DR. JOHN BULL'S
Smith's Tonic Syrup
FEVER and AGUE
Or CHILLS and FEVER,
AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SANE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT CURE of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of BULL'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient.

BULL'S SARSAPARILLA is the old and reliable remedy for impurities of the blood and Scrofulous affections.

Washington, D. C., November 15, 1884.

There is a great diversity of opinion among Democrats here, I find, concerning the course President Cleveland will take as to offices. I have interviewed two local leaders, both of whom took part in the New York campaign, and find they have exactly opposite beliefs on the subject; one saying that everybody in office will go out, and the other that dismissals except for cause will not be made among the lesser officials. Number one referred particularly to the ten thousand men and women in Government employment here. Number two went so far as to say that the President would adopt throughout the country—in post-offices and all other offices of trust—an entirely new system, reinvigorating no one and appointing no one upon party grounds. It is almost too much to expect from any one, but my Democratic friend professes to have his information direct. I give his statements simply. My advice to all Republican officials whose places are desirable, is to put their houses in order.

President Arthur this year took some pains, before naming a day for Thanksgiving, to ascertain what day would be most satisfactory in the various States, and the agreement upon the 27th of November was general. It is probable that succeeding presidents, and in time the governors of all the states, will select the last Thursday in November for this purpose. It seems proper to say in this connection, that in many affairs which have usually failed to attract the attention of our presidents, but which are of interest to all, if not of high importance, President Arthur has acted with entire deference to what he had made efforts to find out was the popular will. He is really a most thoughtful President, and will leave the White House with a reputation among those who know him well, of having done all that careful and conscientious regard for his high office required.

The National Board of Health, from its headquarters in this city, has just issued a circular concerning the threatened cholera invasion. They do this because the dreadful scourge is now spreading in Europe, through those regions always traveled by Americans, and will almost certainly visit this country soon. While it is probable that the southern cities of this country would be the greatest sufferers, because of the habits of life among negroes, there is no city or village in the broad land that can have assured exemption. The Health Board most earnestly advises that every sanitary precaution be taken. I find in a recent foreign despatch, a statement to the effect that in Paris those neighborhoods are most afflicted which have their water supply from sources comparatively impure and I venture the assertion will be found to be the fact wherever the disease may spread. The National Board of Health is, as your readers know a recent creation of Congress, and met with great opposition both in that body and in State Boards, but it has already shown excellent results, and will no doubt meet with liberal treatment from the law-makers hereafter.

Some surprise is expressed at the statement in Commissioner Dudley's annual report, just published, that the cost of pensions for the past year has been but about fifty millions. Some wild estimates made by the Commissioner a few years ago, and statements made in Congress, based on these estimates, caused a belief that a hundred millions per year would be needed. Careful calculation shows, however, that unless radical changes are made in the laws, and new classes added thereto to the list of pensioners, the expense will not be any more than fifty millions in any year. And I do not think such legislation at all probable.

Troops fired upon and killed people in the streets of Mexico, on Tuesday. The crowd had gathered to discuss the debt question.

The citizens of Long Branch have established a patrol to guard their property from incendiaries during the winter.

Governor Abbott's visit to Mr. Cleveland is considered in the interest of the appointment of John P. Stockton to a Cabinet position, while the State House ring will throw their influence in favor of General McClellan for Secretary of War.

The tax on bread in Paris has been removed.

Commander-in-chief Kountz and Judge Advocate General Austin Grand Army of the Republic, were given a reception and banquet in Boston Monday night.

The cost of mail transportation of all kinds for the year which ended January 30 last was $20,609,117.

Cleveland when asked as to his attitude on the Civil Service law pointed to his letter of acceptance.

The failure of the Republicans to carry Oneida County, N. Y., is attributed to the Conkling bolters.

There were seventy-two deaths from cholera in Paris on Saturday, and twenty-one Sunday up to 6 P. M.

Many mills are closed and over 2000 carpet looms are idle.

The patents including reissues and designs, issued during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1884, numbered 22,822.

The iron manufacturers held a meeting Monday and resolved to reduce the price list from 2 to 1.8 cents.

