DR. JOHN BULL'S Smith's Tonic Syrup FOR THE CURE OF FEVER and AGUE Or CHILLS and FEVER, AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine has the justly claims for its superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the cure of FEVER, AGUE, CHILLS and MALARIAL DISEASES. He refers to the entire Western and South Western country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case what ever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of BULL'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient.

BULL'S SARSAPARILLA is the old and reliable remedy for impurities of the blood and Scrofulous Affections—the King of Blood Purifiers. DR. JOHN BULL'S VEGETABLE WORM DESTROYER is prepared in the form of candy drops, attractive to the sight and pleasant to the taste.

Letters From the Far West. NO. V BY MRS. MARIA M. KING. DENVER.

To the Editor of the South Jersey Republican: Connected with the smelter proper is the Sampling House, where ore is tested as to its quality. Ore is graded at the mines, being usually separated into three grades. Each grade is tested at the sampling house thus: after the ore is pulverized and thoroughly mixed, ten or twelve scoops are taken from it, each scoop from a different part of the pile; this ore is then thoroughly mixed together, and a single scoop taken from it and assayed. This assay is supposed to reveal the fair average value of the ore. Ore is bought and sold according to its valuation thus decided.

The Argo Smelting works, situated five miles outside the city, are much more extensive than Grant's. At these works the various metals are extracted from the ore; as gold, silver, copper, iron, lead, etc., whereas, at the other, only silver-bullion. We did not visit these works. On the afternoon of our visit to the smelter there was a furious storm of wind, hail and rain. There was a large circus in the vicinity, and the main tent, which was crowded with people, was broken down by the weight of the hail and water on the canvas. Strange to say, no one was killed, though some were hurt.

I must not omit to mention what may be of interest to some people in Hammonton, that I attended several sessions of court in Denver while the suit was on trial brought by the heirs of the late Norman L. Rood, to set aside the will of the latter. This Rood was the first husband of Mrs. Sampson of Hammonton, from whom she was divorced many years ago, and the father of her daughter Annie or Annie. She had three children by this first marriage. Mr. R. married a second time, had one son by this marriage, his second wife leaving about two years after marriage and obtaining a divorce. He married a third wife, who proved his match in viciousness. Some years ago he became partially paralyzed, and by degrees lost his faculties, becoming almost imbecile, his wife, meantime, getting complete control of him and his affairs. His will was made after he had thus become a child under her control, and made in her favor, completely disinheriting his four children. The son by the second marriage is an invalid almost exactly like Annie. All this and much more appeared from the testimony. The jury gave a verdict for the heirs, and there is no danger of any court reversing the decision, if the case should be carried up, which is not likely to be. The law in Colorado gives the widow half the estate of her deceased husband. There is said to be $40,000 or more involved in the issue. So, we will all be glad that fortune has favored Annie. We met Mrs. Sampson in the city and visited several places of interest in her company, and also became acquainted with her son, Mr. Rood, and her son-in-law, Dr. French, during the progress of the trial.

We attended memorial services on Sunday, the 25th ult., conducted at the First Congregational Church, by the pastor, Rev. Myron Reed. The G. A. R. were assembled in the church, and the Rev. gentleman's address worthy the occasion—worthy the veterans assembled, and of the departed heroes whose services for our country were being commemorated. Decoration was duly observed. On Sunday, June 1st, we attended at the First Baptist Church, listened to the Rev. Mr. Jeffrey, the pastor. We were well pleased with the sermon. He preached a gospel that liberalists can endorse, showing that Love is the fulfilling of the Law, and that they who obey its behests in dealing with others are accepted of God—their good works are of some avail to them. The text was—"A new commandment give I unto you, that ye love one another;" and the sermon was an endorsement of the apostle James' idea of religion. By the way, this western air seems to be favorable to liberal ideas.

There is nothing narrow and contracted in Nature as it meets the eye here; and it appears as though free-born minds are shaping themselves after this model. The boundless plains, the solemn sublime mountains, and the wild breezes that sweep freely over all, somehow, seem to make their impress upon the spirit, and enlarge it to the conception of grander ideas of God and religion than are taught by the cramped creeds of the olden time. At all events, the spirit of the age, speaking in the language of a Beecher, a Swing and a Thomas, and many others who partake of their spirit, at the east, exhibits itself here without hindrance,—speaking from Baptist, Congregational, and Methodist pulpits. In fact, the spirit cannot be stifled; and all the protests and trials for heresy, only serve to fan the flame of fire and independent thought on religious subjects, which is surging over the land like a resistless wave, wherever truth loving Americans are to be found. The people of Denver must be a church going people—at least many of them are, as I judge from the throngs I saw going to and from the several churches on the two Sundays I was there. And I am sure that an intelligent, soberminded person may well love to attend church, and may be benefitted thereby, if he can listen to such discourses as I did there.

