A Suggestive Exhibit.

The list of criminals appointed to office by Cleveland embraces 137, not including twenty-two persons guilty of political crimes, or fifty-nine other persons directly connected with the criminal classes. This savory list includes two murderers and the tools of two others, five notorious duellists and three rioters—one to be judge of the very court by which he had been imprisoned six weeks. It includes five persons who had been indicted or convicted for frauds against the revenue appointed to be officers of the revenue service. It includes a jury fixer, a deadbeat, a lawyer guilty of defrauding clients and an attorney who had cleared notorious bandits by contriving a defeat of justice, all appointed to be judges. Persons were appointed pension agents who had been indicted for violating pension laws. Persons guilty of robbing the mails were appointed postmasters or mail agents—one when appointed was in jail for robbing the very office to which he was appointed. Liquor sellers, their sons or attorneys, were appointed internal revenue officials. An impeached state treasurer, defrauding county or town treasurers, seven forgers—one of whom served two terms for that offense, but "knew Cleveland personally"—and men guilty of robbery, embezzlement, theft, malfeasance, rapping a church till, grand larceny, bribery, obtaining money under false pretenses, of a printing steal, a mileage steal and a patent fraud, of keeping gambling houses and houses of resort for the vile of both sexes, of assault and battery, fist fighting and insulting women, of assaulting a lady temperance lecturer with a club, of wife beating, of black-mailing and selling offices and of selling official information, with an editor of a rogues' paper and a Brooklyn police officer who was dismissed for arresting in her bed at 2 a. m. a sick woman against whom there was no charge and compelling her to walk a mile to a station—all these are chosen instruments of reform.

A full alphabetical list of these appointments has been before the public for more than two months, with quotations from papers that support Mr. Cleveland for re-election authenticating more than three-fourths of the charges, and accompanied by The Tribune's promise to correct any and all errors. Just one correction has been asked for and made.—From The Tribune's record of the President's appointments in the Civil Service, July 23, 1888.

Dr. Brooks an Unrepentant Rebel.

Dr. Brooks, the Prohibition candidate for vice president, seems to be rather a remarkable person. The following are the exact words which he used at the recent meeting at Deatur, Ill.:

"I lived in the south and owned slaves. I sympathized with the south and grieved for the success of the Confederate cause, but my prayers were not answered. I have been a Democrat, but, thank God, I have never been a Republican. I will never have that sin to answer for."

Dr. Brooks also said, as reported by an organ of his own party:

"And I want to say further, that, under the present regime of that party (Republican), and the waving of the bloody shirt, and the perpetuity of the sad memories of the war, the time will never come until Gabriel blows his trumpet that the negro vote in the south will be counted."

The prohibitory party seeks to recruit its ranks chiefly from the Republican party, and a large part of its membership is composed of men who were once Republicans, and who have still, it may be presumed, some regard for the record of that party and for the good work it accomplished in the cause of human freedom. To present to them as a candidate a man who publicly thanks God that he never was a Republican, and who boasts as publicly that the negro vote will not be counted, is an act of extraordinary audacity.—Boston Journal.

The Farmer and the Parrot.—A Fable.

A parrot, perched on an American made steel wire in a Bowery bird store, kept saying over and over again, "The tariff is a tax! The tariff is a tax!"

A St. Lawrence county farmer, who had gone down to "York" to see the sights, heard him and stopped.

"He's, bird!" said he, "don't you know that the farmers up in Canada buy all their implements from us instead of from England, although their tariff is the same on goods from both countries?"

The parrot only said again: "The tariff is a tax."

"Say," said the farmer, "if them things are cheaper in Canada than the English things be, with the same duty on both, ain't they a great deal cheaper to us, who buy them where they are made as a result of our higher tariff, and don't have that Canadian duty to pay on them?"

But the parrot only kept on saying: "The tariff is a tax!"

Dickinson, the Blasphemer.

In the midst of the confusion the strong, common sense of the people came to the place of expounder and interpreter. "It is a very simple case, gentlemen," said common sense. "You were looking beyond, below, around—anywhere, but at the simple nature of things. This curiosity at Washington, this president who seems to you to be inscrutable in his ways and strange in his methods—so rare in this life of yours—is simply an honest man" and an honest man, with a great brain, intrepid heart, and tireless vigor; an honest man of indomitable perseverance, absolute fearlessness, and conscious power; an honest man who stands for the right with the firmness and serenity of the Rock of Ages itself.—From the postmaster general's speech at Detroit, Sept. 20, as reported in the New York Times (Oct. 1).

