

South-Jersey Republican

Orville E. Hoyt, Publisher.

Terms--$1.25 Per Year.

VOL. 27.

HAMMONTON, N. J., NOVEMBER 23, 1889.

NO. 47

Silver

Gold

Steel

Nickel

SPECS & EYE-GLASSES

We are prepared to fit you with Glasses of almost every style and quality. Broken frames and glasses repaired.

CARL M. COOK, Jeweler and Optician.

It is at C. E. HALL'S

That you will find what you want to go to housekeeping with, for he keeps

COOK and PARLOR STOVES.

HARDWARE and TINWARE,

FURNITURE, CARPETS and OIL CLOTHS.

Stove-pipe in all shapes and sizes. Stove repairs got to order at short notice. Job-work of all kinds promptly attended to. Goods delivered to all parts of the town.

C. E. HALL, cor. Bellevue and Central Aves.

GEORGE ELVINS

DEALER IN

Groceries, Dry Goods, Boots and Shoes

Flour, Feed, Fertilizers, Agricultural Implements, etc., etc

N. B.—Superior Family Flour a Specialty.

M. L. Jackson Sells

All Vegetables in their Season.

His Wagons Run through the Town and Vicinity

The NEW SINGER VIBRATOR,

MADE BY THE

Singer Manufacturing Co.,

Runs with lightning speed; has automatic tension, with thread releaser; self-threading and easy to change; uses all kinds of thread and silk; leaves short ends, and does not snarl. This is emphatically

THE VEST MAKER'S MACHINE.

For sale by

FRANK BALDWIN, Hammonton, N. J.

SCHOOL REPORT.

The following pupils have received an average of 90 in deportment, 80 or above in recitations, and have been regular in attendance, during the week ending Friday, Nov. 15th, 1889, and thereby constitute the

ROLL OF HONOR.

HIGH SCHOOL.

W. B. MATTHEWS, Principal.
No Report.—Principal III.
GRAMMAR DEPARTMENT.
Miss Carrie E. Alden, Teacher.
None.

INTERMEDIATE.

Miss Susie L. Moore, Teacher.
Florence Kellow
Joe Eubank
Harry Rutherford
Frank Tomlin
Willie Gifford
John Dodd
Anna Holland
Maud Wilson
Katie Davis
Harry Simons
Harry Thomas
Louis Gordery
Grace Thayer
Edward Hoffman
Edwin Thayer
Samuel Irons
Willie Mick
Nick Mick
Nellie Harley
Edna Ballard
Gerie Thomas
Myrtle South
Ada Cole
Martha McIntyre
Ivy South
Charlie Loyer
Fred Stevens
Maurice Whitver
Winnie Gifford

PRIMARY.

Miss Nellie D. Fogg, Teacher.
Henry Whitten
Katie Rubell
Willie Simons
Rosa Loveland
George Rubell
Mary Burgess
Ollie DeWay
Bertie Good
Richard Buzby
Olive Holland
Florence Howe
Eugene Gardner
Millie Randall
Charlie Lihdenmeyer
Una Moore
Bertie French
Carrie Burgess
Howard Bradbury
Willie King
Louie Alender
Cora Warner
Bertie King
Henry Loyer
Parker Treat
Ollie Lear
Gery Loyer
Aldin Stanton
Louis Colwell
George Buzby
Morris Simons
Harvey Horn
Richard Waller
Bessie Morris
Mary Fitzpatrick
Elmer Horn
May Jones
Ernest Jackson
Rosalie Hood
Morton Crowell
Dannie Ballard
Harry Walther
Allie Mick
Lora Simons
Leonard Rozers
Jessie Rogers
Edith O'Sell
Dorothy Morris

LAKE SCHOOL.

Miss Sarah Crowell, Teacher.
Clara Jackson
Lottie Cloud
Elsie Cloud
Sarah Roberts
Hiram Cloud
Jennie Hartshorn
Alice Hartshorn
Charlie Hartshorn
Alice Cloud
Fannie French
Margaret Roberts
Frank Brown
Willie Cloud
Herbert Hartshorn
Mary Tell
Rosa Myers
George Myers

MAIN ROAD SCHOOL.

Miss Grace U. North, Teacher.
No Report.

MIDDLE ROAD SCHOOL.

Miss Clara E. Caviteer, Teacher.
Kate Garton
Dudley Farrar
Paul Snow
Phoebe Newcomb
Charence Anderson
Paul Scullin
Ophelia Garton
Roy Beach
Richard Drake
Carance Snow
Mittie Cappuccio
Mary D'Aspucio

MAGNOLIA SCHOOL.

Miss Bertha Moore, Teacher.
Linda Bernshouse
Rosie Kuntz
Sammy Greenwood
Bertha Greenwood
Janie Seely
Chas. Littlefield
Katie Wolbert
Herbert Jackson
Ella Emery
Gertie Emery
Willie Doerfl
Stephen Wolbert
Carance Littlefield
Jennie Wolbert
Edward Geppert
George Mott

COLUMBIA SCHOOL.

Miss Mizzie Newcomb, Teacher.
No Report.

STATISTICS.

SCHOOLS.	Total an en-rol	Absent	Attendance	Days of Absent	Cases of Truancy
1 High School.....	53	49	92	18	7
2 Grammar Dep't.....	53	48	91	25	17
3 Intermediate.....	53	50	95	10	8
4 Primary.....	59	55	95	21	22
5 Lake School.....	38	35	92	16	3
6 Main Road.....	42	42	100	0	0
7 Middle Road.....	42	42	100	0	0
8 Magnolia.....	42	42	100	0	0
9 Columbia.....	42	42	100	0	0

Miss R. M. Bodine

TEACHER OF

Piano and Organ,

Tenders her services to the people of Hammonton and vicinity. Terms reasonable.

Read the Republican.

J. S. THAYER,

Contractor & Builder

Hammonton, N. J.

Plans, Specifications, and Estimates furnished. Jobbing promptly attended to.

Lumber for Sale.

Also, First and Second Quality Shingles

Heaters

Furnished and Repaired.

Shop on Vine Street, near Union Hall. Charges Reasonable.

P. O. Box, 53.

JUST ARRIVED.

Several car-loads of

COAL

Which I am selling at the very LOWEST PRICES. All those wishing coal in Hammonton will please leave orders with my father, W. L. Galbraith.

Also various kinds of

Dry Goods, Groceries, Hay and Feed.

Just call and see what we have in our new show-case.

W. M. GALBRAITH,
ELM, N. J.

Valley Avenue

Egg Farm

Eggs for Hatching, from selected stock carefully mated. R. C. B. Leghorns a specialty.

W. H. H. Bradbury,
Hammonton, N. J.

COAL.

Best Lehigh Coal for sale from yard, at lowest prices, in any quantity.

Orders for coal may be left at P. S. Tilton & Son's store. Coal should be ordered one day before it is needed.

GEO. F. SAXTON.

H. FIEDLER,

Manufacturer of

CIGARS.

Dealer in

Tobacco, Cigars, Confectionery,
HAMMONTON, N. J.

Mrs. C. M. JORDAN

Has the agency for

Wheeler and Wilson
Sewing Machines

Ladies are invited to call at her residence and see the

New No. 9,

High Arm, Automatic Tension, Noiseless in action, highest running, and fastest feed of any machine made. Does all kinds of work,—Darning, as well as plain, practical work, on the thinnest muslin to the heaviest work made.

Old Machines Taken
In part payment, for which good prices are allowed.

Machines sold on instalments at lowest cash prices.

G. VALENTINE

IS THE ONLY

RESIDENT

UNDERTAKER.

W. A. HOOD, Assistant.

Ready to attend to all calls, day or night. Can furnish anything in this line there is in the market, at lowest prices. Mr. Hood's residence is on Peach St., next to C. P. Hill's.

Orders left at Chas. Simons Livery will receive prompt attention.

A. J. SMITH,

NOTARY PUBLIC

AND Conveyancer.

Deeds, Mortgages, Agreements, Bills of Sale, and other papers executed in a neat, careful and correct manner.

Hammonton, N. J.

If you are in need of Nice

Dress

Flannels

Call and examine the stock

AT Stockwell's.

COAL YARD

Having stocked my yard for the winter with the best grades of

LEHIGH COAL

I am prepared to furnish it in large or small quantities, at shortest notice, and as low as any.

Your patronage solicited.

W. H. Bernshouse.

Office in Wm. Bernshouse's office. Yard opposite the Saw Mill.

PISO'S CURE FOR CONSUMPTION

I believe PISO'S Cure for Consumption saved my life.—A. H. DOWELL, Editor Enquirer, Edenton, N. C., April 23, 1887.

PISO

The Best Cough Medicine—PISO'S CURE FOR CONSUMPTION. Children take it without objection. By all druggists. 25c.

PISO'S CURE FOR CONSUMPTION

AFTER ALL OTHERS FAIL
DR. LOBB
239 N. 16th St., below Callowhill, Phila., Pa.
30 years' experience in all chronic diseases. Permanently restores those weakened by early indiscretions, etc. Call or write. Advice free and strictly confidential.—Hours 10 A.M. till 2 P.M. and 7 to 10 evenings. Send 2 ct. stamp for 500c.

The Republican

Entered as second class matter. HAMMONTON ATLANTIC CO. N. J. SATURDAY, NOV. 23, 1890.

The children's Loyal Temperance Legion is preparing for an entertainment to be held on Friday evening, Dec. 6th. The little ones will represent various characters in "Mother Goose's Melodies," who have all been converted to total abstinence, and take every opportunity to speak a good word for temperance. More anon.

List of unclaimed letters remaining in the Post Office at Hammonton, N. J., Saturday, Nov. 23rd, 1890: Mr. Charles Crain, Elizabeth Cleveland, Mr. Samuel Luker, N. A. Van Loan, etc.

Persons calling for any of the above letters will please state that it has been advertised. Cyrus F. Osgood, P. M.

Another of those nice blotters of which we have already made mention shows a winged cherub carrying a Dictionary holder under one arm, and saying: "I am making a flying trip in the interest of education. The basis of education is the dictionary, and the base of the dictionary should be a Novus Holder. The valued unadorned is of little value unless it is gettable (look this word up). A book held edge up gets full of dust, soiled and spoiled unless hugga together with strong springs. Only the holders manufactured by La Verne W. Noyes, the originator and inventor of book holders, have such springs." Send to him, at Chicago, a 2-cent stamp to pay postage, and receive in return this series of blotters.

[Here is that letter from Iowa. The writer is a temperance man from away back. We cut in the Sons of Temperance with him in 1855-6, when Atlantic Division met in the hall over Mr. H. T. Freese's bar. Ed. L.]

