BOOKS, THREE CENTS EACH!

The following books are published in neat pamphlet form, printed from good readable type on good paper, and many of them handsomely illustrated. They are for sale at the rate of three cents each, in any quantity, and in any language, and furnish to the masses of the people an opportunity to secure the best literature of the day at the most trifling expense. In any other series these great works would cost many times the price at which they are here offered. Each one is complete in itself.

Wonders of the World, Natural and Moral. Contains descriptions and illustrations of the most wonderful works of nature and of man. Very interesting and instructive. Wonders of the Sea. A description of the most wonderful and beautiful things found at the bottom of the ocean, with fine illustrations.

"A Pleasure Excursion," and Other Sketches. By "Jimmie Allen's" Wink. A collection of interestingly funny sketches by the most popular humorist of the day.

The Aunt Keelah Papers. By "Aunt Keelah," author of "The Huzzey Dialectic." A most deliciously funny book in every way.

Christmas Stories. By "Charles Dickens." Contains a number of the most charming Christmas stories ever written by the greatest writer who ever lived. Beautifully illustrated.

Round the Evening Lamp. A book of stories, pictures, and amusing games, for the little folks at home.

Popular Favorites and Illustrations. A most popular and beautiful book, containing all the most popular songs, ballads, and illustrations of the time of Franklin in the present.

Familiar Questions. Contains the best and most interesting questions and answers, and is a valuable work of reference.

Low Life in New York. A series of colored pictures showing the dark side of the great city.

The Road to Wealth. Not an abstract treatise, but a thoroughly practical work, pointing out a way by which all may make money, easily, rapidly, and honestly.

One Hundred Popular Songs. Sentimental, pathetic and comic, including most of the favorites, new and old.

Old World's History. A Novel, by Mrs. Mary Anne Plummer.

A Married Life. A Novel, by "Manton Harlowe."

Official Report on Baking Powders.

By PROF. HENRY LEFFMANN, M. D. of Philadelphia. (Especially made for the Annals of Hygiene.)

We have considered that a fair, impartial, and reliable report on "Baking Powders" was much needed, because we have recently noticed the claim set forth by two prominent manufacturers, each that theirs was the "only baking powder free from adulteration;" and in each instance, among the list of names given as authority for the claim, was to be found the name of a prominent New York Chemist. Since it is obviously impossible that this chemist should have testified that each of these powders was the only one free from adulteration, we felt that the claims set forth were unreliable, and that it was clearly our duty to furnish the public with reliable information on this important question. We accordingly bought from one of our largest and most reliable grocery stores one package, or bottle, each of the following powders, which, we were informed, were in most demand:

1. Rumford Yeast Powder.
2. Royal Baking Powder.
3. Fearless Baking Powder.
4. Sea Foam Baking Powder.

These powders were removed from the boxes or bottles in which they were bought, placed in packages, with no marks save the numbers from 1 to 4, (in the order above given), and sent to Prof. Henry Leffmann, who was requested to analyze them and make his report by numbers. It will be observed that he did not know, and had no means of knowing, what powders he was examining.

We will first publish Prof. Leffmann's report, and then make our comments thereon.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Board of Agriculture—Department of Hygiene, and Food Inspector. H. Leffmann, M. D., Inspector. Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 2, 1887.

DEAR DOCTOR:—I transmit herewith the results of the examination of the four samples of baking powder. To avoid repetition, I may observe that baking powders are mixtures of baking soda, (bicarbonate of soda, sodium acid carbonate), with some vegetable acid or acid salt. In practice, tartaric acid, cream of tartar, acid phosphate and alum are used. The most approved baking powders are those made with either cream of tartar or acid phosphate. Some fine insoluble powder (starch) is added to make the mixture keep well. Although there is no positive evidence to show that alum powders are unwholesome, yet the use of such powders is to be discouraged. They are to say the least, put on the market as cheap substitutes for the higher class articles:

- No. 1. Phosphate Powder.—No Ammonia. No Alum. Corn Starch.
- No. 2. Tartrate Powder.—No Alum. Contains Ammonia. Corn Starch.
- No. 3. Alum Powder.—Corn and Potato Starch. Contains Ammonia.
- No. 4. Tartrate Powder.—No Alum. Corn Starch. No Ammonia.

Yours, HENRY LEFFMANN.

To JOSEPH F. EDWARDS, M. D.

It will be seen from the above report that the "Rumford Yeast Powder" holds a position absolutely its own, in so far as it is the only phosphate powder on the market. Of course, physicians all know that there are many persons to whom the use of the phosphates would prove very beneficial, and therefore this powder may be recommended.

