Our Inheritance.
BY MRS. A. V. MUNGER.
"Fear not, little flock; for it is your Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom."
Luke 12, 22.
Fear not little flock,
Though thy number be few;
Our Father in Heaven,
Hath much need of you.
Let his promise, then, cheer
Thee, wherever thou art;
Bind his commandments
Close, close to thy heart.
Unto such as have faith
On his promise to live;
'Tis the Father's good pleasure,
His kingdom to give.
Then glad up thy loins
In the strength of his might,
And trim well thy lamps,
That the world may have light.
Remember the Psalmist,
Of whom it is told,
From the time he was young,
Till the time he was old;
He never had seen
All the way he was led,
The righteous forsaken,
Or the seed begging bread.
If we ask of the Lord,
'Twill not be in vain;
He knoweth our needs,
Though we should not complain.
The trials of this life,
Put our faith to the test;
God answers our prayers,
As to him seemeth best.
Then be not cast down;
If the Lord be thy friend,
Thou surely hast one Upon whom to depend.
We have reason for joy,
The hall has not been told;
Since the good Shepherd has Numbered us in his fold.

Our Washington Letter.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 4, 1879.
I think on the whole there has never been a worse case of "bull dosing" in the civilized world than is shown in the case of Mr. Dixon, who signed the following card after attempting to organize an independent political movement against the Democracy in a Southern State:
"TO THE PUBLIC:
For the sake of the peace and harmony of the country, and the affection I bear for my family and friends, I agree to withdraw from the political canvass or race issue in the future, provided, I will be protected in my rights as any other citizen; and my friend R. A. Flanagan is to be unmolested in his rights, &c.
H. M. DIXON, Yazoo City, July 26, 1879."
Men in the Northern States will wonder to the end of time how such a condition of things can exist in any part of the country.
The yellow fever threatens the whole country. From New Hampshire to Texas sporadic cases are reported, and no one can tell where it may become epidemic. Philadelphia has suffered severely years ago, and Norfolk, Va., suffered terribly in 1855 from this scourge. Our Democratic friends in the Southern States if they will not learn a sensible lesson from any other teacher, ought to be able to learn from Yellow Fever, Cholera, and Pleuro Pneumonia in cattle, the childish folly of their pet doctrine of State sovereignty. That the uniformity of currency, weights and measures, laws for the regulation of transportation and trade which are necessary to a high degree of national prosperity, can only be attained through the national sovereignty contemplated by the Constitution ought to be apparent to everybody, but it does not seem to be. Yellow Fever and Pleuro Pneumonia have taught some Democrats however the necessity of National sovereignty, by a mode of teaching that even prejudices born of slavery and rebellion could not resist. Last year when pleuro pneumonia was destroying the cattle of our neighboring counties of Alexandria and Fairfax, a proposition was made in the Virginia Legislature to follow the example of Massachusetts and remove the disease by the only means known, viz., by promptly killing all the cattle attacked with it, but the disease was also prevailing to some extent in the District of Columbia, and in some counties of Maryland, so that if the disease was stamped out in Alexandria and Fairfax it would be of little use, as it would speedily cross the river again, and they would have gained nothing by killing the sick cattle in those counties. Disease by actual presence triumphs over the Democratic prejudices of even Virginia politicians, and won a victory for a united nation. Even the Virginians were able to see the fact that the remedy could be applied effectually only by national authority. When Congress assembled Virginia Democrats were found urging the passage of a law providing for the killing of the sick cattle throughout the U. S. by Federal authority and an appropriation to carry the law into effect. Virginia Democrats in Congress, in full view of the whole nation, actually urged the passage of a law authorizing a Federal hiring to set foot on the sacred soil of the old Dominion and lay his hands upon a sick cow of a Virginia farmer.