Iowa has had an election, and one of the state officers, by the grace of Republican votes, has been elected. Boies, a Democrat (but a Republican three years ago), is the successful man; and the Democrats, alias the saloon and whiskey men, brewers, distillers, rowdy and plug-uglies, are building a great jubilee, boufies, fire works, etc. I tell them to rejoice, shout, and blow out for this is the only chance they will get. It reminds us of an old played out race horse, who at one time went in 2:40. He is brought out again and started in a race against the flyers of to-day. It is a long time since he had a run, and a longer time since he won a heat; so we tell him to take one heat—only one though. Next time we will get there. For my part, I do not feel bad over it, for it will go to show good temperance Republicans, that the time has come to acknowledge that prohibition in Iowa, over the whole state is a failure; and that a good restrictive, high-class and local option law must be enacted, so that where public opinion will support prohibition they can have it; and where public opinion will not support it, then the saloons and whiskey men can be controlled and restricted. With about all Prohibitionists I have met, the whole am in the third party to defeat Republicanism and give rum men the political power to have things just as they wanted. If I, as a Republican, have got to be led by the nose for fear some of the intemperate prohibitors will kick and vote with the saloon element and Democrats, then the sooner I know it the better.

Ohio elects a Democratic governor. They will send a Democratic senator to Washington to succeed Kane, and will stand just where they have for many years, each party having a senator. Here, I candidly expect Senator Allison will be his own successor. After looking over the whole field, I feel to remark with the fellow of the food tins—Father Noah's flood—"Go to, it is not going to be much of a shower after all," just enough to remind one that we need to be better prepared for squalls next time; and in 1892 have the ark well caulked, well provisioned, and all the animals in their proper places before the rain commences to fall. Then we can take it easy—in mind. But there must be a good lookout ahead. My room is in the front of the house. Every saloon and hotel has its front illuminated. I pulled down the blinds, but to no purpose, as soon as I go out they are drawn up again. Let them have light on their acts for it is not often they can stand the light. They are birds of darkness, as a majority. It is all right. We will get there when we are wanted—bad. The four new stars in our flag are not there for show, or said to Democracy, as they now bear the principles of Republicanism.

Wm Bernhouse's Lumb'r Yard. For all kinds of Lumber, Mill-work, Window-glass, Brick, Lime, Cement, Plaster, Hair, Lath, etc. Light Fire Woods For Summer use. We manufacture Berry Crates & Chests Of all kinds. Also, Cedar Shingles. We have just received our Spring stock of goods. Can furnish very nice Pennsylvania Hemlock At Bottom Prices. Manufacture our own Flooring. Satisfaction Guaranteed. Our specialty, this Spring, will be full frame orders. Your patronage solicited.

JOHN ATKINSON, Tailor. Has opened a shop in Rutherford's Block Hammonton. Garments made in the best manner. Scouring and Repairing promptly done. Rates reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed in every case.

HARNESSES. A full assortment of hand and machine made,—for work or driving. Trunks, Valises, Whips, Riding Saddles, Nets, etc. L. W. COGLEY, Hammonton, N. J.

Election News

Have now lost much of their interest; again we turn to matters pertaining to our comfort and convenience,—in fact, our necessities.

Determined to suit our customers, we have placed on our floors a splendid line of STOVES, which, for beauty, quality, convenience, and price, will be hard, if indeed possible, to excel. Every one admires them; a good many are buying them; and others who have bought elsewhere, say they made a mistake in so doing. Here is what one party said: "I went to the city and bought my Fire-Light, because I thought I could no better there. When I had it at home and set up, it had actually cost me more than the price you asked for the same thing up. This is what another did: 'I looked our stores over in the morning, went to Philada. same day, came to us the next day and bought a stove. 'Staws show which way the wind blows,' so get a straw, hold it in the stove trade wind, and it is pretty sure to point to our store as the place to buy. Every stove is marked with a tag, giving the name and price. You may see the tags below, but we think you would do well to see the stoves also. The long line is being broken every day, as you will see by the tags marked sold, and to secure your choice, better come soon.

Home Sunshine, $16. Fire Light, $3.50. Sunshin Franklin, $15. Sunshin Franklin, $15. Model Workman, $27. Home Sunshine, $16. Othello, $28. Home Sunshine, $13. Home Sunshine, $21.50. Home Sunshine, $13. Home Sunshine, $20.50. Sunshin, $18.00. Light-house, $12. Orlando, $22.50. Dwarf Oak, $11.25. Ulster, $7. Surprise Base, $12. Royal Sunshin, $18.50. Royal Sunshin, $20. Fire Light, $14. New La Grande, $22. Fire Light, $12.

Wanted—Chickens. Best cash market price paid for good chickens, all sizes. Please bring on Monday, earlier the better. Or notify by mail where can be seen. Mrs. Waller. Next Valentine's shop, Hammonton. For Sale.—A very nice room Cottage, located on a large corner lot, 135 feet on each street, three squares from railroad station and Post Office. Price, $1600.—$850 cash, balance eight or ten years on mortgage. A fine opportunity for party with small means who desires a central location. Call on or address A. V. Barron or the Editor of the Republican, Hammonton, N. J. Vine Cottage, with large-barn and garden, to rent, every room heated; also a 6-room house and a 6-room house. Six good houses for sale, with thirteen acres of land, on terms to suit purchasers. Inquire of C. M. JORDAN, Hammonton, or address No. 604 North Eleventh St., Philadelphia. That handsome residence on the Lake, known as the Frank Records property, is for sale at a very low price, and on the easiest terms one can ask. For particulars, inquire at the REPUBLICAN office. Building lots for sale—some of the best located in town, for the least amount of money. Wm. COLWELL. Have used your Ideal Tooth Powder for quite a while, and consider it second to none for purity and pleasantness. There is no better; I take pleasure in recommending its virtues to all my friends, and so long as you manufacture such a delightful powder as the Ideal, you shall have the benefit of all I can do for you. Dr. G. B. SWENNY, Pittsburg, Pa. We can thoroughly recommend Ideal Tooth Powder to our readers. We find it highly endorsed by the Dental profession, as being free from all injurious material, no grit, cleaning the teeth perfectly, imparting a pleasant, refreshing condition to the mouth. Has received four medals, the highest each time. We advise our readers to read the advertisement elsewhere in this issue, and give it a

The People's Bank Of Hammonton, N. J. Authorized Capital, $50,000. Paid in, $30,000. Surplus, $2500. R. J. BYRNES, President. M. L. JACKSON, Vice-Prest. W. R. TILTON, Cashier. DIRECTORS: R. J. Byrnes, M. L. Jackson, George Elvins, Eliam Stockwell, G. F. Saxton, C. F. Osgood, J. C. Browning, Z. U. Mathews, Daniel Colwell, F. S. Tilton, A. J. Smith, D. L. Polter, J. C. Anderson.

Discount days—Tuesday and Friday of each week.

You take No Chance With Hammonton Paint. For every gallon is GUARANTEED! Any one wishing to experiment with Paint is asked to do so at my expense. Paint one-half or any surface with Hammonton Paint, and the other half with any known Paint. If the Hammonton does not cover as much surface, and wear as long, under the same conditions, I will pay for all the paint used.

JOHN T. FRENCH, Hammonton Paint Works, Hammonton, N. J. Send for sample card or Colors. J. MURDOCK, MANUFACTURER OF SHOES. Ladies' Men's and Children's Shoes made to order. Boys' Shoes a Specialty. Repairing Neatly Done. A good stock of shoes of all kinds always on hand. First floor—Small's Block, Hammonton, N. J.

S. E. Brown & Co., Hammonton, N. J. Brace Up. If you are feeling depressed, if your appetite is poor, if you are bothered with headaches, if you are indigestive, nervous, and generally out of sorts, and want to brace up, brace up, but not with stimulants, spring medicines, or bitters which have for basis very cheap bad whiskey, which stimulate you for an hour and then leave you in worse condition than before. What you want is an alternative that will purify your blood, start healthy action of liver and kidneys, restore your vitality, and give renewed health and strength. Such a medicine you will find in Electric Bitters, and only 50 cents a bottle at Cochran's drug store. 3 If this should meet the eye of any one who would like to buy a fine business property, let him write to the Editor of the REPUBLICAN for particulars. For Sale.—A sixty-acre farm, 14 miles from Elwood station. About thirty acres have been cleared and farmed. Inquire of Wm. BEHNHOUSE, Hammonton, N. J. THIS IS A GOOD CHANCE; don't miss it. You need no capital and no experience to represent a reliable firm that warrants its stock first-class. Work 52 weeks in the year, and good pay weekly. Write at once for terms and secure your territory. Address REUBEN LEVYSON & Co., Rochester, N. Y. Bucklin's Arnica Salve, the best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, mild rheum, farmer's sores, itchy chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price, 25 cents per box. For sale by A. W. Cochran.

WEBSTER THE BEST INVESTMENT For the Family, School, or Professional Library. Has been for years Standard Authority in the Government Printing Office and U. S. Supreme Court. It is highly recommended by 35 State Superintendents of Schools and the leading College Presidents. Nearly all the School Books published in this country are based upon Webster, as attested by the leading School Book Publishers. 3000 more Words and nearly 3000 more Engravings than any other American Dictionary. SPECIMEN TESTIMONIALS. The New York World says: "Webster is not only the best, but the most useful and the most complete." The Boston Globe says: "Webster is the standard authority in our office." The Chicago Inter Ocean says: "Webster's is the most useful and the most complete." The New Orleans Times Democrat says: "Webster is standard authority in our office." The New York Tribune says: "No recognized authority in the most useful and the most complete." The English language all over the world. Sold by all Bookellers. Pamphlet free. G. & C. WARD & Co., Publrs, Springfield, Mass.

The Republican

SATURDAY, NOV. 23, 1890. LOCAL MISCELLANY.

Rain, nearly every day. Board of Appeals, next Tuesday. Council meeting next Saturday evening.

John A. Saxton was in town on Tuesday. There will be several new plays in Hal Hazard. The Peoples' Bank will be closed on Thanksgiving day.

A good Alderney cow for sale cheap, by D. C. Horst. "Hal Hazard" is by the same author who wrote "Rip Van Winkle."

Mr. and Mrs. Heartwell expect their two sons to spend Thanksgiving with them. The Fruit Growers' Union store will be closed on Thursday next, "Thanksgiving day."

Our school report is defective this week,—partly because of the illness of two of the teachers. We saw our friend Harvey Beach on the way home with a wagon-load of young pear trees, Wednesday.

Mrs. R. H. Hoffman was summoned to Deer Park, Md., on account of the serious illness of her sister. Will L. Black is an artist in the advertisement line. There is always something worth reading in the space he occupies.

Miss Heston's poultry-house was destroyed by fire, Saturday evening, with its contents, including a lot of young chickens. Major Jordan had returned to him through the Post Office, on Wednesday last, a postal card that was sent by him last December.

"Hal Hazard, or the Federal Spy," at Union Hill, next Thursday and Friday evenings. Tickets for sale at Cook's jewelry store. Whistlers will have a new method of ventilating the hall, Thanksgiving night, which will add greatly to the comfort of the audience.

