"A Word to the Wise."

The word we would utter to the wise concerning Clothing, is "Quality." On Quality hinges Cheapness, for a thing is not cheap unless it is good. Therefore remember when in need of Clothing, Man or Boy, that with us a low price never means a poor quality.

Yesterday was Memorial Day,—the saddest, yet one of the most precious anniversaries. Sad, because it brings to mind the days when the nation was in mourning because the best blood of our land was being shed to preserve the Union; precious, because we recall the noble deeds of our soldier dead, rejoice in the glorious results of their heroism, and teach the young to love the country thus preserved.

Russell Post, escorted by the Sons of Veterans, the Cornet Band, the Morris Guards, of Atlantic City, with their drum corps, marched to Greenmount Cemetery, where the impressive ritual service of the Post was followed by music by the Band, an appropriate song by a male quartette, an eloquent address by comrade Thomas Rogers, a recitation by comrade Edwin Adams, and decoration of the soldiers' graves.

At Greenmount Cemetery, the Post ritual was used, the quartette sang two selections, and the band played one piece. The exercises were shortened by the warning drops of an approaching shower.

At each cemetery we were pleased to see an immense concourse of people,—from the aged grandsire to the babe in its mother's arms. Business was suspended during the afternoon.

According to yesterday's Press, the trouble at Folsom was continued on Thursday. When the regular pay-car did not bring money for the Italians, they armed themselves with pickets, clubs, etc., stopped all work on the road and blocked work engines. Sheriff Johnson and several officers of the road came up on a special train, but the mob would not allow them to leave the cars; so they went back to Richland, intending to return Friday morning with a sufficient force to restore order.

J. B. Ryan's house, at Rosedale, was burned, Thursday afternoon. The fire is said to have caught in some fat which was cooking on the stove, and communicated to the building.

A back pension of $1200 has just gladdened old Eli Platt, an inmate of the Cumberland Co. almshouse.

The Democratic majority in the State House of Assembly would not pass an incidental bill that contained items providing for the pay of those officers selected by the Senate Committee to assist them in the work of exposing the Hudson frauds, so no incidental bill was passed. This will be severely felt by the men who gave their time to the State, and who need the money they honestly earned; but it gives another among the many good reasons why both branches of the Legislature next year should be Republicans.

The Hudson County Grand Jury at Jersey City presented sixty-eight indictments against election officers in the First, Second and Third Districts. Four members of the jury presented a minority report, in which they bewailed the fact that the indictments were made out on only one count instead of on six.

Maine Democrats have started a movement to do away with prohibition in the State and insert a high license plank in their State platform.

Governor Abbett recommended to the Inspectors of the State Prison that all the Republican deputy keepers be dismissed, which was accordingly done on Tuesday.

General E. Burd Grubb entertained the legislative newspaper correspondents and others, at his home at Edgewater Park, Tuesday.

Representative Flower introduced a bill in the House appropriating $250,000 toward the completion of the Grant monument at Riverside Park, New York City.

President Harrison sent to Congress a letter from the Secretary of State upon the recommendation of the Pan-American Congress, that an international American bank be established. The draft of a bill to authorize the incorporation of the bank accompanied the message.

The Republican.

Published by the Republican Publishing Co., 111 N. 2d St., Philadelphia, Pa. Entered as second-class matter, May 21, 1900.

Hammonton Council, Ir. O. U. A. M., celebrated their first anniversary, last Friday night, in Union Hall. The participants were present by invitation, and enjoyed the exercises, consisting of recitations, music, and address. The Council is prosperous.

The June number of Godey's Lady's Book, besides having its usual amount of entertaining reading matter, is highly embellished with a variety of fashion plates. Every subscriber is entitled to select a cut paper pattern of any one of the illustrations. "Godey Pub. Co.," Philadelphia, Pa.

Ground was broken, at Winslow, last week Friday, for a forty-two room hotel. The site selected is on an elevated portion of the Hay estate, in a pine grove, which will be laid out in walks and drives. The building is to be ready for occupancy by Oct. 15th. Mr. Geo. Cochran is said to be one of the chief promoters of the enterprise.