A few only had learned the lesson. The cattle pestilence was not sufficiently extensive and the proposition failed. So, too, when the National Board of Health proposition came up in Congress, some Democratic members from Mississippi, Tennessee and Louisiana were found so recreant to Democratic traditions and doctrines as to favor the giving to that Board sanitary powers theretofore never heard of in this country. But so few of them had learned the lesson, most of them being so blinded by prejudice and party hate, that no actual authority was given to the Board. But our political world does move, and if nothing else can do it, Yellow Fever, Cholera and Pleuro Pneumonia will reverse the teachings of the rebellion. But less cruel remedies will probably answer. The Autumn elections promise to be as active.

Recreation Once More--Exercise.
The use of muscles is needed to proper physical growth and good health. While growing, we need most of it. It is surprising what amount of running, jumping, and romping children can not only endure, but enjoy. Some may not need much exercise, so called. Their employment furnishes it. They need to recreate another way--by repose, though a change in muscular activity may be a benefit. Extemporaneous speakers give both rest and strength to the speaking muscles by different attitudes. It is no doubt good for laboring men to turn once in a while from labor to athletic sports.
Those of sedentary habits need much exercise, and to neglect it is to want health and buoyancy of spirit. They need that which affords some amusement and entertainment. This is best obtained from out-of-door games and sports. These are so natural that no nation has been or can be without them. The oldest people have possessed them. Both childish and manly sports existed among the Egyptians and Hebrews. The manly sports among the ancient Jews were not so common, as those of mature age had mostly enough exertion imposed upon them by the duties of life for so warm a climate. The head of the family generally reposed in his tent door, or on the house top, in the cool of the morning and evening, but music, song and dancing were quite common and favorite recreations with adult persons. All the Jewish festivals were partly seasons of recreation, something after the fashion of modern Methodist camp-meetings. The sling, archery and warlike exercises were common among the young men. Childish sports are specially referred to in the Bible. See Zach. 8:5, Matt. 11:16-17. Hebrew and Egyptian children in older times amused themselves with kite, ball, leapfrog and dolls, very much as our children do now. But sport was not confined to them. Good, aged and reverend men amused themselves. Bishop Taylor says St. John recreated himself by playing with a pet partridge. The Sainly Job mentions sporting with tame birds--Job 41:5.
The ancient Greeks were the greatest lovers of out-of-door games. For this reason they have been chief of all nations in physical development and beauty. Such exercise as takes us into the open air is decidedly the best. We have very ingenious gymnasiums under roof, but we should remember that the Greek gymnasium was out doors and under the sky. This is the place to go. We have no wish to encourage any to neglect their employment, but there is absolute necessity of less work and more play for a very great multitude, and for this we speak for more innocent sport. It is especially needful for care worn, over-tasked females. How we would like to curtail the burden and expenditures of dress and household superfluities, and send the dear creatures that are pining away, into the meadows and over the hills for new life and spirit.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT.

JOHN WANAMAKER,
GRAND DEPOT,
THIRTEENTH ST., PHILADA.

The large increase of our business this far this year makes it necessary to

ENLARGE OUR PREMISES.

We have been cramped and crowded all the season in some of our Departments, and our only alternative is to make some important alterations and additions to give us the needed room.
The only time to do this is during August and September, the duller periods of the year.
To allow the builders to get on rapidly with the work, some of our goods must be removed or sold. To save the expense of removing certain stocks, to prevent loss and depreciation from dust during the alterations, we have concluded to offer many of our goods at or about cost.
The whole of our stock will be found to be marked very, very low.

THE GREAT ALTERATION SALE

COMMENCES IMMEDIATELY.

Our prices are always at the very lowest point, and at this time, when goods are advancing in price, we should not press our stock to sale but to get the goods out of the way of the

and improvements to be made to the Grand Depot.
It is unnecessary to say that the qualities of our goods are the best. We do not mean to lose reputation by selling poor or imperfect goods. The well-known rules of Exchange and Return Money observed by the Grand Depot fully protect our customers, and, besides, in building up this great business, we are very careful to keep good faith with our patrons who are depending on us.
We only add that it will be to the interest of the people in city or country to buy during this

GREAT ALTERATION SALE.