Don't get left, but leave your orders for Thanksgiving turkeys, geese, ducks, etc., at Jackson's, on or before Monday next, Nov. 25th. Mrs. D. H. Morrison, teacher of voice cultivation, can accommodate one or two more lady pupils, Mondays, at the residence of J. B. Small.

The next meeting of the Atlantic County Board of Examiners will be held in the school-house at Egg Harbor City, on Saturday, Nov. 30th. All members of L. A. 1480 are requested to be present next Wednesday evening, as a delegation of the Vineyard Assembly is expected to be here.

Mr. A. L. English is still an inmate of the insane asylum at Trenton. Though in vigorous bodily health, the physicians give no hope of recovery. In the Presbyterian Church, tomorrow, Pastor Randall will preach a historical sermon,—this being an anniversary of the organization of their society.

Mr. Carlos Lyman died, at his home, in Jericho, Vermont, September 4th last. Mrs. Lyman, his widow, was formerly Mrs. W. H. Dean, of Hammonton.

St. Mark's Church, Sunday next before Advent, Nov. 24th.—Morning Prayer, Litany, and Sermon, 10:30 A. M. Evening Prayer at 4:00 P. M. Sunday School at 8:00.

The Post-Office will be open on Thanksgiving Day, from 7:00 to 10:00 A. M., and from 4:00 to 6:00 P. M. No use in banging at the door between hours,—it won't open. Egg Harbor City is after the County Seat also.—The people of that place propose donating the land, and may also offer a fund of $10,000 toward the cost of new buildings.

Frank A. Souder, of Atlantic City, one of Mr. Bernhouse's graduates, has forty-five carpenters at work, making improvements on three of the big hotels, besides other work.

The annual Commencement exercises were postponed from yesterday until Friday next, Nov. 20th. There was no decision in regard to special exercises after the exercises, but the Philadelphia people have arranged to accommodate over night all who attend and cannot return home.

Inquire with A. H. Phillips, 1838 Atlantic Ave., Atlantic City. Mrs. Edw. VanHise has suffered for several months with rheumatism, but is now nearly well. Mr. V. requests us to express his gratitude to Dr. T. G. Belling, to whose faithfulness and skill he attributes his wife's recovery. A circular has been sent to every poultryman in this State, asking him to attend a convention to be held at the State Street House, Trenton, on Wednesday, Dec. 4th, at 10:30 A. M., for the purpose of organizing a State Poultry Association. Among the objects of the association are: to improve, by any and all proper means, the poultry industry; to work in union with the State Board of Agriculture, and the poultry associations already formed; to furnish lectures which will attend the meetings of the county boards of agriculture, or Farmers' Institutes; to co-operate with the state experiment station, if necessary, in conducting experiments in poultry raising; to recommend to county associations competent men to pass judgment upon their poultry exhibits; and, if advisable, to hold exhibitions in places to be decided upon. It is a good idea, and we hope that Hammonton will be kept in the front rank by a good delegation at the Convention.

ELWOOD. Mr. Editor: As the season approach when all expect to be remembered by their friends, I propose to give an example of soaring in the expression of ideas; a host of what the Emerald Lalelet called "hoist a peg lower," so that if any one wishes to emulate in the expression of his wishes, the variations may be seen. Remember, there is as much difference in folks as in anybody. I copy from the originals, omitting all names, but giving true date: At Home, Ocean View, Spain, Feb. 2nd, 1893. PROF. EQUILIBRIUM, Suppl., etc., Dear Sir: Transpiring events lead us to see the uncertainty of all things in this changing world. We came from our arduous duties, last evening, fully expecting to have the pleasure of seeing you and our fellow laborers in the grand work of training the youthful mind to soar into the regions of useful knowledge. But, alas! for human calculations. We were repaid on the sweetest estimated by your model career of industry and patience, the result of which pleasure was the opposite of our expectations, giving conclusive evidence that anticipation often affords more enjoyment than participation. The physical condition of our wonderful organism is so disastrously affected that we deem it unwise to meet with you to-day. Therefore, please excuse our meeting assured that we deprecate our loss exceedingly. Very Respectfully Yours, TEACHERS.

Now for the other side; presuming to have soared downwards: Dear Sir: I am glad to see you. Eating honey made me sick. Can't attend the Association to-day. Therefore please excuse us. The ordinary scholar would comprehend the last, in fifteen words, while it might confuse, wading through one hundred and thirty words. w.

For Sale or Rent.—A six-roomed house with a acre and a quarter of land, on Valley Ave., Hammonton. Inquire of W. M. GALBRAITH, Elm.

POPPING THE QUESTION. When in the course of human events, a young man makes up his mind to ask the very important question, he finds great difficulty in coming to the point. As we are not at all bashful, we boldly say: Will you not answer yes to us, as we ask you to go to your druggist or dealer in Tall Brothers' Ideal Tooth Powder, the best made. As an inducement for you to try it, we give you a handsome engraving with two 25 cent bottles, 20 x 24, no advertising on it. There is a ticket around the neck of each bottle. Mr. J. M. Brown, at the Lake, will supply either four posts, grape-stakes, bean poles, etc. The Pearl.—There is some talk about the Pearl strawberry plant not being prolific. With me, it is a proof to be sure much so. From 150 plants put in last Spring, they have covered the ground with 5000 plants. I sell them for their merit, not by attempted lowering of our people's standards. DAVID FIELDS. N. B. I have also the "Star" on sale. FOR SALE.—A good chance. A six-room house and a good twenty-acre fruit farm can be bought for cash or on easy terms to suit. Call on or address CHARLES MONEY, Box 221, Hammonton.

Healing By Absent Treatment! I have acquired perfect confidence in my own power to heal all diseases, no matter how long standing, by means of my application. Address Mrs. J. D. Fairchild, Mental Healer, Hammonton, N. J. Office hours, from 4 to 6 P. M.

The Philadelphia weekly Press and the Republican, both one year for $1.25, cash.

The Republican

SATURDAY, NOV. 23, 1890. LOCAL MISCELLANY.

Rain, nearly every day. Board of Appeals, next Tuesday. Council meeting next Saturday evening.

John A. Saxton was in town on Tuesday. There will be several new plays in Hal Hazard. The Peoples' Bank will be closed on Thanksgiving day.

A good Alderney cow for sale cheap, by D. C. Horst. "Hal Hazard" is by the same author who wrote "Rip Van Winkle."

Mr. and Mrs. Heartwell expect their two sons to spend Thanksgiving with them. The Fruit Growers' Union store will be closed on Thursday next, "Thanksgiving day."

Our school report is defective this week,—partly because of the illness of two of the teachers. We saw our friend Harvey Beach on the way home with a wagon-load of young pear trees, Wednesday.

Mrs. R. H. Hoffman was summoned to Deer Park, Md., on account of the serious illness of her sister. Will L. Black is an artist in the advertisement line. There is always something worth reading in the space he occupies.

Miss Heston's poultry-house was destroyed by fire, Saturday evening, with its contents, including a lot of young chickens. Major Jordan had returned to him through the Post Office, on Wednesday last, a postal card that was sent by him last December.

"Hal Hazard, or the Federal Spy," at Union Hill, next Thursday and Friday evenings. Tickets for sale at Cook's jewelry store. Whistlers will have a new method of ventilating the hall, Thanksgiving night, which will add greatly to the comfort of the audience.

Don't get left, but leave your orders for Thanksgiving turkeys, geese, ducks, etc., at Jackson's, on or before Monday next, Nov. 25th. Mrs. D. H. Morrison, teacher of voice cultivation, can accommodate one or two more lady pupils, Mondays, at the residence of J. B. Small.

The next meeting of the Atlantic County Board of Examiners will be held in the school-house at Egg Harbor City, on Saturday, Nov. 30th. All members of L. A. 1480 are requested to be present next Wednesday evening, as a delegation of the Vineyard Assembly is expected to be here.

Mr. A. L. English is still an inmate of the insane asylum at Trenton. Though in vigorous bodily health, the physicians give no hope of recovery. In the Presbyterian Church, tomorrow, Pastor Randall will preach a historical sermon,—this being an anniversary of the organization of their society.

Mr. Carlos Lyman died, at his home, in Jericho, Vermont, September 4th last. Mrs. Lyman, his widow, was formerly Mrs. W. H. Dean, of Hammonton.

St. Mark's Church, Sunday next before Advent, Nov. 24th.—Morning Prayer, Litany, and Sermon, 10:30 A. M. Evening Prayer at 4:00 P. M. Sunday School at 8:00.

The Post-Office will be open on Thanksgiving Day, from 7:00 to 10:00 A. M., and from 4:00 to 6:00 P. M. No use in banging at the door between hours,—it won't open. Egg Harbor City is after the County Seat also.—The people of that place propose donating the land, and may also offer a fund of $10,000 toward the cost of new buildings.

Frank A. Souder, of Atlantic City, one of Mr. Bernhouse's graduates, has forty-five carpenters at work, making improvements on three of the big hotels, besides other work.

The annual Commencement exercises were postponed from yesterday until Friday next, Nov. 20th. There was no decision in regard to special exercises after the exercises, but the Philadelphia people have arranged to accommodate over night all who attend and cannot return home.

Inquire with A. H. Phillips, 1838 Atlantic Ave., Atlantic City. Mrs. Edw. VanHise has suffered for several months with rheumatism, but is now nearly well. Mr. V. requests us to express his gratitude to Dr. T. G. Belling, to whose faithfulness and skill he attributes his wife's recovery. A circular has been sent to every poultryman in this State, asking him to attend a convention to be held at the State Street House, Trenton, on Wednesday, Dec. 4th, at 10:30 A. M., for the purpose of organizing a State Poultry Association. Among the objects of the association are: to improve, by any and all proper means, the poultry industry; to work in union with the State Board of Agriculture, and the poultry associations already formed; to furnish lectures which will attend the meetings of the county boards of agriculture, or Farmers' Institutes; to co-operate with the state experiment station, if necessary, in conducting experiments in poultry raising; to recommend to county associations competent men to pass judgment upon their poultry exhibits; and, if advisable, to hold exhibitions in places to be decided upon. It is a good idea, and we hope that Hammonton will be kept in the front rank by a good delegation at the Convention.

ELWOOD. Mr. Editor: As the season approach when all expect to be remembered by their friends, I propose to give an example of soaring in the expression of ideas; a host of what the Emerald Lalelet called "hoist a peg lower," so that if any one wishes to emulate in the expression of his wishes, the variations may be seen. Remember, there is as much difference in folks as in anybody. I copy from the originals, omitting all names, but giving true date: At Home, Ocean View, Spain, Feb. 2nd, 1893. PROF. EQUILIBRIUM, Suppl., etc., Dear Sir: Transpiring events lead us to see the uncertainty of all things in this changing world. We came from our arduous duties, last evening, fully expecting to have the pleasure of seeing you and our fellow laborers in the grand work of training the youthful mind to soar into the regions of useful knowledge. But, alas! for human calculations. We were repaid on the sweetest estimated by your model career of industry and patience, the result of which pleasure was the opposite of our expectations, giving conclusive evidence that anticipation often affords more enjoyment than participation. The physical condition of our wonderful organism is so disastrously affected that we deem it unwise to meet with you to-day. Therefore, please excuse our meeting assured that we deprecate our loss exceedingly. Very Respectfully Yours, TEACHERS.