Vegetation in Denver and vicinity is nearly three weeks behind that in South Jersey. It is an exceptionally cold and late season here. It rained nearly every day in the afternoon during the two weeks we spent in the city. The melting of the great body of snow in the mountains is causing floods in some of the streams, and much damage is anticipated in some quarters. The artesian wells, of which there are thirty or more in the city, are proving of great advantage to the people. The water found in them is clear and healthy, while that from the Holly Water Works, taken from the Platte, up in the canyon, is turbid and unhealthy. The well water is carried around to those who do not have wells or access to them. The abundant rains are of great advantage to the farmers in this country, as they will nearly if not altogether obviate the necessity for irrigation in making their early crops. Our stay in Denver was made very pleasant by finding some old acquaintances and making some pleasant ones. At our next visit there we shall feel less like strangers than at former ones. MARIA M. KING.

THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bonds which have connected them with another, and to assume, among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just power from the consent of the governed; that whenever a form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or abolish it, and to institute a new government, laying its foundations on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness.

Prudence, indeed, will dictate that governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly, all experience hath shown that mankind are more disposed to suffer while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed.

But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object, evinces a design that they should be changed, it is their duty, to throw off such government, and to provide new guards for their future security.

Such has been the patient sufferance of these colonies, that they have borne the long and oppressive train of abuses and usurpations, which have endeavored to bring them under the absolute despotism of a tyrant.

He has refused his assent to laws the most wholesome and necessary for the public good. He has forbidden his governors to pass laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation, till his assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of representation in the Legislature—a right inestimable to them, and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the repository of the public records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved representative houses frequently, for opposing to him laws for his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused, for a long time after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected, whereby the legislative powers, incapable of annihilation, have returned to the people at large for their exercise; the State remaining, in the meantime, exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without, and convulsions within.

He has endeavored to prevent the population of these States; for that purpose obstructing the laws for the naturalization of foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migration hither, and raising the conditions of naturalization of lands.

He has obstructed the administration of justice, by refusing his assent to laws for establishing judiciary powers.

He has made judges dependent on his will alone for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us in times of peace, standing armies, without the consent of our Legislature.

with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever. He has abdicated government here, by declaring us out of his protection, and waging war against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is at this time transporting large armies of foreign mercenaries to complete the works of death, desolation, and tyranny already begun with circumstances of cruelty and perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbaric ages, and totally unworthy the head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow-citizens, taken captive on the high seas, to bear arms against their country, to expose the execution of their friends and brethren, or to fall themselves by their hands.

He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavored to incite the inhabitants of our frontiers to merciless Indian savages, whose known rule of warfare is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes, and conditions.

In every stage of these oppressions we have petitioned for redress in the most humble terms; our repeated petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A prince whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a tyrant, is unfit to be a ruler of a free people.

Now have we been wanting in our attention to our British brethren. We have warned them from time to time, of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have pleaded for their sympathy.

We have reminded them of the duties which we owe to each other as fellow-men, and by the authority of the good people of these colonies, solemnly published and declared that these united colonies, are, and of right ought to be, free and independent States; that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown, and that all political connection between them and the state of Great Britain is, and ought to be, totally dissolved; and that, as free and independent States, they have full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract alliances, establish commerce, to send and receive ambassadors, to enter into all the rights which independent States may of right do. And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor.

We, therefore, the representatives of the United States of America, in general Congress assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the name and by the authority of the good people of these colonies, solemnly publish and declare that these united colonies, are, and of right ought to be, free and independent States; that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown, and that all political connection between them and the state of Great Britain is, and ought to be, totally dissolved; and that, as free and independent States, they have full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract alliances, establish commerce, to send and receive ambassadors, to enter into all the rights which independent States may of right do. The Fourth came in as quietly as a summer Sunday. Clouds obscured the rainbow, and were not entirely dispelled during the day. The picnic at the Park was largely attended, however, and the published programme was carried out. A quartette sang two or three selections. Miss Emma Pressey read the grand Old Declaration in a clear and distinct voice. Rev. Mr. Wapples made a short, appropriate, and pleasing address. The band played several pieces, very satisfactorily. Gen. Briggs and Rev. Davies were called upon to speak, and responded briefly. Baskets were neatly emptied, the refreshment stand was well patronized, and everybody seemed happy.

