"The Leading American Newspaper."

The New-York Tribune for 1881.

THE LARGEST CIRCULATION AMONG THE BEST PEOPLE.

During the past year The New-York Tribune reached the largest circulation it ever attained, with the single exception of a short period in the first Lincoln campaign. It is a larger circulation, and more widely distributed over the whole country than any ever enjoyed by any other newspaper in the United States. This fact may be taken as the verdict of the American People on the Tribune's political force, its fidelity to sound principles, and its merits as a newspaper.

For 1881 The Tribune will try to deserve equally well of the public. It will labor for, and it confidently expects the incoming Administration to promote, a free and fair suffrage, South and North, sound money, protection to Home Industry, judicious liberality in Internal Improvements, and a Civil Service conducted on business principles on the theory of elevating, not of corrupting, the public.

The special features of The Tribune will be prominently maintained: its Agricultural Department will remain the fullest and best. The Home-Holder and the Young Farmer Departments, the literary, scientific and religious features, the standard market reports, will all be kept up, and, as opportunity offers, extended.

TRUST GOD.

Be good, be truthful in thy way,
Dear child, be on thy guard,
In every hour of life keep watch,
In every hour keep ward.
Temptations lurk around thy path,
They'll sway thee from the right,
Unless thy heart be vigilant
In darkness as in light.
But God has made each child, though weak,
Sufficient in His strength,
And He will lead, though very ill
To victory at length.

Our Washington Letter.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 6, 1880.

If the dominant party in the House should still refuse the appropriation for the election marshals, and place obstacles in the way of the passage of a refunding bill, and thus force an extra session, it may interest some of your readers to know what officers will be at the disposal of Congress when organized under Republican auspices. These officers are much sought after, as the salaries are comparatively high, and while the pay covers the entire year, the employe usually has six months leave of absence.

The elective officers of the House are a clerk, $4,300, with additional $600, to be distributed for the hire of horses and wagons. The Sergeant at Arms, salary $4,000. He, too, is allowed an additional $500, for a horse and wagon. The book-keeper $2,500, the postmaster, $2,000, and the Chaplain $900.

The appointed officers and their pay are as follows: Chief Clerk, $3,000; Journal clerk, $3,000; two reading clerks, $3,000 each; tally clerk, $3 000; printing and bill clerk, $2,000; disbursing clerk, $2,000; assistant enrolling clerk, $2,000; resolution and petition clerk, $2,000; news paper clerk, $2,000; Superintendent of document room, $2,000; index clerk, $2,000; librarian of the House, $2,000; distributing clerk, $1,800; stationery clerk, $1,800; document clerk, $1,440; upholsterer, $1,440; blacksmith, $1,440; two assistant librarians, $1,440 each. All the above named officers are appointed by the Clerk.

In the Sergeant-at-Arms office there are all a clerk, salary $2,100; paying teller, $2,000; messenger, $1,200; a page at $60 a month, and a laborer at $60 a year.

In the Doorkeeper's Department are an assistant doorkeeper $2,000; clerk, $1,200; janitor, $1,200; chief engineer, $1,700; two assistant engineers, $1,200 each; five firemen, $900 each; electrician, $1,150; superintendent of folding room, $2,000; clerk in folding room, $1,800; two clerks in folding room, $1,200 each; superintendent of document room, $2,000; chief assistant in document room, $2,000; document file clerk, $1,400; fourteen messengers on soldiers roll at $1,200 each; eight messengers at $1,200 each; ten messengers at $1,000 each; and a number of laborers at $750 each.

In the Post office, there is an assistant postmaster at $2,000; eight messengers at $1,200 each, and four messengers to hold during the session at $8 0 each.

Besides the above, the Speaker appoints his private secretary at $1,800, and two clerks, one at $1,000, the other at $1,400.

In addition to the above, there are twelve Committee Clerks, with pay from $5,000 to $2,800 annually, with assistant clerks and messengers to most of them. There are besides, thirty-two clerks to committees, who receive six dollars per day, during the session. Then a foreman in the folding room, at $1,500, ten folders at $900, five at $840, and fifteen at $700. Messenger at $200, and a page at $5 0.

