician was called in, but too late. The young man died from blood-poisoning, and was buried on Tuesday last.

HE Missed his Opportunity! DON'T MISS YOURS, Reader. The majority neglect their opportunities, and from that cause live in poverty and die in obscurity! Harrowing despair is the lot of many, as they hobnob on lost, forever lost opportunity. LIFE IS PASSING! Reach out. Live up and doing. Improve your opportunity, and secure prosperity, promise-peace, peace. It was as a philosopher, that "the Goddess of Fortune offers golden opportunity to each person at some period of life; embrace the chance, and she pours out her riches; fail to do so and she departs, never to return." How shall you find the goddess opportunity? Investigate every chance that appears worthy, and of this promise: that is what all successful men do. Here is an opportunity, such as is not often within the reach of laboring people. Improved, it will give you at least, a grand start in life. The golden opportunity many is born. Moreover to be made rapidly and honorably by any indolent person of either sex. All ages. You can do the work and live at home, wherever you are. Even gentlemen are easily earning from $25 to $10 per day. You can do as well if you will work, not too hard, but industriously; and you can increase your income as you go on. You can give spare time only, or all your time to the work. Education. Capital not required. No heart, you. All true, comparatively new and really wonderful. We instruct to show you how, free. Failures unknown among our workers. No room to explicate here. Write and learn all you require worth. Live the trial. Answer at once.

In politics, The Press knows no other master than the people, and the past year has seen, as has been seen before, the marked fact that it is subservient to no political boss. It has no political affiliations to follow, and it is not influenced by any party or party and delivers itself upon the issues of the day in a manner both frank and fearless, letting the facts speak for themselves and ending no issues, but meeting them all on the basis of fair play to all men at all times. Its pages make no distinction, and the rights of one class over another are not its theme. It is the champion of the rights and arguments of Help Wanted, Business Opportunities, Real Estate, etc., may be inserted in The Press for ONE CENT A WORD.

Prospectus for 1892.

It has not been our custom to issue a prospectus. A newspaper can never tell beforehand just what subjects will be discussed. We hold ourselves in readiness, however, with our well-trained editorial force, and our large staff of special contributors, to treat any subject which may present itself during the year. Our plans for 1892 contemplate an enlargement of our news department, a perfecting of the other departments, and the bringing up of the entire paper to a still higher standard of efficiency.

The National Baptist is offering a line most attractive premiums. For example, communion services, organs and hymn-books, valuable books of reference and general information, fountain pens. One of its most attractive offers is the one offering to the new subscriber and to the person securing the new name, as a volume of Prof. Drummond's famous address, attractively bound in white and gold:

AGENTS

Are wanted in every Church, to canvass new names. Liberal commissions are offered. Past experience has shown that a goodly number of new names can be quickly gathered by good agent.

THE PRICE

Is $2 per year, in advance. Send for sample copies, which will be cheerfully sent. Address all communications to

A recent census bulletin states that the number of homes in Philadelphia is in the proportion of one to every five inhabitants. Compare this with the condition of things in any one of England's great manufacturing cities, where there is scarcely one room for every five inhabitants, and you have an object lesson on the difference between Protection and Free-Trade.

In 1880 the national debt of the United States was $98.33 per capita; the average for all foreign countries was $36.62, or $2.71 less than ours. In 1890 our debt was only $14.24 per capita; that of the rest of the world was $32.88, more than twice as large as ours. The question is, Have we or have we not distanced the rest of the world in the last ten years?

Over 700,000 acres of fertile land are under water in Arkansas, and the Mississippi was still rising on Tuesday. Three families are known to have been drowned, in addition to thousands of live stock.

Consumption Cured.
An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellow-men. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe in German, French, or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Send by mail by addressing with stamp (naming this paper) W. A. NOYES, 820 Powers Block, Rochester, N. Y.