The wages of the miners in the Cumberland regions are to be reduced 20 per cent on December 1.

Mr. Donnan B. Eaton chairman of the board of Civil Service Reform Commissioners, is inclined to think that Mr. Cleveland will approve of the continuance of the service in its present form, so far as relates to minor offices.

Fires at Goldsboro, N. C., destroyed property of the value of $250,000.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla thoroughly cleanses the blood, stimulates the vital functions, and restores the health and strength. No one whose blood is impure can feel well. There is a weary languid feeling, and often a sense of discouragement and despondency. Persons having this feeling should take Ayer's Sarsaparilla to purify and vitalize the blood.

A clear head is indicative of good health and regular habits. Whenever the body feels heavy and languid, and the mind works sluggishly, Ayer's Caliaric Pills will wonderfully assist to a recovery of physical buoyancy and mental vigor. The constipated should use them.

A good many of the Democratic roosters look as though they had been in the cellar waiting for twenty-four years.

If Roscoe Conkling joins the Democratic party, it will grieve him to discover that George William Curtis, whom he dubbed the "man milliner," got there before him.

The Democratic party will please take notice that James G. Blaine still has some interest in American politics.

Lord Dunraven and John Bright are discussing the tariff question, over the salt sea.

Philadelphia Republicans cordially saluted the Democratic procession, last Saturday night.

By the new commercial treaty recently concluded with Spain by Minister Foster, a large number of articles from the United States are to enter Cuba and Porto Rico free of duty.

The Council of State of Cuba has resolved to pay an indemnity of $250,000 gold to the owners of the American brig Nettie, which was seized and sold by the Custom House authorities at Cienfuegos.

Four years of relief from the responsibilities of power will show again, as twenty-four years of unbroken supremacy have already shown, the inherent vitality of the Republican organization. The party has not suffered a relapse; it has merely taken a respite.

The cold wave brings no discomfort to Republicans. They have been prepared for it ever since the fatal fourth.

The country will have to spell reform with a small "r" for four years.

THE FORTY-EIGHTH.

Silence hath mysteries which we dream not
What is it but the mystery of sound?
Deep in its chambers, hidden far away.
We know each song a separate place hath
Found for the music of soul? It echoes down
The thought-hedged ways where listening memory treads.

Fine silence is one web of many songs,
Like some fabric woven of many threads.

The stars in silence turn, yet in their course
Make rhythmic music for the universe.
We say the flowers grow silently. They

Sweet songs of love and beauty where they spring.

The beauty of the summer quiet night—

Or music that hath been and taken flight.

O post! thin the finer sense that hears
Thou gatherest music from the earth, sleep,

And hast in dreams, while others sleep,

To thee the clouds are glorious symphonies;

The sunlight's flooding gold, the shadows deep;

Are songs in minor and in major keys.

Post sing for me of duller ears

The voiceless melody the spirit hears:

Catch from all nature the deep undertone

Of music that is here and there alone;

In silence; how the hosts of swift wings

Of angels makes the silence rich in song.

WHICH SHALL OF HER?

She stood there among the corn,
A poppies and cornflowers, mottled as a statue, somewhat smart as she always was, with an attempt at gaiety that made me smile as I noticed the long cotton gloves, the lace at the wrist, the small, the fashionable pocket-book that looked so out of place with her surroundings.

"Oh, yes, it is all very nice," he said, "but I am sure Jim is a good fellow," I added more warmly, "he looks it."

"Oh, he is very well," then more brightly, "I'll tell you what he is, Miss Florence; he is a right-good good farmer, and that is what we want's ne'er."

"I am very glad to hear it," I answered, and very shortly after took my leave.

There was a constraint about him, something new, so now Jim and I will do it, and Jim has plenty of capital."

"What be you 'a doing here?" he asked, and then turned, after greeting me, to Kate.

"My dear," he said gently, "I want my tea early to-day."

I had never had tea with them, and was more than half afraid that Jim's gentleness and goodness to his wife and by his innate good breeding, I said,

"But people wear clothes all the time."

