The Botan Plum.

Since the curetlo has made it nearly impracticable to raise plums of the common European varieties, great efforts have been made to find some other class of plums which would be curculio proof. The Wild Goose and some others of the Chickasaw family have been fairly successful and are much better than none but still very much inferior in quality to the best of the European. More recently, several varieties from Japan and Russia have been offered with great flourish of trumpets, and among them Kelesy's Japan is very good for our southern states and California, but does not succeed well here and Oregon is not very good in quality; but Botan has borne abundant crops of large and fine plums in the Monmouth Nursery, for the last three years, small trees being loaded down in nursery rows. I have not seen the fruit, but two of my sons who were there at the time it ripened, the foreman of the nursery and the editor of the Orchard and Garden all coincide in such full and hearty commendation that I propose to plant it freely myself and advise others to do so.

The Botan Plum is very large and beautiful, roundish, slightly pointed, color amber, turning to rich cherry, with a decided white bloom and highly perfumed. Flesh light yellow, tender, juicy and deliciously sweet. Stone small and when fully ripe parts readily from the flesh. Season early in August.

AT

E. Stockwell's,

The Voters' Catechism.

What is the duty of every voter? To thoughtfully consider the main issues, so as to cast his ballot in favor of that party whose principles would advance the masses materially and morally.

What is the main issue between the two great political parties? Protection and free trade.

Is President Cleveland a free trader? He is, if sincere in the use of language.

Are the majority of his party free traders? They are.

Are the Democratic leaders in favor of excluding Chinese? They are.

Does this harmonize with their free trade theories? It does not.

Give your reasons. With no restrictive duties the Chinese laborer can get just as much with the American laborer as he would if living in China. There is no practical difference between importing the Chinaman and importing his products free of duty.

To what industry would this condition of affairs prove most disastrous? Rice growing.

What wages does the Chinese farm hand get? Five to eight cents a day.

Would these wages suit the Carolina rice growers? They would not.

What will the northern wool growers and safe producers do if their industries go on the free list? They will see to it that rice and sugar go there to.

What is the duty of the Carolina rice grower? To vote squarely against the Cleveland free trade crew.

What do the free traders say about quinine? They claim that the present low price is a result of free trade in quinine, and thus make it appear as an illustration of the benefits of free trade.

Is this true? It is not.

Give us your reasons? Quinine is obtained from a number of Cinchona trees that were found growing on the western slope of the Andes mountains in South America. As the drug grew in popularity the forests grew thinner, so that in 1851 the Bolivian government prohibited for three years the cutting of the tree commonly used. Cinchona calisaya quinine became so valuable that the experiment of transplanting young trees was begun and proved a success. They were planted in Asiatic climes. The production of bark gradually increased, so that in 1859, the year quinine was placed on the free list, it had reached enormous proportions and prices rapidly declined.

State why big crops of the bark and not free trade gave us cheap quinine? Prices have fallen all over the world, which would not be the case if the relative production and consumption of bark had remained the same. In 1850 quinine was worth $1 per ounce in England; now it is as cheap as sugar here.

Suppose through forest fires or some other calamity the supply of bark had greatly decreased for several years succeeding 1879, what would have been the result? Quinine values would have gone up the world over.

Would it have been fair to exclude American free trade a the cause of such universal high prices? It would not.

What argument do free traders hold out to farmers? That the per cent. of increase in the number of cattle, horses and mules and all other productions of farm labor was vastly greater from 1850 to 1860, when we had practically free trade (a revenue tariff), than any ten years since.

What does the farmer say to such argument? He winks slyly at it, for he knows as well as any one that to increase the amount of farm productions means a greater number of cattle and hogs, bushels of corn, wheat and oats, just what we have in the above period, and this means a smaller profit for each. Here is concisely free trade—great increase in number of farmers and farm productions, decrease in number of consumers, low prices. Ergo, protection—slight increase in number of farms and farm productions, great increase in number of consumers, high protection. Farmers have good, solid, practical sense about economic questions.

Will the Republicans reform the customs duties? They will.

Is it safer for the friends of enemies of a law to revise it? The friends, or enemies.

Do Democratic stump speakers say anything about the price of all wool army blankets in the United States and in England? Not a word.

Why? They are ashamed to.

What ought to be done with rampant free traders? They ought to get rice for two cents in competition with the rat eating Chinese. This remedy would kill or cure.

Is the price of manufactured productions enhanced to the consumer by the amount of tariff on these articles? Grover Cleveland could tell you, as he made a little trade with John Bull for some army blankets. Vote for the candidates that will better the working-man's bread.

The Silent South.