Silks, Dress Goods, Trimmings, and everything in Ladies' and Gentlemen's Wear, whether in large or small quantities, promptly forwarded by mail or express or exactly as ordered; but even then, if not as expected, cheerfully exchanged or the money refunded. Write a postal card, specifying what you desire, and samples with full instructions for ordering, will be mailed you, postage-paid, without any obligation to purchase if prices are not satisfactory. For immediate attention, address MAIL DEPARTMENT FOR SAMPLES AND SUPPLIES.

Adversity is the balance to weigh our friends. Ignorance is a subject for pity; not to acquire prudence.

Choose those companions who admin-

GLIANTS.

References in ancient literature to the existence of giants and dwarfs are by no means rare, and even in the records of ancient history are mentioned. It is said that there were giants on the earth. Heron, a member of the French Acad-

1718, in which he asserted that he had visited to the discussion of the greatness in the stature and general physical conformation of the human race which undoubtedly took place between the creation and the opening of the Caribbean Sea. In this curious treatise thor informs us that Adam was 123 feet in height, while Noah's stature was

W. K. BOWLES M. D., Editor & Prop.

W. K. BOWLES, Associate Editor.

HAMMONTON, ATLANTIC CO., N. J.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 9, 1879.

The public debt increased over $7,000,000 in July because the Secretary of the Treasury was obliged to pay $3,500,000 arrears of pensions.

Secretary Sherman has returned from his electioneering tour in Maine, and expressed himself to be perfectly satisfied with the result of his endeavors. He received several friends in New York but was not very satisfactory in his reports to the newspaper reporters. Evidently he has lived a political life long enough to thoroughly understand the wisdom of keeping his own counsel on certain topics.

The Rev. W. H. Murray, the celebrated sportsman preacher of Boston, is now in a peak of trouble in regard to his financial matters. It seems that he invested a little too wildly in the manufacture of a buck-board of his own invention and that he has thereby seriously involved himself. His property has mostly been attached for debt, and he has been charged with contempt numerous times, but his honor has never been questioned to any extent. The end is yet to appear.

A grand old rebel yell, ye gallant lads, for the repeal of the black amendments. A rousing old rebel yell, Southerners, for President Davis and the Confederate soldiers and civilians who have never deserted the cause.

Three rousing old rebel yells and a tiger for the capture of the Capitol and the supremacy of the South.—The Okolona (Miss.) Southern States.

The majority of the people in this world do not enjoy one half the true happiness which they might if they only thought a moment in this life. It is because they allow little misfortunes and little adverse circumstances to blind their vision to that which should be sunshine and pleasure. Man is too prone to submit the control of his feelings to that which savors of the unpleasant and disagreeable, forgetting that which is bright in his surroundings, in the influence of the dark and shadowy something which he fears is impending over him.

Stick out that man who is hearty, jovial and universally pleasant, and you have found one who selects the bright and cheerful things in life's events for his mind to dwell upon; and select the long faced, melancholy person whose phiz always wears a lugubrious expression, and you have the personification of joylessness brought on by constantly overlooking the bright things of life and gleaning up only the chaff of disappointment, sorrow and regret.

We are not put here to pass away our time in fretting and complaining at our particular losses, and to be chiefly made the most of our opportunities for the good and happiness of ourselves and our neighbors. A hopeful heart and a cheerful face over the troubles incident to life would make many a low spirited and downcast mortal a blessing to his family and society at large.

The following brilliant opinion comes from the masterly pen of the editor of the May's Landing Record: We propose to follow the example set us by the Philadelphia Ledger and keep out of all entangling alliances, but would suggest to the Boston, Egg Harbor Democrat and Hammonston Republicans, that if they wish to do justice to their advertisers to state that they have the largest circulation in the county, with but one exception, and their readers will soon learn to know that the exception is the May's Landing Record.