Now for the other side; presuming to have soared downwards: Dear Sir: I am glad to see you. Eating honey made me sick. Can't attend the Association to-day. Therefore please excuse us. The ordinary scholar would comprehend the last, in fifteen words, while it might confuse, wading through one hundred and thirty words. w.

For Sale or Rent.—A six-roomed house with a acre and a quarter of land, on Valley Ave., Hammonton. Inquire of W. M. GALBRAITH, Elm.

POPPING THE QUESTION. When in the course of human events, a young man makes up his mind to ask the very important question, he finds great difficulty in coming to the point. As we are not at all bashful, we boldly say: Will you not answer yes to us, as we ask you to go to your druggist or dealer in Tall Brothers' Ideal Tooth Powder, the best made. As an inducement for you to try it, we give you a handsome engraving with two 25 cent bottles, 20 x 24, no advertising on it. There is a ticket around the neck of each bottle. Mr. J. M. Brown, at the Lake, will supply either four posts, grape-stakes, bean poles, etc. The Pearl.—There is some talk about the Pearl strawberry plant not being prolific. With me, it is a proof to be sure much so. From 150 plants put in last Spring, they have covered the ground with 5000 plants. I sell them for their merit, not by attempted lowering of our people's standards. DAVID FIELDS. N. B. I have also the "Star" on sale. FOR SALE.—A good chance. A six-room house and a good twenty-acre fruit farm can be bought for cash or on easy terms to suit. Call on or address CHARLES MONEY, Box 221, Hammonton.

Healing By Absent Treatment! I have acquired perfect confidence in my own power to heal all diseases, no matter how long standing, by means of my application. Address Mrs. J. D. Fairchild, Mental Healer, Hammonton, N. J. Office hours, from 4 to 6 P. M.

The Philadelphia weekly Press and the Republican, both one year for $1.25, cash.

The Republican

SATURDAY, NOV. 23, 1890. LOCAL MISCELLANY.

Rain, nearly every day. Board of Appeals, next Tuesday. Council meeting next Saturday evening.

John A. Saxton was in town on Tuesday. There will be several new plays in Hal Hazard. The Peoples' Bank will be closed on Thanksgiving day.

A good Alderney cow for sale cheap, by D. C. Horst. "Hal Hazard" is by the same author who wrote "Rip Van Winkle."

Mr. and Mrs. Heartwell expect their two sons to spend Thanksgiving with them. The Fruit Growers' Union store will be closed on Thursday next, "Thanksgiving day."

Our school report is defective this week,—partly because of the illness of two of the teachers. We saw our friend Harvey Beach on the way home with a wagon-load of young pear trees, Wednesday.

Mrs. R. H. Hoffman was summoned to Deer Park, Md., on account of the serious illness of her sister. Will L. Black is an artist in the advertisement line. There is always something worth reading in the space he occupies.

Miss Heston's poultry-house was destroyed by fire, Saturday evening, with its contents, including a lot of young chickens. Major Jordan had returned to him through the Post Office, on Wednesday last, a postal card that was sent by him last December.

"Hal Hazard, or the Federal Spy," at Union Hill, next Thursday and Friday evenings. Tickets for sale at Cook's jewelry store. Whistlers will have a new method of ventilating the hall, Thanksgiving night, which will add greatly to the comfort of the audience.

Don't get left, but leave your orders for Thanksgiving turkeys, geese, ducks, etc., at Jackson's, on or before Monday next, Nov. 25th. Mrs. D. H. Morrison, teacher of voice cultivation, can accommodate one or two more lady pupils, Mondays, at the residence of J. B. Small.

The next meeting of the Atlantic County Board of Examiners will be held in the school-house at Egg Harbor City, on Saturday, Nov. 30th. All members of L. A. 1480 are requested to be present next Wednesday evening, as a delegation of the Vineyard Assembly is expected to be here.

Mr. A. L. English is still an inmate of the insane asylum at Trenton. Though in vigorous bodily health, the physicians give no hope of recovery. In the Presbyterian Church, tomorrow, Pastor Randall will preach a historical sermon,—this being an anniversary of the organization of their society.

Mr. Carlos Lyman died, at his home, in Jericho, Vermont, September 4th last. Mrs. Lyman, his widow, was formerly Mrs. W. H. Dean, of Hammonton.

St. Mark's Church, Sunday next before Advent, Nov. 24th.—Morning Prayer, Litany, and Sermon, 10:30 A. M. Evening Prayer at 4:00 P. M. Sunday School at 8:00.

The Post-Office will be open on Thanksgiving Day, from 7:00 to 10:00 A. M., and from 4:00 to 6:00 P. M. No use in banging at the door between hours,—it won't open. Egg Harbor City is after the County Seat also.—The people of that place propose donating the land, and may also offer a fund of $10,000 toward the cost of new buildings.

Frank A. Souder, of Atlantic City, one of Mr. Bernhouse's graduates, has forty-five carpenters at work, making improvements on three of the big hotels, besides other work.

The annual Commencement exercises were postponed from yesterday until Friday next, Nov. 20th. There was no decision in regard to special exercises after the exercises, but the Philadelphia people have arranged to accommodate over night all who attend and cannot return home.

Inquire with A. H. Phillips, 1838 Atlantic Ave., Atlantic City. Mrs. Edw. VanHise has suffered for several months with rheumatism, but is now nearly well. Mr. V. requests us to express his gratitude to Dr. T. G. Belling, to whose faithfulness and skill he attributes his wife's recovery. A circular has been sent to every poultryman in this State, asking him to attend a convention to be held at the State Street House, Trenton, on Wednesday, Dec. 4th, at 10:30 A. M., for the purpose of organizing a State Poultry Association. Among the objects of the association are: to improve, by any and all proper means, the poultry industry; to work in union with the State Board of Agriculture, and the poultry associations already formed; to furnish lectures which will attend the meetings of the county boards of agriculture, or Farmers' Institutes; to co-operate with the state experiment station, if necessary, in conducting experiments in poultry raising; to recommend to county associations competent men to pass judgment upon their poultry exhibits; and, if advisable, to hold exhibitions in places to be decided upon. It is a good idea, and we hope that Hammonton will be kept in the front rank by a good delegation at the Convention.

ELWOOD. Mr. Editor: As the season approach when all expect to be remembered by their friends, I propose to give an example of soaring in the expression of ideas; a host of what the Emerald Lalelet called "hoist a peg lower," so that if any one wishes to emulate in the expression of his wishes, the variations may be seen. Remember, there is as much difference in folks as in anybody. I copy from the originals, omitting all names, but giving true date: At Home, Ocean View, Spain, Feb. 2nd, 1893. PROF. EQUILIBRIUM, Suppl., etc., Dear Sir: Transpiring events lead us to see the uncertainty of all things in this changing world. We came from our arduous duties, last evening, fully expecting to have the pleasure of seeing you and our fellow laborers in the grand work of training the youthful mind to soar into the regions of useful knowledge. But, alas! for human calculations. We were repaid on the sweetest estimated by your model career of industry and patience, the result of which pleasure was the opposite of our expectations, giving conclusive evidence that anticipation often affords more enjoyment than participation. The physical condition of our wonderful organism is so disastrously affected that we deem it unwise to meet with you to-day. Therefore, please excuse our meeting assured that we deprecate our loss exceedingly. Very Respectfully Yours, TEACHERS.

Now for the other side; presuming to have soared downwards: Dear Sir: I am glad to see you. Eating honey made me sick. Can't attend the Association to-day. Therefore please excuse us. The ordinary scholar would comprehend the last, in fifteen words, while it might confuse, wading through one hundred and thirty words. w.

For Sale or Rent.—A six-roomed house with a acre and a quarter of land, on Valley Ave., Hammonton. Inquire of W. M. GALBRAITH, Elm.

POPPING THE QUESTION. When in the course of human events, a young man makes up his mind to ask the very important question, he finds great difficulty in coming to the point. As we are not at all bashful, we boldly say: Will you not answer yes to us, as we ask you to go to your druggist or dealer in Tall Brothers' Ideal Tooth Powder, the best made. As an inducement for you to try it, we give you a handsome engraving with two 25 cent bottles, 20 x 24, no advertising on it. There is a ticket around the neck of each bottle. Mr. J. M. Brown, at the Lake, will supply either four posts, grape-stakes, bean poles, etc. The Pearl.—There is some talk about the Pearl strawberry plant not being prolific. With me, it is a proof to be sure much so. From 150 plants put in last Spring, they have covered the ground with 5000 plants. I sell them for their merit, not by attempted lowering of our people's standards. DAVID FIELDS. N. B. I have also the "Star" on sale. FOR SALE.—A good chance. A six-room house and a good twenty-acre fruit farm can be bought for cash or on easy terms to suit. Call on or address CHARLES MONEY, Box 221, Hammonton.

Healing By Absent Treatment! I have acquired perfect confidence in my own power to heal all diseases, no matter how long standing, by means of my application. Address Mrs. J. D. Fairchild, Mental Healer, Hammonton, N. J. Office hours, from 4 to 6 P. M.

The Philadelphia weekly Press and the Republican, both one year for $1.25, cash.

The Republican

SATURDAY, NOV. 23, 1890. LOCAL MISCELLANY.

Rain, nearly every day. Board of Appeals, next Tuesday. Council meeting next Saturday evening.

John A. Saxton was in town on Tuesday. There will be several new plays in Hal Hazard. The Peoples' Bank will be closed on Thanksgiving day.

A good Alderney cow for sale cheap, by D. C. Horst. "Hal Hazard" is by the

When Grandpa was a Little Boy

BY MALCOLM DOUGLAS. "When grandpa was a little boy about your age," said he, "I was a very curious young fellow who had climbed upon his knees. "Sostituita was he at school, however failed to pass. And of these he always took the second in his class. "But if no more were in it, you were next to me. "Why, bless you, grandpa never thought of that before!" said he. "When grandpa was a little boy about your age," said he, "I was a very curious young fellow who had climbed upon his knees. "Sostituita was he at school, however failed to pass. And of these he always took the second in his class. "But if no more were in it, you were next to me. "Why, bless you, grandpa never thought of that before!" said he.

A GHASTLY EXPERIMENT.

One autumn evening of the year 1864, Edouard La Pommerais sat in the condemned cell of La Roquette, in Paris. His arms bound by the usual strait waistcoat, he sat, with features pale and rigid, staring at the solitary candle upon the table, while against the wall stood a warder, silently scrutinizing his every movement. La Pommerais was a surgeon, about thirty-four years of age, his hair dark, yet already gray about the temples, and he awaited his death summons for the murder of a rich female patient, by digitalitis, with the intent to possess himself of her wealth. Despite the powerful aid of the eminent counsel Lachard, the court had refused to admit "extenuating circumstances." His friends had appealed for mercy, and the venerable Abbe Crozes had personally interceded with the Emperor, but it was deemed in every quarter absolutely necessary to make a signal example of La Pommerais. The rattling of muskets upon the slabs without indicated the approach of some one of importance, and the grinding of the key in the lock roused the prisoner from his reflections. The door opened, and the governor of the jail entered, accompanied by another person, whom La Pommerais recognized as the eminent scientist, Armand Velpeau.