No Republican votes were cast in Georgia at the state election, Nov. 4, 1888. The total voting population of Georgia is 221,333 of whom 117,367 are white and 103,966 are colored. There are, of course, thousands of white Republicans in Georgia, which is becoming a great manufacturing state, or at least men who believe in protection and would be Republicans but for social ostracism, business boycotts, or race and sectional prejudice. Such elections—when but one party is permitted to vote, or have its votes counted, are a criminal farce. But it is through such elections that the Democrats will place Cleveland again in office if he goes there at all.—Chicago Journal.

He's Putting It Out Now.

In Harper's Weekly for Nov. 17 George William Curtis will give several excellent and logical reasons why Cleveland was defeated and the Democratic party overthrown. And still the ways of the mugwump will be justified.—Ohio State Journal.

FREE TRADE MAXIMS.

How Some Democrats Talk at Protection and American Industries. It makes interesting reading, now that the Democratic leaders are talking about their friendliness to the tariff, to notice what they said about it before the Maine election...

"The devil is never dressed up so elegantly as when he appears as a protectionist." Here is the opinion of Mr. Glass, of Tennessee, not glittering with sarcasm like Mr. Cox's, but showing just as much hatred to the tariff.

"The farmer, the laborer and the mechanic will cheerfully pay all taxes necessary to support economic government. But they become resistive under the exactions of trusts, monopolies and robber barons."

Next is the opinion of Mr. Caruth, of Kentucky: "The tariff is the most insidious enemy of the people. It is the cause of all our troubles."

"While it pretends to be giving us 'protection,' it is really stealing our substance and destroying our lives. It is the highwayman who boldly gallops upon the public road and demands 'your money or your life,' but the sneak thief who, in an unobtrusive manner, steals your purse, or the burglar who robs you of your possessions in sleep's unconscious hour."

"We are told that this mighty freetrader, this pirate who has robbed us on the sea, this thief who has stolen our substance on land, is not our enemy, but the cause of national prosperity."

This headline attack is from the great speech of Mr. Hill Martin, of Texas: "The tariff is the cause of all our troubles. It is the cause of all our poverty, and it is the cause of all our suffering."

"I am opposed to any tariff whatever for protection simply." "If we did not require money to defray the expenses of the government, I would be an absolute and uncompromising free trader."

"I maintain that this tariff for protection is the principal cause of all our troubles." Hon. John J. Hemphill, of South Carolina: "The scheme of tariff and duty, however private property is fairly and honestly taken, not for public but for private uses, without any compensation, and without any excuse or pretext, except such as creates the derision and contempt of every disinterested and unprejudiced man."

There were plenty more of them, but these show what can be expected if the tariff ever gets into the hands of the Democratic party for revision.

"Food for Thought." In a recent noteworthy article in the North American Review, that distinguished Irish-American citizen, Gen. Michael Kerwin, remarks that: "As regards England's 'use' of the Irish in America, it is undeniable that a large proportion of the latter have been, and still are, unwittingly no doubt, the tools of England. In so far as Irishmen in this country have supported the free trade policy of the Democratic party, they have been virtually the friends and supporters of England."

Having lost her foothold in the European market, and with Russia closely pursuing her in the east, England turns wistfully to America, in the hope of receiving here a market for the disposal of her wares. Free traders would give her the coveted prize. There is no lack of evidence to show that one of England's most cherished desires, the triumph of the free trade policy in the United States.

"The unanimous approval with which the English press of all shades of political opinion has indicated every free trade manifestation in the United States, since the president's December message, the Mills bill and the Democratic national platform, speaks conclusively on this point. Neither here nor in England newspapers have been backward in pointing out that the adoption of a free trade policy in the United States would give the English manufacturers and English trade such a boom as they have not received during the present century."

Surely there is "food for thought" for all intelligent and patriotic American voters in the language of Gen. Kerwin.

Cleveland's Pot Banks. By what authority of law Mr. Cleveland, and his secretary of the treasury have distributed $1,000,000 of the People's money among certain national banks scattered over the country no one seems to know, but the fact is undisputed. Given that statement Cleveland's policy. The New York Sun asserts that in January last Secretary Fairchild had deposited in certain favored national banks over $3,000,000 of public money free of interest, and since that time he has increased his beneficence to nearly $2,000,000. The exact figures as given to the Senate by the treasury department are $3,827,000, and that was some weeks ago. There is no knowing how much more he has stowed out of the treasury since, under the auspices of a presidential campaign.

Mrs. Henry J. Montfort has a chrysanthemum with over one thousand blossoms. Editor Wilbur entertained his father, mother and sister, last Saturday and Sunday.