The Capital police force is now composed of Democrats. The Republicans will, of course, claim half of it. With all this patronage to pass into Republican hands, it will be a wonder if the Democracy do not back squarely down from some of their positions, let the appropriation bills, and the refunding bill pass and thus avoid the necessity of an extra session. For days past strong symptoms of the approaching meeting of Congress have filled the air with the usual bustle, in the crowded pages of the hotel registers, and in the lucid casing crowds of well dressed strangers that have thronged the Avenue. Was hington life has lost the listless air it wears during recess, and the Winter hegira has fairly set in.

He stood, a bronzed and battered form,
Within an old embrace warm,
And leaned upon a cannon old,
Half-sunken in the fragrant mould;
Then turning from the rusty gun,
With help of cry he tottered on:
A sweet girl-face looked up at him,
And sweet eyes scanned his aspect grim,
And sweet voice said in quiver low,
"O, gallant warrior, do not go,
But tell me--tell me where you fought--
And where those fearful wounds were wrought."
Were smitten in the furious tide
That drenched in blood the bastion's side!
Or fought upon the slippery deck
And sang defiance from the wreck?
Or waved the starry banner high,
Bravely resolved to do or die?"
"Hold on, young gal!" the veteran said,
"I am a whitewasher by trade;
I never fit; this trouble is Inflammatory rheumatism!"

John Kenny, aged 10 years, living at No. 166 Jersey street, Paterson, was a truant from school on Monday afternoon, and played about the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad at West Paterson. In getting on a coal train to steal a ride, he fell under one of the cars and had both legs so terribly crushed at the thighs that he died on Monday morning. Coroner Hurd decided that no inquest was necessary.

A Mount Holly youth, returning late from a "parking" visit a few nights since, found the gate fastened, and in scaling the fence his clothing became entangled. He could not release himself. He yelled and shouted for assistance, but the family were all sound sleepers and were not disturbed by him. He finally became tired out, and although his position was rather painful, he decided to grin and bear it. He was first discovered by the family milkman, who, after much difficulty, succeeded in extricating him from his unpleasant position. He was very much exhausted, and will be unable to visit for some time to come.

The official vote of Colorado, besides showing that the Morey forgery and the murder of two or three Chinamen by the Denver mob had no effect on the result, also indicates the tremendous stride the Centennial State is making in population. The Republican majority is 2,613 and the total vote of the State 53,25. This is against an aggregate vote of 128,620 in 1876, and indicates a gain in population in two years of at least 125,000. Colorado, the youngest State of the Union, has a population greater than at least four which are many years older.

The Syrian soda water manufacturer who announces his readiness to compete in a fasting match with Dr. Tanner, he to be confined to beer and the Doctor to be limited to water, might have save himself the trouble. If the Doctor would make a match of the kind there are ten thousand men in America who would challenge him today that is, provided somebody else would pay for the beer.

Superintendent J. G. W. Havens of the Life-saving Stations on the New Jersey coast writes The Press that he has been authorized to enlist an additional surman at each of the 39 station, which with the keepers will give him a force of 312 men during the winter.

The season is approaching when the Jersey farmer may be relied on for boasting as to big pork. Jefferson Small of Taddoubs claims one that will weigh on Christmas Day about 600 pounds, while Frye Hopkins of Wood-Lury, Gloucester County, shows one which good judges assert will shift the beam on the same day at an 800 mark, and Burlington County is yet to be heard from.

"The foremost religious newspaper of the United States."—Joseph Cook.

THE INDEPENDENT seeks the patronage of the public on three grounds, as follows:

1st. It is the largest weekly religious newspaper published in the world.

2d. It employs as contributors a more able writer, at home and abroad, than any other weekly newspaper.

3d. It gives its readers a wider range of topics and more and fuller departments than they can find elsewhere in any journal.

The Independent consists of 32 pages, neatly cut and printed. It is printed from clear type, on sturdy paper, with "new type" and "good paper," and mechanically it is an excellent.

