Camouflage Clothing

Camouflage Clothing looks like what it is not.

It is an imitation of something that is real, and fairly good for display purposes, but not built to stand the rigid test of wear. It is sometimes hard to distinguish between artfully camouflaged clothing made from cotton adulterated fabrics, and real clothing made of all wool.

Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes made for us are guaranteed all-wool cloths. They are real economy. They wear longer, and hold their shape.

Hart Schaffner & Marx suits at $20, $22.50, $25, $27.50, $30, and $32.50.

Men's Suits at $13.50, $15, and $18, military style, two and three button-models.

LIFE'S CONQUERING VISION

By the Rev. Frank L. Hanson

Topic: "Life's Conquering Vision." The text is from I Corinthians 15:1-10. "But we all with open face, beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord."

These words were penned by the Apostle Paul. He was writing to his converts in the city of Corinth. They were in need of instruction concerning the great fundamental truth of the Christian Gospel—namely, that men are saved from sin, not by their good works, but by the grace of God, through the sacrifice of Jesus Christ. Paul had visited Corinth a few years before this letter was written, and had organized the church of Christ in that city. After he had left there to proclaim his message in other places, the church which had given so much promise at the beginning had become a hotbed of dissensions. The reason for this was that Paul's ministry had been followed by the visitation of some Jewish Christians, who maintained that none could be really acceptable to God who did not unite a strict observance of all the Jewish customs, together with a faith in Christ. When Paul learned of this state of affairs, he was deeply grieved, and lost no time in getting into touch with the situation from every angle, to be rooted out at once, or of all his preaching in Corinth would come to naught. And hence his letter dealt with the situation from every angle, and makes it clear beyond all doubt that it is faith in Jesus Christ alone that secures man's redemption from sin and makes it possible to live a life that is well pleasing to God.

Now, the foremost reason why Paul insisted so strongly on this point was because of his own experience. He had been painstakingly careful before his conversion to observe all the requirements of the Jewish law. He never did anything by half measures, anyway. One day, however, a great event took place in his life. On that memorable journey to Damascus he caught a vision of Jesus as Saviour. He accepted Him as his Lord and Master, and found that act the deliverance he had hitherto sought in vain. The great quest of his life had been answered. He knew it, and went out to preach his experience to others. That experience and what he had accomplished for him explains the difference between the young man Saul, who held the garments of the executioner of Stephen, and the Paul who marched proudly to his death as a man servant of Jesus Christ. Paul's entire life had been transformed by the vision of Christ, and in this letter to the Corinthian church he keeps insisting upon that fact. Christ alone, and Christ alone, like transformation in others. A clear-cut vision of the Son of God held steadily in mind—that is, the vision of Christ as Saviour—like transformation in others. A clear-cut vision of the Son of God held steadily in mind—that is, the vision of Christ as Saviour—like transformation in others. A clear-cut vision of the Son of God held steadily in mind—that is, the vision of Christ as Saviour—like transformation in others.

The reason of this text is to recall to your mind that great truth which Paul declared nearly nineteen hundred years ago. It is not enough to say that it is necessary for us to ponder on this which was ever apparent in the thoughts of this great hero of the Christian Church. It is not enough to say that it is necessary for us to ponder on this which was ever apparent in the thoughts of this great hero of the Christian Church. It is not enough to say that it is necessary for us to ponder on this which was ever apparent in the thoughts of this great hero of the Christian Church.

NEW ANIMALS FROM CHINA

What is believed the largest collection of rare animals ever gathered in China, including tigers, bears, and other mammals, will shortly arrive at the American Museum of Natural History. The collection was received by Dr. Henry Fairfield Osborn, president of the museum, from a report from Roy C. Andrews, in charge of the Asiatic zoological expedition of the museum. Most of the work of the expedition was done in remote regions of Yunnan, and Mr. Andrews' party were the first white men to enter that territory. Accompanying Mr. Andrews was his wife, who is the official photographer of the party.

The report is a "grand" animal, resembling both the goat and the antelope, and the actor is much the same. Since this party has been in the region of the Himalayas, in the borderland between China and Tibet, and has made many trips into the interior, it is believed that they have secured a number of new species of animals. The report is a "grand" animal, resembling both the goat and the antelope, and the actor is much the same.

And while we may be in strange way, after all, it is in harmony with the general law which governs the world. The world is a great machine, and the law of the machine is that it must be kept in motion. The world is a great machine, and the law of the machine is that it must be kept in motion. The world is a great machine, and the law of the machine is that it must be kept in motion.

JESUS WARNS AND COMFORTS HIS DISCIPLES

Mark 13: 1-14, 2

Golden Text—He that endureth to the end, the same shall be saved. Mark 13: 13.

Our Lord's prediction of future events which occupies the whole of chapter 13 is one of the most puzzling passages in the Bible, because while the predictions are so definitely definite there is no way of explaining or analyzing them that does not bring one up against a snag.

As will be seen by reference to Matthew 24: 1-3, the question of the disciples was, "What shall be the sign of thy coming, and of the end of the world?" The first part of their question referred to the destruction of the Temple which Jesus had just predicted.