Window station, on the C. & A. Railroad, has been abandoned, owing to lack of business. Mr. Thayer has a contract for another house on Egg Harbor Road, near Mrs. Weston's.

Hammond Loan Association's monthly meeting next Thursday evening, in the Council Room. Hon. William McAlister is expected to address a Democratic meeting in Union Hall, next Friday night.

Mrs. Zeri Cook, of Bradford County, Pa., is visiting her son (Carl M.) and other relatives in Hammond.

The Republican. SATURDAY, OCT. 27, 1888. LOCAL MISCELLANY.

Building paper at C. E. Hall's. The Acme Dramatic Club has been rehearsing "Emersola," and "Robert Macaire," and will present the first and perhaps the second, at Union Hall on Thanksgiving evening and the Saturday evening following.

Capt. Fred. Small returned, on Thursday, after three months' absence, including a sea trip to Fernandina, Fla. He reports helping to carry a yellow fever patient to his home, and mingling in a business way with others afflicted with that disease.

Don't forget to be on hand at the soap-bubble party, next Saturday evening. Democrats, Republicans, Prohibitionists, Knights of Labor, etc., will be equally welcome; and, what's more, the "tickets" marked out will be carried by a business way with others afflicted with that disease.

The Young People's Social Union of the Baptist Church will give an oyster supper in Sons of Temperance Hall next Friday evening, Nov. 2nd. Oysters served in all styles. An entertainment will be provided, a pleasing feature of which will be a zither solo. Admission 10 cents.

Mr. Job Norcross died last week, at Braddock, near Blue Anchor. Less than seventy weeks ago he insured in the Metropolitan, paying five cents per week. On Wednesday, Mr. Marshall showed us the company's check for thirty-four dollars, full payment of the claim. Was it a good investment?

The ladies of the Universalist Society propose to furnish dinners and suppers in the dining-room of Union Hall, on election day, Nov. 6th, and solicit the patronage of all hungry voters of every political faith, and others who want a good dinner without the trouble of going home for it.

The quarterly meeting of the Grand Division, Sons of Temperance, was held in Hammond this week, Wednesday, in the Division room. Our informant states that thirty or more members were present, and that all proceedings were characterized by harmony and enthusiasm. The ladies served an elegant dinner and evening lunch in the hall.

Mr. H. Frank Crowell died, at his home in Atlantic City, early yesterday (Friday) morning; it is thought from heart disease, but we have not learned the particulars. Mr. Crowell was well known in Hammond, having been one of its earliest settlers. He was always held in the highest esteem while here. We presume he will be buried in Hammond.

The Republican. SATURDAY, OCT. 27, 1888. LOCAL MISCELLANY.

Our High School has now sixty-one students enrolled, with an average attendance of fifty-seven. This is more than the room will accommodate, and Prof. Matthews has started his advanced class around a long table in the library room. This has necessitated the addition of a new heater, to render that portion of the building comfortable. The Central School is so full, in every department, that extra seats have been put in. It looks very much as though another addition to the building would be necessary, in a year or two.

Dr. Adamson, a native of Siam, a graduate of Jefferson Medical College, a converted worshipper of Buddha, preached in the Presbyterian Church on Sunday morning, and in the Baptist Church that evening. Monday evening he gave a very entertaining lecture upon the habits, customs, and religion of Siam, appearing in the picturesque native costume. We are pleased to say that the church was filled, and the net sum of twenty-seven dollars taken at the door. The gentleman expects to return to Siam, soon, as a preacher and physician.

Robert Elder has been convicted of murder in the first degree, for killing his father. The trial began on Tuesday morning, before Judge Reed, with a struck jury. The witnesses were all examined that day, and on Wednesday the Judge gave a clear and very impartial charge, and the jury retired about eleven o'clock, returning with their verdict in about three hours. We hear that the attorneys for defense, Messrs. Endicott and Perry, objected to the manner of drawing the jury, and applied for a new trial. Sentence was postponed until Nov. 10th.

The evidence given in Court was in substance the same as that before the Coroner. The defense was not allowed to prove the character and habits of the deceased, in palliation of the crime.

In case with A. H. Phillips, 1328 Atlantic Ave., Atlanta City.

FARM NOTES.

TWO PLANS FOR KEEPING GRAPES.—There are a number of methods in use for keeping grapes so as to lengthen the season for fruit. These methods all depend for their success on the same conditions...

Following are two simple but effective systems that may be utilized to advantage, whether the amount of fruit to be saved is large or small.

The first method is to take new slabs of soap boxes, or any other box of about the same size and cut them on the inside of the ends or sides about one inch from the top, and between them bars at various distances, as required...