We are free to confess that the above is too much for our feeble understanding, but it may be perfectly intelligible to great minds that are accustomed to grapple with great subjects.—The rhetoric is such that we are unable to judge from the arrangement of the words just what is intended, yet the last clause in some way conveys the idea to us that the Record still persists in claiming the largest circulation in the county of any of the county papers. We presume this to be the meaning so indistinctly conveyed, and we would only say in comment, that if the Record man finds any pleasure in making such ridiculous and fallacious assertions, why do let him continue to make them and derive all the satisfaction possible from them, as it is very little pleasure he can get in looking over his subscription list. Of course though, the statements made in a paper of importance, like the May's Landing Record, are liable to be commented upon; hence the nearer they come to the solid truth, the better will be the reputation of the paper in the minds of the people.

Editor's Letter.

How few people go through the world with their eyes open! There is so much to be seen, and yet so few see what there is. The world is full of beauty, but so many are delving in the mire of earth, or taking in the public, like the alms described in Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress, and so absorbed in their efforts to get money, that they not only do not see the crown of glory held over them, but they cannot see the beauty and glory of the earth on which they live, though it abounds on every hand, in super-abundance. Others, who can, leave home, and go to other lands and other times, to gaze in wonder on nature and art, while they leave the remotest idea that in their own land are some as lovely, as exquisite, as beautiful, as richly gorgeous, as supremely grand and magnificent as any, and excelling in many points.—"Distance lends enchantment to the view."

Such were, in brief, the thoughts that occupied my mind, on several occasions, as I journeyed down the South Branch from Northfield up another stream to the place where my last letter was dated. The beautiful varied and ever changing scenes of grandeur and loveliness in that twenty-five miles is never to be forgotten. Eight miles of this twenty-five we made on foot, the better to see all, and if possible lose nothing. We made a shortstop at Montpelier, the Capital of the State. The State House is a fine building, of granite, with a becoming dome, surrounded with the statue of liberty, but it loses much of its imposing character by its peculiar location at, and in close juxtaposition to a lofty hill that rises far above, and gives it the appearance as a little distance, as being a setting to the rocky eminence rising behind it. The beautiful and numerous neat and elegant residences give it a decidedly romantic appearance. The Pavilion is one of the largest and finest hotels in the State. It is well kept, and is the point of attraction during the sitting of the legislature, and many city people are attracted thither during the summer months, and the very quiet, with the numerous points of interest should bring thousands here, as it is far more attractive than the majority of the places resorted to by pleasure seekers.

In Washington, as in other places, we found "coonsies by the dozen," who made our stay most comfortable and happy. A few miles from here is the place of our nativity, which renders this section doubly dear to us, and few spots are more endowed by nature with the grand and beautiful. The town is one of the oldest in the section of the State, and our grandfather was one of the early settlers. On the side of one of its most lofty hills is a cave which was occupied by one of the first settlers till a log house was built. It is still known as "Bartholomew's Cave." On the way hither is the town of Barre, a busy, thriving place, with its extensive granite quarries and large factory for the manufacturing of hoels. The granite is among the finest, polished like marble, and the quantity is inexhaustible. Here are two flourishing schools, a University and Methodist Seminary, both of them in prosperous and flourishing condition and deservedly popular. Dr. N. W. Braloy, one of the prominent men and interested in the enterprise of the town, kindly took me in his carriage and drove through the place and to the various places of interest, giving me an opportunity of seeing what I should otherwise have missed.

Our ride to this place, over the Central Vermont Railroad, was through some of the wildest as well as most beautiful of country, along the Onion river, through abundant scenery, with the "Canaan's Hump" on the north and Mansfield mountains on the south. Below these toward Lake Champlain, the country becomes more level, and there is some as good farming land, especially the interval land of the Onion river, as can be found anywhere, where fruits and grains are grown in abundance. We reached Burlington, the principal city of the State, on Lake Champlain, on Thursday noon, and took a good look at this lovely sheet of water the first time in eight years. Here we have taken by our dear friends, almost forgotten from long absence, and have had about as much as we could to keep from being cooked by the excessive heat. The mercury has been up to 97° in the shade, and not a breath of fan the favored breeze, and we sought for the cooling breezes of the Jersey plains, and we felt as though we should really enjoy one of those "Jersey Zephyrs" of immortal fame.