At a sign from the governor the warder withdrew, and Dr. Velpeau was locked in with the culprit. La Pommerais resigned the only chair to Dr. Velpeau, and seated himself upon the narrow bed, from which so many had been before so strangely aroused from their last slumber. The light being feeble, the visitor moved his seat closer to the prisoner that he might more closely scan his features. He was just sixty at that date, a member of the Institute, the author of many brilliant works on pathology, and, as a scientist, at the height of his fame. "Sir," said Velpeau, after a pause, "I will not be so inebriate as to offer you condolence upon your position; for, although my doom may be more remote than yours, the disease from which I suffered condemns me assuredly to death, within the next two years. Therefore, as men whose hours are numbered, let us proceed to business as quickly as we can."

"Has my appeal been rejected then?" gasped La Pommerais. "I fear so," replied the doctor, "but you have yet a few days before you." The prisoner shuddered, and the cold sweat started on his brow; yet with an effort he added: "Well, so be it. I am ready. The sooner, perhaps the better."

Velpeau, drawing a lancet from his pocket, held the jacket at the wrist, that he might place his finger on the condemned man's pulse, and after a minute's consideration, he continued: "You are possessed of coolness and determination, very rare under such circumstances, and these render the proposition I came to make an easier task." "I am all attention," replied La Pommerais. "As a medical student yourself, you must be aware," said the scientist, "that one of the most curious physiological questions is as to whether memory lingers in the human brain after its separation from the human body?" The prisoner shivered slightly at this reference to his immediate fate, but promptly recovering, he replied:

"I was thinking upon that same point, sir, when you entered this cell, and if the question interests you, think how much more deeply interesting must it be to me."

"You have doubtless read Ledillo and Bichat?" "Yes," answered the prisoner, "and have myself dissected a prisoner after execution."

"And have you formed any settled opinion on the subject?" interposed Velpeau. "Not yet."

"This very day," continued Doctor Velpeau, "I have carefully considered the instrument of death, and I admit its complete adaptability for its purpose. The heavy angular knife does its work in exactly one-third of a second; therefore the patient cannot appreciate the shock any more than the soldier can the loss of a limb from the passage of cannon ball upon the field of battle. Any sensation under such circumstances must be obscure and dumb. It is true that the knife makes two wounds; but I imagine that the rapid severing of the neck produces a swoon more perfect and immediate than that of the most powerful anæsthetics. As to the involuntary movements of the fleshy body, so suddenly arrested in its vital processes, they are but nervous indications, not necessarily combining pain. The actual suffering may be alone in the preparations for the last ordeal, otherwise the separation of brain and heart should paralyze all."

"I trust it may be so," replied La Pommerais, "yet what if there be some terribly new agony, impossible to analyze, in the sensual disorder produced by the instantaneous usurpation of death?" After some moments' reflection, the culprit continued: "Are the organs of memory and will, in man, placed in the same lobes where we locate them in other animals, and, if so, are they equally confounded by the passing of the blade? There are tales of lips that have articulated after separation; and it is related of a sailor at Brest, who was accidentally decapitated on board ship, that he snapped in twain a pencil-placed between the teeth a full hour after the head had been severed from the body. Was that a muscular act only, or an effect of the sentient organs of the brain? Who can tell? Before many hours I shall have known—and forgotten."

"Forgotten, yes; but perhaps communicated the knowledge," eagerly continued Doctor Velpeau. "It remains with you to decide the point; and that brings me directly to the object of my visit."

"I do not understand you," cried the prisoner, amazedly. "Monseigneur de la Pommerais," said Doctor Velpeau, "in the sacred cause of science, which daily claims her martyrs, you may, by an act of supreme abnegation, benefit her and mankind. You are a surgeon, and are better fitted than other to collaborate in an experiment which may be of inestimable value. I believe it possible, by a concentration of will, that you may exchange with me a sign of intelligence after execution. If you assent, and we succeed, you will leave a memory in science which may efface the record of your social fault!"

"To what tests do you propose to subject me—arterial injection, electricity, or—"

"To none of these," interrupted the physician. "Your body shall be respected; but when the knife falls, I will be at your side, and rapidly as I can I shall grasp your head, and cry distinctly in your ear, 'If you remember our covenant, close your right eyelid three times, the left remaining open.' If by this action of the palpebrae nerve you prove that you understand me, you will revolutionize our conclusions, and be recorded as a benefactor, instead of a criminal."

At this astounding request, the eyes of La Pommerais dilated, and after a pause he replied: "Come to me that morning, and I will give you my answer." "I thank you," said Velpeau, and bowing to the prisoner, he disappeared at the door, as the warder reassumed his watchful attitude, then La Pommerais threw himself on the bed, to reflect as well as he might upon the ghastly experiment. On the fourth morning thereafter, about half-past five o'clock, the governor of the prison, accompanied by an officer of the court and the Abbe Crozes, entered the condemned cell. Suddenly shaken from sleep, the prisoner knew that his hour had come, and rising, he dressed himself rapidly. For a few minutes he spoke with the good abbe, who had for years enjoyed a brave reputation for strengthening and consoling those in the supreme agony. His eye then fell on the anxious face of Doctor Velpeau, and he said:

"I have practiced my part of the task and succeeded. See!" and with his right eye he winked thrice.

The man of science acknowledged his courage with an approving smile, and then made way for the executioner and his assistants. The last toll was quickly effected, the good old priest reading the while a farewell note from the prisoner's wife. La Pommerais' eyes filled with tears, but they were religiously wiped away by the old man's pious fingers. Refusing the proffered glass of brandy, the prisoner rose, and the procession moved toward the entrance of the prison.

The vast iron doors swung back before it, and the soft morning air swept into the gloomy building. The Place de la Roquette was guarded by a cordon of cavalry, and within them, surrounded by a half-circle of gens d'armes, whose swords were instantly drawn and held en garde as the procession appeared, arose the grim engine of the law. Beyond the mounted troops arose the surging cries of the debauched crowd, that had kept vigils all night for the ghastly spectacle of the morning. Rufians clung to the chimneys, while at the windows of the taverns women dressed in the tawdry dancing silks of the previous evening quaffed bad champagne still with their black-coated companions. Sparrows hopped nervously from twig to twig, as if greatly disconcerted by this unwanted assemblage in the early hours.

Grim and stark rose the guillotine, the knife gleamed coldly, and away in the sky beyond a single star twinkled faintly, like the last speck of hope, and faded out. To the prisoner, around and above, there was nothing but glittering steel, but he nerved himself strongly for the end. As he was fastened to the plank, he kissed the crucifix, and a knot of his own hair which the priest had gathered at the toilet. "Courage!" the old man whispered as he himself had the last kiss of peace upon the sufferer's cheek.

As the plank was dexterously put into position, La Pommerais saw Doctor Velpeau at the promised post. The whole platform shook with the thud of the knife, but the sound had not ceased to vibrate ere the severed head was in Velpeau's hands. The face was somber and livid, the eyes open and distraught, the brows curved into a horrible grimace, the teeth locked, and the lower jaw yet quivered.

Loud and distinctly the scientist uttered the question agreed upon into the ear; but although fortified by his task, a tremor crept through Velpeau's flesh, as the right eyelid closed slowly, while the left gazed distinctly into the experimentalist's face. "In Heaven's name," cried the electrified Doctor. "Again! the electric again!"

Twice the eyelid had moved. Now the lashes slightly wavered, as if with an astounding effort, but the lid did not move, and in another moment his face was rigid. The executioner took the head and placed it, according to custom, between the legs of the trunk. In a few moments more, as the surging crowd departed, Doctor Velpeau, the full-back overcoats in his carriage, and La Pommerais was already on his last journey to the cemetery of Mont Parnasse.

The Colonel's Bet.

"A boy is a strange being, isn't he?" queried the Colonel, as he looked out of the office window. "I don't see anything so very strange about that particular boy," replied one of the other loungers, as he sauntered up and saw a boy of 10 on the opposite side of the street. "But he's got a jug," persisted the Colonel. "Well, what of it? Can't a boy carry a jug?" "But he's swinging it around his head."

"Let him swing. You never saw a boy who wouldn't." "I'll bet he breaks it before he reaches the corner," exclaimed the Colonel. "Nonsense!" "Bet you twenty dollars." "Done!" Half a dozen rushed up to watch further proceedings. The boy continued to swing the jug, apparently bent upon performing some particular feat, and just before he reached the corner his hand slipped and the jug was dashed to pieces. "I knew it! I knew it!" chuckled the Colonel, as he danced around. "Drat him—here's your money!" growled the other. An hour later, after spending the interminable in solemn thought, the loser mildly inquired: "Colonel, did you think you had a sure thing on me?" "Certainly. I bought that jug for the boy, and gave him fifty cents to carry out the programme!"

WOULD ASK HIM TO COME AGAIN

How Rev. Mr. Pentecost Would Receive a Burglar in His House.

People often amuse themselves by thinking and saying what they believe they would do if a burglar broke into the house at night. Of course they know very little about it, and fortunately very few persons are called upon to put their professions to the test of actual experience. In discussions on such subjects, however, it is usual for each speaker to assume and assert that he would act with ordinary common sense, if not with some degree of courage. Very seldom, indeed, can a man be found who will admit that he would conduct himself like a miserable weeping in the presence of a thief. Some clergy men, however, appear to entertain different ideas from common people in reference to matters of this sort. Hugh O. Pentecost, a missionary preacher, made a remarkable statement in the course of a sermon at Newark, N. J., as to what he would do in case a thief got into his dwelling. "If I knew a burglar was in my house at night," he said, "I would go to him with a light, unarmed, and talk to him as I would a friend whom I desired to help. If he then desired to take my goods I would make no protest, nor would I cause his arrest. I would follow him to the door and invite him to call again." And the reverend gentleman went on to say that if Mr. Luca, the Brooklyn grocer, had acted in this manner, he would be living to-day and his assailant would not have been hung.