The second plan is equally simple. All that is required are two or more iron or wooden hoops, two lengths of wire to every two hoops to hold them in position, and some string and the contrivance is complete.

COOLING MILK.—As a rule every farmer now cools his milk, but many of them never stop to think which is the best way to cool for given purposes.

DRINKING THE WHOLE MILK makes fine calves, but calves raised on skim milk and oatmeal and bran, if not so sleek at 8 months old, had a better start in bone and muscle and beat the more pampered calves of 2 years of age.

YOUNG MRS. FEHINKS (at market for a best time) says: "Your chicken isn't an old hen. It feels very tough. Marketman.—I can assure you, ma'am, that fowl is very young."

CLEANED ALREADY.—She was a poor creature, with a weird look on her face and a threadbare shawl thrown over her shoulders. She went to the office of the bank president and asked: "Don't you want to hire a scrub woman, sir?"

TWO NOTICES OF ILLS.—In a "Smoking Compartment"—Funny doctor (with cigar, to individual smoking maintained, as there are middle-men take): "I'm a medical man, and I can assure you, my dear sir, that ninety-nine per cent. of throat diseases arise from decay of the tonsils."

RESERVING EGGS FOR WINTER use is not difficult, but care is required. Eggs from hens not in company with males will keep three times as long as those containing the germs of chicks.

WHILE THE WORK can be done before the ground freezes, a large supply of dry dirt should be stored for winter use. It is an excellent absorbent and soddenizer and is cheap.

PARSNIPS and carrots are not injured if stored outside in mounds, and in sections they may be left in the rows, watered only.

THE SKIM-MILK and whey may not be skable, but it can be used for producing pork. Pigs will always grow on farms where skim-milk is plentiful, and the cost of the pork will be but little if other waste material is used in feeding them.

THE SQUASH-BUG has been very destructive this season, attacking not only the squash but the pumpkin and melon. It is not at all easy to destroy them, but by using the dry lime is excellent.

BARNYARD MANURE.—Although commercial fertilizers can be made to supply the elements that are wanting in the soil, the use of barnyard manure is still the best.

THE VALUE OF THE FOOD is not in the available material contained therein for the production of meat or milk only, but also in the amount of quality of the manure derived therefrom.

THE FIRST DRESS COAT.

THE QUADRILLE once ended, I became stationary; foolishly held back by my short skirt—too shy to sport an eye-glass, too proud to wear a hat, too delicate and dreading lest, at the slightest movement, I should bruise my knee against the corner of some piece of furniture, or plunge my nose into a globe of coral, or a vase of flowers.

BEFORE AND AFTER TAKING.

I have used the Free Trade Mixture, and the condition of my workingmen has been completely changed. They are now enjoying a condition of degradation, poverty and misery. I can highly recommend it to Americans.—John Bull.

THE TRUE PERCENTAGES.

Showing What the Reduction Made by the Mills Bill Really Is.

It is the duty of every Republican to give the lie direct to any Janus Democrat who says that the reduction of duty made by the Mills bill is merely from 47 to 49 per cent.

The senate committee has made a careful calculation, in which it shows that the reduction, including the free list, is 49 per cent. The experts of the Tariff league have already shown that the reduction is fully 43 per cent.

It is a long and difficult computation, and hardly any two accountants, no matter how able, will come out the same. Mr. W. L. Hartung, public accountant and auditor, 35 Vesey street, this city, has carefully examined every item on the Mills bill for The Press, and he shows that the reduction made is 50.92 per cent on the articles reduced and put upon the free list. This estimate is undoubtedly correct, and certainly the three authorities ought to stand against the false statements of Mr. Mills and the Democrats, who are anxious to deceive the voters of eastern manufacturing states.

CHEAP SUGAR.

That's What the Republicans Want to Give the People.

Sugar is almost as much of a household necessity as bread, and should therefore be made as cheap as possible. The Mills bill provides for a reduction of 18 per cent of the duty on that article, and the senate substitute provides for a reduction of 50 per cent. No intelligent voter can fail to see at a glance, therefore, which of the two parties is most desirous to lessen the burdens of the people and lower the prices of food.

A well known iron and steel manufacturer says there are two sorts of prices of the leading commodities—the "professors' prices" and the market prices. It is the professors, for instance, who are responsible for the Democratic assertions that the labor cost of pig iron is $1.50 a ton and of steel rails $3.75 a ton, the real cost in each case being several times this amount.

An Ohio paper says Anna Dickinson is a strong but a very delicate compound. It says that Anna, while not a Democrat or a gentleman, is at least not a relative of Don M. Dickinson.—Judge.