The nights are hot, too, which led a young lady to say the other morning, when we asked her how she was, "I am stewed, and have been stewing all night." On Sunday evening, the weather being cooled, we strolled down to the battery, a place of great historic interest, as being the spot from which the British naval force on the lake met the shot of the Green Mountain Boys in the last war with Great Britain, after which they were defeated at the battle of Plattsburg. A few years ago it was opened as a Park, and is a place of resort, like Fairmount, in Philadelphia. It is on a high bluff overlooking the lake, and the view is charming. On Friday evening Post-Master General Key, with others from Washington, stopped here on their way from the White Mountains, and was serenaded at the VanNess House, by the band. A brief reception speech was made by the Mayor to which Mr. Key made a neat response, which you will find in the daily papers. We will write further in our next, which will date from Brandon, Vt. Hoping soon to be with you, I say farewell. Yours, H. E. B. Burlington, Vt., August 4th, 1879.

DEATH NEWS ITEMS. It is death to refuse a drink in Texas. But nobody in Texas is ever killed for that.

Assistant Postmaster General Tracy is talked about as the Republican candidate for Governor of Indiana.

It isn't so much what a man has done, says Death Billings, as what he has done on, that is, about his sexual strength.

Henry Daverson, the address, was married on Thursday to Edward F. Price of New York. He had only been divorced two weeks.

John Byers, a Vineland lad, aged 12 years died a few days ago from apoplexy produced by going into the water overboard.

The Park Commissioners have ordered the Permanent Exhibition Building to be removed, and given those interested, two years in which to complete the work.

During the first year, ending June 30, 1879, 6,400,000 acres of government land were taken as homesteads. This is an area larger than the whole State of New Hampshire.

The first railroad in Palestine has been contracted for between Jaffa and Jerusalem, thirty miles. The contractor is reported to be G. F. De Lovell, a resident of Cincinnati.

Astronomers tell us that it would take 1,250,000 years provided there was a telegraph wire from the earth to the nucleus in Andromeda, for a dispatch to reach there. So no wire will be put up.

Mr. John B. Gough, now in his sixty-second year, has travelled about 420,000 miles and delivered almost 8,000 lectures within the last thirty-seven years. He has not been in bed a whole day from sickness since 1846.

At a French Bazaar at the Albert Hall in London, a solemn gentleman approached and asked the price of a cup, "One shilling," replied the lady, and he put down a shilling. Before handing him the cup the lady raised it up to her lips, and observed that the price was now a sovereign. The solemn gentleman gravely replaced his shilling with a sovereign, and said, "be good enough to give me a glass cup."

Made from Pure Beef Tallow and is the Cleanest and Cheapest soap for Washing Dishes, a very little is plenty for a good many Dishes and the Dish Cloth will always be Nice and Sweet, warranted not to injure Clothing—makes the Hands Nice and Smooth and prevents Chapping. EXCELLENT FOR BATH AND TOILET USE AND FOR SHAVING. Soap that does not hurt the Skin, cannot hurt Clothes.

NOT COLD WATER SOAP BUT USED ALL THE YEAR ROUND IN WARM WATER. USE WINTER BUT NEVER SCALD OR BOIL ANY OF YOUR CLOTHING.

Makes Clothes Clean, Sweet and White, without Scalding or Boiling, and, if rubbed on lightly and the directions strictly followed, it will go so much further than other Soap and Saves so much Fuel, as to prove it to be the Cheapest Soap that even a poor family can buy.

Splendid for Coarse or Fine Goods, Woolens, Blankets, Flannels, Calico, Fine Fabrics, and Delicate Colors. Cleans Paint, Tins and Marble Fronts. Removes Grease Spots and Printers' Ink.

