Two monuments in honor of the Confederate dead were dedicated near Richmond.

At a time when the prices of all the necessities are the lowest ever known and wages about the highest, the Democrats have undertaken to show the workmen of the country that there is something radically wrong in our whole economic system, and demand that the nation shall trust them to make an experimental change.

At Columbus, O., on the 2nd of September 1872, an eminent man said in the course of a political speech: "Gentlemen, you will never have any genuine reform in the civil service until you adopt the one-term principle in reference to the presidency." The speaker was Allen G. Thurman, who is this year the Democratic nominee for vice-president, and his present position is consistent with his own and his party's record. For whereas the Democrats shouted for reform in 1872, they are not shouting for it this year, but for the offices.

Emperor Frederick, of Germany, died last week Friday. His funeral was very impressive and was attended by many signs of popular grief.

The Democratic party will be handicapped in the coming fight by the fact that the great mass of the party has no sincere opinion on the question of Free Trade. The party itself has so juggled with this question that no member of it could possibly have any sincere conviction in favor of Free Trade. The Democrats have used Horace Greeley, the great advocate of Protection, as their candidate, and in the last campaign the tariff plank was interpreted to mean Protection by Mr. Randall in New Jersey and Pennsylvania and Free Trade in Kentucky by Mr. Watterson. All through the last campaign orators vouched for Grover Cleveland as an antagonist to Free Trade. Can such a party be at once united on a matter of principle?

The President denounces all criticism of his civil service policy as an unbecoming exhibition of "peevish ignorance." This is very like pouring salt into the wounds of the unhappy Mugwumps.

It was difficult even for the strongest friends of Blaine to curb and keep in check the unorganized enthusiasm which the memories of his magic name and presence have aroused at Chicago. If he had allowed his name to go before the Convention a single ballot would have settled it.

There will be enough unselfish patriotism in the Chicago Convention to nominate an acceptable ticket and enough Republican votes in the country to elect it. This is not a prophecy; it is a proclamation.

In his letter dated August 18th, 1884, accepting the nomination for President, Mr. Cleveland used this language:

"When we consider the patronage of this great office, the allurements of power, the temptation to retain place once gained, and more than all, the availability a party finds in an incumbent whom a horde of officeholders, with a zeal born of benefits and fostered by the hope of favors yet to come, stand ready to aid with money and trained political service, we recognize in the eligibility of the President for re-election a most serious danger to that calm, deliberate, and intelligent political action which must characterize a government by the people."

And this same Grover Cleveland, as President of the United States, has used all this "horde" and every power granted him, to secure a re-nomination; and has been re-nominated. What think you of such inconsistency?

The Democrats are beginning to take the ground that Custom House removals of Republicans because their places are wanted for Democrats are all right. But not from the standpoint of Mr. Cleveland, as a Reformer. Let him abandon his hypocrisy and make his professions square with the practice of his Secretary of the Treasury, who is not an independent adviser as Manning was, but the supple agent of Presidential wishes.

Dubois, in Western Pennsylvania, was visited by a conflagration in which 300 houses were destroyed and 4000 people rendered homeless.

Ex-Governor Abbot and other lawyers argued in a Trenton Court that the High-Licence-Local-Option-law is unconstitutional.

Electric Bitters.

This remedy is becoming so well known and so popular as to need no special mention. All who have used Electric Bitters sing the same song of praise. A purer medicine does not exist, and it is guaranteed to do all that is claimed. Electric Bitters will cure all diseases of the liver and kidneys, will remove pimples, boils, salt rheum, and other affections caused by impure blood. Will drive malaria from the system and prevent as well as cure all malarial fevers. For cure of headache, constipation, and indigestion, try Electric Bitters. Entire satisfaction guaranteed, or money refunded. Price, 50 cts and $1 per bottle, at Cochran's drug store.

DR. TALMAGE'S SERMON.

The Assassination.

Whoever does not bear his cross... The cross was a gibbet on which criminals were put to death.

When Darius conquered Babylon, he put two hundred captives to death on the cross.

An ordinary mode of punishment. But in all the forest of crosses on the hills, and in the valleys of the earth.

There is one cross that is not higher than the others, it is not made out of different wood, there is nothing peculiar in the notch at which the victim is fastened.

Through the darkness of that gloomy day, I come close enough up to the cross to see who it is. It is Jesus.

Through the darkness of that gloomy day, I come close enough up to the cross to see who it is. It is Jesus. He had been scourged. He was horrified at the cruelties of the whipper.

There were the marks where the knots in the whips gouged out the flesh. There stood the persecutor, with his hands on his hips, and his eyes fixed on the face of the Saviour, balancing himself.

THE WEIGHT OF THE CROSS. Christ being weary and sick, stumbles and falls, and they jerk at His robe, indignant that He should have stumbled.

Oh, my soul, He is dead! Can you tell why? Was He a fanatic, dying for a people that did not amount to anything? Was He a man infatuated?

Now, they have arrived at the foot of the hill. Off with His clothes. Shall that loathsome man be crucified with the crucified body of Christ? Yes, The commanding officers say: "Unfasten the girdle, take off the coat, strip Him."

THE GAMBLERS. tossing up coin on the ground, saying: "Who shall have the coat?" One ruffian says: "I have it, I have it, I have it."

They stretch Christ upon it, and four or five men hold Him down while they drive the spikes home, as every thump passes on and the bones come when they must crucify Him.

It is not the picture of a Christ, it is not the statue of Christ, as you sometimes see in a cathedral; but it is the body of a bleeding, living, dying Christ.

There are two wounds for the side; they say, five wounds. So, they have the most. Did you ever see the blemish out of which that crown of thorns was made?