The Monday Mat Concert of the Hammon-ton, Tuesday evening, was even better than we predicted, probably the best musical entertainment ever given in Hammonton. We could but remember the promises made by Prof. Morrison when the Club was first organized, which promises many then thought very extravagant; but which were richly fulfilled on this occasion.

THIS SPACE BELONGS TO Hammonton Council, No. 43. Jr. O. U. A. M.

A Wonder Worker. Mr. Frank Huffman, a young man of Burlington, Ohio, states that he had been under the care of two prominent physicians and used their treatment until he was not able to get around. They pronounced his case to be consumption and incurable. He was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds and at that time was not able to walk across the street without resting. He found, before he had used half of a dollar bottle, that he was much better; he continued to use it and is to-day enjoying good health. If you have any throat, lung or chest trouble try it. We guarantee satisfaction. "Trial bottle free at George Elvins' store."

SATURDAY, MAY 31, 1890. LOCAL MISCELLANY.

Council meeting to-night. A grand rain Monday night. The Atlantic City schools will close June 6th.

Dr. J. M. Peables is lecturing in Pottstown, Pa. No uncalled-for letters in our post-office, to-day.

Charles D. Jacobs is Cashier's assistant, in the Bank. Wm. M. Haney greeted Hammonton friends on Wednesday.

Friend Mortimer, of Pottsville, will spend Sunday in town. Albert Adams is again in the commission business, Philadelphia.

Did any one notice the absence of seed-pods on the maple trees, this Spring? N. R. Zelly's new house is now in the hands of James Smith, the plasterer.

How about that new school, on Union Road? Who has the building contract? Bert Morse, son of our worthy County Superintendent, was in town this week.

Miss Echel, of Camden, spent a few days with her sister, Mrs. C. W. Gillingham. Mr. Daniel Baker has been very sick, but the symptoms have become more favorable.

Born, on Wednesday, May 25th, 1890, to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Johnson, a daughter. Rumored, that Mr. Albertson will take charge of the Atlantic City post-office to-morrow.

Walter and Joe Herbat spent this week in Atlantic City, with their sister, Mrs. John A. Saxton. Mr. N. D. Page left for Ashland, Pa., on Thursday morning. He certainly has the best wishes of all.

Nearly every call-box in our post-office is rented. Quite an item in Uncle Sam's receipts from a little town. We predict that the census enumerator's report will show more than 3,500 inhabitants in Hammonton.

Harry Trowbridge hopes to have his new brick building completed the first week in June. It will certainly be a beauty. Bert. Filer and Frank Lobdell are delivering the Fruit Growers' Association berry dispatches, - began on Wednesday.

Water lilies are blossoming; but they are not abundant yet, and searching for them affords amusement for the young people. Mrs. J. Frank Scullin arrived home, on Wednesday afternoon, from Brunswick, Ga., where her husband has a good position.

The Epworth League has taken charge of Sunday evening meetings in the Pine Road Chapel, and reports large attendance and good interest. The new M. E. Sunday School, held in Temperance Hall, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, is prospering, having an attendance of over sixty.

Mr. J. S. Kent, of Ardmore, Pa., have rented a house in Hammonton, and will soon occupy it with his family. He comes here by advice of his home physician. Mr. Moses Stockwell started on Wednesday morning for western New York, - a combined business and pleasure trip. He spent last Sunday in Atlantic City.

Higgs & Elvins sold three "Midland" Safety bicycles within a week, - to Frank N. Thomas, Theo. Cuffman, and Bert. Filer; also, a "Strong" to Frank Lobdell. George H. Perkins, of Atlantic (a former Hammontonian), was elected Colonel of the Sons of Veterans, by the State Encampment, which met at Vineland, last week. Prof. W. B. Matthews has been elected Principal of the Atlantic City High School. Should be finally accept, our School Board would find it difficult to fill the vacancy. Thanks to Ross D. Bleckford for handsome straw berries. May the young man's success as a farmer be proportioned to the size of those berries, and as full as were the baskets. Inquire with A. H. Phillips, 1328 Atlantic Ave., Atlantic City.