For the benefit of those who did not see our July issue, we wish again to state that in all instances our examinations are made without any knowledge on the part of the manufacturers that such examinations are contemplated. The goods will always be bought in an open market, and the reports will be as accurate as science can make them.

Ten Little Toes.

Baby is clad in his night gown white, Puss-put pulls a soft good night, And somebody tells, for somebody in swa, The terrible tale of ten little toes.

AT HIGH NOON.

There was not a more daring and active scout than Bazine's army than Pierre Danton. When Pierre volunteered to slip into Quinquambo, to see what the Mexicans were doing, it never occurred to him that there was the slightest danger.

The sentinel called a corporal, and the story was repeated. To these simple soldiers it seemed that the deserter was telling the truth, and nothing but the truth. "Ah, that French devil, Bazine!" said the corporal, "he is frightened, is he not?"

"Comrade," replied Pierre, "you have spoken truly. Bazine is in despair. His men are deserting by hundreds. They have nothing to eat, and the usurper is without money to pay them."

send, and the chances are, that he is even now inventing some diabolical torture. Well, it is the fortune of war. Quinquambo did not look very interesting to the spy as he at first prepared up against the colonel's headquarters. There was a plaza and a few scattered houses around it, except on one side, where they had been destroyed by fire. There were no citizens.

"I must see him," said the spy. "I have a little settlement to make with him." "Sacre!" yelled Pierre, "I had forgotten all about the run!" The smoke slowly lifted, and on the open side of the plaza was seen a group of dead and dying Mexicans. The discharge had occurred just as the prisoners were marching by.

The victim shuddered. There was something horrible in the idea of being killed by the bright luminary whose rays had all his life given him light and life. He knew that even in the large cities of Mexico what was called the midday gun was fired in this ingenious fashion during the dry season.

The anbas scandens, or climbing perch of India, is, perhaps, the most celebrated of any fish that voluntarily comes ashore, as he certainly is the most accomplished in terrestrial life. He is a little fellow, very like a perch in general form, with large scales and spiny dorsal fin and is to be found in most parts of the East Indies.

FRENCH HORSES.

Importers sell them at Five Hundred Per Cent. of the Cost Price. Everybody knows that at this time of the year the streets of Paris are full of Americans from the North, but what is less known is the fact that a great number of these tourists travel along with the provinces, and instead of turning themselves with red-covered guide-books, they stuff their pockets with stab-books and think only of taking away our best stallions and sometimes also our best mares.

There are, of course, shops without number, and more modest and milliners than can be counted, but the two great places are the marchand du Louvre and the "Bon Marche." It is in these that the American woman is taken in and done for. I do not know a more humiliated creature than the American who sits quietly for an hour or two in the voiture (this kind of humiliation I prefer), or follows his wife from room to room or from counter to counter through these vast labyrinths of female apparel, feeling his way carefully to avoid stepping on trains, and not to disarrange the preposterous hummocks with which women disguise themselves.

Chicago's Queer Millionaire. By the common consent of his neighbors C. J. Hull, whose wealth is estimated at three millions, is the queerest of the many queer characters in Chicago. There is no doubt Mr. Hull is queer, very queer, and what makes him queer especially queer to Chicago people is that having made a comfortable fortune himself he should devote his time and a portion of his money to making other people comfortable. Mr. Hull's hobby is that of establishing laboring men in houses of their own. He boasts of having put over 2,000 families in houses of their own in Chicago, nearly as many in Lincoln, Nebraska, about 1,000 in Savannah, Georgia, and several hundred in Baltimore.

Fish That Climb Trees.

The half fainting prisoner held his breath. The muscles of his face twitched nervously, and his eyes were fixed with an intense stare upon the other end of the gun. Like the echo of an echo came a familar sound wafted upon the mountain breezes. "God!" gasped the miserable man through his palid lips.

POWER IN THE FUTURE.

Possibilities of the Next Century—Power in Bales and Barrels. Let any one consider what the steam engine was forty years ago, and then examine the very latest improved compound engine of to-day, with all its appliances for economy and efficient service, and then let him try to estimate what the electric motor of thirty years hence will be.

There are at present about fifty American horse-dealers who have just traveled over, without being able to speak a single word of French, all the great farms of Euro-et-Lor, where they have procured with their ready money the very best products of the region. They did not much mind the prices. What was a few thousand francs more or less, to them? They can sell these animals on the other side of the ocean at five times the price here.

There are at present in the Zoological Gardens at Paris twenty genuine Ashantees—twelve males and eight females. They are natives of Africa, well known for their ferocity, courage and valor. The habitat of the Ashantees is in the western part of Central Africa. They are among the most beautiful varieties of the native African race; comparable to the Caucasian Abyssian.

Value of Self-Restraint.