VERY PLAIN TALK FOR OUR FARMER READERS

The Farm-Fertilizer and the Surplus. Something That No American Citizen Can Afford to Pass Unread—A Voice from the State of Michigan.

As a farmer, I wish to talk to my brethren on the questions of the surplus, the tariff and a few kindred subjects in a manner that can be readily understood. As an illustration I will cite the experience of my father and a Mr. Allen, who several years ago came to Michigan and each purchased a farm, the highway only dividing their places. They only had enough means to procure their land, and as there were houses to build and stock to buy they were compelled to raise money by mortgaging their land, which they each did to the amount of $1,000, giving two notes of $500 at 4 per cent, one note and interest on whole, payable yearly. Things worked along smoothly until a drought came—led them to give second mortgage of $200 a week or year's time to enable them to hold their places.

About this time a mutual friend started a mill in the city of Detroit for the production of a land fertilizer. Father and Allen were induced by this friend, by name to invest in a few barrels of his fertilizer, which proved an excellent article, caused them both to purchase enough the following year to cover over the whole farm. The consequence was that the most improved seed crop—the like of which they had never figured on—was secured. This year they had a good round surplus as the result of the well applied fertilizer.

Each year goes to the bank and finds six of his $1,000 dollar notes with interest on the total would make $684. After some parley he bought the notes for $254, saving $430 by doing so. His second mortgage remained at the rate of 4 per cent, easily to be met, as he had some good fences and made other improvements on the balance of his surplus.

Allen, on the other hand, was stuck at 4 per cent, besides he had not attended some indication meetings held by the farmers in the community, protesting against such a charge as high price for his fertilizer. It was a well known fact that Smith went into the business with very little capital and now ran around in a very ragged way with fast losses and fine clothes, employed 150 men, and seemed to be raving in wealth. He (Allen) would not increase his weight, if he knew himself and would have no more of his expensive fertilizer. Time rolled on—father and his will improved place all clear. Allen—will he sold half of his place to clear his other half.

Now, if the reader will simplify the United States finances, make the bonded debt the farmer's mortgage, the tariff the fertilizer, and the tariff increase the charge on the fertilizer, then as between a protective tariff and free trade, the tariff increases the government's wealth, but it increases the farmer's loss. For President, Benjamin Harrison, Of Indiana.

For Vice-President, Levi P. Morton, Of New York.

For Congressman, Hon. Jas. Buchanan.

For the Republican PLANT PEAR TREES.

Popular Gardening says that the demand for Bartlett pears has been very heavy in Western New York,—far ahead of the supply—at $3.50 to $4.00 per barrel, and that one canning firm would have taken 30,000 bushels at that rate, all to be prepared for the market of London, Eng. This shows not only that there is room for more pears but also that we should have a canning factory right here and save all the cost of shipping the fruits.

Here is work for our Board of Trade and they should endeavor to induce some one to start such an enterprise before next crop comes into market.

THINK BEFORE YOU VOTE.

Some of the Things Free Trade Would Do for America.

- Flounder the poor. Enlarge poor farms. Multiply tenement houses. Revive the public revenue. Drain the country of money. Drive labor largely to the land. Lower the standard of comfort. Scale down all salaries and profits. Revive here the British colonial system. Inundate this country with foreign goods. Turn the balance of trade against us. Destroy our capacity for cheap production. Universally reduce the value of farming land. Unsettle all forms of mercantile business. Instantly cause a paralysis in iron manufacture. Increase farm products and diminish the market. Strike the skilled laborer first and most severely. Destroy the possibility of diversified employment. Paralyze the arm of the worker and empty his pocket. Add greatly to the wealth of the rich and make the poor poorer. Leave skilled labor the alternative of idleness or English wages. Close up thousands of mills, factories, furnaces and workshops. Empty the building associations of their tens of millions of dollars. Throw the south back to the one general industry of cotton raising. Rifle our pockets to swell the incomes of greedy foreign corporations. Take from the home of the artisan the comforts and necessities of life. Free trade will do all these things. DEMOCRACY MEANS FREE TRADE.

THE CORRUPTION FUND.

Raised to Influence Voters in Cleveland's Behalf.

