SOLE AGENTS FOR

The Styron Fence Co.

This style of fencing is becoming very popular, being made from sharpened cedar pickets and heavy wire cables; and when properly put up makes one of the neatest and most durable fences in use, either for poultry yards or other enclosures. When in want, we will be pleased to quote prices.

DID YOU EVER

Stop to think what a fine piece of mechanism your watch is? and that you are injuring it by letting it run too long without having it cleaned and oiled?

A watch is injured more in one month, when running dirty, than in a year's time when properly cleaned and oiled.

Why neglect to have it cleaned, when you can get it done, and guaranteed, for One Dollar?

Our World's Fair Letter.

CHICAGO, JUNE 3, 1893.

Every weekday morning at 10:30, Mrs. Rorer gives a lecture in the Woman's building on the science of cooking, illustrated by actual work. Mrs. Rorer is principal of the Philadelphia Cooking School, and a well-known authority on cooking and its relation to hygiene. Her lectures are given from the model kitchen. It has encaustic tiled floor, and its furnishings are simple: A medium sized square table, a gas range, a small cupboard containing urns holding the material for the work, and molds of all shapes and sizes, flour bins fastened to the wall, containing corn, flour and corn-meal respectively, scales, measures, spices and flavors; another table, and a refrigerator.

Mrs. Rorer's fitness for her present position is very marked. She speaks from a thorough study of the chemistry of food, a knowledge of the laws of cooking and hygiene, coupled with twenty-six years' experience in the kitchen. She says she has cooked for a family of twelve for many years, edited a magazine, written a book each year, and lectured daily. Her eminent common sense is conspicuous at every point. "Large kitchens," she says, "are large nuisances. Have small kitchens, and everything so well arranged that you can lay your hand on it by turning around. The time and strength spent in walking around the kitchen would do the work of two families, if properly used." Again—"That time-honored custom of greasing the pans before putting in the bread or cake dough is worth no more, than the custom. Trial has shown that the bread or cake is less likely to stick without the greasing; for after the butter grease evaporates the solid parts harden and cement the dough to the pan. Smart fellows have taken advantage of this fact to sell to house keepers baking pans with removable bottoms that do not need greasing. It is true that they do not need greasing, but neither does any other that is in good condition."

Her bias for economy is dominant everywhere. She says "Buy round steak; let people that don't know any better pay for their sirloin and porterhouse; for when properly prepared it is better than either." While trimming the crust from a delicious looking pie, she remarked, "Use more head work and less coal; when you are boiling anything do not get up a terrific fire; the things do not cook any quicker. Water boils at 212 degrees, and does not get any hotter, no matter how hot the fire. I have done the cooking for a large family from October to May with only two tons of coal." No one visiting the Fair can afford to miss this opportunity, which is offered without price.

Is anything lacking to complete the pleasure and charm of this wonderful exposition? After the eyes tire from continued gazing upon the beautiful, the curious, the ingenious, the brilliant, how delightful to drop into a seat in the deep shadow of some building and, fanned by the cool lake breezes, listen to the sweetest music a band can make. Sousa's Marine Band now plays every afternoon for several hours, in the open air; and no one spoils the harmony by passing around the hat.

The wooded island, with thousands of beautiful and rare plants and shady trees, is becoming a great centre of attraction these warm days. This isle is a third of a mile long and a quarter of a mile wide. It is right in the middle of the park. Here, if you wish, you can find a shady, grassy nook, that will give you rest and quiet while you eat your lunch; or, if you wish, here you will see the exposition of Nature, with sights enough to keep you busy for hours wondering and admiring.

ADAM ANTINE.

The eulogies and deification of that traitor, Jeff. Davis, suggest that some one sing praises to the memory of Aaron Burr and Benedict Arnold, and tell the people of to-day what patriots they were.

The new immigration regulations provide that if immigrants are unable to produce documents or information to show by whom their passage was paid, whether they were ever in prison or poorhouse, or whether they are under contract to labor in this country, then the captain of the vessel bringing them here must pay $10 to the Collector of Customs or take them back. The friends of undesirable immigrants would be quite willing to pay the extra $10 to get rid of such men, and, as steamship companies are in business for all they can make, there is a loophole here for the landing of immigrants of every class. There is nothing to prevent $10 being paid to the company in addition to the regular fare. Secretary Carlisle should amend the regulations so as to actually prohibit the landing of all who do not produce the required documents and information.

President Cleveland, in an interview, declared that he would convene Congress in extra session between September first and fifteenth. He said the financial condition of the country required such action, and intimated that he thought the Sherman Silver law responsible for the outflow of gold. He advised coolness among the bankers and study and reflection among the people.

At the Weather Bureau, it was given out that Monday was the hottest day of that date for the past twenty-five years.

Free-traders say that free-trade will stimulate the importation of foreign goods and at the same time give the American workman more to do. How?

LESSON BURKHOODINGS. INTERVENING DISCOURSE.—In Ecclesiastes 5: 13-17 the preacher sets forth more fully the vanity of riches, and in verses 18-20 he shows that wealth can be enjoyed only when God gives power to do so, which, however, is frequently withheld (chap. 6: 1-8). From this point of view the book can be regarded as a warning against the pursuit of wealth, and as a warning against the pursuit of power.

PAINT! PAINT!
THE HAMMONTON.
When you buy the Hammonton Paint, you do not buy seven-eighths of a gallon for a gallon, or three pints for a half gallon; nor do you get one of those packages that weigh 12 to 14 pounds, and containing so much alkali that it appears to be so thick that it is impossible to use it without thinning; but in buying the Hammonton you get a full standard gallon of paint, weighing 14 to 16 pounds to the gallon, made from the best materials known to the trade, and costs the consumer from $1 to $1.50 per gallon for honest paint.