Follow Miss LESLIE'S Receipt, When you use FRANK SIDDALLS SOAP. In the first place, do not get the Washboard about on Washday; the Clothes will be Sweet and White without Scalding or Boiling and as enough hot water can be got from a tea-kettle to make the wash-water warm enough to suit the hands, (which is all that is necessary) a wash-board is not needed and only makes work for nothing.

Rub the soap over the wet clothes, lightly, so as not to waste it, but dont miss the soiled places, and LET SOAK 20 MINUTES; then wash carefully out of that one sud only, not using any soap, but changing the water if it gets dirty; then wash through ONE rinse water, turning each piece and rubbing lightly on the Wash-board, but not using any soap, then rinse through Blue Water AND HANG UP TO DRY WITHOUT EITHER SCALDING OR BOILING. Do not get the Soap on the washboard white washing; it is not necessary and makes it waste.

None genuine without my written Signature —Ome, 716 CALLOWHILL ST., PHILADELPHIA (U.S.)— J. H. Siddall. IMPORTANT NOTICE: Do not believe statements that FRANK SIDDALLS SOAP cannot be obtained. Orders are promptly filled and a reasonable profit allowed dealers. Sold by Grocers throughout the United States and Canada.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 9, 1879.

The public debt increased over $7,000,000 in July because the Secretary of the Treasury was obliged to pay $3,500,000 arrears of pensions.

Secretary Sherman has returned from his electioneering tour in Maine, and expressed himself to be perfectly satisfied with the result of his endeavors. He received several friends in New York but was not very satisfactory in his reports to the newspaper reporters. Evidently he has lived a political life long enough to thoroughly understand the wisdom of keeping his own counsel on certain topics.

The Rev. W. H. Murray, the celebrated sportsman preacher of Boston, is now in a peak of trouble in regard to his financial matters. It seems that he invested a little too wildly in the manufacture of a buck-board of his own invention and that he has thereby seriously involved himself. His property has mostly been attached for debt, and he has been charged with contempt numerous times, but his honor has never been questioned to any extent. The end is yet to appear.

A brave old Rebel Yell. A brave old rebel yell, boys, for State sovereignty and the right of withdrawing from the Union.

A grand old rebel yell, ye gallant lads, for the repeal of the black amendments. A rousing old rebel yell, Southerners, for President Davis and the Confederate soldiers and civilians who have never deserted the cause.

Three rousing old rebel yells and a tiger for the capture of the Capitol and the supremacy of the South.—The Okolona (Miss.) Southern States.

The majority of the people in this world do not enjoy one half the true happiness which they might if they only thought a moment in this life. It is because they allow little misfortunes and little adverse circumstances to blind their vision to that which should be sunshine and pleasure. Man is too prone to submit the control of his feelings to that which savors of the unpleasant and disagreeable, forgetting that which is bright in his surroundings, in the influence of the dark and shadowy something which he fears is impending over him.

Stick out that man who is hearty, jovial and universally pleasant, and you have found one who selects the bright and cheerful things in life's events for his mind to dwell upon; and select the long faced, melancholy person whose phiz always wears a lugubrious expression, and you have the personification of joylessness brought on by constantly overlooking the bright things of life and gleaning up only the chaff of disappointment, sorrow and regret.

We are not put here to pass away our time in fretting and complaining at our particular losses, and to be chiefly made the most of our opportunities for the good and happiness of ourselves and our neighbors. A hopeful heart and a cheerful face over the troubles incident to life would make many a low spirited and downcast mortal a blessing to his family and society at large.

The following brilliant opinion comes from the masterly pen of the editor of the May's Landing Record: We propose to follow the example set us by the Philadelphia Ledger and keep out of all entangling alliances, but would suggest to the Boston, Egg Harbor Democrat and Hammonston Republicans, that if they wish to do justice to their advertisers to state that they have the largest circulation in the county, with but one exception, and their readers will soon learn to know that the exception is the May's Landing Record.