- The Democratic campaign fund continues to grow in a significant way that bears no promise of an honest election. The list now stands: Roosevelt P. Flower $25,000. Dr. Norvin Green, president Jay Gould's telegraph company 10,000. Grover Cleveland 10,000. Calvin Brice 250,000. W. L. Scott, the "coal baron" 150,000. Secretary Whitney and the Standard Oil company 250,000. Postmaster General Dickinson 10,000. J. F. Jones 50,000. Jay Gould Blank check. Secretary Endicott 1,000. Expected from Federal officeholders under pressure 1,000,000.

Total to date $1,856,000. The understanding is that there are other subscriptions promised which will swell the amount to two and a half million dollars, which will be the most prodigious campaign fund ever raised in this or any other country. Five hundred thousand dollars will pay the legitimate expenses of the campaign. What do the Democrats expect to do with the remaining two million?

The Tariff in Australia.

In the parts of Australia where there is a protective tariff wages are higher than they are in any other part of the world, says The New York Press.

P. J. Murphy, an Irishman who went to Australia twenty years ago. There was no tariff on imports there then, and Mr. Murphy has a very vivid recollection of a great soup house for the poor on the top of the highest hill in Melbourne. In 1867, under Sir James McCulloch, a 10 per cent duty was laid on all articles which the Australians were able to produce themselves. Mr. Murphy was trying to make shoes at the time and had eighteen men employed; in one year after the tariff laws were in operation he employed 120 men. Wages, as well as profits, went up again four or five years later under the Sir Patrick Gavan Duffy tariff of 25 per cent, and the Australians began to build machinery and locomotives, make steel rails and operate foundries and mills. There was no use for the old soup house on the hill. Mr. Murphy is a builder now, and under the present tariff of from 35 to 42 per cent, pays his carpenters and masons three times as much per day as the same kind of workmen get in England. He says that if anybody should seriously propose free trade in Australia it would start a social and political revolution, and he doesn't understand how workmen in this country, and especially those of his own race, can be fooled for a minute.

Sixty Cents a Day.

"While in Brussels, Belgium, last summer," said W. H. Perkins, "I saw some skilled laborers making spiral steel car springs, such as we use on our freight cars. They receive 60 cents per day, while our blacksmiths receive $3 for the same work. I asked the Belgian proprietor why he didn't pay more. He said: 'I am handicapped. When I get $100 worth of car springs into New York harbor (for I sell my car springs in America) I have to salute your Yankee flag and give up $50.'" "Where does that come from?" I asked. "It comes off my men's wages," he said. "But suppose America had free trade?" "Free trade!" he exclaimed; "why I would flood the Yankees with car springs. I would trouble my works to-morrow." "But wouldn't that break our steel car springs makers up?" I asked. "Yes, for a while." "How long?" "Why, till your men worked for 60 cents per day as our men do." This tells the whole story. How can any wage earner in the country vote for President Cleveland's re-election? Bread, meat and clothing should be more to any man than even life long affiliation with any party whose policy becomes hostile to his best interests.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Chief Arthur, who is at the head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, has again expressed his approval of Gen. Harrison's course in the labor riots and on labor questions. Soon after Gen. Harrison was nominated Mr. Arthur said that he saw nothing in his record which should prevent any workman from voting for him. He has recently reiterated that opinion, and in referring to the labor disturbances at Indianapolis in 1877, he says, as to Gen. Harrison's utterances there, that in his opinion Gen. Harrison said nothing which any honest man might not have said.—Iowa State Register (Rep.)

ENDICOTT'S INFAMOUS CIRCULAR.

Women and Children Must Be Sacrificed on the Altar of Cleveland's Reform.

(Confidential.) ORDINANCE OFFICE, WAR DEPT., WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 4, 1888. To the commanding officers of the national armories at Springfield, Mass., and Rock Island, Ill., and of the United States arsenals at New York, West Troy, N. Y., and Philadelphia, Pa., Boston, Mass., Benicia, Cal., etc. Sir—While arsenals and the armory are not intended to be converted into political machines, two political parties in this country are recognized. It is therefore ordered that hereafter in employing and discharging employees of any and all grades, other things being equal and qualifications satisfactory, Democrats will be favored, the object being to divide the force in the different grades gradually between Democrats and Republicans. This rule will apply to women and children as well as to men, and will be strictly enforced. Respectfully, your obedient servant, S. V. BEXER, Brigadier General, Chief of Ordnance, United States Army.

Gen. Benet's Own Statement.