There is no question of prof. science in religion, politics, science, education finance or any other department of human knowledge which the Independent does not discuss. It has regular departments devoted to Biblical Research, Missions, Religious Intelligence, Book Reviews and Literary News, the Sunday School, Education, Science, Sunday Questions—Pine Arts, the Amusement of Industry, Personalities, News of the Week Financial and Commercial matters, including weekly Prices Current, Market Reports, Cattle Market, Dry Goods Quotations—Flour and Farming, and Insurance. In its religious department it gives news and statistics of all denominations of Christians, everywhere. In full a secretary, and comprehensive news department is unequalled. Several pages of Stories and Poems adapted to Old and Young are given every week, with a column of Puzzles.

From time to time sermons by eminent ministers are published. The current topics of the day are discussed in our editorial columns freely and vigorously. We are not afraid to state our opinions.

The President's Message.

President Hayes furnishes Congress and the country with a very comprehensive review of the present state of public affairs, and outlines sufficient legislation to engage the whole attention of several Congresses to come. These annual messages are in pursuance of that provision of the Constitution which makes it incumbent upon the President to give Congress information of the state of the Union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient. These recommendations are more often than otherwise little heeded by Congress. The message, though powerless to influence Congress directly, will be read with interest by the people of the country, and probably have no little effect in giving form and direction to public opinion.

The President finds that Southern unwillingness to accord the negro his full political rights is the sole obstacle to the obliteration of sectionalism. He hopes that the House and the Senate, which have a right to judge of the qualification of their own members, will see to it that no benefit from the violation of the spirit of the Fifteenth Amendment shall accrue to any person or party. In the discussions and investigations incident to contested seats, the manner in which the late election was conducted in South Carolina will necessarily come up for review. This, however, can only be in the Congress which meets a year hence. The education of both the white and colored races the President regards as the only certain and permanent cure for the Southern majority. He therefore holds, and the majority of the country will probably agree with him, that education should be promoted by the General Government as far as lies within its province.

In regard to civil service reform Mr. Hayes enlarges upon the views laid down in his preceding annual message. He thinks substantial progress has been made in this field during his Administration. So much more remains to be done, however, that the country hardly appreciates that fact. The evils growing out of the spoils system and the abuse of patronage are admittedly great. There is, however, a widely prevailing skepticism as to whether competitive examinations and a system of rules and exacting remedies which the case demands. On the subject of polygamy the message is emphatic in condemnation. Two methods are proposed for getting rid of it. One by establishing a government analogous to the old one for the territory northwest of the Ohio. The suggestion that all polygamists be denied the right to vote, hold office or sit on juries is to the point, and would make the way clear for the prompt and effective suppression of polygamy.

The President falls in with the idea of equipping a silver dollar with a bullion value of a gold dollar, but fails to inform us how three dollars are to be kept equal in the face of the great and incessant variations in the relative value of the metals. The recommendation to withdraw the legal-tender notes is one in which the Secretary of the Treasury apparently does not concur. The greenbacks are not only popular in the country and admirably answer all the purposes of a national currency. Their withdrawal would simply create a demand for other paper currency, either bank or a gold and silver coinage, to take their place. With their legal reserve quality withdrawn and a coin reserve maintained in the Treasury sufficient to meet any reasonable demand for the conversion of greenbacks into gold, the former would continue to serve a good purpose, it not as an actual measure of value, at least as an exceedingly convenient medium of exchange.

The retiring President very graciously, though briefly, commends the attention of Congress to the great and signal services of General Grant in the late war, and recommends the passage of an act of Congress authorizing his appointment as Captain General of the army. Such a measure, he says with undoubted truth, would be warmly approved by the country. The President considers that our national defenses are not only in jeopardy, but their condition is deplorable to the country. He strongly recommends a comprehensive improvement of the Mississippi and Columbia Rivers and tributaries, Indian affairs, he finds, are in a hopeful and generally satisfactory state, but says nothing of the Ponca. He reiterates his former recommendation that an educational fund be set apart from the sale of public lands and the income distributed among the States and Territories.