"Exactly, but peoples' hats changed a good deal. Some folks vell all for style, and gay to a tailor to get it. Other people have ready-made clothing, so many of us vell in their pecces, dot it, and sit in the shade."

Easier money comes in place ought to beat me down. Easier man look down at goods all over for cotton, and it vell be different."

The Republican

[Entered at second class matter]

HAMMONTON, ATLANTIC CO., N. J.

SATURDAY, NOV. 28, 1854.

After preaching to the world those forty years or more the great revelation of Free Trade, which was soon to spread over the face of the earth and admit free into the darkest and remotest parts of the Bible and British goods, it is amazing to see England clamoring again for humdrum Protection. A deputation of British working-men on Wednesday last week, waited upon Mr. McAlister, M. P., and represented to him the hardships to which they had been subjected in trying to fight hostile tariffs and foreign bounties with free imports. In reply to the petition, Mr. McAlister admitted that he had always looked upon England's Free-trade policy as a suicidal blunder.

This remark was intended for home consumption only. The British does not talk that way to Dr. Brown and Colonel Putnam and other distinguished American converts, who, stimulated by old port, gush over the growth of Free Trade in the United States at the Cobden Club annual dinners.

Democratic authority is slowly acknowledging that the party had large sums of money at its command in the late election. One of the leaders admits that $8,000 was spent in one close county. The World in an account of a jubilee at Hoboken says: "John Stevens, the millionaire, entertained some of the clubs at Castle Point, it being the first time that the house has been open for such a purpose. It is said that he gave the New Jersey Democratic State Committee $10,000 for campaign purposes." Of course, none of the money was for "bribery or corruption."

What will Beecher get from the new administration?

AYER'S Hair Vigor

restores, with the gloss and freshness of youth, faded or gray to a natural, rich brown color, or deep black, usually neglected. By its use light or red hair may be darkened, thin hair thickened, and baldness often, though not always, cured.

It is a tonic for the hair, and stimulates a weak and sickly growth to vigor. It prevents and cures scurf and dandruff, and heals nearly every disease peculiar to the scalp. As a Ladies' Hair Dressing, the Vigor is unequalled; it contains neither oil nor perfume, and is safe for all skin, and sitzen in appearance, and imparts a delicate, agreeable, and lasting perfume.

Mrs. C. P. Brunnen writes from Kirby, Oct. 3, 1852: "Last fall my hair commenced falling out, and I was greatly distressed. I used part of a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor, which stopped the falling out, and now my hair is thicker, and have now a full head of hair growing vigorous and strong, and am convinced that but for the Vigor I could have been entirely bald."

J. W. Ayers, proprietor of the Mt. Auburn (Ohio) Manufacturing Company, writes: "I speak of it from my own experience. It is a safe and reliable article, and makes it glossy and soft. The Vigor is also a sure cure for dandruff. Not within my knowledge has any other article ever failed to give entire satisfaction."

Mr. ANGUS FAIRBAIRN, leader of the celebrated Fairbairn Family, Philadelphia, writes from New York, Oct. 25, 1852: "Ever since my hair began to give place to baldness, I have used a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor, which stopped the falling out, and now my hair is thicker, and have a full head of hair growing vigorously and strong, and am convinced that but for the Vigor I could have been entirely bald."

Mrs. O. A. Purcell, writing from Eliza St., Cheltenham, Mass., Oct. 24, 1852: "I speak of it from my own experience. It is a safe and reliable article, and makes it glossy and soft. The Vigor is also a sure cure for dandruff. Not within my knowledge has any other article ever failed to give entire satisfaction."

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., say by an Druggist:

"A YOUNG MAN, in fact every one who uses Ayer's Hair Vigor, is sure to be satisfied with it."

We have a few to show to those who need but a trial to convince the most sceptical of its value.

FOR THE OLD RELIABLE.
26 YEARS IN USE.
The Greatest Medical Triumph of the Age!
Indorsed all over the World.

The Camden Post says: "Comptroller Andrew having lived through two Democratic assemblies should now be indorsed by a Republican legislature. He has made a good officer, and has held the fort like a good fellow. It would be unfair to supplant him with any one else."