DESERTING ROGER Q. MILLS.

One of His Principal Supporters Objects to Mr. A. C. Pendergast, of Texas, chairman of R. Q. Mills' Executive Committee, and gives the following reasons:

I know the machine politicians in the Democratic fold will now and in the future harp their worst maledictions against any supposed aspirations they think I have, and it may be that I am in their opinion a bad Democrat, yet I have never been an ardent Prohibitionist and then a violent anti-Prohibitionist turncoat as their idol, Col. Mills, has been, nor have I ever publicly denounced any other Democrats who had been my warm supporters, and said they were unworthy to participate in a Democratic organization, because they differed with me on a question which the Democratic state convention solemnly declared was no test of Democracy, as Col. Mills has done. I have never been a Know Nothing and denounced Democracy, as Col. Mills has been and done. I have never been a Whig and supported its doctrines against Democracy, as Col. Mills has done. I have never been a Greenbacker and made Greenback speeches and whipped back into the party ranks for the sake of office, as has been done by and for Col. Mills. I have not been an office holder for fifteen years and drawn about $7,500 yearly from the pockets of my people and then gone to another section of the country and made speeches to the capitalists and monopolists, telling them in substance that "by the passage of my bill I will put a net profit in your pockets on all you sell of 5 per cent, more than you now make under the law," and thereby attempt to injure my own people and ruin some of them, as Col. Mills has done. I am not now and never have been in favor of that vicious system of legislation which builds up one section and enriches one set of men to the injury of my own section and people, as Col. Mills attempts to do on the wool question, and yet he is considered by the politicians "the noblest Roman of them all," and I the worst of Democratic craves. At every general election since I arrived at my majority I have voted the Democratic ticket, for the name of Col. Mills on it, not scratched, for congress, but at the ensuing election I shall vote the Democratic ticket, with Mr. Jones' name substituted for that of Col. Mills. In conclusion, let me say that I have already carried out my intentions and resign the chairmanship of the Democratic executive committee of this judicial district.

The Real Point for Workingmen.

The working people of this country should be careful not to be misled upon the tariff question, for they are vastly more interested in the result than any other class. It is a question of wages with them, and nothing else. J. & P. Coats, the great thread manufacturers, have extensive establishments in Paisley, Scotland, and Pawtucket, R. I. The rates of wages paid in both places are as follows:

Table comparing wages in Paisley and Pawtucket for various jobs like Cop spoolers, Twist tenders, Reelers, etc.

In America, per week of 60 hours, $12.93. In Scotland, per week of 56 hours, $9.93.

Excess for America, $3.83. That is to say, this same firm pays 126 per cent. more for their work in this country than they do in Scotland. The Democrats will tell you that this is due to the superior American machinery. But is it supposable that practical business men like the Messrs. Coats would use inferior machinery in Scotland and when they could have the best by simply sending to the American branch for it? Not at all. When improvements are made in any branch of manufacturing in one country they are immediately adopted by their competitors in other countries. Any number of illustrations of this could be cited, but one is sufficient. During the war we became very proficient in the manufacture of small arms, and our machinery for making them was the best in the world. The result was for some years after the war we sold large quantities of small arms to Turkey and other foreign countries. But very soon European makers copied our machinery improvements, and with their cheaper labor, they are now underselling us in the markets of the world.

The only reason why the Messrs. Coats pay 126 per cent. more for labor in this country than in Scotland is the high protective tariff, which prevents the product of their cheap Scotch labor from flooding the American market. Let Cleveland's free trade policy be carried into effect, and the protective duty removed, Messrs. Coats would say to their American operatives you must work for what we pay in Scotland or we will shut up our Pawtucket works and supply this market from our cheaper manned Paisley works. That is the course every American manufacturer would be obliged to take.—Buffalo Commercial Advertiser.

In Chill November.

The Democ he came down with his vote to the polls, To help his poor candidates out of their holes; And his sneer and his scowl were quite awful to see; As he viewed himself squelched in a minority.—Judge.

A Sound Argument.

Said a Democratic workingman in New York the other day: "I would rather pay one cent more for a dinner pail and establish an industry worth $30,000,000 annually to this nation than continue to support 100,000 Englishmen in making tin plate, when that number of Americans want employment." The argument is sound. It is sound from the workingman's standpoint especially, and it is sound from the standpoint of every intelligent American citizen.

Let Us All Hurrah for Hill.

The news from New York is as glorious as the news from Vermont and Maine. Hill's renomination will bring 25,000 extra votes to the Republicans in the Empire State on Nov. 4.—Crisis Democrat.