By request, we tender Miss Nivison's sincere thanks to the people of Hammonton who have manifested her by their sympathy during the time of trouble and sorrow. She appreciates kind words, and will, if occasion ever arises, manifest her gratitude in a more substantial manner. Kind words spoken when a fellow being is in trouble, frequently return to us, increased four-fold, when we in turn need a friend.

And now, in our opinion, enough has been said in regard to the late sad affair at the Nivison Home. We have given our readers such facts as we gathered from personal observation, have published the written opinions of those who know Miss Nivison well, and the avowed testimony of several who know all about the management of the Home, and we feel that the lady founder is exonerated by every fair-minded reader. Hereafter, we shall make little reference to the matter, unless some new phase of persecution is developed.

The Fourth came in as quietly as a summer Sunday. Clouds obscured the rainbow, and were not entirely dispelled during the day. The picnic at the Park was largely attended, however, and the published programme was carried out. A quartette sang two or three selections. Miss Emma Pressey read the grand Old Declaration in a clear and distinct voice. Rev. Mr. Wapples made a short, appropriate, and pleasing address. The band played several pieces, very satisfactorily. Gen. Briggs and Rev. Davies were called upon to speak, and responded briefly. Baskets were neatly emptied, the refreshment stand was well patronized, and everybody seemed happy.

Attend the fire meeting, Saturday evening next. William Womeldorf, of this place, died Thursday, after a lingering illness.

Mrs. Tomlin is having another wing added to her already very roomy building, on Bellevue Avenue. John Rosenbaum, who was injured at the late collision, is once more handling baggage on the old road.

For Sale.—A fall-blooded 'Jersey' heifer, eight months old. Inquire of A. C. Wernhamann, Hammonton.

It seems that —, here, and one near-by, have been converted into dispensaries, where the sick (?) resort very frequently for the medicine (?) they need 'for their stomachs' sake!

One-half of the year 1884 has gone. What will the latter half bring you? Do you suppose the world, or any one in it, will be any wiser or better because of your advice and example during the next six months?

FIRE.—A public meeting will be held at Union Hall, on Saturday evening, July 12th, at eight o'clock, to take steps toward organizing a fire company in Hammonton. All are urgently requested to be present and lend aid and encouragement to the enterprise, which must commend itself to every person in this entire community.

Prof. Fowler must have had his rain-producing apparatus at work last Tuesday, for a more delightful succession of showers we seldom have. It was interesting to watch the alternate bursts of sunshine (as though the 'Fog' had allowed the machine to stop while he rested), and the renewed energy with which the refreshing drops were poured down when he again seized the crank. Truly, this minor under eighteen is a grand institution, and the discoverer a public benefactor, if the rain of Tuesday was a fair sample of his work.

Now that the date is set for a public meeting in the interest of a fire company, or to devise measures to protect property from fire risk, we hope every man interested in Hammonton's welfare will attend. Mr. C. S. King is entitled to credit for his active interest in the movement, and his offer to attend to all the legal business incident to the organization. The question of water supply will have to be considered. Such of our readers as have any plans to suggest, should have their ideas well considered, ready for presentation, for this has risen to a question of vital importance. The day cannot be far distant when the better class of insurance companies will refuse to take risks near the station, or will charge extra rates for insurance. Now is the time for business.