United States Census.

Each State has from one to eleven census supervisors' districts, - 175 in all, and 42,000 enumerators. Every farm will be visited before June 30th, and the following questions (we omit many, containing crops not raised here) will be asked: - The figures you are to give nearly all pertain to the crops of 1890, and not to the growing crops of 1891:

1. Your name as occupant of the farm. 2. Are you owner, renter for money, or for share of the crops? 3. Are you white or black? 4. No. of acres, improved or unimproved. 5. Value of farm, buildings, implements, machinery and live stock. 6. Cost of building and repairing fences. 7. Cost of fertilizers. 8. Am't paid for labor, including board; weeks of hired labor, white or black. 9. Estimated value of all farm productions sold, consumed, or on hand. 10. Amount of wood cut, and value. 11. Acres of grass cut for hay or pastured; tons of hay and straw sold. 12. Barley, buckwheat, Indian corn, oats, rye, wheat, acres, crop amount of each sold and consumed, and value. 13. No. of horses, mules, and asses on hand: No. foaled during past year; No. died. 14. No. dogs. 15. No. working oxen, mitch cows, and other cattle on hand; No. of pure-bred, grade, and common; calves dropped in 1890; cattle sold, slaughtered for use, and killed. 16. Total gallons of milk produced; sold; used on farm, including for butter or cheese. Pounds of butter made. 17. No. swine raised; sold in 1890; consumed on farm, and died. 18. No. each of chickens, turkeys, geese, and ducks on hand; value of all poultry products sold; eggs produced, sold, and value. 19. No. stands of bees, pounds of honey and wax produced, and value. 20. Bushels sweet and Irish potatoes raised and sold. 21. No. acres in vegetables, blackberries, cranberries, raspberries, strawberries, and other small fruits, and total value of products in 1890. 22. Apples, cherries, peaches, pears, plums, and other orchard fruits; in each the No. of bearing trees, No. young trees; and value of all orchard products sold. 23. No. acres in grape vines in bearing, and in young vines; amount of product, and value. It is hoped that farmers will study the questions, be prepared to answer all the questions promptly, and to assist the enumerator in every possible way. He has a difficult and disagreeable task, and but a short time to finish it.

As a part of the census, special provision has been made by Congress for ascertaining the names of surviving soldiers, sailors, and marines who were mustered into the service of the United States during the war of the rebellion, and of the widows of soldiers, sailors and marines who have died; the organization or vessel in which the veterans served, the time of service, and present residence. In the case of widows, information regarding the service of their deceased husbands is also required.

The important nature of accurate statements concerning the military record of each participant in the late war should not be underestimated. It should be the duty, moreover, of every veteran soldier or sailor to see that the enumerator is placed in possession of the necessary information concerning his own service. If he cannot be at home when the enumerator calls he should leave a proper memorandum in the hands of his wife or other member of his household, so that the work may not be delayed, and that there may be no doubt as to the accuracy of the statements, which will include the name, company and regiment, rank, date of enlistment and discharge, length of service, in years, months, and days, and present address. Where a soldier or sailor re-enlisted or served in more than one organization or vessel, he should be very careful to give the term of service in each instance, and to cover each enlistment. In giving the organization, distinguish the arm of service, as cavalry, artillery, etc., and if he served under an assumed name, his statements should be made to cover both the name under which he served and the name by which he is now known.

Veterans will recognize and appreciate the value of this special census to them, and they should aid the census enumerators in getting true statements in every way possible. Without their cooperation correct results can not be reached. This personal appeal is made to them, therefore, in the hope that their attention may be specially directed to the importance of this work and the necessary information may be promptly supplied to the census enumerator when he calls some time during the month of June.