It is very difficult to argue with a man who talks like this, says the New York Sun, because there is no common ground of agreement upon which the discussion can begin. But a few questions and illustrations may serve to show the folly of such wishy washy utterances. Suppose Mr. Pentecost was living in India, and he would wake up some fine night and found a tiger in his dwelling. Would he take a light, like Lady Macbeth, and go up to the tiger unarmed, and begin then and there to try to tame and domesticate him? There are thousands of good people who think it is just as wrong to be cruel to animals as it is to be cruel to men; and doubtless they are right, if the cruel treatment is really inflicted. But when a rattlesnake in his path he does not give the reptile an opportunity to strike, in order to ascertain whether the creature may not be good enough to run away if let alone. If he is a man of sense he take effective measures once to avert the possibility of evil. The time to argue with a burglar or would-be murderer is when we have rendered him powerless to do evil, and the place to reform him is in prison. This missionary clergyman declares that he would let his imaginary burglar take his property without making any protest. Well, suppose a burglar, instead of coming after his property, came after one of his children, like the California bandit Morates, whose abduction of a beautiful young girl from her father's house near San Diego was reported recently? If he would let the burglar go so readily, or rather with an invitation to call again, in the case, why not in the other?

The Forest Pavilion at the Paris Exposition. Among the marvels of the Exposition was the pavilion of the Executive Department of Forestry on the Trocadero, constructed entirely of the trunks of trees. Leaving the board walk and following a foot-path through the turf, we came to a little hillock of natural rock covered with ivy and creeping plants, and mounting a few steps, hollowed in the rock, or made of natural pieces of wood, we reached the verandah which surrounds this picturesque pavilion. The peristyle was formed of high columns, which are magnificent trunks, carefully selected and straight as arrows. Each species is represented by a perfect specimen, and all are disposed as to bring out soft harmonies and contrasts of color. There were oaks of various forms, hornbeams, elms, wild and cultivated cherries, deeply ribbed locusts, poplars, black and gray firs, with reddish bark; maritime pines, with purplish scales; spruces, lindens, ashes, glittering birches, beeches, with bark of the finest texture, and service trees, with a covering like a coat of mail. Every specimen carried its certificate of birth in a label fastened to the bark. Most of them were centenarians, and many 150 years old. The walls were covered with a mosaic formed of natural wood, bark and tresses of liguose fibre; the capitals, cornices and balconies were of branches, knotted and twisted, as if they were carved; the roof is made of shingles, with the gray and violet shades of slate, and the effect of the whole is charming. Under the verandah, where families,

THE OFFICE BOY.

How He May Get Promoted and How He May Get The Other Thing.

Are office boys never promoted, then? Certainly. I have known several cases, and will give a free translation of three. I wrote a note to a book house that ran after this fashion: "I want you to try as a boy Fred—He is a plucky fellow. He is a very good fellow, and will work as early and late as you wish, will hang his tongue, and will earn for every one you pay him. He will be content with $3 a week."

I received this reply in substance: "I have no vacancy among the boys, but such a boy as you mention will always pay twice over. It was a loud commendation you gave him. If you dare stand by it, send him along. I shall keep your endorsement for ready reference." Fred reported for work the next morning. He began at the bottom, sweeping, dusting, clearing up, taking away books, carrying papers, and so on. In a short time the store looked as if it never did before. He was the first there in the morning, and the last at night. He never asked what to do next, but found something to do until new work was assigned. He kept his mouth shut, his eyes open, and his feet and thoughts active. The fifth week they raised him to $5 and gave him work above four other youths whom he found there. At the end of four months he was raised to $12 a week without asking it.

Ben went from the high school into an office at the age of 17. He told him plainly that there was no probability of promotion, and no boy had been promoted for twelve years, but there was a possibility. There was nothing about him that was promising. He had not good light in school, was not a good penman, was not strong physically, and he went to work with a full determination that he would "get there." A few days after the senior member of the firm saw him going to the post-office, and he was so delighted with his evident intent to boom the mail business that he said to his associates: "Let us have a party to get Ben. This boy is from the house of a—&— It is worth something to have such an exhibition of business on the street."

In the course of a few months another boy was secured, and Ben was given $6, until, in less than three years, he was having $24 a week, and was making for himself by the way he did everything. In those three years a thousand other boys in Boston had changed from place to place, and were still working for $3 or $4 a week. The boy who is merely an office boy will never be promoted, and the boy who is lazy, indifferent, talkative, sulky, moody, meddlesome, envious, jealous, afraid of doing more than his share, and bound not to earn more than he is paid for. He will promote who makes himself equal to every emergency; who loves work, learns how to work, and is cheerful and joyous in doing a hand everywhere; who puts brains into his work; who lets his "head save his heels," who will work anywhere, at any time, at anything, without complaint.

Our Shipreck in the Barnyard.

We were both dressed up in our white ruffled aprons, or, rather, my brother and I had on our best nightgowns. Neither did I very often, they made a deal of washing. But we were going to have company that day; Uncle George was coming, and he was going to bring Aunt Lucy. Of course mamma wanted us to look nice, so she gave us each a bath, put on our best dresses, and gave us each a collar and new shoes. My shoes were lovely. They had light green kid inside, and tassels on the front. Dick's hair was short and almost white, so it didn't show when he was fixed; but mamma didn't seem to care for that. He said he had heard so that I could have cried, if I hadn't thought how pretty it would look next day. It did crimp beautifully, and mamma tied it up with the bow of pink ribbon that Aunt Prudie sent me at Christmas. Dick had been trying to get on with little steel buttons. The company was coming on the 11 o'clock train, and we went out to the gate to watch for the carriage. It wasn't in sight, so we thought we'd go and see what was the matter. Dick wanted to give them some worms, so I dug and he picked them up; and we just went to the gate again when I saw an old pig-troth that had been thrown up on the wooden platform. Of course I forgot all about my clean clothes, and so did Dick, for I thought if I could only get the trough down, it would make a splendid boat. Perhaps we could drag it across the front lawn to the river. We pulled and tugged, but it was very heavy, and at last we almost gave up our effort, when I remembered our pond in the barnyard; it was a big hole in the ground that was made last spring by taking out the compost heap. The train had filled it up so that it was just the right size to sail our boat on. We pulled it down, and I hatched it with my knife, so that it looked like a little one-bit boat. I jumped in, and Dick handed me the long handled rake to row with. I gave a hard push, and was just going to sit his turn next, when I began to go down, down, down. My new shoes were getting wet, but I didn't care, if I could only keep my white apron dry. I pushed with all my might, but it wasn't tantamount before I was up to my neck in a dreadful, filthy brown water, and I had to hold up my hair, for I hated to think of losing those beautiful curls, but it was no use trying to save them, for all at once the boat bottomed, and over I went with a splash, rake and all.

THE OFFICE BOY.

How He May Get Promoted and How He May Get The Other Thing.

Are office boys never promoted, then? Certainly. I have known several cases, and will give a free translation of three. I wrote a note to a book house that ran after this fashion: "I want you to try as a boy Fred—He is a plucky fellow. He is a very good fellow, and will work as early and late as you wish, will hang his tongue, and will earn for every one you pay him. He will be content with $3 a week."

I received this reply in substance: "I have no vacancy among the boys, but such a boy as you mention will always pay twice over. It was a loud commendation you gave him. If you dare stand by it, send him along. I shall keep your endorsement for ready reference." Fred reported for work the next morning. He began at the bottom, sweeping, dusting, clearing up, taking away books, carrying papers, and so on. In a short time the store looked as if it never did before. He was the first there in the morning, and the last at night. He never asked what to do next, but found something to do until new work was assigned. He kept his mouth shut, his eyes open, and his feet and thoughts active. The fifth week they raised him to $5 and gave him work above four other youths whom he found there. At the end of four months he was raised to $12 a week without asking it.

Ben went from the high school into an office at the age of 17. He told him plainly that there was no probability of promotion, and no boy had been promoted for twelve years, but there was a possibility. There was nothing about him that was promising. He had not good light in school, was not a good penman, was not strong physically, and he went to work with a full determination that he would "get there." A few days after the senior member of the firm saw him going to the post-office, and he was so delighted with his evident intent to boom the mail business that he said to his associates: "Let us have a party to get Ben. This boy is from the house of a—&— It is worth something to have such an exhibition of business on the street."

In the course of a few months another boy was secured, and Ben was given $6, until, in less than three years, he was having $24 a week, and was making for himself by the way he did everything. In those three years a thousand other boys in Boston had changed from place to place, and were still working for $3 or $4 a week. The boy who is merely an office boy will never be promoted, and the boy who is lazy, indifferent, talkative, sulky, moody, meddlesome, envious, jealous, afraid of doing more than his share, and bound not to earn more than he is paid for. He will promote who makes himself equal to every emergency; who loves work, learns how to work, and is cheerful and joyous in doing a hand everywhere; who puts brains into his work; who lets his "head save his heels," who will work anywhere, at any time, at anything, without complaint.

Incidents in Alexander Hamilton's Life.

Before Alexander was 13 years of age he was placed in the office of a West India merchant. He was very precocious and developed a remarkable business capacity. He gained his first lesson in composition from writing business letters for the firm, and these letters are said to be remarkable for one so young. He also contributed to the press, at one time giving an account of a hurricane that visited the island, which was so vividly described as to attract attention. It was considered that something must be done for so bright a boy with a view to giving him education. His friends and relatives furnished the funds and he was sent to America, where he arrived in 1772, landing at Boston, whence he proceeded to New York. After a brief course of study at Elizabethtown, N. J., he entered King's college (now Columbia).

The Forest Pavilion at the Paris Exposition.

Among the marvels of the Exposition was the pavilion of the Executive Department of Forestry on the Trocadero, constructed entirely of the trunks of trees. Leaving the board walk and following a foot-path through the turf, we came to a little hillock of natural rock covered with ivy and creeping plants, and mounting a few steps, hollowed in the rock, or made of natural pieces of wood, we reached the verandah which surrounds this picturesque pavilion. The peristyle was formed of high columns, which are magnificent trunks, carefully selected and straight as arrows. Each species is represented by a perfect specimen, and all are disposed as to bring out soft harmonies and contrasts of color. There were oaks of various forms, hornbeams, elms, wild and cultivated cherries, deeply ribbed locusts, poplars, black and gray firs, with reddish bark; maritime pines, with purplish scales; spruces, lindens, ashes, glittering birches, beeches, with bark of the finest texture, and service trees, with a covering like a coat of mail. Every specimen carried its certificate of birth in a label fastened to the bark. Most of them were centenarians, and many 150 years old. The walls were covered with a mosaic formed of natural wood, bark and tresses of liguose fibre; the capitals, cornices and balconies were of branches, knotted and twisted, as if they were carved; the roof is made of shingles, with the gray and violet shades of slate, and the effect of the whole is charming. Under the verandah, where families,

THE OFFICE BOY.

How He May Get Promoted and How He May Get The Other Thing.

Are office boys never promoted, then? Certainly. I have known several cases, and will give a free translation of three. I wrote a note to a book house that ran after this fashion: "I want you to try as a boy Fred—He is a plucky fellow. He is a very good fellow, and will work as early and late as you wish, will hang his tongue, and will earn for every one you pay him. He will be content with $3 a week."