Mr. Blaine was received Tuesday night, at his home, and made an important speech, dwelling principally upon the injury to result from the readmission of the South to the political control of the Republic.

A change of the count in one precinct of Chicago gives the Democrats one majority on joint ballot in the Illinois Legislature. This means a Democratic U. S. Senator from Illinois, in place of Hon. John A. Logan.

We shall observe Thanksgiving Day as usual, but there won't be many turkeys on the Republican table this year. A hunk of cold corned beef and a slab of frozen pie is good enough for us after all that has happened.

The canvas for the New York senatorship has actively begun, and a number of candidates are mentioned; President Arthur, L. P. Morton, W. M. Evarts, C. M. Depew, and others.

Jefferson Davis is now the last of his race. Not many months ago he was called to mourn the death of an only son. Now his nephew, who also bears his name, has passed away.

A complication has arisen in West Virginia which threatens to oust the Democratic State officials-elect and involve the electoral ticket.

Congressman-elect Buchanan's official majorities are as follows: Mercer county, 824; Atlantic, 648; Ocean, 458; Burlington, 361. Total, 2,339.

The South is again in the saddle, and the saddle is strapped to the Democratic mule. There is trouble ahead for that mule.

Roscoe Conkling: "I cannot tell a lie. I did it with my little country."

A small Democratic party went out to power in 1852, and returned to its supporters the twin gifts of barbarism—slavery and Mormonism. It returns to power in 1854, and Mormonism the sole survivor of its cherished institutions. It is the link which bridges the years from Democracy under Buchanan to Democracy under Cleveland. All the other ties have been melted in the fires of war, or lost in the oblivion of forgetfulness.

The Camden Post says: "Comptroller Andrew having lived through two Democratic assemblies should now be indorsed by a Republican legislature. He has made a good officer, and has held the fort like a good fellow. It would be unfair to supplant him with any one else."

Mr. Blaine was received Tuesday night, at his home, and made an important speech, dwelling principally upon the injury to result from the readmission of the South to the political control of the Republic.

A change of the count in one precinct of Chicago gives the Democrats one majority on joint ballot in the Illinois Legislature. This means a Democratic U. S. Senator from Illinois, in place of Hon. John A. Logan.

We shall observe Thanksgiving Day as usual, but there won't be many turkeys on the Republican table this year. A hunk of cold corned beef and a slab of frozen pie is good enough for us after all that has happened.

The canvas for the New York senatorship has actively begun, and a number of candidates are mentioned; President Arthur, L. P. Morton, W. M. Evarts, C. M. Depew, and others.

Jefferson Davis is now the last of his race. Not many months ago he was called to mourn the death of an only son. Now his nephew, who also bears his name, has passed away.

A complication has arisen in West Virginia which threatens to oust the Democratic State officials-elect and involve the electoral ticket.

Congressman-elect Buchanan's official majorities are as follows: Mercer county, 824; Atlantic, 648; Ocean, 458; Burlington, 361. Total, 2,339.

The South is again in the saddle, and the saddle is strapped to the Democratic mule. There is trouble ahead for that mule.

Roscoe Conkling: "I cannot tell a lie. I did it with my little country."

FOOD FOR THOUGHT.

To owe is human; to pay up divine.
Every man hath his weak side.
Those who can command themselves command others.
He who is firm in will molds the world to himself.
We please to be good.

An old man repents of that of which a young man boasts.

Patriotism is the endurance of any evil through love of God.

Oh, that we had spent one day in this world thoroughly well.

To reveal its complaisance by gifts, is one of the native dialects of love.

Converts who boast of their blessedness are not always the most stable.

The most important lesson of morality is this: Never do an injury to any one.

Men often judge the person, but not the cause, which is not justice, but malice.

Trying to admire that which you do not like accumulates failure, and exults in weakness.

The charities that sooth, and heat, and blesse, lie scattered at the feet of men like flowers.

Educatio begins the gentleman, but reading, good company and education must finish him.

The tongue of a fool is the key of his counsel, which, in a wise man, wisdom hath keeping.

Often extraordinary excellence need not be rightly concealed; does rather offend.