We are free to confess that the above is too much for our feeble understanding, but it may be perfectly intelligible to great minds that are accustomed to grapple with great subjects.—The rhetoric is such that we are unable to judge from the arrangement of the words just what is intended, yet the last clause in some way conveys the idea to us that the Record still persists in claiming the largest circulation in the county of any of the county papers. We presume this to be the meaning so indistinctly conveyed, and we would only say in comment, that if the Record man finds any pleasure in making such ridiculous and fallacious assertions, why do let him continue to make them and derive all the satisfaction possible from them, as it is very little pleasure he can get in looking over his subscription list. Of course though, the statements made in a paper of importance, like the May's Landing Record, are liable to be commented upon; hence the nearer they come to the solid truth, the better will be the reputation of the paper in the minds of the people.

 the Wholesale Stocks are by no means so reliable as those made up under our own personal supervision. Neither will the cut and general style (after wearing) bear a comparison to our own careful make. By making our own goods the

PRODUCER AND CONSUMER
 Are brought in direct contact, and in consequence the latter reaps no small advantage.

BOYS' AND YOUTHS' CLOTHING.
 This form a very considerable proportion of our business, and we are satisfied that we can convince any one that we always offer the Handsomest and Best-Finished Goods known to the trade.

LOW PRICES
 Do not always mean good value. On this head we shall only say that when Style and Quality are taken into account we are not, under any circumstances, ever undersold, and seldom are the prices to which dealers fall as low as our first and only one fixed price to everybody.

OUR STOCK IS ENORMOUS.
 Especially in thin goods, suited to the present weather. Inviting a visit and recommendations from our friends,
 We Remain, Very Respectfully,

Wanamaker & Brown,
 The Largest Clothing House in America,
OAK HALL, Sixth and Market, PHILADELPHIA.

GROCERIES!!
H. M. Trowbridge
 will hereafter keep a well assorted stock of Groceries—Sugars, Tea and Coffee, Spices, Dried Fruits and Canned Goods, Flour, Soap, Molasses and Syrup, Butter, Lard, Pork, Salt Fish, Brooms &c.

DRY GOODS!
 I shall continue my usual full assortment of Dress Goods, Cassimeres, Plaids, Alpacos, Prints, Muslins, Jeans, Sheetings and Shirtings, Flannels, Tickings, Hosiery, Gloves, Edgings, Threads of all kinds, Buttons, Zephyrs, Pocket Books, Stationery &c.

CLOTHING!
 Also a good stock of Ready Made Clothing,
 Coats, Pants and Vests.
 All which will be sold for Cash, and at the lowest Market Prices.

Manhood! How Lost, How Restored!
 Just published, a new edition of DR.
CULVERWELL'S CELEBRATED ES-SAY—on the Special Cause (without medicine) of Spermatorrhoea or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotency, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc.; also, Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance, etc.
 The celebrated author in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.
 This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

CUMBERLAND MUTUAL
Fire Insurance Comp ny.
BRIDGETON, N. J.
 Conducted on strictly mutual principles, offering a perfectly safe insurance for just what it may cost to pay losses and expenses. The proportion of loss to the amount insured being very small, and expenses much less than usual, all but nothing can be offered more favorable to the insured. The cost being about ten cents on the hundred dollars per year to the insurers on ordinary risks, and from fifteen to twenty-five cents per year on hazardous properties, which is less than one-third of the lowest rates charged by stock companies, on such risks—the other two-thirds taken by stock companies being a profit accruing to stockholders, or consumed in expenses of the companies.
 The guarantee fund of premium notes being now Three Millions of Dollars.
 If an assessment had to be made of five pe-cent. only, twice within the ten years for which the policy is issued, it would yet be cheaper to the members than any other insurance offered.
 And that large amount of money is saved to the members and kept at home. No assessment having ever been made, being now more than thirty years, that saving would amount to more than
One Million Five Hundred Thousand Dollar
The Losses by Lightning.
 Where the property is not set on fire, being less than one cent per year to each member, are paid without extra charge, and extended so as to cover all policies that are issued and outstanding.