The second part referred to the Lord's assurance that He would not come back until they were all gathered together to Him again. (See John 16: 22.)

The third part, referred to the end of the world, or to the consummation of the age. The question of the disciples was, "What shall be the sign of thy coming, and of the end of the world?"

It is not possible now to know exactly to what Jesus referred when He spoke of the abomination of desolation. It is not possible now to know exactly to what Jesus referred when He spoke of the abomination of desolation. It is not possible now to know exactly to what Jesus referred when He spoke of the abomination of desolation.

The Christians did understand of the subject. The Christians did understand of the subject. The Christians did understand of the subject. The Christians did understand of the subject. The Christians did understand of the subject.

Mr. Williams' explanation, however, is not the only one. Mr. Williams' explanation, however, is not the only one. Mr. Williams' explanation, however, is not the only one. Mr. Williams' explanation, however, is not the only one. Mr. Williams' explanation, however, is not the only one.

This language seems plainly to be a reference to the destruction of the Temple. This language seems plainly to be a reference to the destruction of the Temple. This language seems plainly to be a reference to the destruction of the Temple. This language seems plainly to be a reference to the destruction of the Temple. This language seems plainly to be a reference to the destruction of the Temple.

EAT YOUR CAKE AND SAVE YOUR WHEAT, TOO

By Miriam Moses

IN SIGHT of the intensive wheat conservation and other economy which we are all practicing, we may still with proper planning, give our families cake once in a while. Since each one is supposed to use only one and one-half pounds of wheat each week, it is not the individual who shall dispense with her wheat, but the household as a whole. In her charge the ration of her family, can well arrange to have cake, provided she has learned how to make it. The wheat flour is the wheat and the wheat is the wheat. The wheat is the wheat. The wheat is the wheat. The wheat is the wheat.

One-eighth pound butter (four tablespoons). One and one-half cups powdered sugar. One egg. One cup flour. Half cup corn flour. Half cup cocoa. One-eighth teaspoon nutmeg. Two tablespoons baking powder. About one cup water. Mix as for cake, adding the cocoa, nutmeg, and baking powder sifted with the flour. This may either be baked in a layer cake, or in small cakes.

One-quarter cup vegetable oil. One cup molasses. One-eighth teaspoon soda. One-quarter cup milk. Yolks of two eggs. One-eighth pound chocolate. One and one-half cups corn flour. One and one-half cups baking powder. One-quarter teaspoon salt. White of two eggs. Add the soda to the molasses, and add this to the oil. Beat the yolks of the eggs, add the milk to them, and add to the mixture. Melt the chocolate over a water bath, and add it to the mixture. Sift the flour, baking powder, and salt, and add gradually to the mixture, stirring constantly in order to prevent lumps. When thoroughly mixed, add the white of the eggs, poured into well-beaten whites of eggs. Mix in well-greased cake pan, and bake in a moderate oven.

DREER'S 1918 GARDEN BOOK

LET THIS NEW BOOK HELP YOU IN YOUR GARDEN

As it did thousands of amateur gardeners last year, by telling how to plant and cultivate every vegetable and also the best kinds to grow. Its 256 pages are brimful of instructions and the four colored plates, four duotone plates, besides thousands of photographic illustrations enable you to see just what our seeds will produce. It also offers the choicest Flower Seeds, Roses, Dahlias, Hardy Perennials, etc., besides many things needed for Garden, Farm and Greenhouse.

You will need this book of reference many times during the season. Write today for a copy—sent free if you mention this publication.

My "Bit."

On Monday, I have a meatless day,
And sit in my coat and boots;
On Tuesday, I have a meatless day,
And live upon fish and fruits.

On Wednesday, I have a wheatless day,
And feast upon corn and rye;
On Thursday, another wheatless day,
Farewell to my cakes and pie!

On Friday, I have a meatless day,
Hail halibut, cod and clam!
On Saturday, I've a wheatless day,
And never a scrap of ham.

If Sunday should prove an eatless day
Small cause for complaint have we,
We're helping to make a BEATLESS day
For the brave boys over the sea.

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY.

To Frederick W. Cotting:
By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of the date hereof, in a certain case herein Mulinda M. Cotting is petitioner, and you are defendant, you are required to appear, and plead, answer or demur to petitioner's petition on or before the fifteenth day of July next, or in default thereof, such decree will be taken against you as the Chancellor shall think equitable and just.

The object of said suit is to obtain a decree of divorce, dissolving the marriage between you and the said petitioner. Dated May 13th, 1918.

Don't Take Any Chances

A battery may seem to be doing its job nearly as well as usual—may turn the engine over strongly enough to "get by"—may supply enough current for light—may produce a fairly hot spark—and may go on doing so right up to the point where the spark of life goes out.

If you don't know that your battery's in good health you're taking chances.
Drop in at the Service Station for ten minutes and let us test your battery.

And ask about the Still Better Willard—the only battery with the "Done Dry" principle that is your absolute assurance of getting a battery as new as the day it left the factory.