The message, taken together, is a valuable depository of suggestions on many public questions, and though it may not be visibly instrumental in giving direction to the legislation of an expiring Democratic Congress, it is well worthy of an attentive perusal, not only by the legislators of Washington, but by the men who send them there.—Free.

able dealing, valuable and trusty clothing, ease and safety in getting it, OAK HALL is the place for you to go to, or send to; and it is worth your while to know how you can send, if it is inconvenient to go.

Write; say what your occupation is; say what sort of use you intend to make of the clothes you want, whether for every-day wear or otherwise; what color you prefer, or what color to avoid; say about what you want to pay; say everything that you think may aid a stranger in choosing for you. You will get in reply samples of cloths and prices of whatever you want made from those cloths. You will get also the means of having your measure taken by an unskilful person.

There is only one duty left. Somebody has got to take the risks of the dealing; for there are risks. Send your money along with your order. That covers the risk as to your good faith. We risk everything else; the fit, and your satisfaction every way.

Our trade by mail amounts to half a million dollars a year; there's no reason why it shouldn't amount to five millions.

This means a great deal more than appears on the surface. It means that you are not going to get what you will not want to keep at the price; if the merchant can help it. It means that the clothes you get there will be of honest cloths, honestly made; and that they will cost you less than as good clothes can be got for elsewhere. It means that they will be every way better worth your money than you can get elsewhere for the same money.

If it means anything less than these things—if it means poor cloths, trimmings, cutting, sewing, or in any way dishonest or illiberal dealing; the return of his goods will plague the merchant, injure his credit, and dissipate his trade.

If it means these things—if it means liberal and honest dealing, valuable and trusty clothing, ease and safety in getting it, OAK HALL is the place for you to go to, or send to; and it is worth your while to know how you can send, if it is inconvenient to go.

LOCAL MISCELLANY.

Mrs. Alex. Aitken started for Kansas on Saturday last.

Mr. Gillingham, Middle Road, has built a new barn on his farm.

Wayland DePuy has moved into the house lately vacated by Wm. Mortimer, on Central Ave.

Court begins on Tuesday next. We have received a call to attend next juryman, and shall doubtless accept.

Read H. A. Tremper's advertisement, this week and every week hereafter—something fresh and new.

We have some handsome cards, which with friend's name printed thereon, would make a handsome Christmas present.

Louis O'Donnell has obtained a situation as telegraph operator in the Western Union Office, Teuth and Chestnut Sts., Philadelphia.

Daniel Irving of the Senior class, Princeton Seminary, will preach to-morrow morning and evening in the Presbyterian Church.

Mr. J. L. Smith, of Main Road, started, Wednesday morning, for Reckland county, N. Y., where he will spend the winter with his daughter.

M. L. Jackson has a fine "best writer" which he will put up in private collection for Christmas eve. It will be on exhibition for a few days before Christmas.

Attend that meeting at the school house, next Monday evening, if you can, for you will surely wish to join the Association, and if you cannot you can assist in its organization.

It is rumored that Mr. Job C. Babcock, a well-known citizen of Absecon, was found dead Tuesday, in the ocean, on the premises. Cause, not known, as he was apparently in usual health.

The Baptists will have a Candy Social at the residence of L. Hoyt, Main Road, on Wednesday evening next, the 15th inst. Come one, come all. Father Hoyt says: "Tell your readers we want to know just how many our house will hold without breaking down, and we will send you a card if you like to come."

A few days ago a man moved into Wansow, and having occasion to look into the cellar of his new home, found concealed there 100 pounds of iron. The iron had evidently been stolen from the factory and deposited there by parties who previously occupied the house, but for what purpose it is not known, as the man who moved in is a stranger to the place.

The Rev. H. M. Lowry, of Crozer Seminary, will preach in the Baptist church on Sunday, the 13th inst., morning and evening. Mr. Lowry is the son of Rev. Robert Lowry, D. D., of Bradford, N. Y. The writer of some of our sweetest Sunday school hymns and music. The son has lately supplied his father's pulpit, during the absence of the latter in Europe.

