[For The SOUTH-JERSEY REPUBLICAN.] The Monks Vision.

Slowly tolls the Convent bell,

Tolling—tolling—

While the lone monk in his cell,

As the lengthening shadows fell,

Heard the music, glad and well,

Heard o'er mountain, hill, and dell,

The echoes—tolling.

He knew the day 'twas in the West,

Dying—dying—

His head sank slowly on his breast,

As the cross into his lips he pressed,

Breathing the name of Christ the Best—

He heard the swallows in their nest—

The breezes—sighing,

And as he knelt in silent prayer,

A glory seemed to float the air,

A melody, so rich and sweet

As if a thousand angel feet

Had passed out from the gates of light,

And stood around him, lit from sight.

Their voices blent in glad refrain,

That freed his soul from care and pain.

And lifting up his wondering eyes,

His soul was filled with glad surprise.

Before him stood the Nazarene,

In low and majestic serene.

He gazed upon the vision long,

His soul enraptured in heavenly song.

No word of love the vision spoke,

No word from monk the silence broke,

But gazing on his heavenly guest,

His soul was filled with quiet rest,

Such as his heart had never known.

His soul had never known before.

Suddenly from convent tower

He heard the bell proclaim the hour,

When before the convent gate,

The needy poor his coming wait.

If he left the vision blent,

Would he lose this perfect rest?

Would the vision yet remain?

Moved his lips in silent prayer,

Praying that the vision fair

Would wait his coming there—

Wait until he came again.

Such the thoughts that filled his mind,

Such the vision left behind.

Slowly rising from the floor,

Slowly passing from the door,

Slowly out into the night—

Leaving there the vision bright.

Quickly from his task returning,

For the vision longing, yearning—

Lowly kneeling on the floor,

Saw the vision as before.

Looked upon his Saviour's face,

Beaming with his love and grace.

And though the vision did not speak,

He knew if he had failed in prayer.

Had failed the needy poor to seek,

The vision would have fled his sight.

Slowly tolls the convent bell,

Tolling—tolling—

Knelt the lone monk in his cell,

Felt a joy he could not tell,

Heard the music glad and well—

O'er mountain, hill, and dell,

The echoes—tolling.

Our Washington Letter.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 22, 1878.

Our denizens, old and young, black and white, patriotic and phibian, all seem equally and unreservedly thankful for the change of temperature wrought during the night, which has brought the mercury, which was high up in the nineties yesterday, down almost to the 70 level, with promises of a still further reduction. Our experience has not been unlike that of other cities as regards the intense heat endured the past ten days. The atmosphere was as molten brass above our heads, the earth like red-hot iron beneath our feet, (pardon natural exaggerations.) The sun started at us remorselessly all day long, burning and consuming in hot wrath the pitiable apologies for clouds which a pitying nature sought to interpose between it and us, to mitigate the fierce rays that seemed to penetrate the brain down to the very seat of life. In the morning we wished it were night; at night we longed for the morning. But in proportion to our population few towns will be found to have suffered less. The number of fatal cases of coup de soleil (a stroke of sun) will not, I believe, exceed half a dozen—certainly not ten at most. Undoubtedly death has been hastened by the furnace-like heat to which the chronic invalids, the old, and those suffering from acute disease, have been subjected; but the lessons taught are uniform with those of preceding seasons. They are to the effect that the tolerably vigorous who give alcohol the go-by in all its forms, are safe from sun-stroke, if they observe a fair degree of caution in "keeping cool," and avoid unnecessary exposure to the solar rays, which are as competent to kill as to make alive. But all extreme vicissitudes of climate and all sudden alterations of temperature are to be dreaded by the victims of alcohol. An instance occurring here a few years ago, will be more impressive than backneyed generalities. A well known stable keeper in the prime of life, apparently healthy, but with blood, soft tissues and bone all charged and saturated with the latent fire of alcohol, only needed one more drink with the hot dog-day sun to send him headlong to the fate he had courted by his long continued debauch. He took it on a very hot day and fell before the last drop fairly struck the stomach, dead, probably, before he reached the pavement. But I have digressed. The number of minor casualties from the heat have been correspondingly few. The wide streets, large number of little parks, (Government reservations, usually the apex of the scenic angle formed by the junction of the avenue with the streets) and containing from one hill to an acre) and the cleanly condition of our streets, all tend to the preservation of the general health. Here let me say of our Board of Health, first legislated out of existence by the adoption of a new form of Government that its members were thoroughly competent, enforcing an exceptional degree of cleanliness and otherwise instituting such reforms that Washington, under their reign, was one of the most healthy of American cities. Excluding the colored population, no city of its size could show such a low rate of average mortality. Contrary results among the colored people are explained by extreme poverty, ignorance and total disregard of their hygienic surroundings. We are not even subject to the terrible tornadoes that seem peculiar to no section, but are common West. The report of yellow fever in Brooklyn leads us to scan reports from Norfolk, Portsmouth and Elizabeth Monroe with unwonted particularity. We are in every day communication with all of them, and the memory of the awful visitation of "yellow-jack" to the two former in 1853, I believe, is vividly remembered here.

