Short Tariff Sermons.

NO. XXXII.

'Thousands of immigrants come to the United States every year. Why do they come here? In order to earn starvation wages, to be deprived of their earnings by "Tariff-monopolists," to be taxed for the benefit of the "robber barons?"

No, they come here because experience at home, under the slavery of the European wage-system, has taught them that only in this country of high wages and prosperity, of contentment and Protection, is the laborer worthy of his hire. Only in this land of "taxes" has he an adequate scope for the exercise of the faculties with which nature has blessed him, only here can he own his own home, furnish it in comfort, and educate his children to be good and patriotic citizens.

Immigration is thus the best possible tribute to the benefits of Protection, a mute but eloquent index of American progress under the American system.

Immigrants did not flock here in Free-Trade periods. They remained in their own countries, because the pauper standard of wages which Free-Trade entails was not a sufficiently strong inducement to bring them here. Pauper wages can be earned just as well at home as abroad.

But when Protection again triumphed, when our mills and factories again hummed with life and action, when plenty again blessed the land, then the masses of Europe again knocked at our doors and asked us to share with them our abundance.

Immigration we do not advocate. Restrict it if you please, prohibit it if you can. But never lose sight of the fact that immigration would not trouble us if we were poor.

When Free-Trade begins, the gates of Castle Garden swing outward instead of inward. Under that system immigration stops. Emigration takes its place.—American Economist.

Ex-Secretary James G. Blaine will take the stump this fall, the chairman of the Republican committee of Maine having already arranged for speeches in that State. Mr. Blaine's wonderful ability to sway large audiences will wield a mighty power in the coming campaign. Can't he be induced to make a few speeches in this debatable State?

We shall never have an end of the outrageous and undemocratic partisan legislation under which the people of this State are now suffering until there is a Republican legislature elected. Every Republican should lend his efforts to the accomplishment of that result. It is high time the rights of the people should no longer be disregarded to serve partisan ends.

Alliance candidate for Governor Kolb is out in a letter which indicates that he will contest the official count in Alabama which will elect Jones.

The parade of the Knights Templar at Denver was a brilliant success. Over 30,000 uniformed men were in line and 200,000 people thronged the streets along the line of the parade.

Railroad officials at Chicago deny the reports that the corn crop in Kansas and Nebraska has been damaged.

All but sixty of the Duquesne, Pa., sympathy strikers returned to work on Monday, and are now engaged in their old labors. No disorder occurred. It is thought the Carnegie Company will be greatly aided by this occurrence in the struggle at Homestead.

Great damage was done in Minnesota, Monday, by a tornado and hail storm. A large number of houses and barns were destroyed.

Marshal Cushing, private secretary of Postmaster General Wannmaker, will, it is reported, succeed Colonel Whitefield as first assistant.

The Cramps, of Philadelphia, are said to have secured the contracts to build the ocean liners that must beat the City of Paris and the City of New York.

LESSON BIBLE READING.
LYING.
Forbidden (Lev. 19: 11; Col. 3: 9).
Hateful to God (Prov. 6: 16-19; 12: 22).
Beguilen of Satan (John 8: 44; Acts 5: 3).

Indulged by sinners (Jer. 23: 14; Ezek. 22: 28).
Excludes from heaven (Rev. 21: 27; 22: 15).
Incurs fearful penalty (Prov. 19: 19; Rev. 21: 8).

LESSON SURROUNDINGS.
INTRODUCTION.—Everywhere the multitude of believers increased in number, continued to live in harmony. Those believers who had possessions sold them, and from the common fund distribution was made. One case is singled out, that of Joseph, surnamed Barnabas, from Cyprus, a Levite, but owning a "field," probably somewhere near Jerusalem. Special attention is called to this, either because of his exceptional wealth or his unobscured prominence. His action forms an introduction to the lesson.

PLACER.—Probably the usual meeting-place of the apostles, as in the last lesson.

LAUGH AND GROW FAT.
A HEALTHY TONIC FOR INVALIDS OF ALL KINDS.

Humorous Anecdotes Gleaned from Various Sources—Something to Read Which Will Make Anybody Sleep Well—Better Than Medicine When Taken Before Bedtime.

How They Act.
The Boston Girl—If you do I'll tell you.
The Philadelphia Girl—If you do I'll call grandpa.

Standard Standard High.
A Washington woman recently remarked: "I've had trouble with every one of my servants and I suppose I may always expect trouble."

Forbidden (Lev. 19: 11; Col. 3: 9).