I received this reply in substance: "I have no vacancy among the boys, but such a boy as you mention will always pay twice over. It was a loud commendation you gave him. If you dare stand by it, send him along. I shall keep your endorsement for ready reference." Fred reported for work the next morning. He began at the bottom, sweeping, dusting, clearing up, taking away books, carrying papers, and so on. In a short time the store looked as if it never did before. He was the first there in the morning, and the last at night. He never asked what to do next, but found something to do until new work was assigned. He kept his mouth shut, his eyes open, and his feet and thoughts active. The fifth week they raised him to $5 and gave him work above four other youths whom he found there. At the end of four months he was raised to $12 a week without asking it.

Ben went from the high school into an office at the age of 17. He told him plainly that there was no probability of promotion, and no boy had been promoted for twelve years, but there was a possibility. There was nothing about him that was promising. He had not good light in school, was not a good penman, was not strong physically, and he went to work with a full determination that he would "get there." A few days after the senior member of the firm saw him going to the post-office, and he was so delighted with his evident intent to boom the mail business that he said to his associates: "Let us have a party to get Ben. This boy is from the house of a—&— It is worth something to have such an exhibition of business on the street."

In the course of a few months another boy was secured, and Ben was given $6, until, in less than three years, he was having $24 a week, and was making for himself by the way he did everything. In those three years a thousand other boys in Boston had changed from place to place, and were still working for $3 or $4 a week. The boy who is merely an office boy will never be promoted, and the boy who is lazy, indifferent, talkative, sulky, moody, meddlesome, envious, jealous, afraid of doing more than his share, and bound not to earn more than he is paid for. He will promote who makes himself equal to every emergency; who loves work, learns how to work, and is cheerful and joyous in doing a hand everywhere; who puts brains into his work; who lets his "head save his heels," who will work anywhere, at any time, at anything, without complaint.

Our Shipreck in the Barnyard.

We were both dressed up in our white ruffled aprons, or, rather, my brother and I had on our best nightgowns. Neither did I very often, they made a deal of washing. But we were going to have company that day; Uncle George was coming, and he was going to bring Aunt Lucy. Of course mamma wanted us to look nice, so she gave us each a bath, put on our best dresses, and gave us each a collar and new shoes. My shoes were lovely. They had light green kid inside, and tassels on the front. Dick's hair was short and almost white, so it didn't show when he was fixed; but mamma didn't seem to care for that. He said he had heard so that I could have cried, if I hadn't thought how pretty it would look next day. It did crimp beautifully, and mamma tied it up with the bow of pink ribbon that Aunt Prudie sent me at Christmas. Dick had been trying to get on with little steel buttons. The company was coming on the 11 o'clock train, and we went out to the gate to watch for the carriage. It wasn't in sight, so we thought we'd go and see what was the matter. Dick wanted to give them some worms, so I dug and he picked them up; and we just went to the gate again when I saw an old pig-troth that had been thrown up on the wooden platform. Of course I forgot all about my clean clothes, and so did Dick, for I thought if I could only get the trough down, it would make a splendid boat. Perhaps we could drag it across the front lawn to the river. We pulled and tugged, but it was very heavy, and at last we almost gave up our effort, when I remembered our pond in the barnyard; it was a big hole in the ground that was made last spring by taking out the compost heap. The train had filled it up so that it was just the right size to sail our boat on. We pulled it down, and I hatched it with my knife, so that it looked like a little one-bit boat. I jumped in, and Dick handed me the long handled rake to row with. I gave a hard push, and was just going to sit his turn next, when I began to go down, down, down. My new shoes were getting wet, but I didn't care, if I could only keep my white apron dry. I pushed with all my might, but it wasn't tantamount before I was up to my neck in a dreadful, filthy brown water, and I had to hold up my hair, for I hated to think of losing those beautiful curls, but it was no use trying to save them, for all at once the boat bottomed, and over I went with a splash, rake and all.

THE OFFICE BOY.

How He May Get Promoted and How He May Get The Other Thing.

Are office boys never promoted, then? Certainly. I have known several cases, and will give a free translation of three. I wrote a note to a book house that ran after this fashion: "I want you to try as a boy Fred—He is a plucky fellow. He is a very good fellow, and will work as early and late as you wish, will hang his tongue, and will earn for every one you pay him. He will be content with $3 a week."

I received this reply in substance: "I have no vacancy among the boys, but such a boy as you mention will always pay twice over. It was a loud commendation you gave him. If you dare stand by it, send him along. I shall keep your endorsement for ready reference." Fred reported for work the next morning. He began at the bottom, sweeping, dusting, clearing up, taking away books, carrying papers, and so on. In a short time the store looked as if it never did before. He was the first there in the morning, and the last at night. He never asked what to do next, but found something to do until new work was assigned. He kept his mouth shut, his eyes open, and his feet and thoughts active. The fifth week they raised him to $5 and gave him work above four other youths whom he found there. At the end of four months he was raised to $12 a week without asking it.

Ben went from the high school into an office at the age of 17. He told him plainly that there was no probability of promotion, and no boy had been promoted for twelve years, but there was a possibility. There was nothing about him that was promising. He had not good light in school, was not a good penman, was not strong physically, and he went to work with a full determination that he would "get there." A few days after the senior member of the firm saw him going to the post-office, and he was so delighted with his evident intent to boom the mail business that he said to his associates: "Let us have a party to get Ben. This boy is from the house of a—&— It is worth something to have such an exhibition of business on the street."

In the course of a few months another boy was secured, and Ben was given $6, until, in less than three years, he was having $24 a week, and was making for himself by the way he did everything. In those three years a thousand other boys in Boston had changed from place to place, and were still working for $3 or $4 a week. The boy who is merely an office boy will never be promoted, and the boy who is lazy, indifferent, talkative, sulky, moody, meddlesome, envious, jealous, afraid of doing more than his share, and bound not to earn more than he is paid for. He will promote who makes himself equal to every emergency; who loves work, learns how to work, and is cheerful and joyous in doing a hand everywhere; who puts brains into his work; who lets his "head save his heels," who will work anywhere, at any time, at anything, without complaint.

Our Shipreck in the Barnyard.

We were both dressed up in our white ruffled aprons, or, rather, my brother and I had on our best nightgowns. Neither did I very often, they made a deal of washing. But we were going to have company that day; Uncle George was coming, and he was going to bring Aunt Lucy. Of course mamma wanted us to look nice, so she gave us each a bath, put on our best dresses, and gave us each a collar and new shoes. My shoes were lovely. They had light green kid inside, and tassels on the front. Dick's hair was short and almost white, so it didn't show when he was fixed; but mamma didn't seem to care for that. He said he had heard so that I could have cried, if I hadn't thought how pretty it would look next day. It did crimp beautifully, and mamma tied it up with the bow of pink ribbon that Aunt Prudie sent me at Christmas. Dick had been trying to get on with little steel buttons. The company was coming on the 11 o'clock train, and we went out to the gate to watch for the carriage. It wasn't in sight, so we thought we'd go and see what was the matter. Dick wanted to give them some worms, so I dug and he picked them up; and we just went to the gate again when I saw an old pig-troth that had been thrown up on the wooden platform. Of course I forgot all about my clean clothes, and so did Dick, for I thought if I could only get the trough down, it would make a splendid boat. Perhaps we could drag it across the front lawn to the river. We pulled and tugged, but it was very heavy, and at last we almost gave up our effort, when I remembered our pond in the barnyard; it was a big hole in the ground that was made last spring by taking out the compost heap. The train had filled it up so that it was just the right size to sail our boat on. We pulled it down, and I hatched it with my knife, so that it looked like a little one-bit boat. I jumped in, and Dick handed me the long handled rake to row with. I gave a hard push, and was just going to sit his turn next, when I began to go down, down, down. My new shoes were getting wet, but I didn't care, if I could only keep my white apron dry. I pushed with all my might, but it wasn't tantamount before I was up to my neck in a dreadful, filthy brown water, and I had to hold up my hair, for I hated to think of losing those beautiful curls, but it was no use trying to save them, for all at once the boat bottomed, and over I went with a splash, rake and all.

HUMOROUS.

Mr. Blenkins' Report.—Farmer Blenkins, whose wife Mary Jane, is noted for never being pleased with anything that she sees or hears, seldom has a chance to administer a rebuke of her disagreeably critical habit, but one day his opportunity came, and he did not miss it. "What had been to Boston together and on their return from one of the neighbors dropped in and began a conversation. "Ben to Boston, hev ye, Blenkins?" "Yes." "Miss Blenkins go 'long?" "How'd ye like it, Miss Blenkins?" "Laws sake!" snapped out Mrs. Blenkins. "Everythin' I see there was jest frightful!" "I believe ye, Mary Jane," broke in Farmer Blenkins. "Ye wa't doin' a grain of lookin' glass?" "I believe ye, Mary Jane," broke in Farmer Blenkins. "Ye wa't doin' a grain of lookin' glass?"

Matter of Form.—Mr. Hardcash—Well, sir, what induced you to imagine that I would give my consent to my daughter's marrying you? De Gall—Pardon me, my dear sir, I wasn't so foolish as to imagine anything of the kind. I merely asked for it as a matter of form. If you refuse we shall marry without it, that's all.

A New Breed.—Dog fancier—Yes, Madam, I have all kinds of dogs here. Is there any particular breed you wish? Old Lady (who reads the papers).—Oh, any thing that's fashionable. Lemme see an elegant greyhound.

Wife—I believe that more women than men go to heaven. Husband—You do? What makes you think so? Wife—Women live better than men. Husband—I grant it, Mary, but then, I think there are very few women on the other side.

Brod In the Bone.—Johnnie, what did the angel say to Abou Ben Adhem? "Peek about." "H'm. And what did Ben Adhem say?" "That he Adhem again." "Johnnie, what's your father's name?" "Mark Twain Burdette." And then the teacher understood.

A Diminutive Farmer.—Mrs. Bascom (rushing into the house with a scream)—For mercy's sake! Ebenezer is down in the pasture, and the bull is goring him! "Dressmaker (indistinctly through half a dozen pins)—Indeed! I didn't know as there was enough material in Mr. Bascom for that.

Truth Crushed to Earth.—Miss— "If any one called James?" "Servant—'One jeddy, mum." "Did she ask for me?" "She mentioned yer name and described ye as about forty. I said it wasn't you, mum." "Quite right. Here's a quarter, James." "Thank ye, mum. I said ye were over fifty, mum." "James! I take a month's notice."

Greedy Work Again.—Little Dot—"Mamma, didn't papa say General George predicted big winds for to-day?" "Mamma—'Yes, my dear; he read it in the paper.'" Little Dot—"Well, they isn't high at all. They is so low down they're most blow me over."

The New Spitz.—He—"That's a handsome dog you have there. What bred is it?" Boston High School Graduate (embarrassed)—"That! That's a salvia dog."

Night Work Generally.—Mr. Suburb—"Uncle Bascom, wash you'd go over to my place that clean out my hen house?" "Uncle Bascom (with a grin)—"What in broad daylight, said?" Lady of the House.—You're late to-day. Ice-man—Yes'm; I'm around alone to-day. My assistant's laid up in the hospital. "What's the matter with him?" "He was taking the bill into a house yesterday when the tongs slipped, and the bill fell on his leg an' broke it."