THREE OR FOUR ANGELS. that made that scene worse. First, there was the absence of water. The climate was hot, the fever, the inflammation, the gangrene, had seized upon Him, and He terribly wanted water.

There are hundreds of men and women here, brave enough in their lives in life who simply for the lack of manliness and womanliness stay away from God. They dare not say: "I am a sinner."

THE HOURS PASS ON, and it is twelve o'clock of the Saviour's suffering, and it is one o'clock, and it is two o'clock, and it is almost three o'clock. Take the last look at that suffering face; wan and pined, the purple lips drawn back against the teeth, the eyes red with weeping, and sunken as though grief had pined them back; blackness under the lower lid, the whole body adrop and shivering with the last chill, the hair growing feebly, and feet like ice.

Oh, my soul, He is dead! Can you tell why? Was He a fanatic, dying for a people that did not amount to anything? Was He a man infatuated?

How do you feel in regard to that scene described in the text, and in your own minds about the text? Are you sympathized or are you so dead in sin, and so abandoned, by reason of your transgressions, that you can not feel the death of Christ?

But how are you going to test your love, and test your earnestness? My text gives a test. It says, that while Christ carried.

A CROSS FOR YOU. you must be willing to carry a cross for Christ. "Well," you say, "I never could understand that."

There is one cross that is not higher than the others, it is not made out of different wood, there is nothing peculiar in the notch at which the victim is fastened.

For my vesture did they cast lots. And I say to Him: "Thine eyes are cast as though from loss of sleep." He says: "Yes, the Son of man had to suffer as these things should be."

THE SCOTTISH CHIEFTAINS. wanted to raise an army, they would make a wooden cross, and then set it on fire, and carry it with other crosses they had, through the mountains, through the highlands, and among the people, and as they went, the cross the people would gather to the standard and fight for Scotland.

THE MISER'S DAUGHTER. A Modern Romance with a Happy Ending—How a Young Lover Became a Prisoner for His.

A GREEK ARCHITECT. You build me a coliseum, a grand coliseum, and I will give you a crown in the presence of all the people, and I will make a great day of festival on your account.

THE ARTIFICIAL GRASSES. The artificial grasses are mostly leguminous plants with a few stems which are cut and used like the grasses, although they do not properly belong to that family.

GERMANY'S POTATO CROP. Germany, in her crop fields and her clumps, old-fashioned agricultural work, has raised six times as many potatoes as the United States.

The Republican.
(Entered as second class matter.)
HAMMONTON, ATLANTIC CO., N. J.
SATURDAY, JUNE 23, 1888.

The Republican National Convention met in Chicago on Tuesday last, and has been the centre of interest for all classes and conditions of men. Of course, there are rumors and surmises by the score, as to who the nominees will be, but no one knows, up to this writing, Friday,—and it is useless to try to guess. John M. Thurston, of Nebraska, was made temporary Chairman and the usual appointment of Committees, seemingly useless speechifying, curiously worded resolutions, and various miscellaneous business occupied the first day.
On Wednesday, Morris B. Estee, of California, was made permanent Chairman. There was nothing of special interest done, being chiefly occupied in speeches. Probably no nomination will be made until today; possibly not this week—there are so many candidates to vote for until dropped.
On Thursday, the following candidates for the Presidential nomination were introduced to the Convention: John Sherman, of Ohio; Chauncey M. Depew, New York; Jos. R. Hawley, of Connecticut; Gov. Ruess, of Wisconsin; Wm. Allison, of Iowa; Benj. Harrison, of Indiana; Russell A. Alger, Michigan; Walter G. Grosvenor, of Illinois; Edwin H. Fitch, of Pennsylvania. Balloting was to begin on Friday. May the best man win. The Press says: "It looks more like Blaine than ever."
The platform adopted is, as usual, a straight forward statement of sound political doctrine. We shall publish at least a synopsis of it next week.
"We, the people," is the power that speaks at Chicago. At St. Louis it was "I, Grover Cleveland."
Residents should be very careful, these hot days, and not throw slops, oyster shells, etc., in miscellaneous places. There's malaria, cholera, and death in it. Keep everything as clean as possible. This is the busy season for our Board of Health.
Mr. John H. Marshall, a well known citizen, has established a messenger agency between Hammonton and Philadelphia, and will transact any business for you. For the present, he goes to the city on Tuesdays and Fridays. Leave orders at Simons' Bakery.
It is expected that a large crowd will be at the Park on the Fourth. Now that the "Sons" have taken a hand to help the "old soldiers" any innocent amusement that can be had, will enable all to have a pleasant time. Everybody should turn out.
List of unclaimed letters remaining in the Post Office at Hammonton, N. J., Saturday, June 23rd, 1888:
Mrs. John H. Loy.
Mr. L. A. Fisk.
Persons calling for any of the above letters will please state that it has been advertised.
Cyrus F. Osmond, P. M.
There now! They say that certain citizens of ours have formed a base-ball club to be known as the "Bald-headed nine," and propose to challenge the veteran "Plug-hats." We might name the members of the new club, but refrain lest they call unexpectedly and send reader us eligible.
Geo. A. Rogers' Sunday School class (young adults), with other invited friends, spent last Friday evening at his residence, at Elm. It is unnecessary to say why they had a delightful time, for their host insured that. The only drawbacks seemed to be an unruly horse and the inconveniences of picking strawberries by lantern-light.

Consumption Can be Cured!
By the use of
Crescent Cough Cordial.
If taken in time. Or, perhaps, it would be better to say there would be no such thing as Consumption, in most cases, if care were taken to relieve the first symptoms of lung troubles; and for the purpose nothing can beat
Crescent Cough Cordial.