A quick temper is an unfortunate inheritance, but not an irremediable one. Let our young friends understand this as a fact and cease to bewail their weakness. Let them take matters seriously in hand and strive to modify the disposition by keeping a close watch upon themselves, by avoiding occasions of irritation, and those old associates whose temper is known to be readily excitable, like their own—Go, my friend, headed, explosive friend, with kind, good-natured people and cultivate their manner.

My Dog.

I love my dog—a beautiful dog, Brave and alert for a race; Ready to frolic with baby or man; Diligent, too, in his place. I like his bark—a resonant bark, Musical, hoarse, and full of cheer; And his swiftness and his shaggy coat And his sudden, powerful leap.

POWER IN THE FUTURE.

Let any one consider what the steam engine was forty years ago, and then examine the very latest improved compound engine of to-day, with all its appliances for economy and efficient service, and then let him try to estimate what the electric motor of thirty years hence will be. The compound engine, with its wonderful performance, has come as a result of long practice, large experience, profound study, and the application of a wide acquaintance with principles. Why should not the electric motor gain as much from the same sources?

FASHION NOTES.

—Let has a rival as a garniture for black silk in the handsome gold and silver embroideries and passementeries, and jet and gold in combination are also used for the purpose, and notably gold braid with jet beads, either in passementerie style or separate motifs.

—Underskirts of plush or velvet, both plain and figured, are very fashionable with draperies and basque or jacket of woolen or silk fabrics, especially the former; and, unfortunately, if plain plush or velvet, the sleeves of the basque are made of the same material as the undergarment. Sleeves of a different material from the skirt are growing in favor for other goods as well.

—Velvet and cloth, embroidered in open ayelets like Madeira or Scotch work, are among the new trimmings of the year, but instead of being used for the underskirt and the accessories of the basque, as the red is described in the costume noted above.

—Trimnings on sleeves of dresses and mantles are apt to be spoiled in putting on the garment, and the Empress sleeve-holder is just a six-penny device which is at the same time a saving of trouble and of wear. It is a covered silk cord with two ends, a simple contrivance holds the dress-sleeves firm while the outer sleeve is put on, and can be easily undone and slipped off when it has accomplished its work.

Congress met on Monday. On Tuesday the President's message was read and both branches adjourned, the House to Thursday. Prominent Republicans declare the message will be a most advantageous campaign document for the party. The nominations of Lamar to the Supreme Court, Vilas to be Secretary of the Interior, Don M. Dickinson to be Postmaster General and Fairchild to be Secretary of the Treasury were sent to the Senate. Speaker Carlisle says he will make up the House committees before the holiday recess.

The Prince of Wales has been re-elected grand master of the Freemasons in England.

The Republican National Convention will be held in Chicago, June 19.

We cannot too strongly urge upon our readers the necessity of subscribing for a family weekly newspaper of the first class—such for instance, as The Independent, of New York. Were we obliged to select one publication for habitual and careful reading to the exclusion of all others, we should choose unhesitatingly The Independent. It is a newspaper, magazine, and review all in one. It is a religious, a literary, an educational, a story, an art, a scientific, an agricultural, a financial, and a political paper combined. It has 32 folio pages and 21 departments.—No matter what a person's religion, politics or profession may be, no matter what the age, sex, employment or condition may be, The Independent will prove a help, an instructor, an educator. Our readers can do no less than to send a postal for a free specimen copy, or for thirty cents the paper will be sent a month, enabling one to judge of its merits more critically. Its yearly subscription is $3.00 or two years for $5.00.

Those who desire to subscribe for The American Agriculturist as well as The Independent cannot make a better bargain than by accepting The Independent's offer to send both papers for one year for the sum of $3.75. Each subscriber will thus save seventy-five cents on the two papers.

Best Home Paper in America

This is not brag. It is a plain statement of honest fact. Ordinarily, the weekly issue of a daily paper is esteemed to be merely a digest of the week's news, suited alone for rural readers.

This is not true in reference to the Weekly Press.

It is specially edited by a trained corps of writers selected for the purpose of making the best paper.

It is adapted to the improvement and enjoyment of both sexes, of all ages, of every family whether a resident of the city, village, or country.

Not a word of crime or impure suggestion in any part of the paper.

It is an old paper, and carries its age and reputation equally well.

Now we are seeking a new and larger circle of readers. As an inducement to this end, the Weekly Press in connection with any four dollar magazine in America will be sent for the single subscription price of such magazine.

Or, on application, we will make a special combination of any two or more periodicals published in America, either weekly or monthly, in conjunction with the Weekly Press, at such low rate as will be equivalent to a year's subscription to the Weekly Press free for one year.

We make this exceptional proposition in order that the Weekly Press may go on trial in a million households for an entire year.