A few days before the date of this circular I was called to the office of the secretary of war. Mr. Endicott stated to me that he had received many urgent requests from very prominent Democrats to have Republicans employed in the arsenals throughout the country dismissed and Democrats appointed in their places. The secretary said he did not want to turn the service into a political machine, but that something would have to be done to bring about a different condition of affairs in the ordnance department. He said that he would like to have Democrats appointed wherever Republicans were dismissed, and that the filling of positions occupied by women and children should be recognized in the same political degree as those filled by men. I replied to Mr. Endicott that I would fix the matter, and immediately I wrote this circular and sent it to Secretary Endicott for inspection. The secretary approved of it, and I had manifold copies made and sent to all of the commanders of the arsenals. In three or four instances the commanding officers wrote official or private letters to me—I forget which—stating that they had made careful canvasses of their employees and they found that the majority of them were Democrats, and that if the object of my circular was to equalize between the two parties the positions there could be no equalization in favor of the Democratic party.—Washington Dispatch Indianapolis Journal.

Come Out with Your Excuses.

The president shocked the sensibilities of some of his civil service reform friends by his generous contribution to the Democratic campaign fund, but what shall he say now in apology for the Benet circular? That, having advanced the reform of the civil service by every means in his power, it became necessary to conciliate the spoilsmen a little? Or shall no excuse be offered, but Gen. Benet and his chief be royally abused for sending such a circular out, marked "confidential" or otherwise? And shall this condemnation be visited on them because of the order contained in the circular, or because they resorted to paper and ink to promulgate the order instead of issuing it by word of mouth alone, according to the policy enunciated by the late lamented Mr. Higgins: "Oh, no; we never put nothin' down in writin'!"—Washington Star (Ind.)

One Illustration of Its Effect.

My sister, the widow of a wounded officer of volunteers, who served faithfully during the war of the rebellion, had employment for herself and two daughters at one of the large houses until about six months ago, when they were called before the commanding officer and told that they could not have any more work from the ordnance department. When my sister asked the reason he informed her that he had learned that she and her daughters were Republicans. "Are we discharged for that reason only?" she asked. He replied: "It is perhaps improper for me to reply to that question; I can only say that I am complying with confidential instructions received from the chief of ordnance."—Letter from J. Q. Ellery, of Rock Island, to the Indianapolis Journal.

Unparalleled Partisanship.

In partisan meanness and malignity the circular has no parallel. This is the first time in the history of this government, and doubtless of any civilized government, that a proscriptive order has, by cruel emphasis, been made to bear with crushing force on widows and orphans.—Indianapolis Journal (Rep.)

Even the Scrub Women Must Go.

This circular was sent to armories and arsenals and Republican scrub women, Republican errand boys by Democratic errand boys. The high and mighty Endicott approved it all.—New York Press (Rep.)

A Practical Temperance Law.

The New York Advocate, speaking of the New Jersey local option law, says: "It is the best we know of, and if the people wish, under it they may have absolute prohibition." And yet Gen. Clinton B. Fisk, who in the general conference, both in the committee on temperance and in the conference, favored the resolution, both by speech and by votes, which recommends local option to Methodists, allows himself to be used for the repeal of that law. We are much mistaken if he finds many Methodists following him, even in New Jersey, much less in Indiana, where prohibition is impossible, but local option is not.—Indiana Christian Advocate.

His Career as a Reformer Never Began.

In his letter of acceptance in 1841 it took eighteen lines for Mr. Cleveland to express his views and make promises on the subject of civil service reform. He made this issue the sole subject, also, of long letters addressed to Mr. Curtis and other supposed reformers. This year a casual allusion of two or three lines, sandwiched in among a lot of minor issues, was all that he found space for. The president's career as a "reformer" is about ended.—Boston Journal.

A correspondent from Elburn, Ill., writes "Politics are getting lively here. Both parties holding meetings every week. Young Dearborn spoke here last Saturday evening at the Democratic rally and the large hall was well filled but two-thirds were Republicans. And, when during his speech the young man said that for anything he knew to the contrary Harrison was a good man, the shouts of applause shook the building and fairly took the young man off his feet and he remarked that he supposed he was addressing a Democratic meeting, but that if his speech of about an hour and a half had made Republicans of them all he thought he had better quit."

The Verdict Unanimous.

W. B. Sult, druggist, Bippus, Ind., writes: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles, and was cured of rheumatism of six years' standing." Abraham Hare, druggist, Belleville, Ohio, affirms: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in 20 years' experience is Electric Bitters. Thousands of others have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters do cure all diseases of the liver, kidneys, or blood. Only a half-dollar a bottle at Cochran's drug store."