Sweet is the breath of praise when given by those whom our high merit claims the praise they give.

Not that which men do worthily, but that they do it tastefully, is what history makes haste to record.

It is better to have a lion at the head of an army of sheep than a sheep at the head of an army of lions.

One dies twice; to cease to live is nothing, but to cease to love and be loved is an insupportable death.

Any man may do a casual act of good nature, but a continuation of them shows it is a part of his temperament.

If a man have love in his heart, he may talk in broken language, but it will be eloquence to those who listen.

True modesty blushes for everything that is criminal; false modesty is ashamed of everything unbecoming.

We see farthest into the future—and that is not far—when we most carefully consider the facts of the present.

Sense shined with a double luster when it set in humility. An able yet humble man, is a jewel worth a king-dom.

Success soon pallia. The joyous time is when the breeze first strikes our sail, and the waters rustle under our bows.

He that hath tasted the bitterness of sin, will fear to commit it; and he that hath felt the sweetness of mercy, will fear to offend it.

Reflect upon your present blessings of which every man has many; not on your past misfortunes, of which all men have some.

The scholar, without good breeding, is a pedant; the philosopher, a cynic; the soldier, a brute; and every man disgraces his kind.

The power in the world two qualities alike, no more than two hairs or two grains. The more universal quality is diversity.

A smile may be bright while the heart is sad. The rainbow is beautiful in the air, while beneath is the morn-ing of the sea.

Idleness is the most corrupting fly that can grow on the human mind. Men learn to do ill by doing what is next to it—nothing.

Hard words are like halistones in summer, biting down and destroying what they touch.

The best advertisement of a work-shop is a bad work.

The strongest attraction to Christianity is a well made Christian character.

A wise man will make haste to forgive, because he knows the full value of time, and will not suffer it to pass away in unnecessary pain.

These are good rules: Do not all that you can do; spend not all that you have; believe not all that you hear; tell not all that you know.

Religion can be no more learnt out of books than seamanship, or soldiery, or engineering, or painting, or any practical art.

There is no policy like politeness; and a good manner is the best thing in the world, either to get a good name, or supply the want of it.

As ceremony is the invention of wise men to keep fools at a distance; so good breeding is an expedient to make fools and wise men equals.

Faith friendship, like the ivy leaves and ruins the walls it embraces; but sincere friendship gives new life and animation to the object it supports.

Who is the man in the world that can boast of having fathomed the tortuous and intricately penetrating nature of a woman?

Trouble springs from idleness, and grievous toils from needless ease; many without labor would live by their own wits only, but they break for want of stock.

It is absolutely needful for one to be humble and prostrated and thrown among the pots from time to time. Life is a school, and we are forever obnoxious to the last, and require the trouble.

Suppressing a Bore.

It is noticeable that a larger number of burning "bears" is mentioned by the periodical press in the summer than at any other time. Some of the fires are undoubtedly caused by lightning, and many others are probably due to making a favorable conductor for the electric fluid. But there are bare fires which cannot be attributed to lightning or lighting of matches, to light from lanterns, nor to the invasions of careless tramps. It may be that the spontaneous combustion of hay is as liable to the spontaneous ignition of cotton waste. All fibrous material when moist, and compressed, and defended from the cooling influences of the outward air, is subjected to a heating similar to that of fermentation and in some instances the degree of heat is sufficient to cause such visible combustion. But the bore is really "caused" by this degree as is great as in solar circumstances, other materials may be. Frequently the grass is cut in the early morning, while wet with dew; it turned twice during the day, and gathered and packed in the "mow" or the "hay" before nightfall, with perhaps a span of wrinkled salt. Such a compound of heat for the hay will go toward generating a combustion may be inferred from a foolish trick which the writer witnessed several years ago.

He did.

The stranger bowed with great affability to every body including the waiter, continued to smile effusively, dragged up a chair without invitation, and wedged himself in between the host and a tall young man with a gigantic mustache who had just come from Kokuk, and never before met the "Commodore." The bore was called.

The stranger immediately pretended to be deaf, and vacantly hit his cheerful incisive. Of course you all know him. He will ring in on us now."