A though Fitz John Porter has made out the best case possible by aid of his Ex-Confederate sympathizers, no one here says those sympathizing with the "lost cause" seem to doubt that John will get his props knocked from under him at the re-opening of his case in September, and that the sufficiency of the proofs on which he was cashiered, will be made so manifest that all who run may read. Back pay as a Major General from 1863 to the present time would make a handsome nest egg for Fitz.

The latest political intimations are to the effect that the President, despairing of success of a following in the party that elected him, or among the conciliated, will start at once, striving to bring to his aid the Grand Army of the Republic.

While Webber is doing his appointed work in the subordination of witnesses as reported, in New Orleans, Potter's burlesque troupe will give their first performance at Atlantic City this P. M.—Potter and Butler—and men.

MAXWELL

More Amnesty.

A cordial appeal is made by the State of South Carolina to her exiled citizens to come home, and be comfortable, and vote the Democratic ticket. The press heralds the call, and the Governor gives it an official sanction. Some of the noblest and most public spirited sons of South Carolina have been virtually banished by a tyrannical Federal Government, which threatens them with indictments for prowling around by night with masks on, to hang niggers and burn nigger churches. Others have fled from the minions of a brutal excise law, which strikes at the dearest privileges of a Southern citizen, by requiring him to pay for his whiskey. As The Charleston News and Courier remarks, "the involuntary absence of the Ku Klux refugees and the hunting-down of the distillers in the mountains," have caused South Carolina a great deal of loss and annoyance, and "it is the aim of Gov. Hampton to change all this." Let the boys come home. The Governor will see that they are not molested.

We do not understand that Governor Hampton proposes to set the United States at defiance—at least just yet. He seems to depend upon the efficacy of petitions for a general amnesty. He suggests that all these old offenders might as well be released from prosecution, on condition of a promise to abandon their illegal and criminal proceedings; and he is plainly of the opinion that the United States would be the gainer by such a bargain, since the men never could be stopped until they chose to stop of their own accord,—resembling in this the New York manufacturers of stencils, who are periodically indicted, convicted and sentenced to promise to go away somewhere,—which they never do. But when the Governor undertakes to give "assurances" not only to the runaway "moon-shiners," but to the absent assassins also, that if they come back they shall not be molested, he presumes rather too far upon the good nature of the Government. First of all, the Government will doubtless insist upon the recognition of the authority of the United States Courts in the case of the four revenue officers charged with murder committed in the execution of their duty.—These men, being attacked by gang of moonshiners whom they were seeking to arrest, shot one of their assailants in self-defence; and a State Judge of South Carolina holds them for murder, refusing to lot them be tried in the Federal Courts, where the cause undoubtedly belongs.— This, as the Commissioner of Internal Revenue observes, "involves a question of the sovereignty of the United States," and so long as South Carolina stands in her old attitude of rebellion it is not at all likely that Governor Hampton will be allowed to guarantee immunity for any offense against the Federal statutes. The affair of the revenue officers in South Carolina is not the only indication we have seen of the ravaging spirit of blustering self-assertion which in the Bourbon States is only one step removed from open revolt. It was the beast of the old slave States that their own laws and customs were superior to Federal enactments, and it took four years of bloody war to convince them of the contrary. Has that hard lesson been so soon forgotten? It is only the other day that a Virginia member of Congress had the effrontery to challenge a citizen of Washington to fight a duel, and now, when the belligerent legislator is reminded that he has committed a criminal offence, the county prosecutor rushes into print to disclaim any intention of instituting proceedings, and to resent, as an imputation upon his character as a gentleman, the suspicion that he means to perform his sworn duty under the law. All these incidents are significant. They show us the South coming to the front again, insolent, overbearing, tyrannical, insubordinate as ever. But, as we said the other day, we think it is a little too quick.—N. Y. Tribune.