If the purchaser doesn't want honest paint, and wants to be honest to himself, then be sure to buy the Hammonton Paint, and the manufacturer will give a receipt with every gallon sold telling you how to make two gallons of paint out of one of the Hammonton. It will cost 33 cents for the extra gallon.

One Dollar.
And then here comes Commercial Paint, in 30 shades,—the best wearing paint ever put on the market for so low a price as $1 per gallon, and guaranteed to be a first-class wearing paint. If any one should not want to pay so high a price for a good exterior paint, then work the 33-cent receipt, and get two gallons for $1.33. Manufactured at Hammonton Paint Works.

There has not been very much said about the tariff since the election was over. Our friends, the enemy, have seen at a glance that they cannot abolish the tariff and keep their house running.
Hence they are pretty still; but the fact that wise men will get up and declare that American manufacturers can successfully compete with European manufacturers when our country pays $1 wages, when the other country pays $1; where one country, too, has its mines close by its factories, its factories close by its ships ready at any time to transport to the uttermost parts of the world any foreign manufactured goods; to say that our new country, with roads undeveloped, with mines undeveloped, with wages two to one against those of England,—to say that such a country, without the support of the Government behind it, could succeed, is to discount every law of arithmetic and logic, and to advertise that the world must be on a crazy streak because it cannot see that two times two are six. We need the tariff.—Tribune, Salt Lake City, Utah.

Edwin Booth, the great American actor, died at the Players' Club in New York, early Wednesday morning, in the sixtieth year of his age. He was the last of a series of eminent tragedians, to whom no worthy successors have as yet appeared.

Gen. Foraker stirred up some folks by his Memorial Day speech; but the ex-Governor is somewhat addicted to that habit. He simply contrasted the services of Lincoln and Daves, Grant and Lee, Beauregard and Sherman, and asked a very natural question as to which was right, since their aims were as antagonistic as they could be. Some thin-skinned people thought this was not nice in Foraker, although the pageantry of Jeff. Davis' removal was then being flaunted before the eyes of the country.

Good authority states that the cholera in Europe and Asia is engendered and fostered by insufficient food, bordering on famine. Hammonton will escape the scourge, if that is its chief cause, for everything that grows in our looking prosperous.

Children's Sunday will be observed to-morrow, by the Universalists, the founders of this happy day for the little folks. Services will be held at the consisting of music, singing, and recitations by the children, a short talk by the pastor, and christening of one or more children. All are cordially invited to attend.

Some of the old soldiers, who have watched the opponents of the present pension rules, say that if the government will pay them the difference between the depreciated paper currency which they received, and the gold paid to bond-holders, with interest to date, they will ask for no pensions.
They simply ask for the same that the bond-holders received,—the same money and interest.
But two scholars in the Higher Department of the Hammonton schools succeeded in passing at the advanced course examination this year,—Albert L. Jackson and John E. Hogg. The new course of study makes graduation more difficult than heretofore; and the averages required are high,—as they should be. Hereafter, there will be no general examination; each pupil's daily record of work will be counted, instead of what he does in a few days at the end of each term.
Some one asks what rights riders of bicycles have on the streets. Under the law and court decisions, just the same rights as the driver of a team—no more, no less. In 1885, our Town Council passed an ordinance forbidding the riding of bicycles or tricycles on the sidewalks of Hammonton. In 1889, Council passed a resolution instructing the Marshal to enforce obedience to said ordinance within one-half mile in every direction from the post-office corner. That settles it.
The following pupils of the Elm

The First Ward

Mrs. and Miss Green have returned from New York City, to their home at First Road and Eleventh Street. Miss Minnie has been attending the Cooper Institute, going crayon portrait work.
Chas. Geppert is home from Philadelphia, for a vacation.
By the way, do you Second Warders know what improvements are going on this side of the railroad? Among them, Will Brown has the foundation ready for a house, on Twelfth Street. Mrs.
Geppert has had her house newly clapboarded, new windows and doors put in, with internal improvements; but it's the same house. John Welby's house has been newly clap-boarded also, and is ready for the painters. Edw.
Strickland was the "boss" on these two jobs. Ed. Johnson has added a porch to his house.

Up to the present time the attendance at the World's Fair has been far short of the most conservative calculation. This is attributed to various causes, among which the unfinished buildings and exhibits, the reports of extortionate charges for living expenses, the weather and high railway fares seem to predominate. In fact, the last is generally considered the weightiest, and it is understood that strenuous efforts will be made to secure a concerted action on the part of the railroads in a reduction of fare to one-half the regular rates. Such a movement would undoubtedly result in a largely increased attendance, but the prospect is that there will be a heavy deficit even under the most favorable circumstances.

Between the Compound Oxygen Treatment of Diseases and that by the use of Drugs? It is an important one.

Drugs are taken into the stomach. For this reason their action is not direct. Compound Oxygen is taken into the lungs, and, therefore, comes immediately into contact with and is absorbed into the blood. Drugs, being generally poisonous, act by causing a disturbance in the body. Compound Oxygen, being composed of the elements of the air, and acting upon the blood, is not open to this objection.

But, however it may act, it has certainly cured many cases of chronic disease, in which drugs have failed. This is the point of greatest interest to all chronic sufferers. To all such we say: Send for our book of 200 pages,—sent free. Read for yourselves what Compound Oxygen is, how it acts, and, above all, what it has accomplished.