The census enumerator will next month visit every house and ask for the name of every person residing therein, with sex, age, and color, whether single, married, widowed or divorced, and whether married during census year.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT.

Never measure a man's hat to determine the amount of intellect he possesses.

He who gives himself airs of importance exhibits the credentials of imbecility.

Among the vast number of fools in this world there are only a few who are born so.

True practical philosophy makes the most of life's pleasures and the most of everything.

There is no road too long to the man who advances deliberately and without undue haste.

Fear makes everything and everybody masters of us; it is the worst slavery there is.

The man who is intoxicated with love should take a little marriage to sober him up.

Each day we need to take more forward step, till we gain power to study nobler things.

If laughing's a sin, I don't see what the sin lets so many funny things happen for.

There are no honors too distant to the man who prepares himself for them with patience.

Accepting praise that is not due is not much better than to be a receiver of stolen goods.

MARRIED life is too often like a game of checkers; the great struggle is to get into the king row.

A man with a head full of brains can afford to be careless once in a while, for even his blunders are brilliant.

A man who is neither good nor bad is like an old mule-laid away, without any lock, but a heavy charge in it.

The best sign that a man believes anything is his repetition of his formulae, but his impregnation with his spirit.

CALL a woman unkind, ill-tempered, odd, stupid and anything but ugly, and you need not despair of forgiveness.

The happiness of life is made up of minute fractions—of little incidents—of pleasurable thought and genial feelings.

A man who cannot be a good man in a small role of social acquaintance would find it much harder if he were higher up.

WOMEN are sceptical of a man's dependence upon them. They are more apt to be level in their own love and his power than his.

Those who have resources within themselves, who can dare to live alone, want friends the least, but at the same time, know how to prize them most.

There is a drowsy wrinkles in a face but neither fresh color to a fast friend which neither heat nor cold, nor misery, nor place nor destiny can alter or diminish.

PRINCIPLE, diligence and cheerfulness in private and inferior conditions, are the best preparations for and the surest pledges of good behavior in higher and more public situations.

There is nothing more unworthy of a man or that angers a greater want than to be a man who is not a man, a self younger. If we have lived well, we have lived long enough. If not, we have lived too long.

MAKING A CIGAR.

Some Details of a Great and Growing Industry.

The majority of the large and important cigar factories in this country are owned and managed by Germans or Hebrews, while the smaller and less known places are controlled by Bohemians, Italians and occasionally by Spaniards or Frenchmen.

Probably twenty thousand regular registered shops, large and small, where the work is carried on, and their number is being added to every month, for scarcely any industry in this nation has known a more rapid increase in the last few years.

Well, now and then there will be a steady, energetic fellow who may have 1,500 to his credit at the end of the week, but very rare is the man who can turn out about 1,000 per week, but most of them handle five over 80, and the large number of workers are satisfied if they can average wages for 600 when their weekly payday arrives.

Up to this time human ingenuity has failed to perfect any machine that can so easily compete with the pair of hands in making a cigar. All the articles that are needed nowadays to fashion a first-class cigar are the stock, the sharp knife that is used by the makers, a cutting board and the knowledge how to use the materials.

There is nothing more unworthy of a man or that angers a greater want than to be a man who is not a man, a self younger. If we have lived well, we have lived long enough. If not, we have lived too long.

The Brooklyn Divine's Sunday Sermon. Subject: "The Old Fight to be Settled."

TEXT: "Whatever you would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them." (Matt. 7:12).

Two hundred and fifty thousand laborers in the United States are engaged in the manufacture of cigars.

The antagonistic forces have again and again closed upon each other. You may hear them quarrel and quarrel they will.

Place—Andrew identifies the journey during which the severely wounded man was carried.

Reasons—Our Lord and a lawyer. In the parable, the traveler, the priest, the Levite, and Samaritan, and the host at an inn.

Incidents—The lawyer with his twisting tongue; the parable of the Good Samaritan in reply; the subsequent application of the parable to the lawyer.