A Woman's Rebuke to Workmen.

Miss Swisshelm, in the Chicago Tribune, says: If workmen refuse to recognize and be governed by the laws of nature, which bind men together as opposites, the consequences of each other, they must suffer the consequences. He is the workman's true friend who says to each one, "Paddle your own canoe." All this trouble about taking care of them, as if they were a flock of tame pigeons, is an insult. It is bad enough to be a woman, and have men unke zippers like toy balloons, and put one in to play, but it must be worse to be a man and have to be taken care of like a little plaster-of-paris Samuel saying his prayers. A human being with a beard must feel able to have political economists drowse him as if he were one of a thousand bags of wheat which were to be disposed of to the best advantage. "Pears to me, if I were a man, with all the waste cabins and idle souls in this country before me, I should save Agitation Committees and ex-Secretaries the trouble of talking about me; for, if I did not raise my own pork and beans, it would be curious.

Republican Greenback Record.

The proper place for every honest Greenback man is in the Republican party. It created the greenback, and has maintained and defended it against the attacks of Rebels, Republicanists and Democrats. Under the wise and fostering policy of the Republican party, the greenback has appreciated to within a fraction of parity with gold, and it is the intention of the party to make it fully equal to gold and keep it there. The Democratic party has always fought greenbacks, and would drag them down if they had the power.—Indianapolis Journal.

General M. C. Butler has delivered a speech in South Carolina. It contains the usual amount of bluster about himself. He felt justified in promising that before he had concluded his term he would satisfy Congress that it was bound to recognize South Carolina as an independent sovereign State; he was determined that people should know that there is such a spot of earth as the State of South Carolina.—The people found that out a good while ago. What they are learning now from Butler, Hampton and Kerbow is that it is the same State that it always was—brimful of the sentiments which breed secession.—N. Y. Tribune.

True Civil Service Reform.

Some time ago we took occasion to define what we regard as the true element of Civil Service Reform—first, good appointments to begin with; second, a fixed tenure; third, no removals except for cause. The real reform we insisted in that which "will remove the evils of an uncertain tenure, of the persistent and unseemingly struggle for place, and of personal dependence upon the appointing power." We have always insisted that these are the true principles of Civil Service Reform, and we submit that, on the one hand, recent events illustrate and enforce them, and that, on the other hand, if they are found they condemn these events as obnoxious to reform. Let any one try to reconcile the two if he can.—Albany Journal.

FROM THE YOUNG PEOPLE.

Three small jills, in their childish glee,
Kept their little feet upon the ground,
And they were laughing and they were merry,

Along in the early spring, when the plow had turned the moist brown earth open to the sun, Mother Crinkle's heart was stirred within her. The oddest lit-

It was an autumn day, with the hills in the sunlight and the leaves of corn, and the air was cool and fresh, and the sun was shining brightly.

Having been a manager upon the Seaside Islands, I have been led to wish for it on the S. R. track.

A lady correspondent writes to me in Philadelphia that she has been invited to dine with a party of ladies in the city.

Dear Doctor. - Allow me to correct a very false report circulated in our town a few days ago.

We take this opportunity, as a good one, to say that Mr. Pympton's daughter, the late Mrs. M. Pympton, who was left the property of her father, has been married.

A cooler wave came over us from the North on Sunday evening and has given us a very comfortable week.

Don't forget there is to be a Dimo excursion on Wednesday evening.

The O'clock express train on Monday morning, from Atlantic City on the Seaside track, did not get away until 10:15 o'clock in the evening.

Winslow Lodge, No. 40, I. O. O. F. will have their Annual Reunion at Atlantic City on August 9th, over the "Old Reliable," staying at all stations from Camden to Seaside.

The Two Orphans is in rehearsal at the Lyceum Theatre.