Having a desire to see the method of work adopted by the Fruit Growers' Union, we spent an hour at the Union Depot, last Tuesday evening. The first thought was that shippers were not at all crowded—there is room to drive in and turn around, and even to move over the pile of empty crates, without interfering with your neighbor. The great building—4280 feet, two stories high—seems to be just the thing needed. The Union buy crates by the thousand, and baskets by the hundred—thousand, and when a member wants either, he knows where to find them, and the payments are made, easy. There, too, are stored the crates furnished by the commission men, for the use of those who have the fruit but lack capital to buy the packages. But the leading and hitting was chiefly interesting to us. 'Team after team came in, with from one to twenty-one crates of raspberries, drove up to the car, where the Shipping Agent, Mr. Adams, received and examined the manifest, and if correct passed it to the Clerks—Messrs. Smith and Oliver—who made out the railroad manifest, and also made up from the small manifests a larger one for each commission man. In the meantime, another employe of the Union has received the crates and carefully packed them in the car. One crate for each consignor is held in reserve until train time, when it is placed the manifest just completed, from which he can learn at a glance how many crates he and the train has brought him, and by whom each was shipped. In a book is made a copy of each of the manifests, which are very convenient in case of dispute. For the simplifying of business, avoiding the loss of packages, the securing of direct and convenient transportation, at reasonable rates, the Union has proved profitable to all its members. The daily dispatches, too, are appreciated, a printed copy being delivered to each member who desires it, before shipping, time every day. We publish on another page, the form of these dispatches, as sent out yesterday. When reports are in their height, there are at times reports from as many as twenty-five thirty different houses, and shippers learn to know where and to whom to ship that day's picking.

Winslow, from the W. J. Press.—The boarding-house at this place is being thoroughly renovated.

The fires in the window-glass and hollow-ware factories were put out for the summer months.

After a period of forty years, the firm name of Hy & Co. passed out of existence on Monday, when the new firm of Trilley, Dewese & Co., of Philadelphia, took possession of the Winslow Glass Works, having leased the property for one year, with the privilege of five years. The lease includes the three factories and all the dwelling houses. Operations will be resumed in the Fall, when some radical changes and improvements may be looked for.

The democracy of the county should not be hungry for candidates in the coming campaign. They are offered Veal or Cake by the Peck.

NEW YORK TRIBUNE.

SPECIAL OFFER.
Eight Months for 66 Cents.
A Good Watch as a Premium.

Until May 1, 1884, orders will be received for the New York Weekly Tribune, 8 months, for $1.32.
An extra copy will be sent with every club of ten.
As a premium for clubs of 3 months' subscription,
The Tribune will give a Waterbury watch in nickel silver case, a good, satisfactory, and handsome article, keeping as perfect time as a gold watch worth $150. See terms below.

In part, the object is to widen the immense subscription list of the Tribune toward rolling up the campaign circulation of The Weekly to 100,000 copies more than at present. The time has come for Republicans to be up and doing. The campaign will be on the line of the policy marked out by The Tribune. A good sound exponent of Republican policy should be placed, as soon as possible, in the hands of as large a number of voters as possible. If the regular readers of The Tribune regard this paper as the right one for good hearty campaign work, they are invited to take hold at once and set the ball rolling.

The Waterbury Watch is the latest product of a State famous for clocks. A factory has been erected at a cost of half a million dollars, to supply the people with a good time-keeping watch, at the lowest price ever known. The Waterbury is a marvel of simplicity, accuracy and cheapness. The retail price is $3.50.
The watch is not a toy, but a strong and substantial article. It is stem-winder; it runs for twenty-four hours, can be regulated perfectly, and keeps in order as perfectly as a costly gold watch. The case is handsome and is better than silver, in that it will not tarnish. With the watch is sent a little book, giving full instructions. No man or boy need now be without a watch. Those who have costly gold watches, should have one of the Waterbury make, besides, to carry while engaged in rough work, or while traveling.
Thousands are buying them for the latter purpose.
The Waterbury is, however, pre-eminently the time-piece of the masses. It is the farmer's, the clerk's, the laborer's, the mechanic's, the school-boy's and the school-girl's watch. Every specimen of it sent out from the Tribune office, is guaranteed to have been thoroughly tested by the manufacturers.

Don't stop a man on the street and ask him the time of day! Have your own watch! "The Waterbury."
THE TERMS ARE:—For $3.50—The watch, and two copies of The Weekly for 3 months.
For $4.99—The watch and five copies of The Weekly for 8 months. For $8.00—The watch and ten copies of The Weekly for 8 months. For $14.25—The watch and twenty copies of The Weekly for 8 months. For $20.00—Thirty copies of The Weekly for 8 months, and the watch sent free. In these clubs one Semi-Weekly will count as equal to two Weeklies. For $1.50—The watch and The Weekly for one year. For $4.50—The watch and The Semi-Weekly for one year.
The Tribune pays postage, but if the subscriber wishes the watch sent by registered mail he will please remit 10 cents extra.
Sample copies of The Tribune and descriptive circulars sent free.