FARM NOTES.

S. L. DURAND. J. R. MALONEY.

OPENING. S. L. DURAND & Co. Hatters

GENTS' Furnishing Goods, 204 Market St., Philada.

Hats and Caps.—We display as fine a line as can be found in the city.

Gents' Furnishing Goods.—This line has been selected with great care.

We earnestly request our Atlantic County friends to give us a call.

AGENTS *1000 per year and Expenses is what we are paying. We want 100 more, and will pay salary and expenses...

Allen Brown Endicott, Counselor-at-Law, Real Estate and Law Building, ATLANTIC CITY. N. J. Read the Republican.

THE TROWBRIDGE CLOVER CUTTER CUTS HAY OR GRASS FOR FOWLS. C. M. JORDAN, Agent, HAMMONTON, N. J.

These cutters are indispensable to the poultry and chicken raisers, making a saving in feed, as clover is now largely used for feeding fowls.

THIS PAPER may be found on the 11th at GEO. F. HOWELL & Co's Newspaper Advertising Bureau (19 Spruce Street), where advertising contracts may be made for it in NEW YORK.

FREE $85 GOLD WATCH. By virtue of a writ of fieri facias, to me directed, issued out of the New Jersey Court of Chancery, will be sold at public vendue, on SATURDAY, the 9th day of November, 1889...

PHILADELPHIA SINGER. High Arm, $28. Low Arm, $20. Fifteen Days' Trial. THE C. A. WOOD CO., 17 North Fourth St., Philadelphia, Pa.

O. & O. TEA

The Choicest Tea Ever Offered. PERFECTLY PURE. A MOST DELICIOUS BEVERAGE. TRY IT.

It is the Highest Grade Leaf, picked from the best plantations and guaranteed absolutely pure and free from all adulterations or coloring matter.

Oriental & Occidental Tea Co., Ltd., Head Office, 31, 33 and 35 Baring St., New York.

Pasquale Ranere, Manufacturer of Macaroni, Vermicelli

Hammonton, N. J. Goods made from the best of Farina and Flour, with imported machinery.

Orders solicited. HO! FOR THE "Old Reliable!"

Please don't forget that a general assortment of Bread,—Cakes,—Pies, Fruits AND Confectionery

May still be found in great variety and abundant in quantity at Packer's Bakery.

SUBSCRIBE FOR THE S. J. R. A. J. KING, Resident Lawyer,

Master in Chancery, Notary Public, Real Estate and Insurance Agent.

Insures in No. 1 companies, and at the lowest rates. Personal attention given to all business.

Sheriff's Sale. By virtue of a writ of fieri facias, to me directed, issued out of the New Jersey Court of Chancery, will be sold at public vendue, on SATURDAY, the 9th day of November, 1889...

At two o'clock in the afternoon of said day at the office of William Bernhouse, in Hammonton, Atlantic County, New Jersey, all those two adjoining lots of land situated in the Town of Hammonton, in the County of Atlantic, and State of New Jersey, and described as follows:

No. 1. Beginning on the south side Central Avenue at the distance of one hundred and thirty-six perches south-east of the south side of Bellevue Avenue, thence extending (1) south thirteen degrees thirteen minutes west sixty-four and eighty-six hundredths perches; thence (2) south forty-nine degrees thirty-four minutes east thirteen and twenty-five hundredths perches; thence (3) north thirteen degrees thirteen minutes west sixty-four and eighty-six hundredths perches to the place of beginning, containing five acres of land, strict measure.

No. 2. Beginning on the south side of Central Avenue at the distance of thirty-nine and seventy-eight hundredths rods southeast of Cherry Street, at the easterly corner of the above lot No. 1, thence extending (1) along said lot south thirteen degrees thirteen minutes west seventy-six and ninety-two one hundredths perches; thence (2) south forty-nine degrees thirty-four minutes east twelve and twenty-one one hundredths perches (twelve and twenty-one one hundredths perches) thence (3) north thirteen degrees thirteen minutes west sixty-four and eighty-six hundredths perches to the side of Central Avenue; thence (4) along the same north seventy-six degrees forty-seven minutes west eleven and seventy-eight hundredths perches to the place of beginning, containing five acres of land, strict measure.

Belonged to the property of Henry E. Thayer et ux., and taken in execution at the suit of Robert E. Patterson et al., Executors and Trustees, etc., and to be sold by WMTH E. JOHNSON, Sheriff, Date, September 14th, 1889.

A. ARMSTRONG, Solicitor.

IMPORTANT PIECE OF FURNITURE.—Webster's Unabridged Dictionary is a very important piece of furniture for every household. Every family needs it, not only for training in the right use and meaning of words, and for all the usual purposes of a good dictionary, but also for its Biographical Dictionary of 9700 names, its recently added Gazetteer of the World containing over 25,000 titles with valuable information under each, and the variety of helpful and interesting knowledge contained in its many tables.

A peaceful revolution has taken place in Brazil. A strong element has long agitated the question of a republican form of government. This party has now taken possession, the Emperor and family having since started for Portugal. Thus, without striking a blow, a republic has been formed. Dom Pedro, it is said, was paid $2,500,000, and is promised $400,000 per-year for life.

Their Business Booming. Probably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade at Cochran's drug store as his giving away to his customers so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria, When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria, When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria, When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Will be far superior to any year of its history, a larger amount of money having been appropriated for the embellishment of the magazine than ever before.

You Cannot Get a Better Two Dollars' worth of Magazine than by subscribing to GODEY'S, the best family magazine in America.

For 1890. Will be far superior to any year of its history, a larger amount of money having been appropriated for the embellishment of the magazine than ever before.

Every Lady her own Dressmaker. Who subscribes to Godey's Lady's Book. The Coupon which you will find in each number entitles you to your own selection of any cut paper pattern illustrated in Godey's Lady's Book. Your 15 cent Sample Copy will contain one of these coupons.

Send 15 cents for Sample which will be allowed on your subscription when received.

That's all we can say in this space. For the rest, see your sample number, for which send 15 cents at once. Godey's is only $2.00 a year. Address

"Godey's Lady's Book," Philadelphia, Pa.

"Godey's" and REPUBLICAN one year, $2 55, which should be sent to this office.

To LOVERS OF Sage Cheese.

Being exceedingly fond of Sage Cheese, I ordered several from Boston, and they have just arrived.

Full Cream Vermont SAGE CHEESE. I have a few to spare, and can sell them at the following prices per pound:

Whole Cheese, 15 cents. 10 lbs., : 16 cents. 5 lbs., : 17 cents. 1 lb., : 18 cents.

M. L. JACKSON.

Edwin Jones. DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF Fresh & Salt Meats

Butter, Eggs, Lard, etc. Wagons run through the Town and vicinity.

Camden and Atlantic Railroad. Monday, Sept. 9, 1889. DOWN TRAINS.

Table with columns: STATIONS, Mail, At. Ac., Acco., Exp., Exp., S. Exp., Su. Ac., S. Exp., Su. Ac. Rows include Philadelphia, Camden, Haddonfield, Berlin, Ato, Waterford, Winslow, Hammonton, De Coste, Elwood, Egg Harbor City, Absecon, Atlantic City.

UP TRAINS. Table with columns: STATIONS, Exp., At. Ac., Exp., Exp., Acco., Su. Ac., S. Exp., Sunday Exp., S. Exp., Su. Ac. Rows include Philadelphia, Camden, Haddonfield, Berlin, Ato, Waterford, Winslow, Hammonton, De Coste, Elwood, Egg Harbor City, Absecon, Atlantic City.

Dr. J. A. Waas, RESIDENT DENTIST, HAMMONTON, N. J. Office Days, — Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. GAS ADMINISTERED—50 Cts. No charge for extracting with gas, when teeth are ordered.

Magazines and Newspapers Of all kinds, at Club Rates, at the Republican Office.

ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE. Atlantic County, State of New Jersey, Decree of Orphans' Court, Adjudging Insolvency, and Ordering Sale of Land.

In the matter of the sale of the land, and buildings thereon, of Bradford Dana, deceased, for the payment of his debts.

By virtue of the above stated order, to me directed and delivered, I shall sell at public vendue, on TUESDAY, the 24th day of December, 1889,

At my office in Hammonton, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon of the above date, all the following described land and premises, being the same described in said order,— that is to say—

That lot, piece, or parcel of land situated in the Town of Hammonton, County of Atlantic, and State of New Jersey, and bounded as follows: Beginning at a point in the middle of First Road and in the line of the Chew tract and runs thence (1) by the middle of First Road south 48 deg. and 10 minutes east, sixteen chains and fifty links to a point; thence (2) south 6 degrees and 50 minutes west, seven chains and ninety links to a point in the line of said tract to place of beginning; containing six and one-half acres of land more or less; and being one half of lot numbered 678 on the map of the Weymouth Farm and Agricultural Company, being the same premises conveyed by deed dated June 23rd, 1885, by George F. Jahnke to Bradford Dana, and recorded in the Clerk's office of Atlantic County, in Book 105 of Deeds, folio 28, etc.

C. M. JORDAN, Adm'r. Dated, Oct. 26th, 1889.

D. F. Lawson, CONTRACTOR AND BUILDER Hammonton, N. J. Plans, Specifications, and Estimates furnished JOBBING promptly attended to.

AGENTS WANTED. Thousands of Dollars to be given away as prizes to agents. Send for circulars.

AGENTS WANTED. Thousands of Dollars to be given away as prizes to agents. Send for circulars.

AGENTS WANTED. Thousands of Dollars to be given away as prizes to agents. Send for circulars.

AGENTS WANTED. Thousands of Dollars to be given away as prizes to agents. Send for circulars.

AGENTS WANTED. Thousands of Dollars to be given away as prizes to agents. Send for circulars.

AGENTS WANTED. Thousands of Dollars to be given away as prizes to agents. Send for circulars.

AGENTS WANTED. Thousands of Dollars to be given away as prizes to agents. Send for circulars.

AGENTS WANTED. Thousands of Dollars to be given away as prizes to agents. Send for circulars.

AGENTS WANTED. Thousands of Dollars to be given away as prizes to agents. Send for circulars.

AGENTS WANTED. Thousands of Dollars to be given away as prizes to agents. Send for circulars.

AGENTS WANTED. Thousands of Dollars to be given away as prizes to agents. Send for circulars.

AGENTS WANTED. Thousands of Dollars to be given away as prizes to agents. Send for circulars.

AGENTS WANTED. Thousands of Dollars to be given away as prizes to agents. Send for circulars.

AGENTS WANTED. Thousands of Dollars to be given away as prizes to agents. Send for circulars.

AGENTS WANTED. Thousands of Dollars to be given away as prizes to agents. Send for circulars.

AGENTS WANTED. Thousands of Dollars to be given away as prizes to agents. Send for circulars.

AGENTS WANTED. Thousands of Dollars to be given away as prizes to agents. Send for circulars.