The "Old Reliable" has been running like a clock since the 1st of July.

The M. P. Church school have arranged to have a picnic on the 28th of August.

The notice of the play at the Dimo excursion on Wednesday evening.

WOODRUFF'S PATENT EARTH CLOSET & COMMODE

No. 2, Solid Black Walnut.....$11 00
No. 3, same pattern as No. 2, manufactured of Pine, and stained..... 9 00
No. 4, same as No. 3, except plain boards, set painted..... 8 00

EARTH CLOSETS, their construction and use.

The Earth Closet is a modern improvement which takes the place and supersedes the Water Closet in the house, and dispenses with the cesspool and other repulsive features of the same.
It is perfect in its operation, and not liable to get out of order.
In case of sickness it is invaluable, as it can be used by the sick in any room in the house without inconvenience from bad odors.
For those living in the country, where the out-house is at a distance from the dwelling, it is indispensable, and no family should be without one. It is only used in stormy weather, when ladies and children so much dread going out.
We are also Agents for the

UNION EARTH CLOSET,
which is somewhat larger and stronger than the Woodruff's and equally simple.
Price of Black Walnut.....$20 00
Price of Pine..... 15 00
A liberal discount to the Trade.
This invention can easily be applied to Privies at small cost.
We are also prepared to sell shop, county and state rights. For further information send for Descriptive Circular to

CUMBERLAND MUTUAL Fire Insurance Company.
BRIDGETON, N. J.

Conducted on strictly Mutual principles, offering a perfectly safe insurance for just what it may cost to pay losses and expenses. The proportion of loss to the amount insured being very small, and expenses much less than usual, had, nothing can be offered more favorable to the insured. The cost being about ten cents on the hundred dollar a year to the insured on ordinary risks, and from fifteen to twenty-five cents per year on hazardous properties, which is less than one third of the lowest rates charged by stock companies, on such risks—the other two-thirds taken by stock companies being a profit accruing to stockholders, or consumed in expenses of the companies.

The guarantee fund of premium notes being now Three Millions of Dollars.

If an assessment had to be made of five per cent. only, twice within the ten years for which the policy is issued, it would yet be cheaper to the members than any other insurance offered. And that large amount of money is saved to the members and kept at home. No assessment having ever been made, being now more than thirty years, that saving would amount to more than

One Million Five Hundred Thousand Dollars

The Losses by Lightning.

Where the property is not set on fire, being less than one cent per year to each member, are paid without extra charge, and extended so as to cover all policies that are issued and outstanding.

SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have frequent headaches, mouth tastes badly, poor appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from torpid liver, or "biliousness," and nothing will cure you so speedily and permanently as to take SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR or MEDICINE.

PURELY VEGETABLE.

The Cheapest, Purest and Best Family Medicine in the World!
An effective Specific for all diseases of the Liver, Stomach and Spleen.
Regulate the Liver and purify the blood.

CHILLS AND FEVER, MALARIOUS FEVERS, BOWEL COMPLAINTS, RESTLESSNESS, JAUNDICE AND NAUSEA.

BAD BREATH!
Nothing is so unpleasant, nothing so common as bad breath, and in nearly every case it comes from the stomach, and can be so easily corrected if you will take SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR. Do not neglect so sure a remedy for this repulsive disorder. It will also improve your appetite. Complexion and General Health.

PLEASANT!
How many suffer to-day after-dinner, making life a burden and robbing existence of all pleasure, owing to the constant suffering of Pleas. Yet relief is ready to the hand of almost any one who will use systematically the remedy that has permanently cured thousands. SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR is No drastic violent purge, but a gentle assistant to nature.

CONSTIPATION!
Should not be regarded as a trifling ailment—in fact Nature demands the utmost regularity of the bowels, and any deviation from this demand paves the way often to serious danger. It is quite as necessary to remove impure accumulations from the bowels as it is to eat or sleep, and no health can be expected where a costive habit of body prevails.

NECK HEADACHES!
This distressing affliction occurs most frequently. The disturbance of the stomach, arising from the imperfectly digested contents, causes a severe pain in the head, accompanied with disagreeable nausea, and this constitutes what is popularly known as Neck Headache; For the relief of which, TAKES SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR OR MEDICINE.