Capl. Morton started from Philadelphia, this morning, for a trip to San Francisco, via Cape Horn. While Newport and Capt. Morton with him. The trip will occupy about five months. As the Captain says, he will have three winters, the coming year starts out in the winter, finds summer on his way back, and returns a year hence, winter here on his return—a year hence.

For ten years Miss Merab Seel has been unable to utter her voice for five years unable to whisper, for the last five unable to utter sound. She returned, last September, from a visit to the city, where she has been treated by electricity, and now she can speak again. Her voice being clear and strong. "It is a wonderful cure," says her friends, "and she has been able to hold her own, as she now does after ten years of silence."

Our readers already know our sentiments in regard to a public library. We are pleased to know that a public meeting will be held in the upper room of Hammonton Central school building, on Monday evening, the 13th inst. To this meeting every one interested in the matter is invited, young and old, male or female, residents of all parts of town.—Freeholder.

Burglars made a raid on the Elwood store, on Tuesday evening. They stole goods from the depot, and forced open the door, securing about five dollars' worth of goods. Two frames who had spent part of the day about there are suspected.

We have some handsome cards, which with friend's name printed thereon, would make a handsome Christmas present.

Louis O'Donnell has obtained a situation as telegraph operator in the Western Union Office, Teuth and Chestnut Sts., Philadelphia.

Daniel Irving of the Senior class, Princeton Seminary, will preach to-morrow morning and evening in the Presbyterian Church.

Mr. J. L. Smith, of Main Road, started, Wednesday morning, for Reckland county, N. Y., where he will spend the winter with his daughter.

M. L. Jackson has a fine "best writer" which he will put up in private collection for Christmas eve. It will be on exhibition for a few days before Christmas.

Attend that meeting at the school house, next Monday evening, if you can, for you will surely wish to join the Association, and if you cannot you can assist in its organization.

It is rumored that Mr. Job C. Babcock, a well-known citizen of Absecon, was found dead Tuesday, in the ocean, on the premises. Cause, not known, as he was apparently in usual health.

The Baptists will have a Candy Social at the residence of L. Hoyt, Main Road, on Wednesday evening next, the 15th inst. Come one, come all. Father Hoyt says: "Tell your readers we want to know just how many our house will hold without breaking down, and we will send you a card if you like to come."

A few days ago a man moved into Wansow, and having occasion to look into the cellar of his new home, found concealed there 100 pounds of iron. The iron had evidently been stolen from the factory and deposited there by parties who previously occupied the house, but for what purpose it is not known, as the man who moved in is a stranger to the place.

The Rev. H. M. Lowry, of Crozer Seminary, will preach in the Baptist church on Sunday, the 13th inst., morning and evening. Mr. Lowry is the son of Rev. Robert Lowry, D. D., of Bradford, N. Y. The writer of some of our sweetest Sunday school hymns and music. The son has lately supplied his father's pulpit, during the absence of the latter in Europe.

Capl. Morton started from Philadelphia, this morning, for a trip to San Francisco, via Cape Horn. While Newport and Capt. Morton with him. The trip will occupy about five months. As the Captain says, he will have three winters, the coming year starts out in the winter, finds summer on his way back, and returns a year hence, winter here on his return—a year hence.

For ten years Miss Merab Seel has been unable to utter her voice for five years unable to whisper, for the last five unable to utter sound. She returned, last September, from a visit to the city, where she has been treated by electricity, and now she can speak again. Her voice being clear and strong. "It is a wonderful cure," says her friends, "and she has been able to hold her own, as she now does after ten years of silence."

Our readers already know our sentiments in regard to a public library. We are pleased to know that a public meeting will be held in the upper room of Hammonton Central school building, on Monday evening, the 13th inst. To this meeting every one interested in the matter is invited, young and old, male or female, residents of all parts of town.—Freeholder.

Burglars made a raid on the Elwood store, on Tuesday evening. They stole goods from the depot, and forced open the door, securing about five dollars' worth of goods. Two frames who had spent part of the day about there are suspected.

It is reported that Mr. G. H. ...
